Course Overview

The purpose of this course is to provide an introduction to the workings of the judicial branch of government and to explore the role of the federal judiciary in the American political system. Students will be expected to read approximately 15 pages in the text for each class meeting. The class format will be discussion with some lecture, with the instructor acting as discussion leader. The learning goals are student understanding of the judiciary’s procedural and structural features, accurate analysis of course readings, and effective oral and written expression.

Term Paper (ONLY for students enrolled in PSC 300 or PSC 400; see suggested topics below)

The optional term paper will be no more than seven double-spaced pages of text, not counting the bibliography. Suggestions for term paper topics are attached; the instructor must approve each student’s selection. The introductory paragraph of the paper, a topical outline of the paper, and a list of sources to be used are due on March 3. The introductory paragraph should include the paper’s topic, an overview of the paper’s contents, and a discussion of the topic’s importance. The instructor will correct these materials and return them for revision and inclusion in the final paper, which is due on April 21. Citation to sources used can be included in parenthetical text notes tied to the bibliography (see the instructor about this format), or footnotes and a bibliography or end notes and a bibliography (see The Chicago Manual of Style). Grading criteria will be accuracy of content, coherence of argument, and correctness of writing.

Examination

There will be two examinations. The final examination will cover course material from the first examination to the end of the semester. Each examination will use definition and short-essay questions. The midterm examination will be held on March 5. The final examination is scheduled for May 12 at 8:00 a.m.

Grading

Each of the two examinations can earn a maximum of 50 points. The instructor, at his discretion, can award up to 10 extra-credit points for excellence in class recitation. The course grades will be determined as follows: A = 94-100; A- = 90-93; B+ = 87-89; B = 83-86; B- = 80-82; C+ = 77-79; C = 73-76; C- = 70-72; D+ = 67-69; D = 63-66; D- = 60-62; F = 59 and lower. For the credit/no-credit grading option, a grade of D- and above will count as “credit.”
