Course Description

This course will explore American political thought from the period of the Puritans in Massachusetts to the late nineteenth-century, age of robber barons. Our focus will be on the ideas, movements, parties, and individual thinkers that have contributed to the development of an "American tradition" of political thought and practice. As we shall quickly discover, political thought in this country is not merely an offshoot of the well-worn European themes, but develops out the search for identity, common experiences, and historical political struggles.

The assigned books are as follows:

1. Mason and Baker (eds.), Free Government In The Making
2. Hamilton, Madison, Jay, The Federalist Papers
3. Bellamy, Looking Backward
4. Paine, Common Sense
5. Thoreau's Civil Disobedience
6. Fac Packet: "The Puritans"; R. Bourne, War & the Intellectuals

Course Objectives: upon successfully completing the course work, the student should be able to:

1. Identify the major pre-Civil War thinkers and assess their contributions to the philosophical ideas and values that underscore America political discourse.
2. Develop an analytical essay examining a particular American thinker's assumptions about human nature, equality, individual and community rights, the good life, constitutionalism, etc. The goal of the essay assignments (including the midterm and the final) is to encourage students not only to learn about American political thought, but to learn how to think theoretically about politics.
3. Provide an interpretive final essay on Edward Bellamy's utopian novel, Looking Backward. What, if any, are the distinctively "American" ethical values and political themes found in Bellamy's conception of the good life. (please see Bellamy Paper Guidelines)

Course Grading: The work of the course consists of reading all assignments, attending the class lectures and participating in class discussion (*10% of course grade.)

Each student will submit one take-home analytical essay (25% of course grade), not to exceed 3 double-spaced pages. Please see schedule below for topics.

In addition, each student will complete two midterms (30%) of course grade) and a take-home final (35%).

* Cautionary note: if you are absent more than 3xs, three points will be deducted for every absence thereafter. Excused absences require an athletic or medical note.

Students taking this course to fulfill writing the 400 requirements will be required to revise and expand their essay into 10-12 pages. Substantive and grammatical revisions will be expected. The writing grade will be based upon the following writing guidelines and expectations:

- The critical, interpretive essay must provide a clear thesis (preferably at the end of the introductory paragraph), indicating the author's main points with regard to the essay question.
- The essay must support the thesis statement with specific references to the primary texts, providing footnotes for all quoted material and a bibliography at the end. Please use Chicago style.
- Students should pay close attention to their choice of words in summarizing and clarifying the substance of a political theory (i.e. the good state and a good state are not the same). They must demonstrate awareness of how words can clarify and/or obscure a theorist's principles, illustrations, and, in general, the nature of their political inquiry.
- The first essay draft will be returned with editorial comments. Students are encouraged to talk with me about their essays before revising them.
- Student must include original essay draft with revised, extended draft.
- Revised essay will be graded based upon: grammar, spelling, appropriate choice of words, transitions between paragraphs, use of quoted material to support their interpretation, accuracy in paraphrasing, logical organization of ideas and points, and clarity.
- Only one revision is allowed. Please proof read the final drafts for any grammatical, spelling, or typos before turning it in.

Graduate Students, in addition to completing the above assignments, will submit a 10-15 page research paper that incorporates the secondary literature on a particular thinker &/or theoretical issue in consultation with the professor. This paper will include an introduction that clearly identifies a question or issue and its significance to American political thought, and will use the appropriate primary & secondary literature to support the paper's thesis.

- Plus/Minus Grades will be used based on the following: 100-93 = A; 92-90 = A-; 89-87 = B+; 86-83 = B; 82-80 = B-; 79-77 = C+; 76-73 = C; 72-70 = C-; 69-67 = D+; 66-63 = D; 62-60 = D-; 59 < = F
- If student elects to take course as a Pass or No Pass, they should be aware that a total of 69 pts. or lower will be a NP.
- Please see me and UM catalog p. 21 for criteria on Incomplete Grades.
- All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University. All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at <http://www.umt.edu/SA/VP/SA/index.cfm/page/1321>.

Political Science 352

Spring 2010

Final
(35% of total grade)
Bellamy's Looking Backward

Format: essay should comprise 4-5 typed, double-spaced pages. Please use 12-10 pt. Font.

I. Purpose

- A. Objective: Provide an analytical essay comparing and contrasting the ideas/themes of Bellamy's Looking Backward with the thinkers and ideas we have covered in the course. An interpretive essay is not a book review or an editorial. A good essay supports its analysis with direct references to the novel, showing the extent Bellamy borrows, satirizes, and/or negates the ideas of other American political thinkers (probably no more than two of them).

II. Content

A. Description & Thesis (15% of essay value)

Provide no more than a cursory attempt at describing the content of Bellamy's Looking Backward. Assume that the reader is familiar with the plot of the novel. (One short paragraph should be sufficient.)

B. Analysis (65% of paper grade)

This part of the paper should constitute the major portion of your work. Among the political thinkers & theories we have studied this semester, who is Bellamy addressing? In other words, what political values/ideas of his predecessors does Bellamy embrace and what ideas does he reject. Why?

For instance, what are the underlying assumptions about human nature? What is the system of the government in Bellamy's utopia? What is the value system of Dr. Leete's "new" American society? (Look at, for instance, what the citizens in twenty-first century are taught, if anything, regarding the politics, the role of law, and socio-economic conditions of the nineteenth-century.) What is Bellamy telling us about the relations of employer and employee, men and women, parents and children in capitalist society versus a socialist one? (* These questions are only a suggested list to help you get started, but do not feel confined to only them.)

C. Conclusion (20% of paper value)

Does Bellamy convince the reader that this ideal America is desirable, or possible? Why, or why not? Do you see things in the present American society that duplicate some features of his utopia?

D. Planning

Part B should comprise the largest part of your paper. In other words, roughly 4 pages should be on analysis and 1-2 pages on part C as your conclusion.

II Style: Be sure you edit your paper carefully. Points will be deducted for spelling and grammatical errors.

A. Additional Reading

You should review lecture notes and assigned reading to substantiate your positions for parts IB and IC.

B. Quotations

All quotations or paraphrasing in your work from any material must be enclosed in quotation marks and properly cited as to their origin.

C. Bibliography

Please include a complete bibliography of all books used for this paper. Please avoid citing Wikkapedia or giving the reader dictionary definitions.
