Political Science Department, course #327

Spring 2002

Meets Tuesday and Thursday 2:10 – 3:30

Office Hours in LA 355: Tuesday 12:30 – 2:00 and Thursday 9:00 – 10:00

Required texts available for purchase in UC Bookstore:

Daniel Levy and Kathleen Bruhn with Emilio Zebadúa. Mexico: The Struggle for Democratic Development. University of California Press, 2001.

Sam Quinones. True Tales From Another Mexico: The Lynch Mob, the Popsicle Kings, Chalino, and the Bronx. Albuquerque: University of New Mexico Press, 2001.

Required readings to be found on reserve at Mansfield Library:

Latin American Perspectives, Issue 118, Sage Publications, May 2001.

Latin American Perspectives, Issue 119, Sage Publications, July 2001.

Your grade will be based on one in-class exam (1/4 of total grade), one paper (1/4 of the total grade), short assignments given in association with the last book (1/4 of total grade) and overall class attendance, in-class assignments, and participation (1/4 of total grade). The exam will require students to write a series answer a series of short essay questions after the first book that we read. The paper will require students to write on the broad subject of the contemporary Mexican political economy, its impact on society, and challenges to it. Students are required to read all assigned readings before the class in which they will be discussed. Coming to class prepared means having read the material carefully and thoughtfully. It means coming to class each day prepared to participate by offering interpretations or questions concerning the readings' main arguments. Students may miss three classes without explanation. After that, students must bring a typed statement explaining their absence (calling me on the phone is neither sufficient nor necessary). Make a serious effort to get to class on time. If you have a good reason for being late, convey it to me after class. If you come in late, even if you do not have a good reason, make sure you check with me after class so that I can mark you late instead of being absent.
