Psychology 377 provides a unique learning opportunity. It may be helpful to think of this class as an internship rather than a traditional class. While we will discuss the ways in which psychological theories intersect with classroom learning, the emphasis will be on applying this knowledge. This is a 300-level honors class, the work and quality expectations are consistent with that designation. Plan on spending 6 - 9 hours per week on this class. You will find that the more effort you put into this experience the more you will take away from it.

Knowledge and skills you will develop during the semester:
- Self-awareness of presentation style
- Ability to provide constructive, specific feedback
- Ability to explain complex concepts clearly and concisely
- How to organize a presentation
- Teaching experience
- Ability to negotiate difficult interpersonal situations

A Few Do's and Don'ts:
- Do be attentive and take notes in lecture. Your students may ask you specific questions about lecture material.
- Do come to quiz/lab days with your text, prepared to refer students to the text when applicable to help explain concepts.
- Do ask your TA questions in the Tuesday meetings if a point is unclear to you. You can also let your TA know after lecture if you think students did not understand a concept. That way, it can be addressed in more detail in the next lecture.
- Don't contradict your TA in class. You may confuse students more than help them.
- Don't engage in power struggles with students in lab sections. If you are having a problem with your section, let your TA know so that she can help you resolve it.
- Don't forget to turn in your resource materials (the textbook and IRM are on loan to you) at the end of the semester; failure to do so will result in an incomplete for the course.
- Do be as neat and write as legible as possible when grading and recording quizzes. This saves everyone a lot of hassle and confusion in the long run.
- Do be creative and have fun in labs! The more that you are enjoying teaching, the more your students will as well.

Materials
- You will need a proctor handbook, which is available at the bookstore under the PSYX 377 course number. We will provide you with a PSYX 100 text book and instructor manual, which you will return at the end of the semester.
What to do in a Crisis:
• If you have a crisis that will prevent you from teaching your sections, you need to let us know immediately. You should contact both your TA (ask her/him how s/he wants to be reached) and the 377 Instructor.

Grading Quizzes
• Transcribing quiz scores into the grading record for your TAs will take place following Thursday’s make-up quiz in (room 053) of the Skaggs building. This is the ONLY time you are permitted to remove the grading record from the psychology 100 office.

HOW AM I GRADED?
For more specific information on grading, please see Appendix B of the Proctor Handbook. The following is just a brief overview.
1. Class and Lab Attendance (Both are mandatory)
2. Organization of Quizzes, Grades, Files
3. Lab Activity Quality
4. Professionalism in class and in the labs
5. Extra points can be earned by providing students with extra help, study sessions, review sessions, and other unrequired services.
