MISSOULA--

Three matches in two days on the road face the University of Montana tennis team before it returns home to complete its schedule leading up to the Big Sky Conference title tournament May 16-17 in Missoula.

The rugged road tour will open Thursday with a morning match against Weber State College at Ogden, Utah and an afternoon go against the University of Utah at Salt Lake City.

The Grizzlies will move to Pocatello Friday to take on Idaho State University, and will return home that night to enable them to meet the Missoula Tennis Club Saturday at 11 a.m. on the UM courts.

Montana's singles contestants will be Rick Ferrell of Spokane, Wash., Brian Kekich of Missoula, Fred King of Rochester, Minn., captain Steve Meloy of Helena, Gary Israel of New York City, and Chris Green of Cashmere, Wash.

Couples teams will be Ferrell-Green, Kekich-Meloy and King-Kerry Bunker of Great Falls.

The Grizzlies took their second victory over Eastern Washington State College Friday in Missoula by a narrow 4-3 margin to bring their season record to 4-4.

Including the match against the Missoula Tennis Club Saturday, the UM squad will have three other matches at home before the conference meet.
