POLITICAL THEORY POLSC 250E-1

250

Spring 1996

Journalism 304 12:10-1 Mon Wed Fri

Instructor: Bill Chaloupka (office Rankin Hall 101A) 243-6111. I check my voice-mail regularly. Also, I welcome E-mail: billc@selway.umn.edu

Office Hours: 1:10-2 Monday; 10-11 Weds., 2:10-3 Thurs. If these office hours are not convenient, please call for an appointment, or just stop by.

Teaching Assistants: Peter Thompson and John Halliday (office location and hours to be announced)

Catalog description: 4 credits. Analysis of the various attempts (from Plato to Marx) to explain, instruct, and justify the distribution of political power in society. Emphasis is placed upon those theories whose primary concern is to define the nature of the "good" society.

Additional description: Politics differs from other fields of human knowledge and action. As opposed to many other human realms, many of the most important political questions remain essentially contested, even after 2500 years of posing those questions in surprisingly consistent ways. This course is an introduction to the outlines of that long discussion. In addition to the "good society" emphasis mentioned above, we will also emphasize ethical questions: that is, how people think about their decisions to act ethically, in view of their values and aspirations.

Texts:

Portis, Reconstructing the Classics: Political Theory from Plato to Marx (Chatham House)

Machiavelli, The Prince (Penguin)

Locke, Second Treatise on Government (Hackett)

Marx, The Communist Manifesto, edited by Frederic Bender (Norton)

Williams, Patricia, The Alchemy of Race and Rights (Harvard) photocopy packet, as explained in class; includes Plato's dialogue, "Crito," Martin Luther King, Jr.'s "Letter from the Birmingham Jail," and a selection from Hobbes's "Leviathan."

Requirements: Students are expected to attend all classes, and to take three exams. The first exam counts 20%, the second exam counts 30%, and the final (a comprehensive exam) counts 50%. An option will be available to write a paper in place of the third exam. No "extra credit" is available, but consideration will be given to those who improve their exam scores during the semester, and who actively contribute questions and discussion.

Although the concerns of this class may seem to be less timely than those encountered in other Political Science classes, we will be concerned with contemporary political questions. Therefore, as in all Political Science classes, students are expected to read a daily newspaper, or an equivalent. (Suggestions: the Missoulian, Spokesman Review, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, or Washington Post National Weekly Edition. Newspapers are available to read without charge in the library and in several other locations around campus.)

	TIME	-noon

This is the official time for the PSc 250 final. If you have a conflicting final, consult the teacher of that class—they are in violation of the schedule. University rules permit finals make-ups only if you have three finals on one day. Please plan your travel accordingly.

Grades will be posted at noon, Monday May 20, at Rankin 101A. Please don't try to inquire before then. Bring a self-addressed envelope (to class, or to the instructor's mailbox in the Pol Sci office) to receive your test and grade by mail. Or you can get your exam and course grades by e-mail (notify instructor). Exams will be available at the beginning of fall term in the instructor's office.
