Peace Corps Discussed at Political Forum

A student discussion of the Peace Corps and its various functions highlighted Political Forum yesterday noon.

Kris Towe and Clifford Crump, acting moderators, discussed various questions from the audience.

Miss Towe emphasized that a Peace Corps volunteer must not only have a thorough knowledge of history, political relations, and politics, but he must also have a firm grasp of a country's basic culture.

She said that the Peace Corps presently has 700 volunteers in 12 countries throughout the world, and by this June, it hopes to have 2,400 either in the field or in training.

When asked what stand Peace Corps volunteers should take on politics while in foreign countries, she emphasized that the volunteer is not given any diplomatic immunity. However, he must always be courteous and remain neutral. She added that this factor is not currently being considered when one applies to the Peace Corps.

Clifford Crump explained that many people tend to think of the Peace Corps as a mass governmental endeavor rather than as an individual task.

OAS Bloodbath in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — The outlaw European Secret Army, slaughtering Moslems with explosives and gunfire, perpetrated yesterday its worst Algerian bloodbath since the March 19 cease-fire ending the Algerian war. Government officials said 110 persons were killed and 147 wounded.

Nearly all the victims were Moslems, slain as European extremists tried desperately to provoke civil war in a savage bid to block Algerian independence.

In Algiers alone, where an earth-shaking dockside booby-trap bomb blast took 62 lives at one blow, a reported 96 persons died and 140 were wounded in terrorists attacks, making it the bloodiest single day in the modern history of Algeria's capital.

In Oran, a mob of screaming Europeans shot six Moslems dead while French soldiers and police looked on without making a move.

Authorities reported that Moslems made up 104 of the 110 dead and 140 of the 147 wounded.

Eight Moslems were at first reported killed when a booby-trapped car blew up in a crowd of some 1,500 ragged Moslems waiting at a dockside hiring office.

shows such as "Westside Story," "South Pacific" and "Pajama Game."

Members of the swimming group are Francis Ashcraft, Sara Blackburn, student director, Helen Burros, Sandy Croonenbergs, Connie Griffin, Wanda Hillman, Stevie Johnson, Sue Lintz, Gwen McLain, Carla Palmer, Nancy Rice, Derry Schultz, Faith Schwertfeger, Jane Thomas, Judy Thompson, Kitty Van Vliet and Marla Ward.

The pageant will be presented Friday night only. Admission will be charged.

Two-Day State Music Festival Will Attract 2,500 Participants

The 21st annual State Music Festival will attract 2,500 students, directors and chaperons from 110 high schools to MSU this weekend.

The two-day meet is conducted by the Montana High School Association headed by Rex Dalley of Helena.

Festival Highlight

Highlight of the festival will be a joint concert Saturday evening by the festival band, orchestra and chorus. The 400-voice chorus will be directed by Prof. Lloyd Oakland, Chairman of the MSU Department of Music; the 150-piece band by Prof. Frederick C. Ebbs, director of bands at the University of Iowa, and the 110-piece orchestra by Prof. Gerald H. Doty of MSU.

The program for visitors includes entertainment by MSU music organizations, a dinner for directors, a Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia luncheon, a meeting of the Montana Bandmasters Association and a dance.

Guest adjudicator Edmund P. Sedivy of MSC will join MSU faculty members in rating performers. MSU judges are Eugene Andrie, Harold Herbig, Jane Hevener, J. George Hummel, Donald O. Johnston, John Lester, William Manning, Florence Reynolds, Robert Ruppel, Kenyard Smith, and Rudolph Wendt.

Concert Tonight

MSU music organizations and the Missoula Civic Symphony and Symphonic Choir will give a concert for early arrivals to the State Music Festival at 8:15 tonight. The

The battle against indifference toward ASMSU government has begun, if Central Board proceedings last night are any indication.

The most talk was about CB's establishment of a "committee to inform MSU students about current issues facing Central Board," as recommended by George Cole, freshman delegate.

ASMSU president Ed Whitelaw will appoint three to five members to develop the organization. Cole suggested the committee in its final form consist of three CB delegates and one representative from each living group.

The purpose of the committee is to meet "points one and five of the program as stated in the Kaimin editorial Wednesday," Whitelaw said. These two points read: "Renew or establish student interest in student government and its operations and meaning," and "Replace the broken-down communications system which links students and ASMSU administration with the University administration."

Whitelaw appointed Bob Hay-chairman and Dale Schwanke, sophomore delegate, as member. This committee will prepare a chronological summary of action by CB on past issues that have an effect on present and future issues.

Kathy Johnson, senior delegate, was appointed chairman and Bari Lynn Bertelson committee member of a committee to prepare a report on Store Board.

In other action, CB voted to take two-day festival begins on campus tomorrow.

The Civic Symphony, conducted by Eugene Andrie, and the Symphonic Choir, led by George Lewis, will present Kodaly's "Te Deum." The MSU Choir, directed by Kenyard Smith, will sing, and the MSU Band, conducted by James Eversole, will play the Finale from Symphony No. 5 by Shostakovich.

Sky Divers to Participate In Championship Meet

Chuck Underwood, Paul Tag, and Pete Harkness make up MSU's three-man team that will compete in the Intercollegiate Sky Diving Championships at Orange, Mass., tomorrow and Saturday.

"We expect to place at least in the top ten," Underwood said last week at Central Board after a successful plea for a $245 grant to help cover expenses of the trip.

MSU GRADUATE HALLOWELL SUBS FOR GOV. BABCOCK

Jack Hollowell, a 1942 graduate of the School of Journalism, is representing Gov. Tim Babcock at the Western Governors' Conference in Anchorage, Alaska, this week.

Hollowell, the governor's executive secretary, left Helena early Tuesday afternoon after Gov. Babcock decided that pressing business would keep him in Montana.

The meetings began yesterday and end Saturday.

Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission said it was in the low megaton yield range—the explosive equivalent of from one to several million tons of TNT.

Hammarskjold's Death Unsolved

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. commission of inquiry announced yesterday its inability to penetrate the mystery of Dag Hammarskjold's death.

In a report to the General Assembly, the five-nation body did not rule out any of the rumored causes of the plane crash—sabotage, attack by hostile aircraft, mechanical difficulties or human failure. It did say there was no evidence to back up any of these theories.

MORE U.S. AID TO BRITAIN

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has announced that the United States will contribute between $30 million and $35 million to the development of a British fighter plane designed to take off vertically.

nam, 1961-62 freshman delegate, as a non-voting member-at-large of the ASMSU committee system. Haynam will be an adviser to Don Robinson, vice president.

Whitelaw also established a Past History Committee, with Alice MacDonald, junior delegate, as $30.50 out of the general fund to cover the cost of a deficit of that amount incurred by the wrestling club.

CB also voted to give Auxiliary Sports Board $379 to underwrite the current deficit in the men's intramural sports program.

Geology Students and Faculty Will Make 10-Day Field Trip

Robert W. Fields, associate professor of geology, will lead a 10-day, 2,600-mile field trip for four faculty members and 12 upper-class or graduate students of the geology department starting Friday.

They will travel through Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, and Arizona in four automobiles.

"The purpose of the trip is to observe and compare the geological formations and structures of the areas involved and to attend meetings of the Geological Society of America at Provo, Utah, May 11 and 12," Mr. Fields announced. Scientific papers by geology students Dave Kuenzi and Frank Hall will be presented at the meeting in Provo, Mr. Fields said.

The three other faculty members making the trip are John P. Wehrenberg, associate professor; Robert M. Weidman, assistant professor; and Donald Winston, instructor.

Students going are Dick Berg, Mike O'Conner, Vic Fischer, Dave Kuenzi, Stan Riel, Rod McKay, Ernie Gilmour, Uldis Jansons, Bill Miller, Dwight Maxwell, Al Morris, and Earl Sherron.

Curtain Rises Tonight at 8:15 On Pulitzer-Prize Play 'J.B.'

"J.B.," Archibald MacLeish's Pulitzer Prize winning play, opens tonight at 8:15 in the Masquer Theater. The play will also be presented Friday and Saturday night.

Wayne Finney will play the lead as J.B. Other members of the cast are Jim Baker, Jim Bompert, Roger DeBourg, Mike Fallon, Joe Farwell, Gary Fish, Sara Gray, Phil Hamilton, David Lester, Chris MacDonald, Lanya Maki, Clarence Males and Alan Nasland.

The contemporary play draws a parallel between a modern, successful businessman, J.B., and the Biblical character, Job. J.B.'s search, like Job's, was for the meaning of his afflictions—the loss of his children, the loss of his wife's kindness and everything he possessed.

The play is a combined project of the speech and drama departments, under the direction of Daniel Witt of the speech department.

Mr. Witt refers to the presentation of the play as a "concert performance."

"There will be no scenery or costumes and the characters will perform their parts as readings with a musical background," Mr. Witt explained.

The Spirit of Adventure

Dean Cogswell was informed yesterday about the destruction of Milwaukee Railroad signal track lights by gun-toting students. R. H. Rollins, captain of the area Milwaukee Road police force, voiced concern over the recent vandalism. He is inclined to think University students are responsible.

Last fall a dozen signal lights were shot out, and consequently a guard was planted. No one was caught, but the guard investigated several marksmen in this area, most of whom were out-of-state University students.

The signal lights are the communications system for the railroad, and possible disastrous pile-ups could occur from their malfunctioning.

Three years ago a University student was killed at a railroad intersection because of faulty signal equipment, making this kind of stunt hardly a practical joke. Also, this manner of destruction is serious enough to be a federal offense.

C'mon, boys, put your pea-shooters away before someone gets hurt. Or get a big-game license and help the state with its excessive elk problem when the finger gets itchy.

Verse

Averse

(May be sung to tune of "Where, Oh Where Has My Little Dog Gone")

Where, oh where have our Bearpaws gone
With their whistles, where can they be?
They said they'd help keep us off the lawn,
But just look at the Oval and see.

Editorial Camera

THE GRASS ISN'T GREENER—About a month ago the Bearpaws initiated what appeared to be an all-out war for the conservation of grass at MSU, with weakly voiced threats of warning whistles and apprehension of offenders. Per usual, the program has not been followed up with definite action. Since the University has grown, so have the acres of grass to almost triple-figured dimensions, making the "pastureland" more of a problem. As the Kaimin stated before, the students aren't going to stay off the grass. And they don't seem to have taken our advice to spread out and stay off the paths. So, new suggestion. Why not take flat, nifty stones and imbed them in the ground to make stone walks wherever these paths are found. They would not only serve the practical purpose and save the beloved grass, but they also would add to the natural appearance, being longtime brothers of the plant.

Pierson Protests Kaimin Political Stand

To the Kaimin:
The Montana Kaimin, in its issue of last Thursday, quoted Dr. James R. Bennett of the English department as stating at the recent Leadership Camp that "we do not have an intellectual university." Dr. Bennett added that the students, faculty, and administration have to take the blame for this situation. Certainly, this situation at Montana State University is not helped in any way by downgrading campus political activity, as was done in the Kaimin editorial of last Tuesday, May 1.

The United States, in national elections, has a smaller percentage of voter turnout than almost any other democratic state. Why? One of the principal reasons is voter apathy. People often fail to take an interest in the issues and problems facing our nation. Therefore, they just can't be bothered to get out and vote.

In these crucial times, our American system is likely to suffer a crippling blow if political activity in the academic community is discouraged. If we are to have an intellectual university, our students must rise above the prevailing attitudes of complacency and fatalism. Political activity stimulates thinking and discussion. The free interplay of ideas is an essential component of the college or university today.

I attended the meeting of Political Forum last Wednesday which was referred to in the editorial. It seemed to me that both organizations presented their cases quite clearly. The stated purposes of the Young Americans for Freedom and the Missoula Public Affairs Council are NOT "almost the same."

The YAF is a group which presents the conservative view, while the MPAC claims it will explore both sides of a question to determine a reasonable solution. Two or three members of YAF are on the program committee of the Political Forum. While the two groups disagree in principle, they are able to get together to produce interesting programs which are designed to present both sides of vital issues.

I can speak from experience as a YAF member that our organization is not as romantic as the Kaimin editorial made out. No "passionate, blood-stirring, Facisti" methods are used to convert our members.

Membership in YAF is open to anyone 39 years of age or younger, who is willing to abide by the Sharon Statement, a statement of principles of YAF, and who is willing to pay the nominal $1 dues for the local organization.

Above all, a more constructive approach for the editor to take would be presenting the policies and principles of both organizations and allowing the students to make up their own minds.

Note: We invite, as we have before, each organization to submit for publication its policies and principles, in hopes that they will allow students to make up their own minds, if such statements will add to common knowledge.—Ed.

Stewart Praises Blood Drive Effort

To the Kaimin:
Congratulations are in order to the students and faculty of Montana State University for their total cooperation and effort in staging the recent blood drawing.

Although with a total of 522 pints we fell short of the 555 quota, the total gain over 1961 was 76 units. Then, too, it must be properly mentioned that some 786 persons registered their willingness to contribute but were deferred for reasons of health, medical history, age or lack of parental consent.

We wish to call special attention to the efforts of Sue Cadwell, president, and the actives and pledges of the Sigma Kappa sorority in spearheading the drive and staffing the bloodmobile unit. Operationally, professional unit staff members report the "smoothest" running three-day drawing in their history.

Even though Theta Chi topped the men's living group and Kappa Alpha Theta the women's percentage wise, North Corbin, Brantly, Craig, Elrod and Turner halls (the independents) supplied the greatest number of donors.

Our sincere thanks is also extended to the student Lodge staff; Student Union staff and the many faculty members and students who assisted in the physical, mechanical and technical phases of the drawing.

Unofficial reports indicate that the MSC drawing of April 17-19 topped MSU by approximately 100 units. This means that the 1963 drawing will present a real challenge for us all.

Towe, Joslyn Win Final Law School Trial of Semester

In the last mock jury trial for the law school spring semester, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Fred Williams.

Williams' automobile struck and killed the four-year-old son of Helen Jones in the hypothetical case. Mrs. Jones, played by Alice B. Shepherd, was suing the defendant, played by Ernest Hartley, for negligent operation of his automobile.

Counsels for the defendant were Thomas Towe and Charles Joslyn. Counsels for the plaintiff were William A. Douglas and Alexander A. George. All are law school seniors.

Members of the jury were: Janice Jordan, Maxine Steiner, Jackie Coder, Jody Zadra, Joan Heisel, Gail Guthrie, Cleo Freitag, Peggy Kennedy, Ervin Hobbs, John Killick, Bill McNulty, and Dick Cowee.
The law school expresses its thanks to the student body for serving on the juries, since without student participation the mock trials would be impossible.

Adams Predicts Bobcat Meet Will Be Closest in Many Years

"Saturday's track meet with the Bobcats shapes up as being one of the closest in many years," was the comment of Harry Adams, head track coach at MSU.

Bozeman will be trying to break a jinx that has lasted nearly 40 years. Since Adams became head coach here in 1932, the Bobcats have never defeated a Grizzly track team. Mr. Adams added that the Grizzly win skein extended back to 1922 or 1923.

The Bobcat team appears to be nearly a one-man team. Bobcat Al Sarisky has been a consistent winner for the team, winning often in the high hurdles, high jump, broad jump and running on the relay team.

Grizzly Jerry Bjork will have to be in his best form Saturday in the broad jump as Sarisky has jumped 23 ft. 3 in. earlier this year. The mile and the two-mile seem to be all Montana as the Grizzlies have Montana's best collegiate distance men in Gary Wojtowick and Glynn DeVries.

In the field events, Montana's Harley Lewis has the edge for the shot and discus, but the javelin probably will go to Ken Christison of the Bobcats who threw 217 ft. 8 inches in an earlier meet.

The Grizzlies have the edge in the distance runs, 440, 880, mile and two-mile, but the 100 and 220 will be a toss-up.

In Montana's first indoor meet held earlier this year in Bozeman, the Bobcats took third behind WSU and Idaho. The Grizzlies took fourth, three points behind MSC.

The meet will start at 1:30 p.m. in the field events and 2 p.m. in the running events. The mile will be the first running event.

Men's Intramurals

Clods 8, Romans 0

Les Hudson pitched no-hit, no-run ball Wednesday night to pace the Clods to an 8-0 victory over the Romans. The win gave the Clods a 6-0 record and tightened their hold on first place in the B league.

Two third inning walks were the only blemishes in an otherwise perfect pitching performance by the Clods fireballer who ran his hitless string to nine consecutive innings over a two game span.

Canucks 5, Skidrow 4

A pair of throwing errors on the same play permitted two fifth inning runs to score and gave the Canucks a 5-4 decision over Skidrow. The win moved the Canucks past Skidrow into second place. The Canucks fought back from a 4-1 deficit with two runs in the third and two in the fifth for the victory.

Whitefish 10, Elrod 6

Trailing by one run, 6-5, Whitefish scored three runs in the third inning to defeat Elrod 10-6 and move into a tie for third place with a 4-2 record. Elrod's only threat came in its half of the third when it pushed across five runs on five straight singles and two errors. The loss ran Elrod's record to 0-6.

Cowards 17, Wesley's 7

The Cowards poured fifteen runs through a leaky Wesley'an defense in the first two innings and went on from there to post a 17-7 win. Winning pitcher Doug Kienitz gave up only one run in the first four innings before the losers tallied six runs in a valiant, but futile, rally in the fifth.

H. B. Brooks To Be Installed In Newspaper Hall of Fame

Harry B. Brooks, for 40 years one of the strongest voices in Montana journalism, will be installed in the Montana Newspaper Hall of Fame during Dean Stone Night Sunday.

The installation ceremonies at the annual School of Journalism banquet will be conducted by Fred J. Martin, publisher of the weekly Park County News in Livingston. Martin is also president of the Montana State Press Association.

Brooks is the seventh person to be elected to the Newspaper Hall of Fame since its establishment in 1958 by the State Press Association. Portraits and biographies of the honored journalists are displayed in the School of Journalism.

President Roosevelt praised Brooks as an editor "of more than usual ability." Referring to a Brooks editorial entitled "Balancing the Budget of Our National Resources," the President declared that "this editor has written, in simple language that the layman can read and understand, a clear and accurate statement. It is so fine that it speaks my mind better than I could myself."

In the field of Montana reclamation, he is credited with having been one of the advocates of construction of the Fresno Dam to restore irrigation waters for the Milk River irrigation project. He was the first president of the organization which sought to secure the dam and he gave the dedicatory address when the dam was completed in 1939.

He served as a member of the State Republican Central Committee, 1922-34; secretary of the Montana Crime Commission in 1931, and president of the Montana State Press Association, 1931-32.

During a decade with the Great Falls Tribune, Brooks was among the most widely quoted Montana editors. He died of a heart attack while at work at the Tribune office in 1944.

The real workshirt, for those who really work (although no one can stop the unambitious from wearing it on beaches, or in hammocks). The rugged Blue denim is air-cooled with stitched vents, shaped, and reinforced front and back with white stitching. Two pockets, split shirttails, small standup collar . . . and an unmistakably VILLAGER look. 7.95.

Career Cues:

"An interest in student activities can pay you dividends later on!"

Gibson F. Dailey, Asst. to the President
George A. Fuller Company

"Extracurricular activities never really interested me... architecture and construction always did. It's a paradox, though, because as it turned out student activities gave me a big jump on my career in construction.

"Studies educated me. But college activities provided the confidence I needed to approach the business world. Looking back, it was these activities that really gave me my first knowledge of people, administration, leadership. "Working for the college newspaper, fun magazine, and engineering bulletin taught me writing—a gift I use today in the promotion and getting of new business. Student Council brought the chance to work with other men—a daily occurrence now. Penn's theatrical group and engineering shows helped me relax in front of an audience then—and help me find my voice when I'm talking to large groups now.

"True, today's heavy college curriculum doesn't allow much time for activities. There wasn't much time for them in my day either. I burned a lot of midnight oil on architectural studies, but difficult as they were I still found time for student activities.—I'm mighty happy that I did.

"If you have time during the rest of your years in school to take an interest in activities—do it! It's certain to pay big dividends in an inspiring future in the business of your choice."
