Training and Orientation:

Online Training:

A complete set of online training courses, and related online exams, are available on the VITA/TCE Central website. Go to VITA/TCE Central at https://www.linklearncertification.com/d/. As discussed below students must successfully complete the Volunteer Standards of Conduct Training and Exam, which provides guidance for regulating VITA/TCE volunteers and guidance for ethical behavior when working with taxpayers. Students must also complete the Intake/Interview and Quality Review Training and Exam, and the Advanced Exam.

Classroom Training and Orientation:

All preparers are required to attend a four-hour training and orientation session at the beginning of the semester that provides:

- basic procedures in preparing a VITA tax return
- instruction and hands-on use of the tax software used to prepare the returns
- information on Montana tax preparation
- training on how to interact with VITA clients, including appropriate ethical behavior

If students are unable to attend one of the scheduled training sessions, arrangements can be made to receive the training information at a different time. Please contact the Site Coordinator or student supervisors to make arrangements.

Depending on requests from local not-for-profit agencies, there may be on-site tax preparation opportunities on additional Saturdays, Sundays, and evenings during the week. These sessions allow students, unable to participate on the scheduled Saturdays, to complete their required hours. Please contact the Site Coordinator or student supervisors if you feel you may not be able to complete your hour requirement during the scheduled times.
Expectations of Students

Attendance: Students are expected to attend all class meetings and assigned volunteer sessions, and arrive on a timely basis.

Student Conduct: All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University. The University of Montana Student Conduct Code specifies definitions and adjudication processes for academic misconduct and states, “Students at the University of Montana are expected to practice academic honesty at all times.”

It is the student’s responsibility to be familiar the University of Montana Student Conduct Code. The Student Conduct Code is available at http://www.umt.edu/vpesa/Dean%20of%20Students/default.php.

Students enrolled in courses offered by the School of Business Administration are also expected to adhere to the School of Business Code of Professional Conduct. This is available at: http://www.business.umt.edu/ethics/professional-conduct-code.php.

Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities will receive reasonable modifications in this course. The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students. “Reasonable” means the University permits no fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive modifications. Your responsibilities are to request reasonable modifications from me with sufficient advance notice (preferably the first week of class), and to be prepared to provide current verification of your disability and its impact from Disability Services for Students. Please speak with me after class or during my office hours to discuss the details. For more information, visit the Disability Services for Students website at http://www.umt.edu/dss/.

UM Service Learning Definition

This course is a service-learning course. Service Learning is a method of teaching and learning in which students, faculty and community partners work together to enhance student learning by applying academic knowledge in a community-based setting. Student work addresses the needs of the community, as identified through collaboration with community or tribal partners, while meeting instructional objectives through faculty-structured service work and critical reflection meant to prepare students to be civically responsible members of the community. At its best, service learning enhances and deepens students’ understanding of an academic discipline by facilitating the integration of theory and practice, while providing them with experience that develops life skills and engages them in critical reflection about individual, institutional, and social ethics.
School of Business Administration and Accounting Program
