Closest Vote in Recent History Decides Freshman Delegates

Brett Asselstine, Jim Schultz and Robert Ulvedal were chosen as freshman delegates to Central Board yesterday in one of the closest elections in recent MSU history. Just seven votes separated the last four of the six candidates. Asselstine won a two-year term, polling 276 votes. Schultz with 88 and Ulvedal with 176 were elected to one-year terms. Bunched behind the winners

Ross led the field in the primary vote with 194. Miss Wine was second with 163 and Asselstine was third with 146. Ulvedal polled 126, Miss Ennis 101 and Schultz 80 in the primary.

All but two of the juniors who voted, cast ballots for Marshall Dennis, the lone candidate for junior delegate to fill the unexpired term of Steve Carroll.

New Masquer Play Opens

By MARYLOU CUSHMAN
Aptly named, "The Fantasticks," opened last night in the Masquer Theater as a result of the combined efforts of the theater group and the Opera Workshop.

Costumes, scenery, lighting, music, lyrics, and most important, a totally implausible plot worked together to create a pleasant evening well entrenched in fancy.

First Act Is Heart

The first act was the heart of the musical, including most of the songs and all of the really funny scenes.

The second act was a disappointment after the hilarity of the first. While it is impossible to maintain comedy for an extended period of time, the beginning of the second half was a let down rather than a breathing spell for the audience.

Basically the play was successful because it never lost the amity of an audience pleased by Act I.

The play was ideally suited to the Masquer Theater. The musical is informal and incredible; the intimacy of the theater lends itself well to the spirit of the production.

The stage is a simple wooden platform. Props are simple; a stool represents a tree, and a wall is nothing but a stick held at shoulder height. Simple costumes in orange and blue add a carnival atmosphere, and lighting continues the fluffy theme. Realistic settings would have been a hindrance to the fanciful theme.

Boy and Girl

The play deals with a girl—

Lawyer Helps Foresters' Fun At Convocation

The Foresters' Convocation started with a bang last night.

A captive lawyer served as a battering ram to open the front door of the University Theater where the convocation was held.

To start the program, a forester gave a short lecture on the intellectual aspects of forestry. He was shot and killed to Master of Ceremonies Chuck Sundstrom's concern. Sundstrom sadly shook his head over the fate of the intellectual forester and called for the janitors to clean up the mess.

To demonstrate that the foresters are very civic-minded citizens, a lawyer and forester gave blood. The lawyer yielded one-half pint of yellow blood—the forester, a gallon of deep-red blood.

A forester then demonstrated how to determine the height of a tree with his trustworthy Lucky Lager height finder.

Karl King's quartet, the Woodticks, entertained followed by the presentation of three short scenes from an up-coming Masquer production, "Romeo and Juliet."

Fidel Castro somehow interrupted a foresters' dirt class. Irritated by his surrounded island, Castro complained that he and his guerillas could not break through the blockade, so he was stuck there. However, the loyal ROTC gorilla hunters captured Castro and saved the nation.

The Delta Gamma Can-Can Girls performed and a liberal arts major showed an example of his work—a pink board entitled "Nude on a Staircase." He explained it was a closeup.

Then, to the strains of "For He's a Son - of - a - Son-of-a-Son-of-a-Son-of-a-Forester," the convocation closed until next year.

Student Union Building Plan Discussed by Central Board

The project program for the new Student Union Building and the way the building would be financed were explained at length to members of Central Board in a two-hour meeting last night.

Anne Bartlett, program chairman for the Student Union, told of the latest plans for the project which will be submitted for the approval of the students at a special referendum Dec. 5.

East of Law Building

If approved, the 300 by 450 foot building will be built just east of the Law Building on the corner of Eddy Avenue and Van Buren Street. It is hoped that construction of the three story building would start next fall with completion set for the summer of 1964.

However, students must approve the new building first. Last night's meeting was a first in a series of attempts to explain building plans to the students, Ed Whitelaw, ASMSU president, said.

"We want to be sure that whether the building is rejected or accepted, the students will know what they have rejected or accepted," he added.

He said he is now working with presidents of the major campus groups in an attempt to bring information to the students. A model and drawings of the building are scheduled to go on display Nov. 15.

Plans Started Long Ago

Plans for the new building were started over two years ago when the Student Union Committee, which includes student and faculty members, appointed a New Student Union Committee headed by Richard E. Shannon, associate professor of economics.

Through the work of this subcommittee and the main Student Union Committee, the program was drawn up. An architect was consulted and other campuses were visited.

Included in the plans now be-

Republicans Have Big Day Planned

Today will be a Republican field day at MSU, according to Holt Corrett, president of the Young Republicans.

Wayne Montgomery, Republican candidate for Congress from the Western District, will meet with students and faculty at 2 p.m. today in the Turner Hall lounge.

At 4:30 p.m., the University Theater will house a Candidate's Rally. Gov. Tim Babcock will address the student body at the rally.

Mr. Montgomery, "Sonny" Omholt, Arthur H. Watson, Winfield E. Page, G. W. Deschamps, Tom Haines, M. Douglas Mutch, Harry T. Northey, and Mrs. Dallas J. Reed, all Republican candidates for public office, will also speak.

Interested persons may attend both the rally and the open house.

ing considered by the architect are:

- Food Service, including a central kitchen, storage space, and employee lockers and rest rooms.

- Dining area, including a grill twice as large as the present grill, a college inn twice as large as the present college inn, a snack bar and soda fountain, sack lunch space, a small dining room, private dining rooms and banquet space.

- Activities area, with six or eight desks, central filing and locked cabinets, publicity work shop area, a main conference room, offices, two to five small meeting rooms, four large meeting rooms, and a central control desk.

- Recreation area, including bowling alleys, table tennis, pool and billiard tables, a card playing room and a television room.

- Quiet area, including three lounges, two music listening rooms, and a browsing library.

- Small theater with a capacity of 300 to 450, which would double as a chapel.

- Book Store, including a merchandising area of 9,000 to 10,000 square feet and an equal amount of storage space.

- Large Ball Room, which could be used for open houses, convocations, receptions and teas, as well as dances.

Not All Space Gone

Officials stressed that the space is not yet definitely allocated and that campus groups wanting space should contact the Student Union Committee.

Changes in the present plans will be made according to the "size of the group (requesting the change) and their degree of passion for their cause," Whitelaw said.

The grill, he explained, would be separate from the Food Service and would be run by students. No short orders would be served in the present Lodge.

Method of financing the building was discussed by Robert Pantzer, financial vice president. He based his discussion on the belief that the building will cost about $1,800,000.

This figure, he said, was the cost estimated by the architect before certain revisions were made. The final figure will probably vary slightly from this total, he said.

A minimum fee of $9 per quarter per student should bring in enough money to pay for the bonds and interest, he estimated. And, if a new Student Union Building is built, Harry K. Newburn, MSU President, has said that the University will pay the balance due on the present Lodge, which will be utilized completely by the Food Service.

Each student is now paying $4 per quarter on the Lodge bonds. If this fee were to be removed and the $9 fee added, each student would be paying $5 more per quarter than he is now paying.

Nehru Ousts Defense Minister

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, facing up to charges that V. K. Krishna Menon has bungled India's preparedness, ousted him as defense minister last night.

Nehru himself, almost 73, took over the key post with its urgent responsibility of staving off Red China's attacks on India's northern borders.

Though Menon's fall was cushioned by a new appointment as minister of defense production, the switch was an important victory for his critics at a time when the nation was bogged down in the crucial, undeclared war.

Menon, 65, has often shown friendship for the Red Chinese. He had turned to the Soviet Union for weapons and for what he had hoped would be a restraining influence on the Red Chinese. But the Soviet Union has endorsed the Red Chinese stand in the border dispute and called off arms shipments to India.

Now India has turned to the United States and Britain—two of the nations Menon irritated most in the United Nations—for the weapons it desperately needs to hold back Red Chinese advances.

The United States announced it is airlifting weapons to India. The British government offered to rush supplies to India under a lend-lease program. Up to now the Indian government has been obtaining weapons through straight commercial transactions.

U Thant Returns Without Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant planned to consult today with the United States and the Soviet Union on the next moves in the Cuban crisis after failing to win Fidel Castro's agreement to U.N. checks on the removal of Soviet missile bases.

Thant said on his return from Havana Wednesday night he had been reliably informed the bases would be dismantled by Friday and the Soviet equipment shipped out of Cuba soon afterward.

But Thant said nothing about arrangements for U.N. verification of the Soviet withdrawal, the purpose of his trip. This omission, plus the return with him of the military aides he had taken as a nucleus of the inspection group, was taken as evidence Castro would not agree to the foreign inspection.

The United States announced that it was resuming its naval blockade of arms shipments to Cuba at dawn today and that aerial surveillance of the missile sites also was being resumed. Both had been suspended during Thant's two-day peacemaking visit to Cuba.

Pres. De Gaulle Remains at Helm

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle announced he will remain at the helm of the French government although only about 47 per cent of France's registered voters backed him in a referendum last Sunday. He had a majority of those who did vote, however.

Live It Up

If you haven't been chased, mauled, bumped into, sawed in half, plugged by a .44, or stuffed into a ponderosa pine trunk by a forester or two, then doubtless you've been staying at home in safety and tranquility behind locked doors.

The Foresters' Ball, renowned throughout the state as being the only semi-legal intoxicant of the year, will climax Friday and Saturday at the Field House.

Boondocker's Day, the lynching of a gullible volunteer, and the infamously racy con- vocation were enough even to scare away the sprites and ogres of Halloween.

Twila Bolin Gives Rules For Sociology Honorary

Twila Bolin spoke to the Sociology and Social Welfare Club last week about requirements for membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology honorary.

Members of Alpha Kappa Delta must have 12 credits of sociology, a 3.0 grade average and an interest in sociology, Miss Bolin, a member of AKD, said.

The Sociology and Welfare Club will elect officers at its next meeting, Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in LA 339. All freshmen majoring in sociology, social welfare, or anthropology are invited to attend.

The acting president of the club, Tom Longan, appointed a program committee to get films and speakers for the meetings.

Members of the committee besides Longan are Mary Joyce Calnan, Ken Schiefelbein, Bill Tidyman, and Bob Elliot, the chairman.

Rummage Sale Proceeds To Support Scholarships

Household items and clothing will be sold at a rummage sale sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club Monday and Tuesday at 140 Alder Street.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for scholarships for MSU students. The sale will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Tuesday.

Persons with donations for the sale should call 549-0917.

New Masquer Play Opens

Joanna Lester—filled with dreams of a fairy tale life, and a boy—Richard Guthrie—a young man wise (he thinks) to the world. The young people fall in love as a result of a family feud planned by their fathers, who believe that they can encourage a love affair by opposing it.

In the second act, the young people mature after glimpses of a hard world. Nonetheless, they discover they are still in love, and the play ends happily ever after. The narrator ends the story with a reminder that it is good to look back on the idealistic days of youth.

The singing and acting were well done. Jerry Hopkins was especially amusing as the girl's father. Jim Terrel and Joanna Lester are also worthy of mention for their performances.

Brock Views Jazz

Something New Is Stimulating Local University Culture Scene

By ROBERT R. BROCK

It seems that there is something new in the cultural wind at MSU. Not only new, but unexpected, it's jazz. And, moreover, much better jazz than we have a right to expect.

With any art form comes the inevitable, unwanted but necessary art critic. It is true that the critic must be a gadfly, but it must be restated, since this space was occupied last week by Bob Lucas who wrote a rather uncritical review of the "Playboys." Not that the group is bad (they are not), but they need a lot more woodshedding than Lucas indicated.

Thursday it was Lucas's turn at the bandstand in LA11. I must confess that I went there with some misgivings, having heard him last year both on and off campus and not having been overly impressed with what I heard. I am pleased to say that his group has improved greatly both in inventiveness and in cohesion. Perhaps it was because he was playing for people who were more interested in music than in other things. If so, he should stick to it. The others don't listen anyway.

The thing that had bothered me about Lucas' playing was his busyness. This was especially true in less night for many Missoula townfolk.)

All of which makes those woolened, lace-booted, bearded foresters rather unpopular in some quarters. This week is not and will not be exactly a Dean's Delight, and many of our more aloof sect on campus haughtily whiff their snuff into upturned noses in scorn of such uncivilized transpirations.

But even the lawyers, amidst squeals of "E Pluribus Unum," must admit our woody friends have a definite and basically good purpose here. Were it not for the foresters, whence could we draw our comparisons between the primeval and modern, the boondockers and the fops, the rugged and the glaringly polished—the libertines and the socially immured?

Well, perhaps we give them too much credit. At any rate, veterans of past Foresters' Balls will assure you newcomers that it's more than a dance. It's an experience in its own right and worth the $3.50.

an up tempo where he never gave the piano, or my ears, a rest. This could be caused by listening to too much Peterson or Shearing, or by playing where noise is at a premium, but it's still wrong. The fault is still there, but modified. On the medium "Tonight" and the ballad "Yesterdays" his playing became simpler, more direct and more satisfying since it allowed one to appreciate some good ideas. He could apply the same technique to the up tempo things with much better results. Understatement is still more valid than overstatement.

Easily the most satisfying piece of the evening was a simple blues. Lucas was playing his best short burst of sound. Real gems which he then strung together, but simply. I reserve judgment on Mace until I can hear him. But Markle! I can't praise him enough. Here is a drummer who doesn't try to hit everything in sight, all at once and as hard as he can. Taste and restraint, it's wonderful.

Why did I say that we are getting better jazz than we deserve? Because out of some 4,000 students there were about 25 present. Notable for their absence were those "enlightened ones" who complain bitterly about the lack of culture in Missoula and the sonic garbage pumped through the local radio, but who can't be bothered to support something worthwhile. You may not pay your money, but one way or another, you take your choice.

me as transcending schoolboy bravado to the point of being decidedly paranoiac. One detects in it almost a nuance of disappointment that the Soviet Union is not as willing to go to war as an such reputable United States jingoists as Representatives Miller and Wilson, and Senators Goldwater and Capehart.

As I reiterated in the Kaimin several times last spring, it is just such paranoid suspicions and delusions on the part of the United States that prevent world peace. Premier Khrushchev has categorically declared time and again that the Soviet Union is willing to accept any system of control if the West will agree to complete disarmament. Soviet leaders have even accepted the idea of increasing controls in proportion a disarmament is increased.

But the United States, under the influence of what President Eisenhower, in his poignant, Casandra-like farewell address termed the military-industrial complex, has rejected all such proposals, rattled its sabers ever more ferociously, and marched manfully onward in the spirit of 1984.

Perhaps one day posterity will look upon the present-day mass hysteria of the people of the United States with the same incredulous amusement which we regard our witch-hunting ancestors, but the inevitableness of a thermonuclear holocaust precludes the thought.

Schwank Sees Opportunity For New Sports Conference

Walter Schwank, University athletic director, was optimistic about a new athletic conference upon his return from talks in Spokane Tuesday night.

Schwank said, "A feeling of harmony and cooperation was evidenced among all the faculty representatives and athletic directors working for the six-unit conference."

The proposed conference was endorsed by those attending the Spokane meetings: Montana State College, Idaho University, Idaho State College, Weber College of Utah and Gonzaga University of Spokane.

Formation of the conference hinges primarily on the acceptance by the presidents of the schools involved, including constitution, by-laws and regulation, Schwank said. The proposals would be turned over to the presidents for their approval as soon as the material has been prepared.

Conceivably, Schwank said, the conference could be operable with the beginning of the football and cross-country season next fall. But he pointed out that a complete football round robin would be impossible at first, due to 1963 commitments on the part of some members.

The University athletic director said that Gonzaga does not play football and that the Spokane school will not necessarily start the sport if they join the proposed conference.

Schwank said that there will be no alignment with Seattle University and Portland State College. Both schools had previously been mentioned as possible members of a "basketball-only" league.

Busy Schedule Set for MSU Ski Team As Group Looks for New Members

The Grizzly ski team will be looking for skiers interested in racing when it holds its first meeting of the year in the Main Hall Auditorium, Nov. 7 at 5 p.m.

The team will participate in slalom, downhill, cross-country and jumping competition.

According to Homer Anderson, ski coach, the University has two scheduled meets and several tentative ones.

The ski team has been invited by the University of British Columbia to participate in the Rossland International Intercollegiate Four-Way Ski Tournament at Rossland, B.C., Jan. 5-6. This meet is sponsored jointly by the University of British Columbia and the Red Mountain Ski Club.

At the Canadian meet, Jan. 5, the slalom will be held at 9 a.m. with 60 entrants in the race. At 2 p.m. the cross-country will be held and will cover a course eight miles in length.

The downhill is scheduled for 9 a.m., Jan. 6. It will cover a course one and one-fourth miles in

Sigma Nu Conquers SAE To Clinch Fraternity Title

Sigma Nu finished an unbeaten season and clinched the fraternity league title by beating fourth place Sigma Alpha Epsilon 14-7, before the fog began to roll in at 5 p.m. yesterday.

The fog was so thick at 5:45 p.m. that the referees halted the Sigma Chi-Phi Delta Theta battle for second place with 4:20 to go in the last quarter. Sigma Chi was leading 6-0.

The Phi Deltas have protested the game because of a conflict between the officials' decision and an agreement made between the captains of the two teams before the game. A hearing is slated for 2 p.m. today in the office of Eddie Chinske, director of intramurals.

Sigma Nu's Scott Bettesworth pitched second and third period scoring passes to Larry Riley and Bill Boettcher. Riley kicked both extra points.

The SAE touchdown, the second all year off Sigma Nu, came midway through the fourth quarter on a pass from Arne Mysse to Bill Goesling. Mysse ran the point after touchdown. Sigma Nu stopped an SAE drive later in the quarter.

Sigma Chi tallied in the second period on a pass from Gary Minster to Bunky Held. Held missed the PDT kick.

The other two games, which started at 4 p.m. with the SAE-SN conflict, were close. Phi Sigma Kappa dropped Sigma Phi Epsilon 7-0, and Theta Chi shaded winless Alpha Tau Omega 6-2.

The season closes after the four fraternity league games Friday. Playoffs to determine the intramural touch football champion will follow, with the nine-team fraternity league sending its top three finishers and the six-team A and B leagues sending their top two.

Foreign Students Number 178, Thirty Fewer Than Last Year

This year MSU has foreign students from 18 countries, including Canada. There are 145 Canadian students and 33 students from other countries.

According to V. M. Gilbert, the foreign student adviser, this represents a decrease of 30 since last year.

Mr. Gilbert said that the overall decrease may be due to new University requirements which say that foreign students must give evidence of proficiency in the English language and that they must have visible financial support.

The University has very few scholarships to offer foreign students except those available through the Institute of International Education and the African Scholarship Program for American Universities, Mr. Gilbert said.

Mr. Gilbert said one reason for the decrease of Canadian students from 162 to 145 may be the establishment of a branch of the University of Edmonton at Calgary. A large percentage of the Canadian students at MSU are from western Canada and particularly from the province of Alberta.

Inn's Schedule Shows Change

The College Inn's entertainment program has undergone some changes this year, according to Bruce Innes, chairman of Student Union Entertainment Committee.

Previously known as "Friday at Four," the program has donned a new name. "Entertainment Unlimited," as it is now called, is also under a new schedule. "Friday at Four" was too limiting a title, Innes said. The new name allows for a broadened approach to the program and allows the entertainment committee plans to take place at any time.

Every Friday at 4 p.m., special entertainment is featured in the College Inn at no cost to the student body. As much of the top campus talent as possible will be presented this year, according to Innes.

Tomorrow, "The Kappa Keys" will perform. The Inn will also feature "The Triumverates," a new folk-singing group.

"In the remaining shows this quarter, we plan to feature such campus entertainers as Bob Lucas and Carol Nelson," Innes said.

FEMALE'S JUDGMENT BEST

Women, generally, are better than men at sizing up other people. Exception: Love blinds them to what's wrong in their own husbands.
