COURSE DESCRIPTION

This is a one semester course that will examine the historical development of contemporary tribal governments and the scope of their powers. History will be important as a tool to place legislation, treaties, court decisions, tribal government actions, and personalities into an understandable framework. Special care will be taken to examine tribal diplomacy, treaties, evolution of tribal governments, and tribal lobbying efforts. The course will stress understanding tribal government relations with the United States government and with local and state governments, as well as the tribes' continuing efforts to preserve tribal autonomy and tribal sovereignty. Emphasis will be placed on understanding issues of criminal and civil jurisdiction, tribal-state conflicts, and the United States and its role in tribal governance.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:
1. To develop appreciation for the nature, responsibilities, and powers of contemporary Native American tribal governments.
2. To understand the historical development and contemporary situation of Native American tribal governments.
3. To develop familiarity with the major scholarly sources on contemporary American Indian tribal governments.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: This course is designed to include both lecture and discussion. All students are expected to read and evaluate all assigned readings and to be ready to discuss them on the assigned date. Your active and informed participation enriches the experience for everyone.

Course Evaluation:
Examinations - There will be a mid-term and a final exam. Both exams will consist of short answer questions and essay questions and each will be worth 100 points. The final exam will not be comprehensive.
Discussion: All students are expected to read all assigned materials and generally be ready to discuss them in class. A portion of class will be set aside for discussion each week and students are actively encouraged to ask questions and engage in discussion during lecture segments. Your informed participation enriches the classroom experience for everyone. Discussion is worth 100 points.
Research Papers - There is also a ten page research paper on a topic of your choice relating to the course content. You must submit your topic for approval by the instructor by the end of the fifth week of class (Oct 6). Papers will be evaluated on content, originality, organization, and style. All papers must be typed, double-spaced, on one side of the page. Two (2) copies of all papers are due on Friday, December 8. The paper is worth 100 points. If you need assistance in starting your paper, please contact the instructor as soon as possible.

Undergraduate Grading Scale: Grading is on a straight point system:

- 400-360 = A;
- 359-320 = B;
- 319-280 = C;
- 279-240 = D;
- 0-239 = F

Graduate Students: Graduate students are required to write a fifteen (15) page research paper on a topic of their choice relating to the subject of the class. Graduate students will be graded on individual academic performance.

Extra Credit: Students wishing to earn extra credit may write a 3-5 page critical review of one of the recommended books listed below. Other books may be considered with the consent of the instructor. Reviews are worth up to 10 points and only two (2) review can be accepted per student. See instructor for details. Students may also earn 5 points extra credit by showing proof that they have voted in the general election on November 7.

Late Work and Make-Ups: Students are expected to turn in all work on the scheduled due date listed in the syllabus. Make-ups will only be given in the case of unavoidable absences. It is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor as soon as possible in such cases and to arrange for a make-up. Late work is subject to a 1/3 letter grade penalty per day (exclusive of weekends and holidays). No late work will be accepted after the regularly scheduled final examine unless prior arrangements have been made with the instructor.

Academic Honesty: The University of Montana expects its students to be academically honest, particularly in regard to plagiarism. "Plagiarism is the representing of another’s work as one’s own.” Both copyright laws and University policies are rigid as concerns plagiarism. Consult the “Academic Policies and Procedures” section of the current University catalog for details regarding penalties for plagiarism.
