Students React to Proposed Fee Hike

By PAT MORRIS
Kaimin Reporter

Student reaction to the proposed MSU fee increase vary from flat opposition to unqualified endorsement, according to a Kaimin survey.

The increase in student fees has been proposed by the Board of Regents and will be put into effect next fall quarter if approved by the legislature.

The proposal asks that the registration fee for resident students be raised from $10 to $15 and that the incidental fee be raised from $40 to $50 per quarter, amounting to a $45-per-year increase.

Nonresident student fees would be increased from $90 per quarter to $180 each quarter for a total increase of $270 per year.

Below are some comments on the fee increase from MSU students. Most students were more concerned with the effect on nonresident students than with the increase in fees paid by residents. Dan O'Neill, Butte, sophomore, psychology and anthropology—"I would like to see the proposed nonresident fee charged to the incoming freshman. However, let the proven upperclass student with a minimum 2.5 grade point average continue to pay the current fee charge or a fee increase comparable to state students."

Mary Jo Murray, Homestead,

freshman, English and journalism—"I think raising fees is an excellent way to discourage nonresident students, if that is what the administration wants. For myself, as a state student, any fee increase would be an added burden on my parents, which I hope can be avoided."

Richard Barr, Thomaston, Conn., senior, forestry—"I feel an increase in fees is obviously necessary, but I think this should be done gradually. Also, I feel there should be some adjustments made on the legality of residence of the university in accordance with state regulations."

Lynn Osborne, Alta, Iowa, freshman, forestry—"I'm out-of-state and I'm opposed to it. I already pay about $100 a quarter more in fees than resident students."

De Ann Williams, Portland, Ore., junior, sociology—"I don't think it's fair to increase fees so much for nonresident students. If they want to build their school, they won't, because the out-of-state student won't come. They can go to larger and better schools for the same costs."

Linda Johnson, Cincinnati, Ohio, junior, math—"I think it's a good idea, personally. I've read that Montana has one of the lowest fees and MSU needs the money. Nonresident tuition will be high, but it will still be lower than many schools, so students shouldn't complain."

Raenelle Maxwell, Billings, freshman, psychology—"We may lose out-of-state students with an increase, because many struggle now to pay costs."

Paula Latham, Great Falls, sophomore, journalism—"I'm opposed to it many from the standpoint that many out-of-state students can't afford to come back."

Nancy Jones, Billings, senior, home economics—"When I first heard about the possible fee increase I definitely thought that it would hurt us, but now I think that only some departments may be affected by nonresident students going elsewhere."

Sir Winston's Life Continues to Wane

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill's doctor said just before noon a.m. MST—today there had been no further deterioration in the former prime minister's condition.

Churchill's physician, Lord Moran, said he would issue another medical bulletin about 9 p.m.—2 p.m. MST.

Lord Moran had been called to Churchill's bedside at 2:10 a.m. and spent five hours there. He reported shortly after 7 a.m. that Representatives of MSU honoraries met last week to discuss plans for increasing recognition of scholastic achievement on campus.

Housing Rumor Sets Discussion at AWS

A rumor that women 21 years of age and older would be forced to live off campus next fall was neither affirmed nor denied by Maurine Clow, associate dean of students, during the AWS meeting yesterday.

Miss Clow stated that the rumor did not originate in her office but noted that a problem in women's housing does exist. She asked members of AWS to bring their thoughts women should live. After a varied response, Miss Clow stressed that there will be no easy solution to a housing problem that may arise in the future.

On an Oregon campus where 21-year-old women were to be allowed to live off campus very few parents would give their consent, she said, and the problem was not solved.

In answer to a question as to whether it was "fair" to allow sorority girls to live in crowded dormitories, Miss Clow said: "A girl wearing a pin has as much

ROTC Cadets Join Honorary

Seven new members were initiated last week into Arnold Air Society, AFROTC's honorary for students in the advanced military program.

Lt. Col. Robert Velde of the ROTC department was guest speaker at the initiation.

Churchill had spent a very restless night and his condition had deteriorated.

Moran's midday bulletin was the 10th issued since the 90-year-old statesman suffered a stroke on Friday. Moran has reported any improvement.

With death apparently drawing near for the great wartime leader, political leaders began canceling normal activities.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson postponed a statement to the House of Commons and a telecast tonight on the nation's trade situation. He was reported seeking to put off a visit to West Germany Thursday.

Churchill's Conservative party called off a telecast Wednesday. The House of Commons postponed until June the scheduled Wednesday celebration of the 700th anniversary of Simon de Montfort's Parliament, from which British democracy grew.

Estes Arrested When High Court Refuses Petition

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, bankrupt former West Texas financier and promoter, was arrested Monday night after the Supreme Court refused to act on an appeal from a 15-year prison sentence.

U. S. Dist. Judge R. Ewing Thomson only a few minutes earlier had revoked Estes' $100,000 appeal bond and issued a warrant for his arrest.

The Supreme Court refused earlier to act on Estes' request for a hearing on his conviction on mail fraud.

The federal charge resulted from manipulation of worthless fertilizer bank mortgages amounting to about $24 million. Estes was convicted on five of 14 counts in an indictment that resulted from his concealed mortgage deals with farmers and finance companies.

Availability of Reports to Press Retarded by Regents' Resolution

HELENA (AP)—A resolution by the Board of Regents may slow down the availability of reports requested by newsmen from the office of the regents' executive secretary in Helena and from university offices around the state.

The measure was introduced at the request of the university system presidents who objected to an Associated Press story that reported rising costs have made

MSU Tops State For Peace Corps

MSU leads the field for the highest number of Peace Corps volunteers from Montana, with 22 students accepted into the program compared to 16 from MSC.

The total from the nine institutions in Montana is 54 volunteers. Fourteen students have returned from their tour of service. Twenty-seven students have had degrees when they volunteered—26 undergraduate and one master's.

By comparison, North Dakota has sent 33 volunteers, Idaho 41 and Wyoming 20.

to give citizens fair warning as to what is illegal," Justice Arthur J. Goldberg said, speaking for the court.

This formula was laid down in reversing the conviction of the Rev. B. Elton Cox, field secretary of the Congress of Racial Equality, on charges growing out of a demonstration in Baton Rouge, La.

After a five-week-long Christmas recess from public sessions, the court handed down a flood of decisions and orders, including:

- A refusal to hear an appeal by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-NY), asking reversal of a $46,000 libel judgment won by a Negro domestic worker, Esther James.

- A ruling that seizure by Texas authorities of about 2,000 alleged pro-Communist books and pamphlets from San Antonio resident John W. Stanford Jr., was done with an invalid search warrant.

Slides Available Of Preschoolers

The MSU Family Life Education Program has made available two sets of slides of preschool children taken at the MSU nursery school and kindergarten.

Mrs. Joan Christopherson, director of the program, said that one set shows activities in a nursery school, the other depicts some discussion of good programs for preschool children.

Montana's state universities among the most expensive in the Rocky Mountain area. The presidents felt a comparison of Montana fees effective in 1965 with 1964 fees at other schools wasn't factual on the ground that most other schools also will have increased fees in 1965, according to Dr. Gordon Doering, Helena dentist and member of the board.

The resolution directs "that studies and reports requested from the university units and the executive secretary be only through

Figures Vary In Budget Plan

The two sets of enrollment figures that reports Babcock used in preparing the budget for the six-unit system of the University of Montana have resulted in confusion and brought a "no comment" response from MSU's Pres. Robert Johns.

Gov. Babcock apparently used one set of enrollment figures to determine expenditures and another, larger set, to estimate the income needed to support the budget, according to two recent stories in the Missoulian-Sentinel.

The smaller set of figures is based on the projected enrollment of the University system for 1965 and 1966, while the higher set of figures was used to estimate the income needed to support that budget.

While the projected enrollment for November of 1965 is 15,523, the governor foresees an enrollment of 16,188 and bases fees income on that figure. The University system also counts on 17,074 students in November of 1966, while Gov. Babcock is planning on fee income action of the Board of Regents in assembled meeting . . . and that reports and studies be released only after examination by the Council of Presidents and approval by the Board of Regents."

A study of the Council, which is comparing student fees at MSU with student fees at other universities throughout the Rocky Mountain area, is being carried out by Al Dubbe, executive secretary of the board, and should be released in the middle of February, MSU Pres. Robert Johns said.

from 17,817. Nevertheless, his $38 million budget is based on the smaller figures.

The difference between the two sets of figures is 1,408 students and an estimated $817,795. (See editorial page 2.)

Critic to View Political Scene

Gordon Hall, who has been called an unofficial FBI agent, will present his views about the American political situation Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall.

Mr. Hall has spent much of his life investigating fringe groups.

"He does this not because he likes to snoop, but to keep the public record straight and to serve the public's right to know," says a Boston magazine.

English Instructor to Offer Clarification For Misunderstanding of Linguistics

Clarifying some misunderstandings about the science of linguistics is one purpose that Merrel D. Clubb Jr., associate professor of English, has outlined for his Tuesday's Topic discussion tonight at 7 in the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge.

Linguistics is a relatively new field of study in comparison with other sciences, and Mr. Clubb will explain the goals of the new science and describe some of the specific projects now being attempted by linguists.

He will emphasize the last seven years of the development of the science in his lecture, entitled "Recent Developments in Linguistics."

Linguistics has been controversial because some educated persons feel that linguistics will destroy the beauty of language by attempting to analyze it scientifically, Mr. Clubb says. He said linguistics also has been accused of bringing imprecision and disorder to language and grammar.

Mr. Clubb has worked under the Fulbright English Language Program in Italy, Burma and Colombia.

Tim's Budgeting Methods Shortchange U System

The use of two sets of enrollment figures in Gov. Tim Babcock's University budget—one for anticipated expenditures and one for anticipated income—must be condemned as short-changing Montana's college students and, ultimately, the state.

The fact that the governor based his anticipated income on a greater enrollment than that used for expenditures was revealed by Sam Reynolds in Friday's and Sunday's Missoulian.

We have watched in the past few months while increase after increase has been piled onto the anticipated cost of a college education in Montana in the next several years. Consider these facts:

- The Board of Regents has recommended that next year the in-state fees at the six units of the University system be increased $15 a quarter ($45 a year).

- The Board also has recommended that out-of-state fees be increased $90 a quarter ($270 a year).

- The installation of telephones in each of the dormitory rooms in the next year is anticipated to cost about $4.50 a room per month. (At $2.25 a person, this is almost $20 a year for each dorm resident.)

- The room and board rate is expected to increase seven to eight per cent in the next year because of a rise in the cost of living. (This increase will amount to about $50 a year for each dorm resident.)

The above fee increases, provided they are all put into effect, will mean an approximately $115 increase for each Montana student living in University housing and a $385 increase for each out-of-state student living in University housing.

In addition, note should be taken of the following:

- The State of Montana has not paid for a building on this campus since 1949, according to information from Pres. Robert Johns. Student fees and grants have paid for all buildings since that time.

- The six-unit University budget of $39.1 million as recommended by the Board of Regents was cut to $38 million in the Governor's budget.

The terrific jump in cost of education is unfortunate, but Babcock's method of balancing the education budget drastically compounds the situation.

According to the Missoulian story, the governor's budget was based on expenditures for an anticipated enrollment at the six University units of 15,523 for November, 1965, and 17,074 in November, 1966. The income was anticipated on enrollments of 16,188 and 17,817 for the two dates—a difference of 1,408 students. (These students would pay an estimated $817,795 in fees, according to the Missoulian.)

The obvious conclusion to be drawn from this type of budgeting is that the student will not receive the quality of education anticipated in the Regents' budget request. No matter which enrollment figure is correct, the revenue will not be enough.

If the actual enrollment is 32,597 for the two years (that used in determining expenditures), the income will be $817,795 short of the amount necessary to educate, house and feed that many students.

However, if the enrollment is 34,005 (that used in determining income), the number of professors and the cafeteria and dormitory space still will be inadequate because these facilities will be the amount planned for 1,408 fewer students.

If the governor had used the same estimate for both income and expenditure, no problem would have resulted (except obviously, that more tax revenue would be necessary to balance the budget). If the estimate were high, the increased enrollment would also bring increased revenue. If the estimate were low, the smaller income would be for facilities used by fewer students.

The governor apparently has tried to make it appear that he has balanced the budget when, in reality, he has done no such thing.

We presume that the fee increases were necessary to support the budget the Regents requested. But, after all the fee increases, to have the governor cut the budget, then use unrealistic means to balance the remainder, is a stab in the back of the University system and the future of Montana which is so dependent on the education of its young people. —djf

BJJ's inauguration to Be Marked By Plush, Relaxed Atmosphere

By JANE TOLMAN
 Kaimin Associate Editor

Do you have $1,400 or more to spend for four days of guaranteed excitement?

If you do, that's what the four days of Pres. Johnson's inauguration festivities might cost a man and wife, according to a United Press International estimate.

Although Pres. Johnson's inauguration will be more informal than the late Pres. Kennedy's in 1960, the cost will run $2 million higher.

Inauguration chairman Warren Woodard, who started planning the ceremonies and festivities last summer, said that incumbent Presidents usually spend more on the ceremonies than first term Presidents.

Most of the money to finance the inauguration comes from the sale of inaugural ball tickets, parade seats, admission to official events and programs.

Part of the cost of the oath-taking ceremony is also paid by private donations and $500,000 is appropriated by Congress from tax dollars.

In 1960, the inaugural committee had money left over after bills were paid. The money was donated to charities.

Cost of Events
 UPI listed the costs for the official events as:

- $50 for seat for the inaugural ball;
- $10 to $50 for ticket to the inaugural concert;
- $10 for reception for Vice President and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey;
- $10 for reception for Pres. and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson;
- $20 for Young Democrats dance;
- $7 to $50 for box seats in the reviewing stand opposite Pres. and Mrs. Johnson at the inaugural parade.

UPI added up the costs of travel; hotel rooms (which are almost impossible to get in Washington this week); clothes, including an evening gown for the ball; food; drinks; taxis; night clubs, and incidentals. The list totals $1,400 for the minimum-cost four-day stay. (Something like the budget tour of Europe!) Many dignitaries will spend $2,000 or more for the four days.

Informal Ceremonies

Pres. Johnson's inauguration is termed informal because he has refused to wear the traditional striped trousers, morning coat and top hat for the oath-taking. He prefers an oxford gray business suit. He hasn't said if he'll wear a hat, but loyal Texans are hoping he'll choose a 10-gallon cowboy hat.

The inaugural ball also will be less formal with the President wearing a black tie rather than the white tie and tails.

When in Washington most dignitaries are "doing as the President does," since most people don't want to outshine the Chief of State at his own inauguration. A few old-timers refuse to copy the President and plan to go to the ball clad in white tie and tails.

Ladies' Fashions

Ladies will wear floor-length evening gowns to the ball. All women "in the know" will steer away from yellow dresses, since Mrs. Johnson has announced her gown will be jonquil yellow, the color of the Texas rose.

Although Lady Bird Johnson and Mrs. Humphrey will wear courtier creations, other ladies are dubious about wearing lavish ball gowns. With 20,000 invited to the ball, waltzing may be uncomfortable and expensive clothes are likely to get crushed.

If the women find themselves squashed at the ball, the entertainment may make up for the crowd. The 14 orchestras, combos and singing groups will include Louis Armstrong, Meyer Davis, Lester Linn, Guy Lombardo, Peter Duchin, The Brothers Four and bands from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Coach Nord Voices Praise For Gonzaga, Idaho Players

Grizzly coach Ron Nord returned from his club's western swing of the Big Sky Conference with plenty of praise for two guards instrumental in the Montana defeats—Gonzaga's Bill Suter and Idaho's Jerry Skaife.

Suter fired 26 points to lead Gonzaga past the Grizzlies 91-79 Thursday night. Skaife paced the Saturday night Idaho win over Montana, 91-68, with 23 points.

"Suter is one of the most outstanding little men I've seen in many years," Nord said yesterday. "He can really move, play defense, and most important, put the ball in the basket."

"Montana State scouted him Thursday night and probably figured they had a pretty good line on him, but he broke their back Saturday night with 28 points. That proves his greatness."

Skaife, a transfer from Columbia Basin Junior College, impressed the Montana mentor with his speed and all-around ability. His 14 first-half points got Idaho off and running in its second conquest of Montana this season.

Nord calls Gonzaga "close to the best club we've played all year." The coach rates Wyoming ahead of the Bulldogs.

"Gonzaga beat us with eight minutes of great basketball," Nord said. "We came back real strong to close the gap to nine points with a couple minutes left, but we couldn't pull it out."

Nord attributed the Idaho loss to the fact that "we just didn't play well."

Ed Samelton and Gary Meggelen led the Grizzly attack on the trip with 41 and 27 points.

Weber State and Idaho State, teams with contrasting records, are the next Grizzly opposition. Weber (12-1) is here Friday and Idaho State (2-13) Saturday.

"We'll be ready this week," Nord commented. "We need to get some points from our big men. Also, we can't let a few bad breaks get us down. We have a fine group of men and if we just put it all together, we'll do great."

Grizzly Matmen Lose Two In Triangular Meet Friday

Montana State and Washington State topped Montana in Friday's wrestling meet at the Field House. The Bobcats defeated Rainer Martens' Grizzlies 20-8 and the Cougars stopped the Tips 18-13.

The visitors battled to a 12-12 deadlock in their meeting.

Bill Gilboe, Dick Southern, Bob Palmer, Dennis Lucey and Rod Lung won matches for Montana. Dean Hermes drew twice.

Results involving Montana: 123—Southern dec. Schwendman (WSU) 9-2; dec. by Lockwood (MSC) 12-10.

130—Jim Neumeyer dec. by Pe-

177—Lung dec. Anderson (MSC) 2-0; dec. by Simkins (WSU) 3-2.

191—Gilboe dec. Miller (MSC) 6-3. WSU did not enter.

Heavyweight—Hermes drew with Schlepp (MSC) 1-1 and with Moore (WSU) 1-1.

Next action for the Montana wrestlers will be Friday night when they tangle with Weber State after the basketball game. Saturday the Grizzly grapplers face Idaho State after the hoop contest.

Skiers Seventh at Ogden Meet

MSU's ski team placed seventh at the Big Sky alpine meet at Ogden, Utah, this past weekend. Eight schools entered.

Utah won the meet with 195.7 points. MSC placed second with a 190.8, followed by Idaho State, 178.3; Ricks, 170; Weber, 150.2; Utah State, 146; MSU, 143.3, and BYU, 117.3.

Indonesia Stays Member of WHO

GENEVA (AP)—Indonesia intends to stay in the World Health Organization and some other U.N. specialized agencies, an official of President Sukarno's government said Monday.

The decision was announced by Mrs. Hurustiati Subandrio, deputy minister of public health and wife of Foreign Minister Subandrio. This was one of a series of offshoots of Indonesia's proclaimed withdrawal from the United Nations, still to be formalized by a written document.

Indonesians were told Monday their government's withdrawal from the United Nations is part of "a struggle against neocolonialism." Neocolonialism is a word devised by Pres. Sukarno's regime for neocolonialism, colonialism and imperialism—all represented as evils by neighboring Malaysia.

The selection of Malaysia Dec. 30 for a seat on the U.N. Security Council prompted the Indonesian walkout.

County Replacement Urged In Reapportionment Measure

HELENA (AP)—The Montana Senate introduced another reapportionment measure to place Cascade County into the state's western congressional district.

Six bills were received and three others were cleared for final vote in the Senate today.

There have been 66 bills introduced in the Senate, compared with 77 on the comparable day in 1963.

Without objections, the Senate advanced three bills to final vote. These would require auto salvage yards to screen their premises with fence or shrubbery on penalty of fines up to $1,000, allow teaching certificates to be issued to foreign citizens, and permit school districts to depreciate school buses over a five-year period rather than eight.

Bills designed to protect the general public and raise the state inheritance tax on collateral heirs by one per cent were introduced Monday.

Also introduced Monday were bills designed to protect uninformed stockholders in domestic stock insurance companies and to require all commodities to be labeled with the correct weight and description of what is packaged for sale.

Demos Dispute Budget Plans

HELENA (AP) — Democratic leaders in the Montana Legislature Monday challenged the Republican minority to produce the revenue measure needed to finance Republican Gov. Tim Babcock's proposed budget for the two years beginning July 1.

The request brought the legislature's 15th day to a close in argument.

It generated statements off the floor that the Democrats plan to introduce their own tax package and have no plans to buy one of Babcock's major proposals—a $5 service charge for processing all state withholding tax forms—even if it is introduced.

Senate Minority Leader Sumner Gerard, R-Madison, told newsmen the Democrats plan to increase the state income tax. "I think that's the route to political suicide," he said.

UN Assembly President Urges Close of Voting Right Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly was urged Monday by its president, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, to adopt a course of action that would avoid a United States-Soviet confrontation on voting rights and put the assembly back on a normal operating basis by next Monday. He addressed the 115-nation assembly after Sec. Gen. U Thant warned that the U.N.'s financial plight due to peacekeeping debts threatened to end its role as "a dynamic and effective instrument of international action."

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, the chief Soviet delegate, called on Thant before the assembly opened and told him the Russians would make a financial contribution—once the assembly is operating on a normal basis. Fedorenko told reporters the Soviet Union would be among the first to contribute, but he would not say how much.

Military Strength to Soar With Addition of Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres. Lyndon Johnson told Congress Monday about powerful weapons which can be added to what he said was the strongest peacetime military strength in the nation's history.

These include Polaris missiles with warheads twice the size of present ones—and with eight times the killing wallop.

He wrote this into his message on "The State of Our Defenses," a forecast of programs to be spelled out in even greater detail in the military budget scheduled for later this month.

The budget, he said, will propose a spending program in the coming fiscal year of $49 billion—$2.3 billion less than the fiscal 1964 year and $300 million less than is estimated for the current year.

The United States, the President wrote, has "built a strength of arms greater than ever assembled by any other nation and greater now than any combination of adversaries—an indisputable margin of superiority for our defenses."

He will ask Congress for more than $300 million to continue and improve the capabilities of the B52 heavy bombers—but he also announced officially the intended elimination of two squadrons of B52B's.

In the category of conventional or limited warfare capabilities, he said the Army's combat-ready divisions have been increased by 45 per cent. The total 16 divisions now; Special Forces, for fighting against guerrillas, have been expanded eight-fold; the Tactical Air Force fire power for support of Army ground divisions is up 100 per cent.

Martin L. King Hit By Segregationist

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—A segregationist struck Dr. Martin Luther King in the head with his fist while King and 11 other Negroes registered for hotel rooms here. A short time earlier, King had led several hundred Negroes on a quiet march to the courthouse where the Negroes lined up to register as voters.

The man was a member of the National States Rights party. He was wearing the khaki uniform of the party. Without warning, he struck King on the right temple and kicked him in the groin.

Forms Available On Foreign Study

A book of applications for graduate schools, foreign institutions and junior years abroad is available for student inspection in the Dean's office in Main Hall, according to Andrew Cogswell, dean of students.

Applications for U.S. and foreign schools are on file. Application deadlines are usually in February or March, Mr. Cogswell said.

Are you ready for a multi-million-dollar responsibility?

If you are, there's a place for you on the Aerospace Team—the U.S. Air Force. No organization in the world gives young people a greater opportunity to do vital, responsible work. For example, just a short while ago a 23-year-old Air Force lieutenant made a startling breakthrough in metallurgy. And a recent All-America tackle is doing advanced research in nuclear weapons. If you have talent, you'll have a U.S. Air Force Force recruiter.

chance to show it in the Air Force. Your work can put you and your country ahead. You can earn your commission at Air Force Officer Training School, a three-month course open to both men and women. To apply you must be within 210 days of your degree. For more information, contact the Professor of Air Science. If your campus has no AFOTC, see your local Air Force Force recruiter.
