Objectives

This course introduces the basic knowledge in the field of linguistics. You will obtain the general understanding of theoretical issues by considering how speech sounds are formed and organized, how words and sentences are formed and arranged, how language is used in society and what happens when there is more than one language used in the same country, etc. Linguistics requires logical thinking skills. Throughout the semester, we will look at different languages as well as English in order not only to be introduced to the linguistic diversity, but also to learn about human linguistic capacity. Materials provided in the first half of the semester are somewhat mathematical. Studying linguistics gives you not only the current linguistics contents but also critical thinking skills that are fundamental and highly respected in the academic and professional environments.

Learning Outcomes

- Understand the basic terminology in linguistics, how sounds, words, phrases and sentences are formed and organized, and analyze linguistic data using standard methodologies
- Discuss the complexity and systematicity of human language in terms of a descriptive rather than prescriptive perspective
- Understand and discuss development in language acquisition, psycholinguistics, language in society and language diversity, language relatedness
- Understand the different among major types of writing systems development
- Understand the importance of intergenerational connection as well as indigenous knowledge from a perspective of sustainability

- Final exam (cumulative) is optional. It replaces your lowest scored exam.
- No Pass/Fail option is available if you are taking this course to satisfy a requirement. You must be passing in order to be considered for an incomplete.
- There is no extra credit opportunity other than extra questions provided during the exams.

Policies and Agreements

Attendance/Absence Policy

- Attendance is part of your participation points. Attending every class meeting is very important. The information given in class is not always the same as what is in the textbook.
- An attendance is taken in the beginning in class. When you are late, contact me after class and let me know that you are here. A phrase such as “I was there” later in the semester is not accepted.
- You are encouraged to turn in a document for your absence (e.g. a doctor’s note, a letter from your instructor re: training/fieldtrip, etc.). Verbal communication is not guaranteed to be processed.

Moodle Use and Participation

- This course uses moodle the online supplement (<http://umonline.umt.edu>). Handouts and homework assignments are posted here. These materials are not distributed in class.

Class Preparation

- Lectures will be based on the readings, slides (on moodle) and other materials given in class.
- You are recommended to go through the slides, readings before and after lectures. Lecture contents do not reflect order of contents in the reading materials.

Homework

- Homework assignments are collected in the beginning of the class on due dates. Download and print out homework sheets. Work on them manually and submit them by their due dates. Do not submit them by email.
- Every homework assignment is graded for its quality. Most of them require you to “think.” Be ready to dedicate your few hours for them. Take it seriously as if these assignments were take-home exams.

Assignment and Late Assignment Policy

- If you are arriving after the assignment collection, make sure that you turn in your work first.
- A late assignment may be considered for full points only under the condition when you contact me before the due date with a “considerable” reason (see general catalogue). In this case, you must contact me and individually set a new assignment due. A “considerable reason” follows the university policy described in the course catalogue including participating in university related events, academic conferences, injury, etc. You must be able to explain how your reason follows the policy.
- A late assignment without contacting me prior to the deadline is not guaranteed for being graded or even returned. If late assignments are graded, they are penalized (20% down from your earned score).

Makeup Exam Policy

- Makeup tests are given only when your reasons for missing the test meet the university’s policy. For example, you may arrange a makeup exam when you miss a test for medical reason and submit a doctor’s note, but not for your family reunion, vacation, etc.
- Also, your individual necessity for studying is not considered a good reason. Please plan ahead of time.

Academic Misconduct (http://www.umt.edu/vpsa/policies/student_conduct.php)

- All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University.
- Academic misconduct is defined as all forms of academic dishonesty, including but not limited to:

1) Plagiarism	6) Submitting work previously presented in another course
2) Misconduct during an examination or academic exercise	7) Improperly influencing conduct
3) Unauthorized possession of examination or other course materials	8) Substituting, or arranging substitution, for another student during an examination or other academic exercise
4) Tampering with course materials	9) Facilitating academic dishonesty, and
5) Submitting false information	10) Altering transcripts, grades, examinations, or other academically related documents

DSS Service (<http://www.umt.edu/disability>)

- The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students (DSS). If you think you may have a disability adversely affecting your academic performance, and you have not already registered with DSS, please contact DSS in Lommasson 154. I will work with you and DSS to provide an appropriate accommodation.
