Course Description

This course introduces students of public administration to the concept of developing management skills. The course focuses on developing the skills necessary to implement progressive ideas into their work environments. The course looks at the personal, interpersonal, and group skills necessary to develop in becoming effective managers.

Course Objectives

1. To acquire substantive knowledge and understanding in the development of management skills.

2. To develop the ability to recognize and apply the developed skills in situations facing public administrators in their daily operations.

Required Text – Student Must Purchase

Other Readings – Provided in “Course Materials” on the Blackboard for this course.

Course Requirements

Lessons must be completed by each Wednesday by 7 pm MST. Students are required to read the mini-lectures, complete all assigned readings and assignments, participate on the discussion board, and complete all writing assignments by the established times. Lessons provide summary points based on what the instructor is trying to emphasize as key elements for the student to learn and understand. These are not to be considered all-inclusive and the student is responsible to use these summary points in developing their understanding.

All time requirements for discussion board responses and writing assignments will be based on Mountain Standard Time. The instructor will be on-line reviewing student responses to discussion board questions each Wednesday night from 7 to 9 pm (MST). I encourage all students to be online during this time to participate in the discussion board. I realize that this may not be possible for every student, but this is a time to share thoughts and discuss with your fellow students. If you cannot be online during this time each week, you are still required to respond to the questions before 7 pm and then at another time review others comments and respond to them.

Writing Assignments

Five writing assignments are required. Students are required to follow the instructions contained in the relevant lesson for each assignment. Students may also refer to Lesson 1 for guidance.
Course Grading

Grading will be based on your Discussion Board responses and five (5) writing assignments. The first four (4) writing assignment are worth 50 points each, the final writing assignment is worth 75 points, and Discussion Board responses are worth 75 points for the semester, for a total of 350 points. You will receive your Discussion Board points at the end of the semester. If you are curious as to how you are doing on your Discussion Board questions during the semester, call me and I will let you know.
