Senior Residents Selected For Women's Dormitories

Fifteen senior residents have been chosen for 1965-66 for women's residence halls. They were nominated for the position by juniors living in the dormitories, present senior residents and the officers and staff of Turner and Knowles.

Final selection was made by Maurine Clow, associate dean of students; Mr. James A. Brown, residence halls director; Mrs. Kathryn Thompson, head resident emeritus; Joan Hodgson, head counselor, and Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, head resident of Knowles Hall.

Coeds to Live In Elrod Hall

Women students will live in Elrod Hall beginning fall quarter. Elrod will provide 120 spaces for women, said James A. Brown, residence halls director. Elrod will continue to house women until the completion of the new high-rise dormitory, he added.

The increase in the enrollment of freshman women has resulted in the housing of 120 students more than normal capacity this year, said Joan Hodgson, head counselor. Freshman and upperclass women will be housed in Elrod if the enrollment of freshmen is unusually large in the fall, she said.

Aline Mosby to Talk

Graduate to Relate Experience As Moscow Newspaperwoman

A MSU Journalism graduate, Aline Mosby, will talk about her experiences as a United Press International news correspondent in Moscow, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall.

Miss Mosby interviewed Lee Harvey Oswald in Russia and was interviewed following Pres. Kennedy's assassination.

Miss Mosby has written a book,

"The View From No. 13 People's Street," based on her experiences while working in Moscow.

The Montana-born journalist began her career with the Seattle UPI Bureau and since has been assigned to bureaus in Los Angeles, London, Moscow and Paris.

Miss Mosby has covered De Gaulle press conferences in Paris and the border war in Morocco.

CB Turns Down Proposal For Percentage Budgeting

By ROB NICHOLSON
Kaimin Reporter

A proposal to allow standing ASMSU committees to receive funds through a set percentage of the budget rather than by an appropriation from Budget and Finance Committee was killed last night by Central Board.

Planning Board Chairman Tom Behan said ASMSU already has one system which is working very nicely and he sees no reason to go back to a system which was dropped last year. ASMSU Business Manager Bill Hibbs agreed with Behan on this matter.

Ray Cosman, chairman of Publications Board, recommended, and CB approved, the appointment of three juniors, Cheryl Hutchinson, Pat Kennedy and Ed Mendel, and one sophomore, Kay Morton, as associate editors of the Kaimin for next year.

CB accepted the resignation of Marjorie Knight, senior delegate. Miss Knight does not have time to continue the duties of a CB member. Stacy Swor, a senior from Kalispell, was appointed to serve the remaining six weeks of her term.

Special Events Chairman Lee Tickle reported that all arrangements for the opera "Die Fledermaus" this Saturday have been completed and tickets will go on sale to the public today at 1 p.m.

Tickle also said that because of a cancellation clause in the contract, ticket sales for the New Christy Minstrel concert will not go on sale until March 26. Tickle said that he has nearly 500 requests for tickets so he doesn't think the delay would hurt advance sales.

Shelly Thompson, Leadership Camp chairman, said the camp would begin Thursday night, May 6, and end Saturday, May 8. Speakers at the camp will include MSU Pres. Robert Johns, Sen. Sumner Gerrard, R-Madison, Senate minority leader, Cynthia Schuster, associate professor of philosophy, and Jacob Vinocur,

AWS Elections Today

The AWS general election will be conducted until 5 p.m. today in the Lodge. Nancy Sasse, Wildcat junior, is the lone candidate for president. Vice-presidential candidates are Alice Lund, junior from Helena, S.D., and Betty Maciejewski, junior from Timber Lake, S.D.

Solons Approve Raise of Salaries

HELENA (AP)—Legislative pay raises, medical welfare for needy aged and a ban against Daylight Savings Time won tentative approval Wednesday in the Senate. A proposal to raise the salaries of legislators and the lieutenant governor by $15 a day was given voice-vote approval.

The Senate also voted 28-27 to take the power to appoint the state commissioner of lands away from the governor.

"I don't think the governor will take a very favorable view of this action," said Sen. Sumner Gerrard, leader of the 24-member Republican minority.

associate professor of English.

Two bylaw changes from Planning Board were tabled as required in CB policy. Senior Delegate George Cole said the proposal which would make votes invalid in a run-off election had been defeated last year because the proposal hampered a person's right to cast a vote for anyone he chose.

John Ross, Junior delegate, reported that he and Paul Reagor, Missoula sophomore, would meet with the Faculty Senate today to ask them to appoint members of the Faculty-Student committee to discuss campus issues and problems.

Publications Board Names Kaimin Associate Editors

Four journalism majors were recommended by Publications Board for Kaimin associate editor positions and approved by Central Board last night.

Ed Mendel, junior from Winifred, Kay Morton, a Kalispell sophomore, Cheryl Hutchinson, junior from Glasgow and Pat Kennedy, a junior from Lewistown were approved to begin work on the Kaimin next quarter.

Mendel was co-editor of his high school yearbook and has a 2.87 grade point average. Miss Morton has a 3.09 Gpa, worked on her high school newspaper and worked on the Daily Interlake in Kalispell during the summers.

Miss Kennedy had experience on her high school paper and worked on the Shelby Promoter. She has a 2.85 Gpa. Miss Hutchinson, who transferred to MSU from San Jose State, was editor of her high school newspaper and section editor of the high school yearbook. Her MSU grade average is a 2.8.

Anaconda Panel to Discuss Community Youth Problems

A panel of nine Anaconda high school students will discuss "Juvenile Delinquency" in the Music Recital Hall Feb. 28 at 8 p.m.

The panel, a project to involve youth in community problems, is under the direction of Sid Stewart, district judge from Anaconda. Judge Stewart said "the panel was organized six years ago at a Juvenile Committee meeting in Anaconda when a number of youngsters said they wanted to express their feelings on juvenile delinquency."

The high school students are Michael Walker, Nancy Doron, Christine McCormick, Jack Corrigan, Liza Cantan, Rosalyn Oreskovich, Pat Dowhall, Peggy Gilliland and Charles Campani.

"The purpose of the panel is to awaken the public to the problem of juvenile delinquency and to give the youth a chance to talk on the subject," Judge Stewart added.

In 1963 the panel appeared before the National Association of Juvenile Court Judges. It will appear before the association again in June.

The panel is sponsored by the Community Services Lab of the sociology department.

Business Group Chooses Officers

Members of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, elected David Hope, Hamilton senior, president last week.

Other officers for the 1965 term are Philip Strommen, Anaconda junior, vice-president; Curtis Antonson, Plentywood junior, secretary; John Noble, Great Falls sophomore, treasurer, and John Miller, Moore sophomore, master of rituals.

Alpha Kappa Psi plans a series of lectures by professional businessmen, field trips and school service projects for the term.

Matrix Table to Honor Coeds

Four MSU coeds will be honored as outstanding women at the Matrix Honor Table at the Florence Hotel Sunday. One woman from each class will be chosen on the basis of scholarship and service to the University.

Marty Camp, TV producer from Seattle, will be the guest speaker at the banquet and will discuss television programming and interviewing.

Norma Beatty Ashby, women's director of KRTV in Great Falls and graduate of the MSU School of Journalism, who was to have been toastmistress for the event, is unable to attend.

Aline Mosby, MSU graduate and visiting lecturer on campus tomorrow, will be asked to be toastmistress, according to Mary Ellen Myrene, president of the campus Theta Sigma Phi chapter which is co-sponsoring the event with the Missoula alumnae.

Another MSU journalism graduate, Dorothy R. Powers from Spokane, will be a special guest at the banquet. Mrs. Powers is national vice president in charge of student Theta Sigma Phi chapters, a columnist and editorial writer for the Spokesman-Review and the first woman to receive the Ernie Pyle Award for outstanding reporting.

Four Missoula women will also be selected as outstanding on the basis of service in the community. Nearly 400 MSU and Missoula women are expected to attend the banquet which begins at 5:30 p.m.

Student Rating of Instructors: To Insure 'Teachers on the Faculty'

Today's college student is being cheated in his education and one of the principal reasons is the lack of an adequate method for rewarding good instructors and punishing poor ones. This is the contention of John Fischer in an article entitled "Is There a Teacher on the Faculty?" in the February issue of Harper's.

Mr. Fischer says that there is no safe yardstick by which a dean or department head can justify raising the salary of a good teacher or firing a poor one, so he falls back on that which is measurable: research and publication. Unfortunately these are seldom an indication of the quality of an instructor's teaching.

In many larger universities, students are taught almost entirely by graduate assistants and junior professors. Seldom do they see a full professor and all too often the instructors consider teaching undergraduates a necessary evil which they must endure to continue work in their real interests. While the problem is not so acute at MSU, there are professors who don't adequately prepare for their classes and who do not motivate students.

Mr. Fischer has two proposals: (1) That student ratings of instructors influence the pay of the instructor and (2) that outside instructors give the tests in many courses.

While the latter would be impractical at MSU because of cost, the idea of student ratings instructors is an excellent one.

Fischer's suggestion could be implemented in either of two ways. One, that advocated by Fischer, is that the university distribute a questionnaire to all students at the end of a course. The comments of these questionnaires would be evaluated by a group of administrators, faculty members and graduate students and the results would influence a teacher's advancement and salary.

The second, that presently used on several campuses—Harvard and the University of California at Berkeley among them—is for students to publish a handbook rating the various courses.

A student handbook could not influence teachers' salaries, but it would give instructors a guide as to how well their instruction is received and—hopefully—initiate improvement in lackadaisical "teachers."

There will be objections to such a proposal: the poor instructor will not want to be criticized; and many will contend that students are not qualified to rate teachers; some will say that students will rate on the ease of obtaining a high grade and favor "snap" courses.

But the advantages of a rating system, if properly organized to show a fair evaluation, far outweigh the disadvantages. Who is more qualified than the student to evaluate the quality of the instruction he is receiving? He knows whether a lecturer is interesting, whether he prepares adequately for his classes and whether he motivates his students.

We grant that on this campus, because it is a state university which accepts all Montana high school graduates, there are students who are not seriously trying to gain the best education and who would not rate on fair basis. But these are in the minority and their "grudge" complaints could be spotted easily by those compiling the ratings.

Each student should be given a questionnaire at the end of a quarter asking him to rate the contents of the course, the organization and pertinence of the lectures, the quality of the teacher, the amount of outside reading and papers and the value of the exams, and to add any other pertinent comments.

These questionnaires could be financed by ASMSU funds and the booklet sold to the students. The questionnaires could be evaluated by a CB committee, graduate students or one of the honoraries—Phi Kappa Phi, Silent Sentinel or Mortar Board. The major problem would be getting somebody responsible to compile and evaluate the questionnaires.

Or, getting back to Fischer's idea, the university could initiate it and use the results as a guide in determining salaries.

Either way, the idea has merit if a fair ratings system is devised. —djf

Two U Debaters Unbeaten At Washington Tourney

Walter Kirkpatrick and Joe Almas were undefeated the past weekend in debate at the Tyro Speech Tournament at the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma. Kirkpatrick, a Billings sophomore in history and political science, and Almas, a Havre junior in political science, took first place in the senior division. They debated with more than 20 northwestern colleges and universities. Also, Almas took third place in extemporaneous and Kirkpatrick placed fourth in oratory.

Missoulian Editor Says Letter, Editorial Reflect Partisan Prejudice, Not Logic

To the Kaimin,
Edmund Freeman's letter in the Kaimin Feb. 19 reflects, I think, more partisan prejudice than logic. He opposes the cigarette tax to pay for buildings because he thinks the burden should be shared by all, not just puffars, a view also endorsed by Jim Crane in a recent Kaimin editorial.

I agree with that idea when applied to student fees, but dissent on the cigarette tax. Education, unlike cigarettes, is a worthy thing to buy. It returns direct benefit to all society. Therefore it's unfair to tax students and their parents, who undergo enough financial strain as it is, with higher fees to build university buildings and pay professors. The burden should be shared by all the public. But the same virtues do not apply to buying coffin nails.

Prof. Freeman writes "... it is wholly unfair now to ask ... cigare-rette smokers to take on the tax burden of all our much-needed public buildings."

Let's follow that thought out. Three cents a pack now go to retire insurers' bonds. Five cents a pack now go to the general fund to support the state's operating budget, including education, welfare, administration, institutions and so forth. That five cents is joined by liquor taxes in the general fund. Obviously both should be abolished. After all, why should smokers and drinkers support general fund enterprises if they should not pay to build roofs over the heads of those same enterprises?

Why should car owners pay a poor tax? Why should movie goers and nurse buyers pay a federal tax? Why should property owners pay for schools, for streets, for curbs, gutters, sidewalks and lights? The unjust comparisons are endless and, in the end, make the Freeman-Crane contention senseless.

Prof. Freeman wrote in the Feb. 1 Missoulian that, "Isn't this seeking after some kind of painless taxation one of the causes of our lop-sided economy?" My view is that as much tax money as possible should be extracted as painlessly as possible. The three-cent-a-pack tax exists now and is very painless.

The more painful taxes become the louder will be raised to finance pressing social needs, and the louder will grow the groans of those who wish to do so much more in the public's behalf.

Where I hail from it's the Republicans who like to make tax-paying painful. I had assumed the same applied in Montana. Perhaps some cliché could be worked in here about strange bedfellows.

Freshmen to Play Custer, Dawson In Final Contests

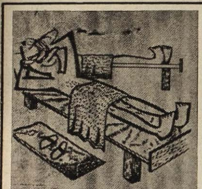

The Montana Cubs will attempt to clinch a winning season tonight when they battle Custer County Junior College in Miles City. Fresh from a 75-68 win over the MSC Bobkittens, the frosh are 6-5.

"Custer has a date in the JC Regionals at Brainerd, Minn.," Custer coach Joe McDonald said. "They'll be tough—we won't be taking them lightly."

McDonald lists four definite starters—Greg Hanson (6-4), Tim Fahler (6-3), Gordie Zilliges (6-7) and Norm Clark (6-3). McDonald said John Van Heuvelen (6-3) has the edge on the fifth spot, but it could change.

Forwards Hanson and Fahler are averaging 17.8 and 17.2 points, while Clark and Zilliges have 15 and 10.1 marks. Clark and Hanson lead in rebounding with 13.1 and 12.1 averages.

The Cubs move to Glendive tomorrow night for their final game against Dawson Junior College. "We have been working against the zone defense this week," McDonald said. "We expect to see it again in both games."

Bobcats' Don Rae Cops Second Big Sky Player of Week Award

Don Rae of Montana State has been named Big Sky Conference Player of the Week at the expense of Montana for the second time. The 6-4 forward from Butte won the honor for his 32-point effort against the Grizzlies in the Cats 84-78 win Saturday night.

Rae gained the honor in January for his play in MSC's 76-74 overtime win over MSU. He scored 20 points and hit the game-winning jump shot.

Saturday's game was the final appearance against the Tips for Rae, who averages 30.5 points in his last four MSC-MSU games, including a 41-point salvo to establish an MSC Fieldhouse record.

Gary Lechman, 6-4 Gonzaga center, continued to lead the league in scoring (24.2), field-goal percentage (60.4) and rebound average (15.3). Teammate John Brodsky captured the free-throw lead, hitting 85.7 per cent.

Other scorers are Kermit Young, MSC, 20.7; Jerry Trice, Weber, 19.3; and Bill Suter, Gonzaga, and Gene Visscher, Weber, 17.8.

Montana players in the statistics are Ed Samelton, tied for seventh in scoring with 15.5, and Gary Meggellin, third in free-throw percentage, 78.9.

Weber leads in team offense, rebounding and field-goal percentage, while Gonzaga paces the league in defense and free-throw shooting.

MSU (2-8) and MSC (6-4) have completed their conference schedules. Idaho State is at Idaho tomorrow night, while Weber is at Idaho and ISU at Gonzaga Saturday. Monday, Weber is at Gonzaga. The teams meet again at Ogden, Utah, March 4.

In non-conference action, MSC is at Utah State tonight, and British Columbia is at MSU tomorrow. Saturday, MSC moves to Colorado State and UBC is at MSU.

Sports In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BUFFALO, N.Y. — Cookie Gilchrist, stormy fullback of the Buffalo Bills, was traded yesterday to the American Football League's Denver Broncos for full-back Billy Joe, the AFL's Rookie of the Year in 1963.

CHICAGO — A boxing exhibition by heavyweight champion Cassius Clay during a Black Muslim convention Saturday was approved by the Illinois State Athletic Commission in an hour's closed session yesterday.

NEW YORK — The spirited early bidding between major post-season college basketball tournaments for leading independent teams resulted yesterday in the corraling of the coveted Villanova Wildcats by the National Invitation Tournament.

Announcement of Villanova's willingness to play in the 14-team tourney, plus acceptances from Boston College and Detroit, came shortly after the Wildcats had rejected a bid extended by National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament officials.

KANSAS CITY — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Association lined up seven at-large teams for its university division basketball tournament yesterday and announced it will pick only one more.

The decision leaves this year's field at 23 teams instead of the usual 25.

Oklahoma City, Colorado State, DePaul, Houston, Providence, Penn State and Dayton accepted bids for first-round games on March 8-9.

NEW YORK — Indoor record holders Sam Perry and Tommy Farrell, along with Canada's Bill Crothers, head the field for today's Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden, opening another three-day, multi-city swing on the circuit.

Conference Office Announces First Scholastic Squad

Mathematics majors dominate the first Big Sky Conference All-Scholastic team announced yesterday.

Bob Belka of Weber, Kermit Young of MSC and Tom Moreland of Idaho form the front line. Belka, a 6-6 junior, has a 4.0 grade average in math; Young, 6-4 senior, has a 3.06 in psychology, and Moreland, a 6-7 senior, has a 3.2 in physical education.

Both guards on the mythical team are studying math—Mike McChesney, 6-2 junior from Gonzaga, who has a 3.17 average, and Rich Dixon, 9-10 senior from Idaho State, who has a 3.3.

The five athlete-scholars have been named for consideration as scholastic All-Americans by sports information directors of the Big Sky schools.

Bowlers' Streak Snapped by MSC After 17 Victories

Montana State's bowlers snapped a 17-match MSU winning streak Saturday with a 2,768 to 2,613 victory in Bozeman. The MSU women beat MSC 2,159 to 1,992.

MSC's Bill Silvius had high series (601) and Jim Tuss rolled high game (228). Mike LaSorte (552) and Ron Senn (204) paced the Grizzlies. Carol Lemke and Kay Spethman rolled 179 to lead the women, while Miss Lemke also had high series of 490.

MSU men, three games—LaSorte, 552; Senn, 550; Ray Johnson, 543; Gene Kraft, 491, and Dennis Watson, 477.

MSU women, three games—Miss Lemke, 480; Miss Spethman, 464, and Kathy Haldi, 433. Two games—Chris MacArthur, 280; Eileen Shea, 266, and Jonni Flanagan, 236.

Americans Pilot Jet Bombers To Assist Vietnamese Forces

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Jet planes manned solely by U.S. airmen now are waging war against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, supplementing the forces that Americans and Vietnamese conduct jointly with slower aircraft.

American jets struck Wednesday at guerrillas who have been ambushing government detachments in the mountains near An Khe.

This followed an initial jet raid last Thursday on a Communist-held pass in that region of coffee, tea and rubber plantations 210 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman announced F100 Super Sabre jet fighter-bombers and B57 Martin Canberra bombers were unleashed at the request of the Saigon government and that the Americans—pilots and ordnance handlers—since have staged several strikes.

The use of all-American crews is another departure from Washington's original pronouncements that U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam were assigned as advisers, not as fighters. The spokesman said, however, each jet attack was part of a combined operation with the South Vietnamese air force.

French, Soviets Seek Crisis End

PARIS (AP)—France and the Soviet Union joined Wednesday in an effort to bring the Viet Nam crisis to the conference table. But President Johnson appeared far from convinced that the Communists want serious negotiations.

A few hours after the Soviet-French accord was announced, the White House said there are no "meaningful proposals" before the U.S. government for a negotiated settlement of the war.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said further in Washington that "the White House is not engaged in any negotiations for a Viet Nam settlement" and "I am unaware of any proposals."

Police Protect Muhammad

CHICAGO (AP)—Police guards protecting Elijah Muhammad from reported assassins intercepted a suspicious crate delivered to the Black Muslim leader's home Wednesday. Bomb squad experts examined the crate and pronounced the contents harmless.

Muhammad has been under protective guard as tight as that provided for the President of the United States since his defected disciple, Malcolm X, was assassinated in New York on Sunday while addressing a rival splinter group.

Police also received an anonymous call warning, "We have arrived. Muhammad will have a lively convention," referring to the sect's national convention to take place in the Coliseum Friday.
