MISSOULA--

Twenty Montana high school students each received a $100 scholarship Friday (May 22) during the second annual conference of the National Honor Society (NHS) at the University of Montana.

The awards were presented during a banquet Friday evening by Jack L. Hoover, UM director of admissions. Thomas J. Collins, director of the UM Foundation, was master of ceremonies. Keynote speaker was Dr. Richard A. Solberg, dean of the UM College of Arts and Sciences.

About 250 high school NHS students are attending the two-day conference.

The scholarships are presented through UM President Robert T. Pantzer by the UM Foundation. Pantzer will address the high school students at 9 a.m. Saturday in the University Center Montana Rooms, followed by an NHS ritual to be presented by the Sentinel High School of Missoula chapter of the honor society.

A tour by the students of the UM primate colony at Ft. Missoula near the city is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Mike Frellick is conference coordinator.

The 20 students receiving the scholarships must use them at UM. Three alternates also were named at the banquet to use the scholarships in the event any of the official winners aren't able to attend the University.

The 20 scholarship winners are:
