State and municipal government officials who will take part in a panel discussion on "Government and the Arts" in the House Chamber of the State Capitol Thursday, Jan. 16, are, from left, Sen. William H. Bertsche, D-Great Falls; Rep. James P. Lucas, R-Miles City; Rep. Ray J. Wayrynen, D-Butte, and Billings Mayor Willard E. Fraser.

Other panelists are Sen. James M. Haughey, R-Billings, and Steve Wexler, counsel for the U. S. Senate.

The discussion is part of the Montana Governor's Conference on the Arts, which will be in session in Helena Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 15 and 16. The conference is coordinated by the Montana Arts Council. MAC chairman, Dr. Charles W. Bolen, dean of the University of Montana School of Fine Arts, will preside.

The program includes seminars on visual arts, dance, drama and music; a dinner address Wednesday by Roger L. Stevens, chairman of the National Arts Council, Washington, D. C., and a panel discussion on "Business and the Arts" featuring national and state business leaders.

The conference is open to the public, Dean Bolen said. Registration is scheduled Wednesday, Jan. 15, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Civic Center lobby.
