'Macbeth' Opens Tonight

Dark, Ambitious Man Trapped By Violent, Tragic Aspirations

Shakespeare's dark, violent and tragic story of a man trapped by his own ambitions will be staged by the MSU Masquers in the University Theater at 8:15 p.m. today through Saturday.

"Macbeth," first performed in 1606, is the third Shakespearean play performed by the Masquers. Douglas Bankson, associate professor of drama, is directing the play with a new approach—the idea of re-discovering the play in contemporary terms rather than in the traditional manner.

"Stylized acting must suggest a realistic basis and a symbolic value," Mr. Bankson says. "One example of this stylized acting is during Banquo's murder. He is not stabbed with swords, but approached by his murderers who "freeze" with swords lifted in the symbolic gesture of killing while Banquo gives his soliloquy. Then he drops to a platform while the murderers (wearing red gloves—symbolic of blood) stand with swords still positioned.

Stylized acting is this transition from realism to the symbolic gesture.

Each part of "Macbeth" uses new techniques and contemporary designs. Even the music has been specially composed by Jerry Mader, MSU music major. The music is non-instrumental, taped and includes a series of beeps, whirrs and machine-made noises. This inharmonious music supplements the acting.

More than 90 people have been working two months on "Macbeth," which has a cast of 35 members.

Macbeth, the leading male role, will be played by Jim Eaker. Lady Macbeth will be played by Georgia Tree. Other characters include Bill Dobson as Malcolm, Duncan Crump as Macduff, Charles Barnett as Ross, Glenn Gauer as Banquo and Austin Gray as Duncan.

Ken Hale is assistant director; Dick James, set designer, and Sarah James, costume designer.

General admission tickets are $1.50 and student tickets $1. They may be purchased at the door or reserved at the box office between noon and 5 p.m. today through Saturday.

Japanese Prof To Lecture About Geology

A Japanese assistant professor of petrology from the University of Tokyo will be on the MSU campus today and tomorrow.

Dr. Akiho Miyashiro will lecture Thursday at 4 p.m. on "Orogeny and Metamorphism in Japan" and at 8 p.m. on "Japanese Islands in the Western Pacific." Tomorrow at 4 p.m. will lecture on "Magmatism and Metamorphism." The lectures will be in room 107 of the Geology building.

The geologist is the representative of the Mineralogical Society of Japan to the Commission of Cosmic Mineralogy of the International Mineralogical Association and is a member of the National Committee on Mineralogy. He has published many scientific papers and holds a doctorate degree from the University of Tokyo.

Dr. Miyashiro's visit to MSU is sponsored by the American Geological Institute and financed by the National Science Foundation as part of the Visiting International Scientist Program.

Army Awards North Rank

Forestry student Petr E. Leech was awarded the highest honor an Army ROTC cadet can receive Tuesday. Cadet Leech was promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel.

Leech was promoted for recognition of outstanding performance in the ROTC Army program. This is a yearly award in the program. Arnold W. Bolle, dean of the School of Forestry, pinned the third diamond on Cadet Leech's shoulders for photographers during the promotion ceremonies.

The criteria for this promotion is leadership in ROTC and on campus, and order of merit from cadet activities including summer camp at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Leech is the commanding officer of all cadets and senior Army ROTC cadets on campus.

CB Concerned With Attendance

Concerned with the lack of participation by some members of Central Board, ASMSU Pres. Bob Liffing said at last night's meeting, "If attendance at the meetings doesn't improve, I will have to ask for some resignations."

The remark was prompted when Business Manager Bill Hibbs pointed out that the only senior delegate present left early, leaving the minimum needed for a quorum.

Despite the poor attendance, CB passed a resolution to send to members of the Board of Regents and the House Appropriations Committee stating "that students enrolled in any unit of the University of Montana during the academic year of 1964-65 be exempt from out-of-state fee increases for the academic years 1965-66, 1966-67, 1967-68 and 1968-69."

Publications Board Chairman

Ray Cosman recommended that Keith Nichols, junior journalism major, be appointed Kaimin managing editor and Paula Latham, sophomore journalism major, be named Kaimin assistant business manager. Both were approved by Central Board. See Pub Board story.

Cosman also recommended that the name of the University literary magazine be changed to "The Garret." The Venture staff believes that student opinion of the "Venture" is not good and they wish to create a better image. Also, this change would make it easier to copyright the magazine.

Two motions, one that the name "Venture" be dropped, and the other that the name be changed to "The Garret" were tabled as required by present CB policy when bylaw changes are proposed.

In other action, CB defeated a motion to appoint Mary Lindsay, sophomore, co-chairman of Freshman Camp because she did not fulfill the bylaw requiring a co-chairman to reside in Missoula during the summer.

Nichols, Latham Recommended By Pub Board for Kaimin Posts

Publications Board yesterday accepted the resignation of M Book editor Marcia Williams and recommended Lowell Keith Nichols for Kaimin managing editor and Paula Latham for Kaimin assistant business manager.

Keith Nichols, a senior in journalism from Great Falls, has a GPA of 3.14. He was editor of the Great Falls High School Iniwa and has been a part-time Kaimin photographer. He has worked as a freelance photographer and correspondent and is a member of Montana Forum and Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society.

Paula Latham, a sophomore in journalism from Billings, has a GPA of 3.72. She was editor of her high school yearbook and worked as editor of her school paper.

A letter of resignation as M book editor was accepted from Marcia Williams, a freshman in journalism from Great Falls. Publications Board will select a new editor for M book next week. An effort will be made to have the publication out on time, Ray Cosman, chairman of Publications Board said.

Forum to Discuss Students, Faculty

A continuation of proposals for faculty evaluation and student-faculty communication will be discussed at Montana Forum, Friday at noon in Territorial Room 5 of the Lodge.

Students are invited to attend and participate in the discussion. Bob Worcester, Forum chairman, said.

North Viet Nam Bombed In Retaliatory Air Strike

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Nearly 50 American and Vietnamese planes attacked targets in North Viet Nam today with rockets and bombs in reprisal for a Viet Cong attack on a U. S. enlisted men's barracks in which 22 Americans are believed to have been killed.

It was the third air strike against the Communist North since Sunday. The earlier attacks had been in retaliation for a Viet Cong attack on an air base in which eight Americans were killed.

The strike today was believed to be the heaviest yet launched against the North. It was made by 28 Vietnamese fighter-bombers with an escort of 20 U. S. Air Force F-4 jets.

All the Vietnamese and American planes returned safely.

There were believed to have been no casualties.

The Vietnamese planes smashed at six bases for Viet Cong infiltrators with rockets and bombs after the American jets worked over the area with their rockets and bombs.

At Qui Nhon, rescuers pulled two American soldiers alive from the debris of the concrete enlisted men's quarters shattered by the Viet Cong explosion Wednesday night.

Twenty-two others, including two believed still alive, were buried under the mountain of rubble. Two others are dead. Sixteen Americans who got out of the blasted building were wounded. Four others escaped without injury.

Gov. Babcock's Budget Killed by House

HELENA (AP)—The Democratic majority in Montana's House of Representatives demolished Republican Gov. Tim Babcock's smoker-financed $17.2 million building program Wednesday and buried it in a parliamentary ditch. Democrats then trotted out their own sharply curtailed control plan for construction and financing.

The expected death of Babcock's budget-balancing key came on the longest, most arduous meeting of the session—a 38th day in which representatives did not even take a luncheon break.

Finally, after 6½ argumentative hours, the House took a three-hour breather before resuming debate in the first night session.

Winning committee approval was a bill to take away the discount cigarette dealers get for handling the cigarette tax. This money—8 per cent of the five-cent tax that goes to the general fund—would help pay the state's share of the Kerr-Mills program.

Republicans fought for nearly three hours to save the governor's plan to finance needed state buildings with the three-cent cigarette tax now repaying bonds that financed bonuses to veterans.

The GOP's No. 1 proposal first went down on a 55-37 party-line vote that climaxed 110 minutes of debate.

This motion, which eventually passed 55-38, means a two-thirds majority vote now is necessary to revive the governor's plan—an impossibility without Democratic support.

Democratic arguments against the bill were based on the impropriety of having smokers foot what should be a state charge, on doubts that such a crash program is needed; and on promises the 3-cent cigarette tax would be dropped when veterans' bonus bonds are retired.

Rep. Robert D. Watt, D-Missoula, reminded representatives a bill to put to public vote the question of continuing the cigarette tax for buildings already has won preliminary House approval.

The money would finance construction of buildings at state institutions, the Capitol complex, the university units, and about $3 million for repair and renovation of existing buildings.

"Let's live in the present and not mortgage the future for something in the past," Rep. P. J. Gilfeather, D-Cascade, said in opposing the governor's financing plan.

Viet Crisis Prompts Meet Of National Security Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres. Johnson called an emergency National Security Council meeting yesterday afternoon, but gave no clues afterward on what the U.S. response—if any—will be to a new wave of Communist attacks in South Viet Nam.

The President summoned his top strategists to the White House for a 1 1/2-hour session following word of a terrorist blast destroying a U.S. enlisted men's billet in Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

Unconfirmed estimates placed the American death toll at perhaps 20 to 30. The White House declined to give a casualty count at this time.

A Viet Cong mortar barrage at Pleiku Sunday killed eight Americans and wounded 146, triggering U.S.-South Vietnamese reprisal air strikes on Communist North Viet Nam.

Dispatches from Saigon yesterday told of further sizable Red guerrilla offensives throughout South Viet Nam.

Johnson came outside after the council meeting and walked around the White House front yard in relaxed fashion. He declined to go beyond Press Secretary George E. Reedy's statement that the Viet Nam situation "is receiving the closest attention."

There was speculation that the President might order further U.S. retaliation, or a dispatch of U.S. security forces to South Viet Nam to guard Americans there, or a speedup in the evacuation of U.S. dependents, now under way.

Reedy declined to give backing to any of these lines of speculation. In fact, he replied "no" when asked if a speedup is planned in the removal of dependents.

He said the President is meeting with the cabinet this afternoon, but that the session was scheduled before the latest turn of events in Viet Nam.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff met twice yesterday, in the morning and again in the afternoon. A source said this was their regular meeting day.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen he was in no position to anticipate what decisions the United States might make.

But there were strong indications other official sources that the United States would take reprisal action.

Chinese Retaliation Considered Doubtful

HONG KONG (AP) — Analysts in Hong Kong doubt that Red China, despite its belligerent warnings, will retaliate against U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Two reasons are cited by American, Commonwealth and Nationalist Chinese sources in this British trading center and international listening post on China's south flank:

• Red China, despite its manpower and its recent explosion of an atomic device, does not have the resources to wage a major war with the United States.

• Peking believes such a war is unnecessary, as it considers that the Viet Cong are winning their fight to take over South Viet Nam.

A Chinese Nationalist expert said yesterday the Mao Tse-tung regime cannot financially afford a confrontation with the United States.

"During the Korean War, this point was driven home very firmly to the Chinese Communists," he said. "Chinese Communist troops were told that each shell fired during this war was worth an ounce of gold. They were instructed not to fire unless they absolutely had to.

"The Korean War put Chinese Communist plans for development of resources back at least 10 years.

"And Peking knows another major confrontation with the United States would do the same thing—or even worse—at a time when Communist China desperately needs resources to compete in the ideological field with the Russians."

Commonwealth experts said they believe Peking is playing a game of poker with the United States.

Dirksen Supports LBJ's Viet Nam Course of Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres. Johnson is finding in an old but friendly foe, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, just about his staunchest congressional supporter for the course he has taken in Viet Nam.

While some leading Democrats have been silent or cautious in their comments, Dirksen has put himself squarely behind the President. Dirksen says a "dominant majority" of Senate Republicans also back Johnson's stand.

It wasn't until Tuesday that Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, volunteered public support for the President's policy of retaliating on North Viet Nam military bases for the Viet Cong attacks on U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam.

Fulbright was asked if he thought the President had done the right thing in ordering U.S. air strikes. The Arkansas Democrat confined his answer to "yes."

Secret Flight Brings Injured Back to States

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Twenty-five battle-injured American servicemen from Viet Nam were scattered Wednesday to six hospitals throughout the United States after a secrecy-shrouded transpacific flight.

Another hospital plane carrying 27 wounded and 4 walking patients is due this afternoon. Not all are from Viet Nam, an Air Force spokesman said, but some were presumed to have been among those injured in surprise Viet Cong attacks last Saturday. Arrival time was tentatively set for 5 p.m. today.

Altogether 100 battle wounded were said to be on their way or awaiting return home from Viet Nam.

The first planeload of injured came to Travis on Tuesday night looking pretty bedraggled and fatigued, an Air Force spokesman said.

Their wounds were described as "all sort of superficial." They ranged from extensive shrapnel wounds to a broken toe.

The 25 were among a hospital planeload of 39 from Clark Air Base in the Philippines, staging area for sick and wounded servicemen from Southeast Asia.

Nixon Favors Supply Line Bomb Strikes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former Vice Pres. Richard M. Nixon urged Pres. Johnson last night to bomb North Viet Nam military targets as often as necessary to prevent further shipment of arms and men into South Viet Nam, even though it risks Red Chinese intervention.

Nixon said that for the United States to do anything less would mean losing the war in South Viet Nam "perhaps in a few months."

Nixon told a news conference the most important policy today is to show the Communists—Russian, Chinese, North Vietnamese and others—that the United States will not permit the taking over of any more countries by indirect aggression.

He admitted that bombing military targets in North Viet Nam while South Vietnamese attack on the ground risks intervention by the Red Chinese.

Pollution Measure Awaits Final OK

MISSOULA (AP)—An Air Pollution Control Act, hailed as the only solution to Missoula County problems and criticized as punitive legislation, won tentative 53-24 approval Wednesday night in the Montana House.

In steering HB56 to third and final reading, Rep. Elmer Flynn, D-Missoula, the chief sponsor, said "Some say the Missoula problem can be handled by local control . . . or by the public nuisance law. "Nothing could be further from the truth. The only answer is a statewide law."

Rep. Edward A. Johnson, D-Deer Lodge, said the lung cancer rate in his county is five times larger than the state average. He said it has been shown there is a relationship between air pollution and lung cancer.

Zags' Lechman Player of Week

Gary Lechman of Gonzaga is the fifth Big Sky Conference Player of the Week.

He won the award for his play in the Bulldogs' 67-57 win over Montana State Saturday night. The 6-4 post man tallied 28 points as Gonzaga moved into a first-place tie with Weber State.

Lechman becomes the second Zag to win the league honor. Bill Suter, 5-8 GU guard, Don Rae of MSC, Jerry Trice of Weber and Gary Meggellin of Montana also are members of the select group. Lechman, who's averaging 16.2 points through 19 games, dominates Big Sky statistics. The talented sophomore leads in all major individual departments — scoring (24.7), field-goal percentage (59.6), free-throw percentage (88.6) and rebound average (14.5).

Other top Big Sky scorers are Suter, Trice, Kermit Young of MSC, Jerry Skaife of Idaho and MSU's Ed Samelton. Suter and Trice have 21.5 averages. Young, who missed last week's Gonzaga-MSU game because of disciplinary action, is hitting 21.3 a game, while Skaife and Samelton are scoring 17.6 and 16.7.

Tom Storm of MSC is second in loop field-goal shooting with 55 per cent, while Idaho State's Maynard Sager is second in free-throw accuracy with 84.6 per cent.

The Grizzlies Meggellin ranks fifth in free-throw shooting, converting 76.9 per cent.

Trailing Lechman in rebounding are John Silbermagel of Weber, DeWayne Cruse of ISU and Samelton. Silbermagel is pulling down 11.2 a game, Cruse 10.3 and Samelton 10.1.

Weber leads the league in team offense and defense. The Wildcats are scoring 81.5 points a game and allowing 68.2. WSC also is tops in field-goal percentage with a 44.9 mark. Gonzaga's 74.1 per cent accuracy from the free-throw line is best.

This week's league slate sends MSC to ISU, MSU to Weber and Gonzaga to Idaho tomorrow. MSC moves to Weber and MSU to ISU in Saturday play, while Idaho entertains Seattle in non-conference action.

Prognosticator Predicts MSU To Continue on Victory Spree

By TOM SULLIVAN

The season is slowly closing with most of the conference leaders decided—except for our favorite, the

Sully

Big Sky. Action will resume tomorrow with the high-flying Grizzlies visiting the Weber Wildcats. MSU finishes up the weekend against Idaho State Saturday. The Bobcats will be in the same area—they meet and Weber Saturday. You can't bet against a winner, so I see MSU getting two wins, but I'll keep myself covered by saying Nord's Nomads (the Grizzlies were in Utah and Nevada this past week and will be in Utah and Idaho this week) make it awfully tough on a prognosticator (like trying to run a Big Ten program on a Big Sky budget—impossible).

This columnist (a person with opinions on everything, but who is an authority on nothing) has tried to stimulate interest this week—so here are your favorite teams. Veo ud la semana que viene! (Ha, pretty good for a P.E. major, eh?)

Married Housing Bids Opened

HELENA — McPhail Co., of Toole, Utah, is apparent low bidder for construction of 174 units of married student housing at Montana State University. Bids were opened at a meeting of the State Board of Examiners here yesterday.

The company submitted a bid of $1,067,000 for the general construction contract. Lemcke the Plumber, of Missoula, submitted the apparent low bid of $223,430 for mechanical and plumbing construction. A Great Falls firm, Rowe Electric, submitted the apparent low wiring bid of $79,643.

The architects, Fox, Ballas &

Barrow, recommended the bids be accepted. The Board of Examiners will meet again Monday to give final approval.

Construction is expected to begin shortly on the housing complex, which is to replace the strip housing. Plans include 104 two-bedroom apartments, 52 one-bedroom apartments and 18 three-bedroom apartments.

The apartments will have carpeted living rooms, paneled walls and built-in appliances in the kitchens. Three laundry rooms and enclosed playgrounds will be included. Utility connections will be underground.

The complex, to be built south of the Craighead Apartments on Maurice Avenue, will be financed by a long-term $1.75 million loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

MSC Head to Speak at Convo

Montana State College Pres. Leon H. Johnson will speak at the 72nd annual Charter Day Convocation Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the University Theater.

Robert Johns, president of MSU, will introduce Mr. Johnson. Mr. Johnson was a professor of chemistry at MSC from 1943-48. He became dean of the graduate division at MSC in 1955 and president in 1962.

Invitations to the convocation have been extended to the Governor, the State Board of Regents, the minority and majority leaders of the state legislature and the local executive board of the State Board of Regents.

The MSU Brass Choir, directed by William E. Gamble, will play selections by three composers.

The schedule for afternoon classes Feb. 17 will be changed. One p.m. classes will meet from 1:10-1:45; 2 p.m. classes from 1:55-2:30; 3 p.m. classes from 3:40-4:15 and 4 p.m. classes from 4:25-5:00.

Reapportionment Plan Introduced

HELENA (AP) — Montana's Senate would consist of 51 members representing 35 districts under a bill introduced yesterday by the Reapportionment Committee.

It provides 105 House members, including one from each county down to and including the 900 residents of Petroleum County. Generally the House plan calls for one representative for each 6,500 persons.

Under the Senate plan, senators would represent populations ranging from 11,200 to 16,000.

CAMPUS TRADITION

It's a campus tradition with skirts and slacks: our classic moccasin with handsewn vamp. Superb in suburbia, too.
