Course Description

In this introductory course in literary and cultural theory, we will attempt to explore representative schools of and issues in contemporary criticism (formalism, postmodernism, eco-criticism, postcolonial/colonial criticism/psychoanalytic criticism). We will be working, therefore, to build an analytic and critical vocabulary for the activity of reading select number of texts from the canons of literary criticism and from the canons of Anglo-phone culture.

In addition to this "first-principles" objective, however, we will also attempt to engage with such complexities of the current theoretical debate as "the question of the author," the reconciliation of form and content, the agon of canon formation and canon busting, and, finally, with the crucial issues of race, class, gender, and sexuality.

Throughout the course we will be moving toward our current early twenty-first century moment in which the range and scope of the labor of the literary critic seems – in light of the rise of a host of non-traditional representational and narrative forms – to be both expanding and contracting. Film, video games, the world of the digital, social media, all require the decoding and demystifying work of the engaged critic. A specific focus on Critical Race Theory will involve Ta-Nehisi Coates' Between the World and Me and Beyoncé's Lemonade (the video and musical version).

★★★NOTA BENE★★★:

This is a rigorous course; much will be expected of you in the way of reading, preparation, writing, and participation. Do not take this course if you are unprepared for a good deal of reading, underlining, writing and vigorous questioning. If you are not enthusiastic about doing this kind work, this is not the course for you. "I'm sorry, but I did not finish my reading for today," and/or "there is too much reading to do," are two expression that do not, despite my generally congenial attitude, make me happy. The class is, after years of experience, carefully and with thought balanced in terms of workload. Look at the whole syllabus and its various components before making a final commitment to enrollment. If you think that there is too much reading or too much work, please feel free to drop.

Coursework: Final grades will be determined by your performance in three separate categories of coursework:

1. Participation/Quizzes	10%
2. Daily Writing	50%
3. Final Essay	40%
	100%

I will be happy to discuss grades with you during my office hours. However, please give yourself twenty-four hours after receiving your grade before coming to see me.

Participation: The success of the course will depend largely on the participation of all of the members of the class in dialogue over issues and texts. To facilitate and ensure the passionate and engaged participation of all the members of our course community, each individual will be asked to participate in the discussion of daily readings. Participation means that you must come to class with a reading of the texts/films assigned for that day. These readings can take many forms – assertions of interpretation or taste, close readings of specific passages, contextual explication, even questions and confusions, etc.

Quizzes: In the midst of the hurricane that is modern American student life, it can often be hard to find time to read and thoughtfully engage with all of the materials scheduled for the days our class meets. Nevertheless, it is signally important that each and every student come to class having fully read all of the material (understanding it fully is another thing). I will, if I feel it necessary, administer number of reading quizzes designed to ensure that you have read and thought about the readings for the day. I will administer these short quizzes at the beginning of the class. There will be no chance for make up quizzes.

Written Responses: Students will respond in writing to the course readings on both Tuesday and Thursday each week.

A. Response Essays: Students will turn in a two-page response to the reading/s on Tuesday.

The two page essays will involve engaging thoughtfully with the assigned text. The essays must be typed and will likely be submitted electronically later in the semester. The essays have two important components: content and form. All essays must be free of grammatical and stylistic errors.

1. Content of the Essays:

Aspects of student writing that will be assessed in writing assignments:

- quality, originality and/or intellectual rigor/engagement of analysis;
- sound judgments unified by a clear message;
- logical linkage of judgments and evidence;

In the case of responses to the Ryan readings, you should choose one of the literary, filmic, or cultural texts to respond to and to analyze using as a guide, Ryan's handy "Things to Look for in Literary and Cultural Texts," which close out each of the chapters and which contain guiding questions that you may answer in creating a response paper. In the case of those responses that involve other kinds of essays ("Handouts" or essays from FIT) you may determine the nature of your response (close reading, historical response, rebuttal, comparison, etc.), but you may also use the model outlined below if you prefer to follow a delineated structure:

- 1) Summarize either one important or interesting issue or problem that the text explores or a purpose that it serves in a way that explains what precisely what it is that you find important or interesting about the issue, problem, or purpose.
- 2) Define one significant comparison, contrast, or relationship between the text you are analyzing and an earlier work on our syllabus.
- 3) Identify a specific passage of the text (from a phrase to a paragraph in length) that especially piqued, delighted, irritated, challenged, or troubled you and explain in an engaged fashion what it is about the paragraph that effected you in this way.

2. Formal Aspects of the Essay

Aspects of student writing that will be assessed in writing assignments:

- voice that is consistent & appropriate to the audience & purpose;

- correct diction & sentence structure;
- evidence or reasons supporting all judgments: INCLUDING CITATION FROM THE TEXT;
- transitions that connect a series of ideas and evidence;
- strong paragraph structure;
- correct spelling and punctuation;
- proper MLA style documentation (This will become an important criteria later in the semester).

DO NOT GO UNDER TWO PAGES. THESE DAILY ESSAYS WILL BE GRADED ON A 1-5 SCALE WITH COMMENTS ATTACHED. EXAMPLE ESSAYS WILL BE HANDED OUT TO GUIDE YOU AND COURSE TIME WILL BE DEVOTED TO WRITING ISSUES, BUT YOU MUST BE READY TO WRITE ARGUMENTATIVELY CLEAR, TEXTUALLY SUPPORTED, GRAMMATICALLY CLEAN, AND MLA DOCUMENTED ESSAYS (WORKS CITED LIST).

B. Reading Notes: On Thursdays students will turn in a two page handwritten/typed set of questions, observations, research work, close readings in response to the readings.

THESE READING NOTES WILL BE GRADED ON A 4+/ 4/ 4- SCALE WITH NO ATTACHED COMMENTS. EXAMPLE NOTES WILL BE HANDED OUT TO HELP GUIDE YOU. THE NOTES WILL DOCUMENT YOUR RIGOROUS AND THOUGHTFUL ENGAGEMENT WITH THE TEXTS. THE NOTES WILL PROVIDE MATERIAL FOR CLASSROOM DISCUSSION. TAKE THIS ASSIGNMENT SERIOUSLY.

Class Structure:

Class structure is subject to alteration if the material dictates it, but in general classes will proceed the following way:

2:00-2:10: Roll Call, Quizzes (if any) and Discussion of Class Business.

2:10-2:45 Group Discussion of Readings OR Lecture and/or General Discussion.

2:45-3:20: Lecture and/or General Discussion OR Group Discussion of Readings.

There may be days that are more lecture heavy and hence time for discussion may be limited to group conversations and questions. Please feel free to ask questions during my “lectures” about anything: concepts, history, the word I just used that you think is probably made up, and etc. Simply raise your hand and ask.

One note about General Discussion: it is hard, even in a smaller class, to accommodate all ideas, questions, comments, etc. Often participants will get stacked up in a discussion line like airplanes. I do my best to fulfill the role of dialogic air-traffic controller, but you should feel free to break in if, in the excitement of discussion, you get passed over.

If you do not enjoy lively, engaged, playful, and every-so-often chaotic discussion, this is not the class for you.

Final Research Essay with Abstracts and Drafts: You will turn in an abstract and draft of your essay before submitting the final version. This 8-10 page analytic and scholarly essay with attached bibliography represents the principal writing exercise of the semester. The essay will argue for the relevance of a distinctive, personal analysis of a text/set of texts and/or issues surrounding a textual constellation of issues and ideas germane to the class. In addition, you will be responsible for accessing and harnessing the larger debates surrounding the literary artifact, historical phenomenon, and/or interpretive issue. To that end you will use library resources to familiarize yourself with the reading histories of the text(s) you have chosen and you will incorporate those materials in the argument of your essay. Here you must use AT THE VERY MINIMUM two outside sources—sources we have not read in class, but I do encourage you to incorporate more. (If you do not have the MLA Handbook, current edition, now is the time to consider making the investment.)

Production Schedule:

1. On Thursday the 16th of March you will spend time in the library with Professor Sue Samson (or perhaps a member of her staff) who will help you to begin the process of researching for your paper. We will meet at Buckhous Classroom, MLIB 284. At this time you should begin to explore things about the novel/films/etc that interest you. The topic selection procedure solidifies here. Students who miss this class without being excused due to circumstances beyond their control will have one letter grade deducted from their final paper grade.
2. On Tuesday April 4th, Thursday April 6th, and on Tuesday April 11nd you will turn in an abstract (precis, plan, blueprint, conceptual map) of your final paper to me during class. You will also be asked to provide your fellow students with a brief (three to four minute) verbal overview of your planned project and a copy of your abstract and sources. You will need to include a working annotated bibliography of the sources and texts you will be working with. Abstracts without an annotated bibliography will be docked at five (out of ten) points. Please bring 22 copies with you to class.
3. Monday April 26^{rst}, Tuesday the 27th, and Wednesday the 28^{tho} of April, (depending upon when you schedule your conference) your Rough Draft will be due. You will meet with me in consultation over the rough draft in LA 111 in conference. The Rough Draft must be a minimum of four pages long.
4. The Final Draft of the essay is due on Wednesday May 10th, by 5:00 in my office or in my mailbox in LA 133.

Attendance: Attendance is required and will be recorded: three or more unexcused absences are grounds for failure of the course itself. Late arrivals and early departures will, if they occur frequently, count as absences. If you do arrive late you will be responsible for letting me know after class that you were present for the day. Absences due to medical and family emergencies will be excused, provided you come and discuss the situation (ASAP) with me. Lengthy crises that require multiple absences may require your reconsideration of enrollment in school this semester.

Scholastic Dishonesty: Plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty – in as much as they keep the individual student as well as the collective community from learning – will result in an automatic F and may entail a variety of other sanctions up to and including expulsion from the University. FOR A DEFINITION OF PLAGIARISM SEE <http://www.lib.umt.edu/services/plagiarism/index.htm>. The Provost's Office has asked all faculty at the University of Montana to attach the following statement on plagiarism to their syllabi: "All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University. All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at <http://life.umt.edu/vpsa/student.conduct.php>

THE PURCHASED PAPER

"The Internet and email are now the tools of choice for plagiarism. Advertisements in college papers and in the regular press as well as on the Internet announce the availability of student and professional services, sometimes couched in such euphemistic terms as 'editorial assistance,' but often blatantly offering commercially prepared essays, academic papers, and even theses for sale. The easy availability of such assistance from various web sites has increased student 'cut and paste' activity to the degree that it is now expected and regarded as a common practice (Chronicle of Higher Education, 2000 a)" (31, Source).

“Lack of integrity and unethical behavior within the educational sector is inconsistent with one of the main purposes of education; that is to produce ‘good [critical] citizens, respectful of the law [and willing to challenge it when necessary], of human rights and fairness (it is also incompatible with any strategy that considers education as one of the principle means of fighting corruption)” (10, “Combating Academic Fraud: Towards a Culture of Integrity” <http://unesdoc.unesco.org/images/0013/001330/133038e.pdf>)
