JRNL 352-01 – Intermediate Video Reporting and Producing

Syllabus – Spring 2016 (subject to change)

Scope:

JRNL 352 is an intensive intermediate reporting and producing course concentrating on video reporting, newscast producing and anchoring. Students will advance their video photography, editing, script writing and rundown building skills. All assignments will be based on journalistic writing and ethical decision-making. Students will learn teamwork skills by working with their counterparts in JRNL 351 to produce newscasts from beginning to end.

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the course, successful JRNL 352 students will demonstrate:

- Strong news judgment
- Ability to identify various issues and angles in potential news stories
- Ability to write strong leads, bodies and conclusions to television news stories
- Strong writing skills including the use of active voice, writing to video, clear and concise use of language
- Television anchoring skills
- Interviewing skills including research and writing questions, interpersonal communication, proper questioning and listening
- Development of performance skills including newscast anchoring, weather, sports and field reporting
- Ability to identify quality in their own and other's work self and make newscast choices that reflect that ability
- Television newscast producing skills including building strong leads, writing for story flow, writing for pace and creating an overall look and feel of a program through writing and production values
- Proficiency in the technical requirements of television work including shooting and editing video, script writing using iNews, rundown building in iNews and use of the server to store and playback stories
- Understanding of journalism ethics, codes and the law covering journalistic endeavors

Pre-requisite:

JRNL 350

Class meets:

Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1:10 to 4:00 in DAH 101, 114 and the television studio.

Instructor: Ray Fanning, Associate Professor, School of Journalism, Radio-Television Department.

Office: Don Anderson Hall 405

Office hours: 8:30-10:30 a.m., Mondays and Wednesdays. I'm also available at other times by appointment.

Office phone: 243-4747.

My regular e-mail: ray.fanning@umontana.edu.

Grading:

Grades will be based on:

- Ideas and research
- Class attendance and participation
- Writing
- Reporting, writing and producing assignments
- Contribution to the overall success of the class
- Ability to work with your classmates

Class attendance is mandatory. You can't succeed if you miss critique sessions, lectures and labs. University business and documented illness are the only acceptable excuses. You must notify me in advance if you will be absent.

Two unexcused absences will lower your final grade by one letter. You will fail the class if you have a third unexcused absence.

Same Work for Multiple Classes in J-School

You may not submit for this course any assignment that has previously or will be concurrently submitted for another class unless you receive prior approval from the professor for this course. You may not submit work you've done for any television station in an internship or paid position. To do so without permission will result in an "F" for the assignment and could result in an "F" for the course.

Diversity Initiative

The School of Journalism has undertaken an initiative to create opportunities for students to tell stories of more varied and diverse groups of people. You will need to integrate one of these groups into an assignment. We will discuss this during the preparation for the assignment.

Moodle

I will use Moodle for this course your grades will be available there, along with some handouts

Academic Honesty

I expect your honesty in presenting your own work for this course. Academic misconduct at The University of Montana is subject to an academic penalty ranging from failing the assignment to expulsion from the university. Students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct

Code. <http://www.umt.edu/SA/VPSA/index.cfm/page/1321>

Plagiarism

As defined by “The University of Montana Student Conduct Code” plagiarism is: “Representing another person's words, ideas, data, or materials as one's own.” This is strictly prohibited in this class and any case of plagiarism in this course will be subject to the penalties outlined in the student code of conduct.
