"FUN-DO" CLASSES
OFFERED AGAIN AT UM

MISSOULA---

University of Montana students, faculty, staff and their spouses are again invited to attend specialized art classes at the University of Montana beginning Jan. 12.

The courses, called "Fun-Do", will be held in the University Center (UC) daily from 7:30-9:30 p.m. The cost per course is $10.

UC

Interested people should register in the office or call UM publications coordinator and graphic artist, Patti A. Hirst. Her office is in the UC, room 109 and her office phone number is 243-4674.

Mrs. Hirst, coordinator of "Fun-Do", said, "The classes offer an opportunity to have fun while learning from highly qualified specialists.

"More importantly, 'Fun-Do' can give a person a medium of expression whether it be gourmet cooking, silkscreening, photography, drawing, or metal sculpturing," she continued.

Concerning the response to "Fun-Do" last quarter, Mrs. Hirst said, "The 'Fun-Do' program was most rewarding and we are looking forward to an even more successful winter session."

Beginning Jan. 12, gourmet cookery with an international flavor will be taught by Sherrel Davis, manager of the UC Food Service. Emphasis will be on special food decorations, ice carvings, butter sculpturing, and buffet set-ups. The last class of the course will include a buffet prepared by the students for themselves and invited guests.

Silkscreening will be taught by J. Milton Beens, director of Art Services at UM, beginning Jan. 12. Silkscreening, an old oriental printing process, utilizes stencils on stretched silk. The class will be of special interest to people who want to make their own posters, greeting cards, and stationery. Beens is currently doing graduate work at UM and hopes to teach art at a college level.

"FUN-DO" CLASSES--2

Lee Nye, free-lance photographer from Missoula, will teach beginning and seminar photography starting Jan. 13 and Jan. 15, respectively. The beginning class will deal with the fundamentals of lighting, development, printing and enlargement. Corrective techniques and special effects will be stressed in the more advanced seminar class.

The basics of drawing will be taught by Mrs. Nancy Erickson, extension teacher in drawing at UM. The class begins Jan. 14. Mrs. Erickson, who has participated in several national exhibits and has had two one-man showings, will make use of different médium and a live model in her class.

John Vichorek, teaching assistant in art at UM, will teach a metal sculpture class starting Jan. 15. There will be instruction in the techniques of welding, fabrication of metal sculpture and the usage of various tools. Vichorek, who has participated in several Wisconsin art shows, will also conduct discussions on art as a means of personal expression.
