134 UPPERCLASSMEN
AT UM TO SERVE NEXT WEEK
AS GROUP LEADERS ON CAMPUS

MISSOULA--

More than 2,000 new freshmen and transfer students attending the University of Montana this fall will get some first-hand advice about university life from 134 upperclassmen who will be serving as group leaders during Orientation Week, Sept. 21-28.

Group leaders meet in pairs, with a campus man and coed in each pair, several times during the week with individual groups of incoming freshmen and transfer students to offer the new students advice on academic and extracurricular activities.

A total of 110 group leaders for freshmen meet with the new students in various rooms on campus beginning at 10 a.m. Monday, following the President's Convocation for all new students. UM President Robert T. Pantzer will address the new students beginning at 9 a.m. in the University Theater.

Twenty-four upperclassmen, who will serve as group leaders for transfer students, meet with their charges Tuesday, following remarks by Pantzer during the 8:15 a.m. President's Convocation for transfer students in the Music Recital Hall.
