Central Board last night tabled a section to raise the salaries of the sports editor, associate editors and other staff members, according to Kaimin.

The tabling action came after most of the members agreed that the proposal should be put on the agenda for further consideration.

The proposed increases were strongly opposed by Dave Browning, ASMSU business manager. He accused the salary of the sports editor from $25 to $30 a week, the salary of each of three associate editors from $25 to $35 a week and the salary of the photographer from $25 to $35 a week.

Increases Approved

The increases were approved by Public Editor Whitelaw, who serves on the Central Board, but must be approved by ASMSU before they go into effect.

Browning argued that the raises are “out of advertising revenue,” and that extra money in advertising rates should be used to decrease the proportion of Kaimin expenses paid out of advertising revenue.

More than $13,000 of this year’s budget, according to Browning, comes from about $1,000 from advertising revenue. The newspaper has increased $2,500 in expenses, but has only increased its advertising revenue by $1,200.

Staff Hires More

The tabled proposal also includes an increase in the staff, according to Browning and Myhre, because the staff is required to do extra work. Staff members must find time to do the extra work. Staff members must find time to do the extra work. Staff members must find time to do the extra work. Staff members must find time to do the extra work.

The authorized working schedule for the current school year would come from the fund already in hand. The proposed increases were an attempt to increase the advertising rate.

Expanding Downward

There is no reason to think that Presidents Newburn of MSU and Renne of MSC will not approve the proposed six-college "Western Empire" athletic league. It is not even implied that they would not have approved the proposal if the President of the Board of Regents had voted to put it on Tuesday.

Everybody’s getting all set for a rosy future for Montana. It looks that way. The spread of the game from the West Coast to the West Coast means that it is likely that they are even giving our WFC a glance.

Onward and upward and all that, but don’t help passing along and considering just what we have here in this cozy coalition.

First off, it looks as if things went a tad bit too fast. In Prelude and Fugue on Nov. 28, 18, Weber, Gonzaga, MSC, Idaho State and possibly Idaho will come "stompin’" into Missoula for a six-college get-together at Arrowhead. Next fall, schedule conflicts will probably prevent official league football play, but come basketball a conference champ will have been crowned.

The Spokane Board of Regents voted on it Tuesday. The reasons against Gonzaga’s being in the league are that the school has little in common with the other five colleges. Gonzaga is a church school, the others are state supported; Gonzaga has approximately 2,000 students, the others have around 4,000. Granted that while Gonzaga has the same amount of funds for sports as the other schools, it has fewer sports to support the amount of funds available for sports as the other schools have. It also has fewer sports to support the amount of funds available for sports as the other schools have. It also has fewer institutions to support, against Carroll College, a very small church school in Helena.

Oh yes. The University of Nevada and Port­land State University want in, too.

It is highly possible, fellow students, that in years to come you will be rooting for the Grizzlies against Whitworth, another church school in Spokane that is smaller than Gon­zaga; against enterprising Eastern Montana College—a teacher’s school that wants to go big time and give the State Taxpayers’ Association institutions to support, against Carroll College, a very small church school in Helena.

Montana to Face Sioux, Cougars in Season's First Home Games

Montana will be looking for their first wins of the season when they hit the hardwood court for their first home games of the season against the North Dakota Sioux and the Washington State Cougars here tomorrow and Saturday.

In their first three games, the Grizzlies shot a low 31 per cent on field goals and 54 per cent on free throws, compared with 55 and 82 for the opponents.

"Inexperience probably hurt us the most on the trip but even the veterans didn't perform up to my expectations," Coach Ron Nord said in commenting upon the Midwest tour during which the Grizzlies dropped three games.

Eight of 10 sophomores were taken on the trip and all saw action. Nord thinks that any four of these will help him find more workable combinations, particularly at the forward position which are the weakest spots.

Montana had a win-loss record of 4-6 and an average record of 5-5 last season.

MSU's All-American skier, Mike Buckley, will attend the first annual Olympic ski training camp in the Midwest tour during which the Grizzlies dropped three games.

Babcock Displeased With Board’s Decision

HELENA (AP)—Gov. Tim Babcock, who expressed extreme dissatisfaction with the action of the Board of Regents in granting a year’s leave of absence to President R. R. Renne of MSC, indicated yesterday he may have a formal statement today.

It is known Babcock was against granting Renne leave to take a job in Washington, D.C. Babcock conferred with Dr. Gordon L. Doering of Helena, only recently returned from a two-month leave in Europe. Doering recorded as voting against the leave in open session.

It is apparent the vote in the earlier, closed session had not gone according to some unofficial predictions. If it had done so, the board would have been tied—5–5 with the governor casting the deciding vote against granting the leave.

Those who supported the governor’s position were Calvin S. Bobuke, Kalispell; Doreen, John E. O’Neill, Butte, and Gordon Mulder, Glendive. Doering, in explaining why he voted “no” to Renne’s leave of absence, said during the board session he considers the university master plan too important to endanger by having one of theulent president absent while it is being put into effect.

He elaborated on reasons for opposing the leave of absence.

“I told Dr. Renne,” he said, “that under no circumstances would I vote for a leave of absence for him.

“We are now implementing the master plan study and will put it into effect in the fall of 1963.

“I don’t feel that the board should be making the decision as to whether he will take a job in Washington. That decision should be up to him to make.

“This job in the national capital, if it is of the rank and importance which is inferred, is surely one that cannot be completed in one year.

“The great problem at the federal level is inefficiency and such short tenure certainly will be subject to that defect.

“I told Dr. Renne that I was pleased and proud that he had been recognized for the appointment—especially so since he is not from Harvard, where most of the federal administrators apparently originate.”

Before the Regents adjourned Tuesday night they passed a resolution naming the college’s vice president, P. C. Gaines, as acting president in the event that Renne exercises his option for a leave. Second in command to Gaines, the board decided, would be Roy Hoffman, dean of agriculture.

HOLT MAY TROUBLE STEVE

A 6-6 junior center named Curtis Holt could give MSU’s 6-7 Steve Lowry some headaches in the upcoming game against North Dakota. Holt is the leading returning scorer for the Sioux, with a 13.7 average last season.

Grizzly Head Coach Ron Nord rates Holt as “the man to stop” in the Friday night contest here.
