COMPUTER SEMINAR IN KALISPELL, JULY 26-27

MISSOULA--

Businessmen from throughout the state will meet in Kalispell July 26-27 for the fourth Seminar on Practical Applications of Computers for Management.

The seminar, sponsored by the UM Office of State Technical Services, will emphasize determination of computer usage and will include discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of automation in Montana businesses.

Speakers for the conference, to be held in Hennessy's Restaurant, Kalispell, include Gary McLean, a data processing consultant from Seattle, and George Anderson, a certified public accountant from Helena.

Dr. Patricia Bragg, Montana director of State Technical Services, is coordinator of the seminar.

More than 200 businessmen have attended computer seminars in the state. Previous computer seminars were held in Missoula, Billings and Great Falls.
