Shaw and Wilde Wit Recreated Tonight in University Theater

The lives and wit of two of America's greatest writers will be recreated tonight in the first Masquer presentation of the 1965-66 season.

"A Wilde Evening With Shaw" will pay tribute to George Bernard Shaw, who wrote "Pygmalion," and Oscar Wilde, author of "The Importance of Being Earnest" in an 1:15 production at the University Theater.

Brought to UM by the Department of Drama, School of Fine Arts and Montana Masquers, the production will include selections from the best known works of the two authors mixed with lesser known aspects of their lives. Co-directors are Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Richard Gray.

Starring in the production are Mayo Loiseau and co-director Gray. Miss Loiseau has appeared with Mr. Gray in "Othello," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Hamlet," "Macbeth" and "Pygmalion."

Mr. Gray is English-born and began stage-acting in South Africa. He attempted to produce and direct his own show in New York and as a result, a Shakespearean repertory group was born. Miss Loiseau worked with him in the group and the two have been in partnership since.

A New York World Telegram and Sun critic said of the performance, "The best of material, revealing the two writers in conflict about the function of art . . . and writing out of maturity and even out of suffering."

Reservations for the performance this evening may be made by calling 543-7241, ext. 308. General tickets are $1.75; students, $1.25.

Season tickets for the remaining six Masquer presentations are now on sale in front of the Lodge. General season tickets are $7; students' $4.

Tryouts For Fiedler to Visit UM Dance Group Wednesday After Year Away

Tryouts for Orchestis, the modern dance honorary, are scheduled for both men and women Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. in the Women's Center, Room 104.

Tryouts will be divided into two parts. During the first, present Orchestis members will perform technical exercises with prospective members.

During the second, prospective members will work in small groups with Orchestis members to solve problems in movement. Members will be selected by the vote of present members.

"Experience is not necessary, for potential will be judged at the tryouts," Miss Carter, Orchestis director, said.

To its members, Orchestis offers the opportunity to choreograph and present original works and practice in several aspects of stage production, such as costuming, make-up, set designing and lighting.

Miss Carter described modern dance as "a theatrical art which involves the mastering of a technique, as does ballet. However, because of the wide range of movement and expression in modern dance, there is a place in the art for many levels of technical achievement."

Two SCOPE Men Describe Alabama Work

"When we walked into the restaurant in an integrated group, people didn't look at us in anger, but in disbelief that we could be going against what they believe to be God's law."

This was the comment made by Ralph Bennett and Shelly Thompson in the Friday Montana Forum discussion of civil rights in Mobile, Ala. The two UM students told Forum members of their summer in Alabama as workers for the Summer Community Organization Political Education (SCOPE).

Attitude toward the SCOPE program was termed "good" by the two speakers. Churches sanctioned the movement and aided in making the work easier.

"On the other hand," Bennett said, "I can criticize the religion of the people. They believe there is going to be a reward in the after life. Because of this a minister is revered."

The speakers said the ministry often becomes a demagogue. Two extreme viewpoints are represented: the idealist and the rare case of a minister accepting the situation as it is and working from there.

Discussing the Negro-Jew relationship, Thompson said, "They feel a sort of alliance. The three civil rights workers that were killed in Mississippi were Jewish and both races have been united by a common feeling of persecution."

About 75 per cent of the 1,000 workers at the SCOPE orientation program were Jewish, said Thompson.

PARAPLEGICS TRAINED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty South Vietnamese paraplegics will be trained for rehabilitation at the Castle Point Veterans Hospital in New York. A crew of doctors from South Viet Nam also will be trained in the treatment of paraplegics at the same hospital.

Leslie Fiedler, former UM English professor, critic and author will speak here Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall.

He will also visit several English classes Wednesday afternoon.

Thursday he will attend a meeting of the Montana Historical Society in Helena.

Mr. Fiedler resigned from the UM faculty last winter while on leave of absence to accept a permanent position on the faculty of the State University of New York in Buffalo.

Mr. Fiedler came to UM in 1941 from the University of Wisconsin. He has held a Rockefeller Fellowship, two Fulbright Fellowships and the Kenyon Review Fellowship.

He has written critical and review articles, poetry, short fiction and several novels. His books include "An End to Innocence: Essays on Culture and Politics," "The Art of The Essay," "The Second Stone: A Love Story" and "The Continuing Debate."

University Students Injured In Auto Collision Sunday

Two University students remain in critical condition and a third in serious condition after a two-car collision early Sunday.

Bruce R. Brown, Youngstown, N.Y., and Thomas Cowan, New

Hyde Park, N.Y., were listed as "critical" late Monday night. Derold Fitzsimmonds, Waltham, N.D., was listed as "serious."

The trio, all members of ATO fraternity, were driving north to hunt ducks when the accident occurred.

The impact of the collision demolished both vehicles. The wreck occurred two miles north of St. Ignatus at an intersection.

Two passengers in the other automobile were killed. They were Robert Zumwalt, 19, and Thomas McDonald, 18, both of St. Ignatus. Injured in the car was Thomas E. Orr, 18.

Authorities said that the Zumwalt car was over the centerline when the collision occurred.

The deaths raise the Montana traffic toll to 217.

Today's Weather

Weather will be fair today with increasing cloudiness tonight and Wednesday. The high today is expected to be 68 with a low of 40. Showers are expected Wednesday.

Library Receives Newspaper File

A file of the Northwest Tribune, published in Stevensville from 1886 to 1937, has been presented to the UM Library by the Friends of the Library.

Mr. Earle C. Thompson, dean of the library science, said the acquisition would be "a valuable addition to the University's resources for historical research."

International Living Program Described by Field Delegate

Miss Barbara Robinson, field representative for the Experiment in International Living, explained this foreign travel program to UM students yesterday.

The program, she said, consists of two or two and one-half months abroad and cannot be considered a tour. The student lives in a private home with the people of a country for one month during the summer and spends the other month traveling with a group of students.

Forty five countries are participating in the experiment and cost for the program ranges from $500 to $1,325. Students can obtain local scholarships or receive aid or scholarships from the Experiment itself.

Miss Robinson said fluency of the language of the country the student is visiting is required except in English-speaking nations, Russia and Scandinavian countries.

Western European countries require at least two years of the native language except France which requires three.

Fluency in a language is emphasized because the students are placed in a home where no English is spoken.

Students desiring further information may see Miss Robinson in Room 809 of the Florence Hotel anytime this evening or write to: Experiment in International Living, 291 Geary Street, San Francisco 2, Calif.

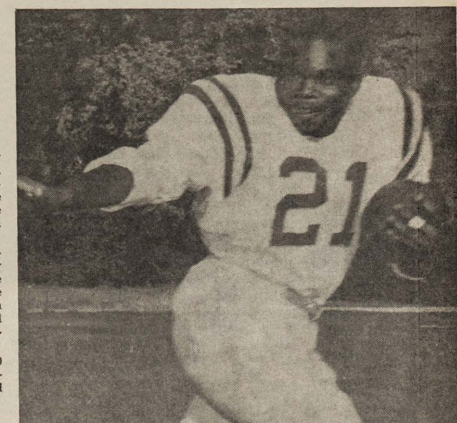

Prof. Browman To Present Paper at Meet

Ludwig Browman, professor of zoology, will present a paper entitled "Neurosecretion in Microthalmic and Normal Rats" at the fall meeting of the National Academy of Science in Washington, D.C. this week.

The paper is the result of a series of experiments with rat colonies which was begun in 1953.

Mr. Browman will be introduced by George Bartelmes, the only member of the Academy from Montana. Mr. Bartelmes is a UM guest investigator in Zoology.

Also attending from UM will be Mark Jakobson, professor of physics; Robert Hoffman, associate professor of zoology; Charles Parker, chairman and associate professor of speech pathology and audiology; M. J. Nakamura, chairman and professor of microbiology; and H. R. Fyovold, assistant professor of chemistry.

MOST VALUABLE OFFENSIVE PLAYER—Willie Jones, 5-8, 155-pound sophomore fullback from Monroe, Mich., was selected along with sophomore fullback Don Molloy, as the outstanding offensive player in Saturday's Montana-Weber State football game in Ogden. With Montana trailing 14-7 late in the fourth quarter, Jones took a handoff and raced 57 yards for a touchdown. Molloy added two extra points to give the Grizzlies a 15-14 win and undisputed possession of first place in the Big Sky Conference.

'What's New Pussycat?' Runaway Worst Sellers

By GENE ENRICO
Kaimin Movie Reviewer

"What's New Pussycat?" Very little at the Wilma this week. The answer to the comedy question of the year is funny . . . every half hour or so. Woody Allen, a man of ugly talents, has carelessly filled the script with a pastiche of tired gags. The bumbling movie substitutes slapstick for plot to bring about the occasional hilarity.

Director Clive Donner should be commended for wrenching some funny scenes from Paula Prentiss, Capucine and the fat Wagnerian lady with the lance. However, his dipsomaniac direction has ruined such dependables as Peter Sellers, Peter O'Toole and Romy Schneider.

Special mention in this runaway worst Sellers goes to Burt Bacharach for a musical score that exhibits some quality among all that quantity.

'Lay' Editorial 'Snide and Cynical'

To the Kaimin:
Rorvik's editorial concerning birth control is in one sense irresponsible. It deals with a grave theological and practical problem—that of deciding whether birth control should be prohibited or allowed—as if it were a witty piece of "crocodile dung."

The editorial's snide and cynical remarks certainly detract from the argument, and they alienate anyone responsibly concerned with the problem of mass contraception. Instead, why not write as the Missoulian did on Oct. 6? I quote: "We disagree with the Pope's objection to artificial birth control, which this nation has endorsed before the U.N. He urged increased world food production to care for the hungry instead of birth control."

"The Ecumenical Council currently meeting in Rome has left the decision on birth control up to the Pope. His statement to the U.N. could be a hint that the Catholic Church's stand against artificial birth control will remain unaltered."

"We hope that is not the case. While it is true that it would be best to feed well the endlessly multiplying world population, a food-population crisis is rapidly approaching and there simply is not enough time to master cost and distribution problems to make sure everyone is well fed. "If population is not quickly controlled by artificial means, it will be controlled by mass starvation."

As we can see, the Missoulian dealt with the same problem the Kaimin did, and it arrived at a similar conclusion. But the city paper did so without including remarks of poor taste which your opinion displayed.

Finally, I don't necessarily mind the Kaimin's "leftwardmost" ideas—that's called editorial freedom. However, when you employ unethical remarks about a serious question, that is called editorial irresponsibility.

Catholic Bored

To the Kaimin:
As a Catholic, I tried hard to get excited about your editorial The Contemporary Lay but all I could summon was a very slight ecumenical yawn. You bore me, rorvik—give us something new.

Policy on Letters

Letters to the editor should generally be no longer than 400 words, preferably typed and triple spaced, with the writer's full name, major, address and phone number listed. They should be brought to the Kaimin office in Room 206 of the Journalism Building by 2 p.m. the day before publication or mailed to the editor in care of the Kaimin.

Letters must be within the limits of libel and obscenity and should amount to more than a series of name calling.

Shattered in Song

To the Kaimin:
Bow your heads Rorvikians, ex-penetrators of THE MEANINGFUL EXPERIENCE, atheists, agnostics, profound thinkers, boat rockers, moral degenerates and Spurs. The idol has fallen. The end is near. I was shocked, nay, horrified, by an unthinkable sight last Friday night. I (oh, the shame of it) saw David Rorvik, editor, the voice of Individualism, in the Heidelberg singing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands." Woe is me.

Grizzlies Show Will to Win in Weber Contest

The Montana Grizzlies will have their work cut out for them Saturday when they take on the Utah State Aggies, 30-19 winners over Idaho, in Logan.

It will be the Aggies' Homecoming game. Despite an injury-ridden line, the Grizzlies pulled out a 15-14 victory over the previously unbeaten Weber State Wildcats Saturday night.

Coach Hugh Davidson juggled his lineup when offensive starter Floyd Joramo was unable to start at left guard because of an infected foot. Dennis Myer was moved to left guard and Jim Neilson moved into the starting offensive unit at right guard.

Neilson bruised his knee in the opening minutes and could not operate at full speed. Tony Costello replaced Neilson offensively at right guard.

With about eight minutes gone in the first quarter, all-conference linebacker Wayne Harrington left the game with a slight concussion. John Little replaced Harrington.

Wayne Becker played the entire game at middle guard and right tackle, filling the positions well. In the second quarter, when Jim Searies failed to click at quarterback, junior Ed Steiner replaced him and played the rest of the game.

In the same period, fullback Larry Petty was ejected from the game and sophomore Don Molloy replaced him.

Molloy and another sophomore, tailback Willie Jones, were named best offensive players of the game, and left tackle Walt Miller was outstanding defensive player.

Punting specialist Dewey Allen outkicked Big Sky Conference leader Lyle Johnston, averaging 44.5 yards for eight punts, while Johnston had a 44.0 average for four booms.

Trailing 14-0 in the second half, Montana came back with a touchdown in the third quarter when Molloy plunged over from the one after sparking a 12-play offensive.

Late in the final quarter, Steiner handed off to Jones on a third and eight situation and Jones sliced through right tackle and broke through for a 57-yard touchdown. Steiner then elected to try for two and handed off to Molloy who carried it in for the victory.

The longest run of the game came in the second quarter when Weber's swift tailback Henry Owens gathered in a punt at his own 28 yard line and raced 72 yards for what proved to be the final Wildcat score.

Montana's improvised line jelled in the second half and Weber was unable to tally again.

The win enabled the Tips to take the undisputed lead in the conference with a 2-0 record. Weber is now 1-1.

Brown Sets New Record

Cross Country Team Idle Following Saturday Win

Montana's cross-country team, having evened their season record at 1-1 with a victory over Weber State last Saturday, will be idle this weekend.

Next week the harriers entertain the University of Idaho and Montana State University in a triangular meet.

Once again speedster Doug Brown broke a course record in leading the Grizzlies to a 26-29 win. His time for the three-mile Weber course was 13:49.1.

Fred Friesz finished second with 14:42, beating Weber's best finisher by 21 seconds.

UM won despite the absence of Bob Gibson, whose sore throat kept him from making the trip to Ogden.

Koufax Hurls Four-Hit Shutout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax and Maury Willis took command of the World Series Monday as the fledgling Los Angeles Dodgers humbled the free-swinging Minnesota Twins 7-0 and took a 3-2 edge by winning the fifth game.

Koufax allowed only four hits, struck out 10, and had a perfect game going until Harmon Killebrew got a single in the fifth on a ball that Willie Davis first misjudged and finally couldn't hold after a long run.

The Twins' second hit was an infield roller that Joe Nosssek just beat out by a whisker in the seventh. Frank Quilici and Sandy Valdespino singled in the ninth. Willis tied a Series record with four hits, including two doubles, in the Dodgers' total of 14 hits off loser Jim Kaat and Dave Boswell and Jim Perry.

The alert Dodgers stole four bases, three of them by Willis Davis. It was the first time a player had stolen three in a Series game since Honus Wagner, the old Pirate immortal, did it in 1909.

After five games the Dodgers, derided for their peck and scramble attack, were hitting .302 as compared to their regular season average of .245.

Koufax, coming back with a strong effort after his defeat by Kaat in the second game last Thursday, appeared on his way to a no-hitter or a perfect game as he mowed down the Twins in the early innings.

When Killebrew came up to open the fifth, Sandy had retired 12 successive batters.

The Dodger bandits who lost the first two games in Minnesota, were all over Kaat and his successors. They scored two in the first, two more in the third and never let up.

They now go back to Minnesota for a sixth game Wednesday afternoon and a seventh, if necessary, Thursday. There will be no game Tuesday, an open date for travel.

Willis opened the attack with a ground rule double that bounced into the stands in right in the first inning. Jim Gilliam, his old sidekick, singled him home.

Willie Davis' sacrifice bunt was taken by Killebrew, but Quilici, covering first, let the throw get through him and Gilliam came all the way home.

Davis kicked it off again in the third with a single to right. He stole second and sped home when Lou Johnson reached out and dunked a single into center field.

Ron Fairly promptly followed up with a double to center that scored Johnson, and the Dodgers were off and running with a 4-0 lead. Kaat gave way to Dave Boswell after Fairly's double.

That pesky Willis was at it again in the fourth, beating out a slow roller to Zoilo Versalles for an infield single. After Boswell played cat-and-mouse with Willis, trying to keep him close with six straight pick off throws, Willis packed up and stole second on Boswell's first throw to Gilliam.

Jim Perry was working for the Twins when the Dodgers picked up their last two runs in the seventh. Once again Willis was a factor, driving in the final score with a single to center that was his 10th of the Series.

Claude Osteen, the shutout winner of the third game with a five-hit 4-0 victory, will work for the Dodgers in the sixth game.

Boat Too Small To Bring Back All

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Thousands of persons stood on the beach at Camarilloa pleading, "Take me, please take me," when the 31-foot Cuban cruiser MMM left that Cuban port Sunday bringing 17 refugees to freedom in the United States.

This was reported Monday by Mrs. Osvaldo Bazo when the MMM, which had been sailed to Cuba in defiance of U.S. warnings, arrived in Key West under U.S. Coast Guard escort. The four crewmen were taken into custody by FBI and immigration authorities and were being questioned. The moment of departure was a tense one of Mrs. Bazo, her husband and their 14-year-old son. "Children close to military age are not being allowed to leave the country," she said, "and militiamen on the beach tried to detain our son."

As the boat was pushing away from the dock, she said, she and her husband snatched the boy and fled aboard. They were not fired upon.

U.S. officials had warned refugees in this country not to cross the Florida Straits in small boats.

UM Students Not Sparked By Teach-In

By ED WALDRUP
 Guest Writer

UM students proved last Saturday that, by and large, they are uninterested in events shaping the destiny of their world.

Less than 50 students attended the internationally received telephone-lecture teach-in from the University of Toronto, Canada. Fewer yet stayed for the entire three-hour session in Journalism 304.

Taking part in the debate were a former British foreign secretary, the executive of the Viet Cong press, a government official from Saigon and a member of the Cambodian cabinet.

For the first time since war began, the South Vietnamese government participated in a discussion of reasons for continued fighting.

Representatives of the ad hoc committee on Viet Nam, who sponsored the teach-in, expressed disappointment with the attendance but transmission problems had made the discussion virtually inaudible for the first two hours.

Meyer Chessin, professor of botany and head of the UM committee, said plans are under way for a late November all student discussion of the Viet Nam situation, with special emphasis on American policy in the war.

Map of America Said to Prove Vikings Discover New World

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—An ancient map—said to prove excavation in North America before Christopher Columbus sailed—will go on public display today, Columbus Day, in Yale University's Beinecke rare book and manuscript library.

The University announced Sunday the discovery of the map of the world that Yale scholars say proves that Leif Ericson and other Vikings made pre-Columbian explorations of North America in the 11th century.

The University said the map was drawn about 1440, half a century before Columbus' first voyage to the New World in 1492. The map probably was the work of a monk in Basel, Switzerland, using source materials dating back at least to the 13th century, the announcement said.

The map, measuring 11 by 16 inches and drawn in brownish ink on parchment, was given to Yale by an anonymous benefactor.
