Regents Okay New Loop, Presidents Must Approve

HELENA (AP) — A new six-college conference will become a tri-state conference with the blessing of the Montana Board of Regents for final approval by the presidents of MSC and Montana.

Four other proposed members have already approved the new league. They are: Montana State College, State, Weber and Ogden, and Gonzaga.

The Montana regents said presi­dents of the schools still have to adopt formal regulations dealing with athletic scholarships, transfer of junior college students and other details.

A referendum of the first time in 65 years of competition that the two Montana schools will be in the SBA will be held on the campus. Votes from each campus will be counted by the state regents.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Reds Label Indian Flights 'Provocative'

The Reds condemned the Indian government for labeling their flights as 'provocative' and suggested that the Indian government should reconsider its stance.

The committee also approved new rules for the Venture Board that were supported by the president of the MSU Endowment Board.

Among the major projects carried out by the Board were the computer-center campaign, the annual business meeting of the board, and the Venture staff.

The mercury dropped below freezing in the Midwest, and the possibility of a severe winter weather was mentioned.

The Student Union committee will give a free concert in the College Inn after Thursday evening. The concert will feature local musicians.

Foundation Day Activities Open With Meeting of Contributors

The foundation day activities opened with a meeting of contributors. The theme for the day was 'Frontier Omnibus,' a collection of Montana historical documents from 1805 to 1883, to be issued in book form this fall.

The book will be issued in book form in the spring of 1963, and the editors of the book are Montana regents and historians.

Committee Allots $173,000 in Student Fees
By JERRY HOLLOREN
Distribution of more than $173,000 in student fees is the task of Chairman Dave Browman and other members of the ASMSU Budget and Finance Committee.

This year the Associated Students' budget is based on a student activity fee of $3 per year and an estimated activity-fee participation of 3,460 students.

Although the number of fees-paying students may be more, the committee must budget on the conservatively estimated figure of $36,580, Browman said. If there are more students, organizations that receive money less than budgeted originally; if there are fewer students, the amounts budgeted will be cut.

Of the total fees collected annually from each student, $29 is used for intercollegiate athletics. However, this will be decreased to $27 in 1965-66 and $21 in 1965-66 as a result of a referendum passed by the students last spring. This will mean a corresponding decrease in the student fees.

The second biggest benefactor from student fees is the Sentinel, the MSU weekly, which receives about 27 percent of what is left after the intercollegiate athletics share is extracted.

Estimated expenditures for the 1965-66 school year include accounting, $4,065; activities, $23,400; Auxiliary Sports Board (intramural and intercollegiate sports), $8,620; band, $1,911; debate and oratory, $3,315; dramatics, $3,200; homecoming and alumni relations, $205; headquarters, $1,094; intercollegiate athletics, $21,550; leadership, $150; Media Board, $2,131; Montana Kaimin, $13,351; public relations (intra, ops, clubs), $8,620; society, $2,131; Student Government, $18,429; traditions, $6,257; visiting, $1,855; and visiting lecturers, $1,855.

These organizations are allocated funds on a percentage basis, Browman explained, but the amounts that each are paid vary each year and the percentages may be changed.

A general fund, this year estimated at $18,380, is used for special allocations not included in the above-mentioned funds. It has received 20 to 25 requests for money from the following organizations: alumni committee, and range from $3,000 for an FM radio station on campus to $5 for the entry fee in a baby all-star race, Browman said.

All ASMSU directed and approved committees, coordinators for special projects or projects approved by Central Board, and clubs and organizations recognized by the administration and with open membership that provide services to students and further the aims of ASMSU are eligible to request funds from the Budget and Finance Committee.

Organizations seeking appropriations should contact Browman and submit a written request one week prior to their appearance before the committee. Requests should be in a specified format.

The money will be cut, Browman said, and 20 copies should be made available to the committee.

Attempts have been made recently to cut the student fee, but no satisfactory method has been found, Browman said, explaining that, if a cut were to be made, no less than $1 per quarter would be dropped. And a drop of $1 would mean a loss of about $10,000 per year.

A more realistic proposal, Browman said, is that a "free usage" fee be instituted, which would allow complete or partial free usage of the ice skating rink, golf course, swimming pool and bowling alleys.

At United Nations

Boothblack Shouts "Shoeshine" In 30 Languages to Delegates

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Jimmy, a bachelor in his late 20's, is a bootblack with a passion for geography and a sales pitch in many languages is one of the best-known figures at the United Nations.

For 16 years Jimmy Rinaldi has been shouting "shoeshine" in a dazzling variety of tongues as delegates pass his one-man concession.

"I can say 30 ways now, including Burmese, Indonesian, Arabic and Spanish," he said as the gray-haired bootblack paused briefly at his stand on the fourth floor of the secretariat building.

"Every time I get a customer from a new country, I ask him how to say 'shoeshine' in his language," he added. "In the past couple of years I've picked up a dozen African dialects."

Jimmy can name the capitals of all 118 U.N. member states plus major cities and rivers. He likes to hash over world affairs with diplomats who patronize his stand.

"I try to find out about the economy of each country and the amount of money it is getting from the U.N.," he said. "I used to have a pretty good picture of it, but so many new nations have started up that I've kind of lost track."

Jimmy averages 60 shoes a day at $1 per shoe.

He has found his trade a barometer on the state of the world.

"When everything is peaceful, I get plenty of shoes," he said.

What Does Grade Mean?

Selecting students for college requires educators to set up certain criteria. These usually include an applicant's age, sex, grades, his personality, and what amounts to an intuitive judgment of his potential in college.

In recent years, as the number of applicants exceeded the growth of facilities, many private liberal arts colleges have had to become more selective. As a result, the number of rejections is steadily mounting. This causes anguish among students, their parents, and some educators.

Now, a distinguished biologist, Dr. John T. Bonner of Princeton, asks a jarring question: Are the criteria for selecting students sufficient to make intelligent judgments?

He doubts it, and persuasively argues his point by saying that the system of testing and quickie interviews provides no recognition of a student's potential to seem to be "average" but flower later in life.

What Does Grade Mean?

Selecting the best applicants for college training is important and complex, and Dr. Bonner has no pat solution. He notes, however, that it would be more logical to choose students by looking into their heredity. If the achievements of his parents and grandparents are notable, then the applicant would be accepted.

Obviously, there are practical drawbacks to heredity ideology. No one yet knows the varying effects of heredity and environment on an individual. And it clashes with the democratic view that each individual should be judged on his own merits. Still, giving weight to a youngster's family background in the college selection process is no more outrageous than the commonly accepted notion that a student's potential can be neatly gauged by a few grades and a half-hour interview.

The selection of Grizzly halfback Terry Dillon for participation in the East-West Shrine Game shows that the All-America candidate, though a rare bird at a school handicapped by small size and lack of finances such as Montana, is indeed not extinct.

Dillon joins a group of six Grizzlies who have previously been selected for the Shrine Game.

The first annual game in San Francisco in 1926—when MSU was in the Pacific Coast Conference—was not found a pair of Grizzlies participating, but the two, quarter­back, Bill Kelly and halfback Russ Sweet, starred in the West's 17-13 victory. In 1937 another participating, but the two, quar­terback Bill Kelly and halfback Terry Dillon for participation in the West versus the East game. The Grizzlies won, 86-53, in Miss­oula.

The Grizzlies will open their home season Friday night when they play the University of North Da­kota in Memorial Stadium Saturday night in the 15-5, in first round action.

Barry Roberson and Mike Kapponke played well and Keith Law played a steady, dependable game.

Phil Delts Take Volleyball Title

Phi Delta Theta continued its winning ways in all-intramural action by defeating Full House for the volleyball championship last night, 15-5, in the final game.

It was the fourth all-intramural title for the Phi Delts this fall. They have won the football, swimming and placed second in tennis.
