Bored of Education Slates Hearing

Four-Day Week Is Topic

Natural Guard Units Alerted To Prevent Student Walkout

Governor Tim Babfired, chairman of the State Bored With Education, said today that as a result of yesterday's meeting with Associated Students President Dennis Adamsapple of USU the Bored would meet in Missoula tomorrow for a public hearing on the proposed four-day school week.

Babfired said that Adamsapple was requested to appear before the Bored following the mass demonstration last Tuesday on the MSU campus when more than 3,000 students gathered in the Lodge Grill to protest the Bored's decision to institute a six-day school week.

Adamsapple said that he told Chairman Babfired that the MSU student governing body, Centrally Bored, voted unanimously to resign if the six-day week was instituted, and that a petition cir-

This Chicken Has Got It

Miss Gertrude Chamberpin, director of the University Slop Service, announced today that a new machine has been installed in her kitchens.

Following the success of the newly-installed egg frying machine, which fertilizes, lays, cracks, cooks and flips fried eggs with appropriate amounts of grease, the new machine to lighten the cooks' work is part of the program to eliminate the cook from the kitchen, Miss Chamberpin stated.

This machine has been perfected to make tasty hamburgers out of papier mache and food coloring. Appropriate amounts of vitamin U2 are added to give students all the food value they need and extraordinary powers of sight.

Edjication Gets nu Ruff Mice Coarse

Education majors who plan to student teach in the near future must take a course in progressive life adjustment soon, Harmon Crease announced yesterday.

The course carries two credit hours and includes such important topics as democratic seating arrangement, theory of play, how to take roll, how to adjust windows and what to do when pursued by angry parents.

Radioaktive Fall-out Set 4 Gagarin

In response to New York's triumphant ticker-tape parade for U. S. astronaut John Glenn, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev announced today that Yuri Gagarin, Russian cosmonaut, will be accorded a parade through downtown Moscow, complete with radioaktive fallout.

TOO STRICT????—"Don't you think that we were too strict with them, Dean?" "No, they were 10 minutes late weren't they?" "But they seemed a little upset about the four quarter campus ruling we gave." It's just a phase all children go through. They'll get over it in a few years." (Photo by Zit.)

Captain Kangeroo Puppets Skedled to Appear at SMU

Eric Liars, chairman of Fun Committee, requested $9,000 at Centrally Bored last night to bring Captain Kangaroo to MSU.

"The Captain is anxious to perform," Liars said.

Liars said that he had bid Kangaroo's press agent down $50, however, this would mean that one of the puppets would not make an appearance. This will be a disappointment to come.

Liars demanded that several clauses be inserted in the contract to insure that Kangaroo get here.

Kangaroo must travel to Seattle by steamboat, take a biplane to Cheney, Wash., a unicycle into Spokane, packhorse over the Rockies to Libby, Mont., logging truck into Kalispell, thumb a ride to Bigfork, swim down Flathead Lake to Polson and then an Indian guide whom Liars knows will lead the Capitan over a short cut to Missoula.

This, said Liars, is a foolproof scheme whereby the weather cannot prevent him from coming. Kangaroo's press agent will arrive by plane the same evening Kangaroo gets into town, which should be about 15 minutes before the show.

Centrally Bored decided to appropriate $50 for the other puppet.

culated by YAF president James Doright calling for a spring quarter walkout had been signed by all MSU professors and janitors and 4,327 1/4 students.

Guard Alerted

Russell Barthell, executive secretary of the Montana State Kindergarten System, told Adamsapple that the Montana Natural Guard had been alerted and was prepared to throw a barricade around the MSU campus if the proposed walkout took place.

Roy Rabble Rouser Dave Browbeaten, who accompanied Adamsapple to the Bored meeting, told Mute reporters last night that it was in the best interests of MSU when he told the Bored that he would match the WRA and AWS against the Guard anytime.

Adamsapple said that when Browbeaten made his statement General Sam Mitchell, adjutant of the Montana Natural Guard, had to be tied to his chair to prevent violence.

Meeting Tonight

Adamsapple said that another mass demonstration was planned for tonight in the ROTC headquarters at 7 to map the strategy for tomorrow's meeting with the State Bored.

Adamsapple said that John Carlsbad, ASMOO vice president and nice guy in charge of ice for the coca cola machine, would be in charge of the meeting.

Carlsbad said that he has arranged for sophomore Army ROTC cadets to act as bodyguards for Bored members while in Missoula but said once they left the city limits he would not be responsible.

Jones Volunteers

Rank Jones, sophomore Centrally Bored delegate, volunteered to lead a demolition crew and Ann Mintsteer volunteered to sit on Jones' lap.

R. K. Osterhelder, faculty adviser to Centrally Bored, said that Miss Mintsteer would have to obtain Dean Crow's permission before hustling Jones.

MSU President Hairy Slowburn urged students to conduct themselves in a manner appropriate to the situation but said that due to threats on his life by Paul Cracker, deposed history nice guy, he would not attend the meeting.

Adamsapple said that the agenda for tomorrow's meeting, which is scheduled for 1 p.m. in the University Theater, will be distributed to students this afternoon.

The agenda calls for the introduction of State Bored members from 1 p.m. to 1:01 p.m., a blood drawing by the Red Cross in case of emergency and discussion of the four-six day week until midnight.

Diane Mosseyfern, senior delegate to CB, said that Dean Crow's ruling that girls had to be in by 11 p.m. was unfair and that if the Dean of Women didn't get with it she would institute proceedings to have her inducted into the Peace Corps.

Phillip L. Wrong, chairman of the Zoology department, said that on request of Steve "Pretty Boy" Carrolling, sophomore CB guy, the department's stock of 43 South American cannibals, would act as ushers at the Saturday meeting. Wrong said that the cannibals were presently undergoing starvation training but had agreed to not molest students. Wrong said that no promises were made concerning their attitude toward Bored members.

Tosh "Hotsy-Totsy" Tatsuyamy, director of the school of religion agreed to conduct funeral services for Bored members if things got out of hand.

Ed Blacklaw, junior CB fellow and director of ASMOO's committee for the abolishment of Dornblaser Stadium, said that Gertrude Chamberpin would cooperate by providing boiling water during the meeting.

To Check Books

Miss Harriet "Four Minute" Miler, State Superintendent of Public Ignorance, said that while in Missoula she planned to look over MSU's books and see if there wasn't some way the budget could be cut more.

Financial Vice President Robert T. Panther made the statement today that he was planning to juggle the books during the weekend and that if Miss Miller, known affectionately by fellow Bored members as "Cuddles," wanted to look at his books she would have to come up to Patty Canyon and bring her own booze.

Panther said that he had enough trouble getting MSU funds for his booze and she had to find her own soft touch. Frank C. Abbott & Costello, academic vice president, said he planned to join Panther in his Patty Canyon trip but would not take part in the party. He said he planned to drink the "knowledge of learning."

Dennis Adamsapple said that yesterday's Bored meeting was not a complete waste of time in that they did vote to abolish the Education and Geology schools at MSU and the farmers' courses at Boooozeman.

TV Coverage

Fireman H. Brownie, chairman of the drama department, said that he had arranged with Uncle Art Mosbey of Missoula TV and real estate fame to televise the Bored meeting from the University Theater.

Dr. Robert W. Hansen, director of the student health ruining center, said that an emergency second aid center would be set up in the foyer of the theater. Robert L. Van Tuba, director of the pill pushers school, said that by popular demand the Zoology department's cannibals would administer a fating fluid to Bored members upon their arrival on campus.

Let's Get Things Settled

Meanwhile Mrs. Handstand, housemother of Simple Karpa sorryratty house, said emphatically, "It warn't no play bomb! That's fer dang sure."

We are all interested in Montana State University doing things and going places. To do this cooperation is needed between all the component parts of the University.

However important this cooperation might be necessary, Round Board (the leading authority on anything that is anything at all on campus or off campus) will not cooperate with Montana State University's prize-winnig, class-A, number one, A-OK newspaper the Montana Muzzled Mute.

We at the Montana Muzzled Mute do want to cooperate with Round Board. We fell that the necessary steps, despite their consequences, must be taken. It has been suggested that the Montana Muzzled Mute is trying to dominate the campus. This was suggested by Round Board's vice-pretty-boy John Carlingson.

He believes that through the support of candidates that the great etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute will eventually pick all the officers of Round Board and all its voting stooges.

The great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute denies this. This is a very serious charge. The Montana Muzzled Mute has confidence in the ability of the public to choose the best man in any election. Yes sir, that we do. So there Mr. Carlingson.

Meanwhile back to the subject. What can we do so there will be no quarreling between Round Board and the great etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute.

Therefore, in the "best interest of the University as a whole" the Montana Muzzled Mute proposes an Australian tag team wrestling match between the stooges of Round Board and the great, etc., etc., etc., staff members of the great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute.

We suggest that this match continue until Round Board or the great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute, admits that it does not run the campus and will never boast of such again (in this case it will naturally be Round Board).

This would be the line up. Half of the great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute staff members will be in the ring at all times and half of Round Board stooges will also be in the ring. Although there are seven great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute staff members to Round Board 17 stooges, we think the odds would be even.

We think the match would not last more than 15 minutes. However, we think that the match would hold much student interest and a small charge to the students would bring the winner of the match muchos dineros.

Leadership of the campus would then be established and if the great, etc., etc., etc., Montana Muzzled Mute won the match the University could go on to better and bigger things.

Sigma Chi President Speaks Against IFC's Probation Ruling

Editor's note: Because these two letters would lose much of their meaning between now and next quarter they will run today. They are not part of the Kaimin Goon edition.

To the Kaimin:

In the interest of the reputation of our fraternity, and those who have kept faith and supported us through the years, I would like to present the following clarifications concerning our "social probation."

IFC stated that "the fact that the party was neither organized by Sigma Chi, or in the Sigma Chi house, was nevertheless a minor point." On the contrary, I believe it is a major point that this affair was not organized or condoned by us.

As far as the number of SX's, other Greeks and independents present, I made no excessive inquiries, not wishing to discredit any other group. Although I have the names, they will not and have not been released by us to the dean's office.

Concerning our "abusive language:" Besides being a fallacy of insufficient instances, in the near-four years I have been associated with SX, I have not heard one complaint from our neighbors whose testimony I believe is more objective than that of IFC.

Soon after the flare incident, Sigma Chi offered to pay for any damage done to that particular fraternity house, and no further repercussions were anticipated.

The circumstances surrounding our "intervention in a coffee hour" are pathetic if not ludicrous. Some members of a neighboring sorority were inadvertently walking to a sorority-fraternity Monday night exchange. A number of SX pledges, being the gentlemen they are, volunteered as escorts. Upon leaving the girls at the fraternity, they left singing a few SX songs.

Concerning our "apathy toward IFC:" Apparently last quarter we missed a few meetings. This quarter, because our delegate is attending EMCE, we did not have an elected delegate present for the first meetings, however, all fines for the meetings missed have been paid.

I do not feel any of these accusations substantiate our being put on a full quarter's social probation. I'm sure if this fraternity so desired, it could draw up similar lists of grievences which would make the above look quite innocent.

It is not my desire to cast off our responsibility for our pledges or actives, nor to attack other fraternities, but it is my desire that the truth be known concerning this matter. I would also like to remind IFC, J-Council, Central Board, and the dean's offices, that our reputations are in your keeping; that is a sacred trust.

Women Express Their Gratitude

To the Kaimin:

In view of one of the charges against the Sigma Chi fraternity yesterday, we would like to express our gratitude to the 14 Sigma Chi pledges who escorted us to the Sigma Phi Epsilon coffee hour on Monday, Feb. 5. It seems that we had been inadvertently left behind when rides were given to that fraternity house.

Seamy Seminar Class Studies Reader's Digress Stylewise

The journalism school's seamy seminar class is making great strides in its study of the Reader's Digress and other great American forms of culture, according to Natan B. Blowbang.

"Terse and telegraphicwise," Coach Blowbang said, "this class has imbibed more pap and schmaltz than any other class in the history of my academy of yellow journalism and hack writing."

The coach said that furthermore he could prove satistically that more journalists than doctors, lawyers, merchants and chiefs have received the Nobelly Prize, the Phewlitzer Prize, the Crux de Gare and the Marine Sharpshooter's button.

"Our graduates," Coach Blowbang reiterated with a glass-shattering blow, "are better prepared professionallywise than the average Boy Scout."

Rockpiler Scores Coupe; Cracker Becomes Digested

The flamboyancy and patriotic institute of human character took form yesterday in the personage of Paump L. Cracker who, with homespun U2 flag in hand, made a walking tour of the state.

Gov. Nelsin Rockpiler of New York had previously refused to proclaim a U2 Day in Montana because of certain geographical elements to be considered and other factors such as population and political strategy.

Commenting on Rockpiler's unpatriotic action, Cracker said, "Rockpiler's decision is understandable—I'm sure you can all see that. It's just that I feel great Americans such as Francois Powders and his kind should be commemorated in some way. The least that could have been concocted was a Montana U2 Day.

"After all," Cracker continued, while he winced as a result of wounds received when he passed the Young Albanians for Functions headquarters on his tour, "it is the duty of every criminal and naturalized Russian in this country to salute the powerful Amelian character of Powders. Had it not been for him, we would still have Cain Able, the great Russian philanthropist. And who wants Able?"

As a result of Cracker's action, the MUC administration decided that such dangerous and radical personages should be sent away to San Queinten for further study.

Said Dean Cuunrat of the Fairy Nice Arts Department, "We cannot afford to expose our children's minds to anything new yet, such as Cracker would have. They don't even know the 'nuther one stuff yet so they'll really get goofed up if they try to learn some new stuff. And besides, he doesn't have a grey flannel suit . . . well, if he does, he won't wear it like the rest of us do."

Consequently, Cracker is purchasing all want ad sections of the Muzzled Mute to try and find a job. He said he had been offered 40 G's a year at Gypkodiaceal-polarbear University in Iceland and he might take it, although his plans aren't very definite, however, incidentally, really.

New Courses Offered Students

The political science department announced today the introduction of three new political science courses for spring quarter.

All students majoring in political science will be required to take PT-109, Beginning Yachting and HUP-LI 3-6912 Touch Football, before being allowed to enroll in advanced courses.

Any resemblance between this and the Montana Kaimin is purely coincidental!

Missoula Fuzz Apprehend 'Smokebomber' Gravelsvich

Internationally notorious Louie el Greco "Smokebomb" Gravelsvich was apprehended yesterday on charges of planting four tons of TNT in the bedsprings of a Simple Karpa at the Simple Karpa house.

The explosion, which occurred two days before yesterday, caused no great injury, but several of the girls were found imbedded in the ceiling and walls of the place. Time of the blast was 1:55 a.m.

Police had been on Gravelsvich's trail night and day for one night and day. They found him stuck between the crack of the door at the Anna Flea house, juggling dynamite sticks. When arrested, after a brief wrestling match, Gravelsvich said, "You ain'ta gonna pin no wrap on me! I got friends." He then proceeded to kick policemen until locked up in the Satchmo's Pie house, an on-campus institute for the bewildered.

Cut That Out!! Quit Pickin' on Us

Limy Dwarfs, chairman of Jay-Council, said yesterday that this here pickin' on Jay-Council has gotta stop mighty quick or they would completely disband the organization.

Dean Corkscrew, upon being notified of Dwarf's statement, chuckles with superglee but fabricated a more somber appearance for publication.

He told a Mute reporter, "When I cackle about these here things it ain't for publication, but when it looks like I'm doing a good thing or sumpin', then put that in yer paper and print it."

U Coeds Can't Wear BVDs or Loggingboots No More

University women will no longer be able to wear logging boots and red BVDs to class, according to an ultimatum handed down this week by the Associated Women Mouse-keeper's Association.

The ruling came following a statement by AWMA President Kimmie Kangeroo that she had seen four University coeds downtown without their mouse uniforms—wearing, instead, the forbidden BVDs and heavy footwear. "When I saw those women openly defying our beloved organization to which many of us have given lifeblood, perspiration and saline fluid, I knew that something had to be done," Miss Kangeroo said.

With this pronouncement, the University Nursery, meeting place of the group, rang with cheers and the music of rhythm band instruments.

Throughout the meeting, Miss Morlod Crow, assistant student head-shrinker, smiled and knit at a long scarf depicting "how Montana flew on a broom."

Violation of the new rule will be punished with 349 1/4 campuses and continued dunkings in near beer. Repeat violations will result in transfer of the student to Montana State College for enrollment in a new course, "Types of Manure and How to Know Them."

Baths Disqualify Students From Joining Group

A new campus organization has been formed to support "the beat, the neat and the existential," according to Jim Smeare, local ward healer.

The group, called The Rat Pack to Support the Anti-Clarinet Image, takes its main philosophies from Hitler, Mitch Miller and Gene Autrey, Smeare said.

"We intend to show that, in their vast strivings to define their existence, certain of our members have transcended even Hitler's concept of the Superman," he continued.

This will best be achieved by all members carrying briefcases, wearing beards and giving and giving up baths to attain a certain aura of apartness, he added.

Lack of Affection Bugs Faculty; Students Now Shaking Hands?

Student Union Committee met this week to consider the behavior of students in the Lodge Yellowstone Room.

Miss Marold Crow, assistant dean of life adjustment, said, "I am sick at heart to see the behavior of some of our students. Previously, this University has had the reputation of being a very friendly place. Yet, from my vantage point in the lounge fireplace the other afternoon, I was appalled to note that all the couples in that room did nothing but shake hands. I was simply appalled."

Richard Salmon, associate professor of easy money, disagreed, insisting that he had seen a boy give a girl a paper of pins and a peck on the cheek "only yesterday."

Dave Veranda, student union ping pong director, said he thinks the lack of affection is not due to lack of facilities. "We have more ping pong tables, dart boards and television sets per square student than any university in this area," he concluded.

John Carlsbad, ASMOO vice president, giggled.
