

University of Montana

ScholarWorks at University of Montana

University of Montana Course Syllabi

Open Educational Resources (OER)

Spring 2-1-1995

PSC 395.01: Ending the Cold War in Asia

Martin E. Weinstein

The University Of Montana

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/syllabi>

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Weinstein, Martin E., "PSC 395.01: Ending the Cold War in Asia" (1995). University of Montana Course Syllabi. 6803.

<https://scholarworks.umt.edu/syllabi/6803>

This Syllabus is brought to you for free and open access by the Open Educational Resources (OER) at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Montana Course Syllabi by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.

University of Montana—Political Science Department
Political Science 395-01: Ending the Cold War in Asia
Spring Semester 1995

Professor Martin E. Weinstein

Office: 415 CAS (Office tel: 243-2105 Home tel: 549-5623)

Office Hours: Monday 2-4 & Wednesday 10—12 or by appointment

Ending the Cold War in Asia is a seminar designed to provide students with an opportunity to carefully and thoroughly read, discuss and write about three books on recent developments in and relations among the four major powers in Asian-Pacific international relations—the United States, Japan, China and Russia. Since the Pacific Basin is home to the most productive and fastest growing nations in the world, the future of the United States and of the entire world will be heavily influenced by the course of events in this region.

The three books assigned to students in this seminar are:

Jeffrey E. Garten, A Cold Peace: America, Japan and Germany and the Struggle for Supremacy

Steven Kull, Burying Lenin: The Revolution in Soviet Ideology and Foreign Policy

Harry Harding, A Fragile Relationship: The United States and China Since 1972

Students will be expected to complete the reading assigned for each seminar meeting, and to be prepared to discuss, question and assess the assignment in class. Students are required to prepare a six page precis of each assigned book. The precis will include: 1) a description of the thesis of the book; 2) a description of the arguments and evidence the author uses in support of the thesis; and 3) an evaluation of a) the logical validity of the book, and b) the value of its contribution to an understanding of international politics in Asia.

Grades for the course will be based on the grades of the three precis, with each precis counting for one third of the course grade. In order to receive full credit, precis must be turned in on time, be within the six page limit, and be grammatically and typographically correct. Precis that are turned in late, exceed the page limit, or have excessive errors will be penalized.