Orchensis Recital Received Favorably

By KAY MORTON
Kaimin Associate Editor

"A time to laugh . . . and a time to dance."
A time to observe the beauty of the human form and to interpret individually its meaning.

Flute sounds, green and white court costumes and movement to Marcello's Courante opened the Pre-Classical Suite of the Orchensis modern dance concert last night. The minute-like number, choreographed by Evelyn Sullivan, was danced by Sara Flankenhor, Joyce Madiere, Isabel Grieve and Muriel Langworth.

The concert will be presented again tonight at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are adults, $1; students, 25 cents, and children, 35 cents.

Jan Conley, remembered for her solo dance in the Masques' production of "My Fair Lady," slapped her knees and tossed her ponytail through the intricate steps of Ravel's Rigodon (Danse Rustique).

The suite closed with a comic interpretation of Ravel's Minuet by Joann Williamson, Barbara Parham and Patsy Maxson.

Dances from Yugoslavia, Mexico and the Philippines characterized the Folk Suite. Milanovo Kolo showed the company weaving in and out of large and small circles. A droopy Mexican sombrero was the center of the stage for Isabel Posso and Jerry Thompson as they danced the familiar steps of the Mexican Hat Dance, the national dance of Mexico.

Dancers risked toes in the traditional Thinking. The dance represents the movements of a long-legged bird and its prancing habits. Bamboo poles clicked together as Miss Grieve, Sylvia White, Ruth Anne Emerson, Kathy Hogan, Jim Hathaway, Bob Fox, Jerry Thompson and Tom McNally lithely stepped and turned.

"A time to mourn . . . a time to weep" was sensitively and controllably presented by Miss Blankenbom and McNally. Using a white ramp as the only prop, tragedy with the hope of the human being overcoming was evoked.

Miss Conley, Marcie Andrews, Hathaway and Sonara Horton effectively conveyed laughing and dancing in almost coquetish interpretation of "A time to laugh . . . a time to dance."

The next passages, "A time to embrace" and "A time to refrain from embracing," were two of the most sensitively danced in the section. The first was a picture of the awakening of love in the dancers, Miss Horton and Jim Terrell. The second was the rebuttal of love and its dissolution.

Lighting effects by Sandy James added to the violent, lightning effect of Miss Sullivan's interpretation of "A time to tear down." The stage opened in blackness followed by claps of lightning and the final red lighting gave an ethereal glow to the dancers.

The finale was a silhouette—"A time to love, a time of peace." The dance ended with three forms above the mass, perhaps connoting the Holy Week symbolism.

A jazz collage of eleven dances formed the final section of the concert. Choreographers were Miss Horton, Miss Sullivan and Margaret Konkol.

The first number was "Creation" and the stage and dancers utilized black and white in the typical jazz presentation.

"Musicals" provided the background for Miss Williamson to mimic various instruments as she kept the instruments going and managed the intricate steps at the same time.

"Quite a Beat" utilized jazz undulations. Barbara Parham, dancing in the center of the stage, did the various steps of the number with a professional interpretation.

Margaret Konkol's solo dance drums was a study in rhythm patterns. Managing difficult leaps on the off-beat sections of the number made it one of the most difficult from a performance standpoint.

Leadership Camp Plans Made For Weekend at Flathead Lake

Final preparation is being made for this year's Leadership Camp May 6, 7 and 8 at Flathead Lake Lodge. The theme will be "The Student on an Expanding University."

Jacob Vinocur, associate professor of English, opens the camp Thursday evening as the first speaker. Robert Johns, president of MSU, will speak on Friday morning. In the afternoon, speakers will be Arnold Silverman of the geology department and Cynthia Schuster of the philosophy department. Montana Senate Minority Leader Sumner Gerard will speak on Friday evening.

The Dean's Panel, moderated by Dean Andrew Cogswell, will be Saturday morning, followed by the Dean's Buffet. The Rev. William Kilber will give the camp summary after the buffet.

Applications have been mailed to various living groups and organizations on campus. The cost for the two days will be $18 per person. This cost includes transportation. Recreation in the form of swimming, canoeing, ping pong, dancing and horseback riding is available for the students at no extra charge.

Anyone interested in going to the camp may pick up an application form.

Cuisine to Include International Food

The MSU Cosmopolitan Club will sponsor a dinner, "Festival of International Cuisine," Saturday, April 24.

The dinner will be in the First Methodist Church, 300 E. Main, at 5:30 p.m. There will be entertainment by members of the club.

Tickets, available from members of the club, cost $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Regents Accept SUB Loan

The Montana Board of Regents has accepted a $143,500 loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the advance planning on a new MSU student union building.

The money will be used to retain an architect and other planning personnel necessary for the project. The State Board of Equalization is expected to appoint an architect this month. The administration has recommended the Missoula architects Fox, Ballas and Barrow. The firm has visited, and has done preliminary work on a number of other student unions.

The new student union is expected to be about a $2.8 million structure. Construction will be financed by the sale of bonds, a move already authorized by the Board of Regents. Student fees would then pay the initial planning loan and construction costs. Should the bonds not sell, the HHFA would buy them, thus providing the necessary building funds.

MSU student fees must be pledged as collateral for the loan. At present the university has a $72 building fee. The 1964 legislature placed the maximum $90. Within the $18 differential, a decision must be made as to how much more to charge.

Faculty and student committees are expected to be formed to help decide what facilities are wanted in the new union. The new structure would be built behind Main Hall north of Dornblaser Field.

tion at the Lodge desk. Persons who go on their own rather than as a representative of a group will pay $17. The lower cost is set to encourage those who are interested to attend. All applications are due at the Lodge desk by April 20. Money must be paid to the Student Accounting Office by April 30 in order to be eligible.

Students who attend the camp will be excused from classes on Friday by the Dean's Office. No excuses will be given for missing classes on Thursday. Anyone who plans to attend the camp should plan to stay for the entire time. No money will be refunded to those who leave early or arrive later than Thursday evening.

Dean, Faculty Given Report About Cheating

A report that discusses the appeal of a suspension by a student involved in the stolen tests scandal was sent by Pres. Robert Johns to the Dean of Students office and the Faculty Senate for recommendations and action.

The report, which also considered the broadening of investigation to cover all aspects of cheating in the University, was compiled by an investigative committee headed by Dean Robert Sullivan of the law school. The committee reported to Pres. Johns yesterday.

Dean Andrew Cogswell, who recognized that it is almost impossible to control cheating, said he doesn't know how he will continue the investigation because no one is willing to "stand up and be counted."

Sen. Lee Metcalf To Speak Today

Sen. Lee Metcalf will address students and the public at 4 p.m. today in the Music Recital Hall.

Before his talk, Sen. Metcalf will present to the Law School an American flag that has flown over the White House, Washington, D.C.

Prof. Earl C. Lory, chairman of the Public Exercises Committee, said the senator hasn't disclosed his speech topic.

Regents Okay New Phones

The Montana Board of Regents has authorized the installation of a Centrex telephone system at MSU, to be installed at the earliest possible time.

General authority was granted to the University to contract with the Mountain States Telephone Co. to establish the system.

The new system will allow for 2,200 stations and 154 outside lines. A future growth potential of 4,000 stations is planned in order to accommodate the campus needs for the next ten years. The system will bring phones into dormitory rooms and allow for direct dialing, eliminating the need for a switchboard operator.

Although the telephone company pays for and installs the cable and cabling equipment, the University must provide oceanic duct work, equipment room space with proper ventilation, and lighting and power outlets. The University must also install conduits in buildings to receive the required cable.

The estimated cost to the University is $32,000. Of this total, the estimated sum of $12,000 is chargeable directly to University funds.

The remaining $20,000 will come from reserves, and resident hall funds.

Each student residing in residence halls will be charged $250 per month for operational costs. All construction plans would be subject to approval by the Division of Architecture and Engineering of the Department of Administration of Montana.

Oil Experts Here Today

Ernest Shaw, a Canadian oil expert, will discuss the "Canadian Rockies Orientation in Time and Space" today.

Mr. Shaw's lecture, sponsored by the geology department, will be at 4 p.m. in Room 107 of the Geology Building.

Mr. Shaw is exploration manager of the Foothills District of Western Canada for the Imperial Oil Company.

ROTC Units Okay Program

The MSU Air Force and Army departments expressed approval of ROTC units at MSU by the Board of Regents to meet the ROTC program university.

"The goal of Army ROTC at MSU is to help produce the best all-around graduating student who will be a credit to MSU, to our country, and above all else, to himself," said Lt. Col. Keith Angwin, professor of military science.

"We prefer being elective and selected because we would have five students who want to take ROTC than 500 who do not."

"We will now be more selective and students who are in the program will be better motivated. These two factors will result in better quality all the way around," Capt. Maury S. Craile Jr., assistant professor of military science, said.

Maj. Willard L. Gunnett, associate professor of air science, said the Air Force ROTC department endorsed the Board of Regents' decision to make ROTC voluntary.

Lt. Col. Robert L. Veldt, professor of air science, and Maj. Rosslyn C. McCollor, associate professor of air science, were not available for comment.

Maj. Willard L. Gunnett, associate professor of air science, said the Air Force ROTC department endorsed the Board of Regents' decision to make ROTC voluntary.

U. S. Planes Hit Bridges In North Viet Nam Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—About 80 U.S. Navy planes hit three highway bridges in North Viet Nam yesterday. A U.S. military spokesman said the strikes were successful.

All planes returned safely with only minor damage, the spokesman said, adding that no enemy planes were sighted.

He said a direct hit was registered on the north side of the Bai Duc Thon Bridge, 170 miles south of Hanoi, and its north approach also was damaged.

Two parallel bridges were attacked at Xom Ca Trang, 185 miles south of Hanoi. The spokesman said one span of the larger bridge was knocked into the water. One hit was reported on the smaller bridge, but the spokesman said dust and smoke prevented an accurate estimate of the damage.

Four Warships Sunk

The South Vietnamese air force claimed it sank four North Vietnamese warships yesterday in its second night raid above the 17th parallel.

The spokesman did not explain how the airmen identified the craft as warships in the dark.

The size of the vessels was not given. The spokesman said they were assumed to be Communist warships because they were moving near the North Vietnamese coast, there was no report of friendly ships in the area, and they fired at the attacking planes.

Night raids against North Viet Nam began Wednesday when South Vietnamese bombers hit a military convoy and U.S. Navy planes ranged northward. The North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan asserted that the United States has "taken another extremely dangerous step."

Dogs Killed

Viet Cong guerrillas killed all the dogs in the village of Mieu Dong, 7 miles south of Da Nang, possibly to prevent them from barking a warning if the Reds attempt an attack on the big U.S.-Vietnamese base.

Reports reached Washington that launching pads for Russian anti-aircraft missiles are being built near Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam. U.S. sources in Washington said there is no evidence that Soviet missiles are in North Viet Nam, but it was assumed they would be sent once the pads are ready.

Washington officials also assume that Soviet personnel are in charge of the sites.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson returned to London yesterday after talks in Washington with President Johnson on Viet Nam and other issues.

Delegate Requests Positive Proposals

To the Kaimin:

Criticism is essential in the political process, whether it concerns a student governing body or the Congress of the United States. Certainly the desired product of any criticism would be constructive proposals for positive legislation. With this in mind, I sincerely question the "Charlie Brown Letter" authored by Joe R. Kerkvliet, Ed Waldrup, and Ralph Bennett. The student government of Montana State University welcomes proposals that would be of benefit to the student body. In any legislative body, a good majority of the ideas come from interests outside the formal government structure. Opinion groups and off-campus organizations should share this responsibility to provide proposals for student government that, in their opinions, would be beneficial to the students. I would hope that Joe R. Kerkvliet, Ed Waldrup, and Ralph Bennett would provide definite proposals for discussion by Central Board and the students.

I believe that the responsibilities of student government should and can be expanded. Certainly a basic interest must remain with campus affairs, but let us discuss other matters. Civil Rights is of prime importance. If Montana's legislative assembly should in the future propose—a right-to-work law, this would concern many members of our student body. Every group on campus, be they campus-oriented or of political concern, should provide proposals for legislation and discussion. Central Board exists for the use, benefit, and education of the University student body.

This year Central Board has been successful in certain areas and has failed in others. We all realize this. But progress is evident. At last Wednesday's meeting two proposals were the main topics of the discussion. A centralized lecture and entertainment committee is in the debate stage. If this is passed, it will be of direct benefit to the student body. The committee will be able to offer a program of superior lectures and entertainment. Student loans are necessary for many of us to attend college. An ASMSU committee is now considering the best method that might be used to offer additional aid to you—the student body.

Many improvements must be made in the future. Reapportionment of Central Board is a good place to start! I do hope that the criticism directed toward Central Board will be accompanied with proposals for action.

Cheating Probe Begins at EMC

BILLINGS (AP)—Eastern Montana College officials disclosed yesterday alleged incidents of organized student cheating on examinations similar to that at MSU.

A faculty committee has recommended expulsion of one student and dismissal of several others. Dr. Herbert L. Steele, president of the college, is studying the report.

The committee has been meeting for the past two days investigating reports of unauthorized possession of campus keys and at least one illegal entry to a college office. Two students were apprehended while rummaging through files in the office of Roger Snow, professor of social sciences, the committee said.

Leonardo da Vinci's painting, "Mona Lisa," was stolen from the Louvre Gallery in 1911, and recovered in Florence in 1913.

Biggest Air Raids Yet Hit Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The biggest U.S.-Vietnamese air raid of the war tore up a Viet Cong stronghold in jungles near the Cambodian frontier yesterday. The Red headquarters area was reported left in ruins.

A flight of 230 planes joined in a dawn-to-dusk attack on a Communist zone of about seven square miles in Tay Ninh Province, north-west of Saigon.

For the first time, U.S. Navy planes took part in a combat operation within South Viet Nam. Flying from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway, they teamed up with U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers in the strike.

MSU Tennis Team Meets Cats Saturday

The MSU tennis team will play its only remaining home match tomorrow against MSC.

This will be the first collegiate competition for the MSU squad. A match against Idaho was cancelled because of bad weather. It has not been rescheduled.

The MSU squad will meet the Bobcats at 11 a.m. on the University tennis courts to defend their record of no losses to MSC during the last 16 years.

Positions for the meet are not known because challenge matches are still being played to determine them.

Bozeman will have four men returning from last year's team. These men will give them good depth, according to Brett Asselstine, three-year veteran of the Grizzly team.

Dave Harmon of MSC is expected to return to give someone a tough match. Another Bobcat player is a foreign student from Pakistan.

The MSC team practices indoors frequently. This will give the MSU team a slight edge if the matches are played outdoors.

MSU will be hampered by injury and sickness among team members.

Grizzlies Open Big Sky Season With Doubleheader Against Cats

By JERRY DOMAGALA
Kaimin Sports Reporter

The Grizzly baseball team opens a 12-game Big Sky Conference schedule with two games tomorrow row at 11 a.m. against the invading Bobcats of Montana State.

A new ruling this year at MSC has allowed football players to participate in baseball for the first time, and the Cats are expected to be tougher because of the ruling.

Montana State won two of six games during a spring training trip in California and opened its regular season by sweeping a pair from Eastern Montana College, 10-3 and 7-0.

Leifthander Gary Keeter (3-0) and righthander Gary Richards (1-1) will be on the mound against Montana University in the double-header.

Morning Scrimmage Planned

The Montana Grizzly football team has been working this week primarily on its new split-back offense.

Head Coach Hugh Davidson has been doing a lot of shifting among the boys to find the best combination for the new offense.

Every day this week the Tips have had a short half-hour scrimmage in preparation for their first full scrimmage Saturday on Dornblaser Field at 9:30 a.m.

The starting number of 74 hopefuls has been cut considerably and is expected to be lowered even more.

Davidson has divided the grid-ders into six separate teams that are not permanent. A player can move from one unit to another at any time.

Celtics Edge Out Philadelphia 76ers

BOSTON (AP)—Boston, stunned by repeated Philadelphia rallies, needed 37 points from Sam Jones and great teamwork in the dying moments for a 110-109 National Basketball Association playoff victory over the 76ers last night. The triumph gave the Celtics their ninth straight Eastern Division crown.

The incredible contest took a turn in Philadelphia's favor with five seconds remaining. Boston ran out the 24-second time and stepped aside so that Wilt Chamberlain could score uncontested his 30th point on a dunker.

But when the Celtics tried to throw the ball in from out of bounds, the ball caromed back out of bounds off a wire supporting the basket.

It let Philadelphia put the ball in play in Boston territory. But John Havlicek intercepted the throw-in, fed Sam Jones and the two went sprinting down the court when the buzzer sounded.

Montana Favored in Dual Meet With Weber Wildcats Saturday

MSU's track team is favored in its dual meet with Weber State College Saturday on Dornblaser Field, despite many injuries. Starting time for the event is 1 p.m.

Willie Jones, Grizzly sprint specialist, will not be competing in the meet because of an injury received in the Bozeman Indoor two weeks ago.

Dennis Stempel, transfer pole vaulter, reinjured his ankle in practice Wednesday and will not be able to compete.

Jon Krutar, hurdler, and La Faye Hope, intermediate distance runner, will have to wait until tomorrow to find out if they can run.

Both received pulled muscles this week in practice and whether or not they run will depend on their condition tomorrow.

Looking on the brighter side of things Doug Brown, who did not compete in the Bozeman meet, is in fine condition and should be at his best tomorrow.

Weber is expected to have an improved track team this year, which should provide an exciting meet.

Greenough Mansion Routes Hinge on Weight of Building

By STEVE SMITH
 Kaimin Reporter

A chance exists that the MSU campus will be invaded by a monster. But if it happens, only summer school faculty and students are going to see it.

The monster is the Greenough mansion, a mammoth three-story house weighing several hundred tons that will be moved from its present location in the northeast area of town to a spot four miles to the south. The move is being handled by Catlow Movers of Spokane and promises to be an operation the likes of which have never been seen before in Missoula.

The choice of routes hinges on the weight of the mansion, which won't be known until this week when the mansion is lifted off its foundation. The boss of the operation, Lloyd Catlow, hopes it weighs about 250 tons. In this case, he may be able to take the mansion over the Madison Street bridge and down Arthur Avenue to its new home near Farview.

If the weight exceeds the bridge load limit, a special bridge will be built across the Clark Fork River somewhere near the old Van Buren bridge. Once across the river, the mansion would be moved across the parking lot behind the Field House and onto the road which passes north of Dornblaser Field. It would then be taken on this road to Maurice Avenue, thus passing Main Hall and the Forestry, Journalism, Chemistry and Health Science buildings. This route probably will be used.

Mary Poppins, showing at the Fox Theater, is Supercalifragilistic-expialidocious!

Based on one of the books by P. L. Travers and set in jolly old London, the movie presents David Tomlinson as the wonderfully stuffy and pompous father of a proper middle-class English family, which is looking for a very competent and correct nanny.

Julie Andrews and Dick Van Dyke sing, dance and act completely at home among a whole arkfull of animated animals and mechanical tricks staged by the ingenious technical abilities of Walt Disney and his staff.

Mary Poppins declares herself "practically perfect" and proves it by singing bedtime stories with a voice like polished crystal and by sliding up banisters. She presents the delightful image of a most unique governess who might spend her Tuesday evenings off in the Land of Oz.

Horror of the Beach Party and Curse of the Living Corpse are playing at the Golden Horn Theater. A likely stop after an evening of trick-or-treating and terrorizing little old ladies.

Good Neighbor Sam, showing at the State Drive-in, typifies Jack

Lemmon (Sam) as pure of heart and slightly distracted of mind, which is characteristic of the new breed of Hollywood comedy. Sam, a suburban householder, gets trapped into pretending that he is the husband of the divorcee next door so that she can collect a $15 million legacy, the stipulations of which are that she must be happily married.

Moro Witch Doctor, co-hit, also is playing at the State Drive-in. Bus Riley's Back in Town, playing at the Wilma Theater, is an Ann-Margret sizzler.

Smallest Show on Earth, at the University Theater tonight, is an English movie about a young novelist and his pretty wife who are saved from financial prostration by inheriting a movie house known as the "Flea Pitt." Along with the spiders, rats and pungent odor of a nearby glue factory, they receive three ancient retainers in the form of a drunken projectionist (Peter Sellers), a doorman (Bernard Miles), whose highest ambition in life is to own a splendid uniform, and a demented ticket seller (Margaret Rutherford).

The movie is brought to an end when the caretaker-arsenist sets fire to the competing movie house across the street and the Flea Pitt's new owner guarantees continued employment to its employees.

If you've been sitting tight waiting for just your kind of car, with just your kind of power, at just your kind of price—wait no longer!

Chevrolet. It's a bigger, more beautiful car this year. Which is why that handsome silhouette could be mistaken for cars costing a thousand—even two thousand—dollars more.

Chevy II. No car so trim has a right to be so thrifty. But thrifty it is, with money-savers like brakes that adjust themselves and a long-lived exhaust system.

Chevella. This one's got lively looks, spirited power, a softer ride—and remarkable room atop a highly maneuverable wheelbase. No wonder it's today's favorite mid-size car.

Corvair. Ask any '65 Corvair owner how it feels to drive a car with such easy steering, tenacious traction and responsive rear-engine power. And be ready to do lots of listening.
