4-22-1981

Montana Kaimin, April 22, 1981

Associated Students of the University of Montana

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.
Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/studentnewspaper

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.umt.edu/studentnewspaper/7262

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Montana Kaimin at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in Montana Kaimin by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
Allen says governor aids dope dealers

HELENA (AP) District Judge Nat Allen of Roundup, in a letter addressed to Gov. Ted Schwendien and signed "Disingenuously yours," has accused the governor of aiding dope peddlers and other criminals.

Allen, one of the state's senior judges and known for making fiery statements, took Schwendien to task for his veto last week of a bill that would have allowed tainted evidence to be used in trials.

In response, Schwendien issued a statement defending his veto. Allen wrote that, "Your veto of the exclusionary repeal has made the dope peddlers of Montana very happy. Now, the seventh and eighth graders of every school in Montana will continue to have available all the marijuana, speed and cocaine they want."

The bill, vetoed last week, would have done away in Montana courts with the federal "exclusionary rule." That rule, established by the U.S. Supreme Court, bars prosecutors from using in court evidence that is improperly gained, such as evidence gathered in illegal searches.

Allen wrote that the exclusionary rule protects only criminals. "By your veto," he told the governor, "you have made guilt proveable. The courts continue to suppress the truth and you are there cheering them on."

Allen noted that U.S. Chief Justice Warren Burger has suggested that states adopt alternatives to the exclusionary rule. "He favors the bill you vetoed," Allen said in the letter dated Monday. "What hurts most of all," Allen continued, "is that Montana could have been the first state to do it."

CB to consider $2 library fee

Central Board will decide tonight whether students will pay an additional $2 at registration, which will help buy books for the Missoula and Mike Mansfield Library.

If CB approves the additional fee, it will then go before the Board of Regents for their approval. The fee could be charged as soon as Fall Quarter.

The AHUM budgeting sub-committee, hearings scheduled for tomorrow are:

- 6 p.m. UM International Fellowship, Woodmen team, UM Rugby Football Club, UM Fraternity Interfraternity Council.
- 6:30 p.m. Montana Maqueras, International Wildlife Film Festival, UM Rifle Club, Phoenix, Black Student Union.
- 6:45 p.m. Symphonic Concert Band, UM Wildlife Society, Nordic Ski Club, Tutoring Program, Kyo-Yu Indian Club.
- 7 p.m. UM Jazz Workshop.

Wilderness Institute offers summer program in wilds

By Hymn Alexander

Montana Kaimin Reporter

If spending this summer living in a wilderness area while learning resource management skills sounds appealing to you, the Wilderness Institute's summer program may be the answer.

"It can be a first step in choosing a career in natural resource management, and many former field studies participants are now working in resource management positions," John Mercer, director of the Wilderness Field Studies program, said yesterday in an interview.

He said besides acquiring expertise in field research methods, participants will be involved in studies that will be used in determining wilderness management policies.

The Wilderness Field Studies program is open to everyone. Mercer said, adding that the first 35 people who apply will be accepted. The program will run from June 21 to Sept 11, with 40 days spent in wilderness areas. The remaining time will be used for training sessions. There will be a retreat at the end of the program. Applications will be accepted until June 15.

There is no charge for this volunteer program and academic credit is earned. Travel funds are available, but participants must provide their own food and camping equipment, he said.

Mercer stressed the experience participants gain is very valuable if they plan a career in management.

Former participants have contributed to more than 30 studies on wilderness lands and rivers, including last summer's monitoring of ASARCO's mineral exploration in the Cabinet Mountains Wilderness Area.

Three projects are planned for this summer program. The top priority, Mercer said, is a study of the conflicts between oil and gas exploration and wilderness values. It will be conducted in the Bob Marshall Wilderness and surrounding areas.

Study participants will follow the proposed route of mineral exploration and wilderness areas. Participants gain is very valuable.

No 22-year-old would like to be told that he has the same chances of dying in the next ten years as a 45-year-old.

But then, being told that he could reduce those dismal odds by cutting down on the "good life" may have the same chances of dying in the next ten years as a 15-year-old.

The health risk analysis has been offered to students by the University of Montana Health Service since last year with the help of a computer in the Missoula County Health Department.

In the computerized analysis, individuals are told their statistical chances of dying and the delectable risk, if changes in lifestyles and behavior are made.

Statisticians are based on the ten leading causes of death for the individual's specific age group.

For example, upon receiving her computer print-out, a 25-year-old Kaimin reporter discovered that, statistically speaking, she was most likely to die in a motor-vehicle accident. Carthiosis and pneumonia were the proposed route of mineral exploration and wilderness areas. Participants gain is very valuable.

The health risk analysis costs $15 for students.
Acquisitions fee tests principles

When you rent a house or apartment, do you also expect to have to build a roof for the place? Of course not. However, Central Board will vote tonight on a measure that follows similar illogic: a direct fee of University of Montana students to buy library books for the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library.

Tonight, CB will be voting to institute a $2 quarterly fee, starting Fall Quarter, to be used to buy library books. The fee, an addition to regular tuition and fees, would expire in five years.

The acquisitions fund would be directed by a Library Acquisitions Committee made up of a couple students and a few library staff members. Any purchases recommended other than books would need the approval of a majority of CB and the Board of Regents.

This is the wrong approach, though, and the idea should not be humor. Think of the precedent an imposed library book fee would set. Anytime academic services or materials could not be purchased or provided because of a lack of legislative funds, students could be hit up for the bucks. Maybe next year we'll have to start paying for our syllabus because departments won't have the money to print them.

I think of the proposal as unwise. Students are not wealthy; some can barely afford the tuition and fees they're paying now. Furthermore, and most importantly, it is not out of line to expect a decent library to be provided when accounting for the costs of higher learning. Students should not have to buy books that should be there.

If Montana's colleges and universities — and eventually the Legislature — want to cut their own pay, they'll have to grab, and something, anything, must be done. After all, CB may rationalize, somebody has to do something.

The proposal for a library acquisitions fee is, seeking a solution. It is argued that the university system is not adequately funded by the Legislature. Since library books are so badly needed, the proverbial bull must be grabbed, and something, anything, must be done. After all, CB may rationalize, somebody has to do something.

Bob protest

Editor: I read Linda Sue Ashton's editorial yesterday on the nuclear weapons protest at Malinta Mine in the Forest Base with some surprise. I found it hard to believe that someone who professed to be aware of happenings in Mississippi over the past five years could be so uninformed about the history of nuclear weapons opposition, both local and national, and about the reasons for and the effects of civil disobedience.

Ashton's exhortations to the protestors to put on ties, get a college degree and begin "conventional, within-the-law jobbing and information dissemination" is the same kind of advice that those groups in relation to nuclear weapons, have been

Legal civil disobedience effective

Editor: I read Linda Sue Ashton's editorial yesterday on the nuclear weapons protest at Malinta Mine in the Forest Base with some surprise. I found it hard to believe that someone who professed to be aware of happenings in Mississippi over the past five years could be so uninformed about the history of nuclear weapons opposition, both local and national, and about the reasons for and the effects of civil disobedience.

Ashton's exhortations to the protestors to put on ties, get a college degree and begin "conventional, within-the-law jobbing and information dissemination" is the same kind of advice that those groups in relation to nuclear weapons, have been
By Nicelyn Rosen
Montana Kaimin Contributing Reporter

Schwinden signs DMSO bill

The Associated Press

HELENA — Gov. Ted Schwinden has signed a bill legalizing the manufacture and prescription sale of industrial solvent known as DMSO.

The state thus joins Oregon, Florida and Louisiana in legalizing use of dimethyl sulphoxide for humans for treatment of a variety of ailments, ranging from arthritis to cancer.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has not approved the general use of the chemical.

"The bill allows the drug to be sold only by a doctor's prescription and allows it to be manufactured for prescription use only," said Rep. Gary Bennett, R-Whitefish, the measure's sponsor in the Legislature.

"This bill possibly may help speed up FDA approval of the drug for use in our state," he said.

The new law will take effect July 1. It says Montana doctors are now subject to disciplinary action by the state Board of Medical Examiners for prescribing the drug for patients.

Riots continue in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Rioting broke out in Northern Ireland for the seventh day yesterday after Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher refused to make concessions to end the hunger strike calling for the release of Bobby Sands, the jailed IRA guerrilla and member of Parliament reported to be in the Maze prison near Belfast, the 52nd day of a hunger strike by Sands reported DMSO was rapidly absorbed into the blood stream and could be used as a carrier agent for other drugs. Most importantly, the substance quickly reduced pain and inflammation. But several negative studies also were published. Aside from skin sensitivity to DMSO, tests on dogs, pigs and rabbits revealed damage to the retina that in some cases left animals blind.

DECEPTIVE DANCE

Look Again! It's the hilarious all-male Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo.

"They dance magnificently. These incredible dance artists will have you rolling with laughter.

—Los Angeles Times

May 5, 1981 8 p.m.
University Theater

Students/Seniors $4.50 General $8.50/$7.00/$5.50
U.C. Box Office or by Phone 243-4363 Visa: Mastercard
Tavern sign starts controversy

WHITFISH (AP) — What some consider to be a racy sign stop, Yeti’s Den, a Whitfield tavern, has sparked a controversy in that community. The sign, which depicts a Yeti, the mythical abominable snowman, carrying a boxum and scantily clad woman under one arm, has evoked criticism since it was erected last month. Several residents have complained to city officials that the sign is in poor taste and that it condenses rape. Yet only "30 or 40" people will sign a petition that said the sign "should be altered in some decent fashion," said Jeannine Martin, who started the petition.

Martin blamed aesthetic downtown business owners for the petition's failure. She said they were sympathetic, but wouldn't allow copy of the petition in the store. "They didn't want to get involved," she said.

The Whitfield City Council also expressed its disapproval of the sign in a letter to Barney Roosevelt, co-owner of the tavern, but could not legally withhold the permit required for the sign.

Roose said he was surprised at the reaction to the sign. "I think it's a good sign; I don't think it's in poor taste, and I haven't violated any laws," he said. "I'm a concerned citizen, and I wish they would come in and talk to me."

He said the sign typified the theme of the annual Whitfield Winter Carnival. Each year a snow queen is crowned to reign over the three-day festivities, and each year she is kidnapped by a yeti, he said. She is rescued by the carnival's Viking heroes to climax the event.

Roose said he wants to negotiate a remedy with offended citizens. He said he might be willing to change the sign if the change satisfies both his interest and residents' demands.

---

CHICKEN NIGHT
$2.75
At its finest, three pieces of absolutely freshly prepared chicken-in-the-ruff served with real mashed potatoes and chicken gravy, vegetables that are usually a fresh sauted mixture, and a whole wheat dinner roll and butter.

SHACK 223 W. Front
Recommended for 119 of the 7,300 lowering the water level were judged unsafe. The accident gives nuclear power opponents added ammunition in their campaign to stop nuclear power development in Japan, the only nation ever subjected to an atomic attack.

At World War II, Japan, heavily reliant on imported oil, now gets 12 percent, or 45 million kilowatts, of its electricity from nuclear generators. General Electric designed the Tsuruga plant.

Workers exposed to nuclear waste

TOKYO (AP)—Fifty-six men were exposed to contaminated waste in the nuclear power plant accident on the Sea of Japan. The plant's executives may be indicted if the government says the accident was caused by a deliberate release of radioactivity.

The utility said the cleaners, totaling 66 men, were exposed to no more than 150 millirems of radioactivity, which puts the exposure level considerably under the government-set limit of 3,000 millirems over a three-month period.

However, the Ministry of Trade and Industry, which regulates Japan's nuclear power industry, disputed the company's statement. It said it was likely the moppers were exposed to dangerous doses of contamination because the waste water had a relatively high level of contamination.

Other deficiencies found, he said, included inoperable control components, seepage, unstable structures and defective structural components. The accident began to unfold after federal inspectors discovered abnormally high radioactivity in soil and water near the 357,000-kilowatt plant, shut down April 1 for what was originally described as a routine, three-month check and maintenance period.

The amount of waste water spilled has not been determined, but newspapers have been quoting various sources saying it ranged from as little as five tons to as much as 40 tons. Top government nuclear experts were sent to the plant, about 180 miles west of Tokyo.

Staffers at the International Communication Cooperative referred to the accident as the worst ever in terms of radioactivity, which puts the water resources that 78 percent of the 7,300 dams in the United States are judged unsafe, an average of 15 more days of contamination. The statement said a subcontractor then supplied additional men who worked for 15 more days.

The utility said the cleaners, totaling 66 men, were exposed to no more than 150 millirems of radioactivity, which puts the exposure level considerably under the government-set limit of 3,000 millirems over a three-month period.

Inspection reveals unsafe dams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly a third of the 7,300 large dams inspected under a federal program have been classified as unsafe, an Army Corps of Engineers official said yesterday.

"The designation does not necessarily indicate imminent potential failure, but does imply that further removal of measures or studies are necessary to insure safety," said Major Gen. E. B. Heiber III, director of civil works for the corps.

He told a Senate subcommittee on water resources that 78 percent of the dams in the unsafe category as of April 1 were placed there because of inadequate spillway capacity.

Other deficiencies found, he said, included inoperable components, seepage, unstable structures and defective structural components.

"We build our dams not to fail," Heiber declared. But it is impossible to guarantee they won't fail, and no device has yet been developed that can predict the failure of a dam, he added.

Emergency actions such as lowering the water level were recommended for 119 of the 7,300 inspected dams "to eliminate the potential for imminent failure," he said. In all, 31 percent of the 7,300 were judged unsafe.

UM student gets Fulbright

University of Montana graduate student, Sheila Maiser, has been selected for a Fulbright Grant for graduate study in Vienna, Austria.

Maiser, a graduate student in German literature and language, is one of about 500 American students and artists who has been selected for a grant this year. She will study in Vienna during the 1981-82 academic year.

The Fulbright program is part of the U.S. government's educational and cultural exchange program administered by the International Communication Agency, a private, non-profit education agency.

Maisler said she was recommended for the grant by the foreign language department. While in Vienna, Maiser said she will study German literature that was written by Germans who opposed Adolf Hitler during World War II.

That's why American Express has created a special plan that reduces the usual application and establishment fees when you can get the Card before you finish school.

All you need to apply is a $10,000 job or the promise of one.

You'll use the Card the wealthy and the well-traveled use for business lunches, buying clothes for work, paying for vacations — for all sorts of after-school activities.

So trade up now. You'll find application forms on campus bulletin boards. Or call toll-free 800-528-8000 and ask for a Special Student Application.

The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.
Entertainment — Bye, Bye Brazil' a rare gem

By Scott Davidson
Montana Kaimin Reviewer

The best thing about "Bye, Bye Brazil" is that it makes its point without unnecessary fanfare. Exercising nearly flawless control, director Carlos Diegues documents the uphill climb to Brazil's rude introduction into the 20th century. At the same time, he tells a delightful story of a traveling band of vaudevillian performers who stamp the backlands for audiences yet untouched by the hand of progress. They search the roofs of every village they enter for "fashions," television antennae, the swollen remnants of live entertainment.

Diegues manages an impressive balance to entertain without dullying the fine hard edge of his satire. His desire to "say something" never overwhms the story. Significance is never forced, everything fits. To an audience of American affar-givers weaned on the proposition that art and entertainment don't mix, this should be a refreshing and enlightening change.

Diegues borrows freely from myth and legend for his cast of characters. Lord Gypsy, magician, ence and leader of the traveling band known as the Caravana Rolide, is both wizard and com- man. Salome, his lover, billed far and wide as the "Queen of the Rhumba" and former mistress to a president of the United States, is both strip-tease artist and a

Bowing Specials
Thursday - 50¢ Per Game
Or $1.25 For 3 Games
Friday and Saturday - Monte Carlo
Sunday - Red Head Pinball Center

Electronic Games
Space Invaders
Asteroids

Little Big Men

Don't Miss This
Super Coupon Offer
On Little Big Men's F jest

MOTHERLODE PIZZA

* Nine Great Ingredients
- Sausage, Mushrooms, Black Olives, Onions, Green Peppers, Canadian Style Bacon, Pepperoni, Pineapple & Tomatoes!!!

CLIP THIS COUPON AND SAVE!

Motherloede 200 MAIN DUOWN

Little Big Men

Three Great

Sausage, Mushrooms, Black Olives, Onions, Green Peppers, Canadian Style Bacon, Pepperoni, Pineapple & Tomatoes!!!

Reg. $4.95, Clip this Coupon!

$6.95 Only

3306 Brooks
Phone 728-5550

All You Can Eat!!

Wed. Night Pizza Buffet

SOLD AT W. P. M.

Villa Santino

241 W. Main Downtown

STYLE BACON, PEPPERONI, PINEAPPLE

ONIONS, GREEN PEPPERS, CANADIAN

Friday - MONTE CARLO

U.C. Recreation

241 W. Main Downtown

Pizza Buffet

GAMES

Center

Wednesday, April 22, 1981

Don't Miss This
Biggest Super Offer

**★

Little Big Men

An old man, a boy and a Hopi Indian travel slowly together across the desert of the American West. All around them lie the ravages of a worldwide nuclear war that has left the cities to become dust and steel. Becoming air and dust and leather becoming dust. Becoming "decomposing steel, glass tur- itorial law, dictated by a quasi­

"shadow of a metropolis loosely composed of companionship and love. And emotions: violence, fear, encounter a myriad of adventures, characters form the nucleus of Quixotes, the three "good" Bums, is a father looking for his son in a world that has left the cities to become dust and steel. Becoming air and dust and leather becoming dust. Becoming "decomposing steel, glass tur-"...}

By Amy Stahl
Montana Kaimin Reviewer

Good News.

The Hopi, a professional musi-

Caravana finally reaches Alta-

Like the majority of Abbey's 13 books and numerous magazine articles, this novel serves as a personal, philosophical statement. The message, which he throws in the face of the reader, is the inevitability evil outcome resulting from unadulterated power, the vacuity of unchecked politicians and the devastation of society.

Good News is Abbey's warning to mankind about what will be the outcome if society faces its present degenerating rate. And this message is conveyed in no uncertain terms.

Unlike several of Abbey's other novels, the most memorable of which is The Monkey Wrench Gang, Abbey's statement in Good News is not cloaked in unhelved dialogue or enchant- ing scenery. The nuclear devastation portrayed in Good News defies such subtle imagery. Abbey has created a world of sharp contrasts: a pastoral representation of a rejuvenating rural countryside and the city, a hopeless pile of rubble.

And what about the people? The Chief dictates the direction in which society will flow: the corruption of in- dividualism is over. Remember the moral decay that preceded the social collapse? He says with a sneer, "We aim at the unification of mankind into a planetary organism transcending in- dividuals, races, even nations." The Chief and his cohorts plan to eliminate self-determination from the world.

"Good News" is both a strip-tease artist and a

Good News a future warning

By Amy Stahl
Montana Kaimin Reviewer

An old man, a boy and a Hopi Indian travel slowly together across the desert of the American West. All around them lie the ravages of a worldwide nuclear war that has left the cities to become dust and steel. Becoming air and dust and leather becoming dust. Becoming "decomposing steel, glass tur-"...}
"There is strong shadow where there is much light."
Goethe

Share a moving experience with your old phone, and save.

Moving to a new home can be expensive. So finding a way to save money is always important. And that’s why Mountain Bell wants you to know how you can save when you’re ready to make your move.

If you’re moving within the same telephone exchange or local area, you can save $5 on your next bill. Simply unplug those desk-type phones that have served you so well—or snip their cords if you don’t have modular jacks—and take them with you. If your wall phone has a modular jack, it can go too. (Non-modular wall phones should stay behind.) By bringing these phones along, you save us a trip to collect them, and save yourself money.

Or, if you’d like to exchange your old phones for new ones when you’re moving, bring them in to a PhoneCenter Store. The same $5 credit applies when you do.

Call us for more information on how to reduce installation charges. One of our Service Representatives will be happy to tell you how you can settle in and save money at the same time.

Any time you move, it’s a big change in your life. That’s why we want to help you make it a change for the better. By letting you save when you give your old phones a new home.

For the way you live.
Mountain Bell
Wilderness Institute...

Cont. from p. 1

while students are in Missoula. Campus conditions in the field will vary according to the area. Participants are free to select on which projects they will work, and some may work on more than one. Participation in the program will fulfill a summer job requirement for forestry majors if the work they do in the program is related to their specific area of study, according to James Low, associate dean in the School of Forestry.

Mercer said participation in the program counts as professional experience for Forest Service applications. He added that this year’s projects will be carried out in cooperation with the Bureau of Land Management.

LADIES NIGHT
25¢ Wine - 25¢ Beer
THIS WEEK
BORN READY
TUE.-SAT.
SUNDAY, NORTON BUFFALO

WESTERN STUDENT UNION
SALOON

LADIES NIGHT
(FLRST DRINK FREE)
1/2 PRICE PIZZA
$1.00 OFF ALL DINNERS
MEMBERSHIP $3.00
(Over 15,000 Members)

TEIN CLUB
NIGHT
FIRST BEER FREE

STJN CLUB
SALOON

T K O
TRADING POST
SALOON

NO COVER

PEACE CORPS
HELPS THE THIRD
WORLD MANAGE
ITS RESOURCES,
NATURALLY.

Farms, forests, sea coasts, inland waters—all are precious resources to developing nations. If you have skills or training in resource management, forestry, fisheries, or agriculture, you can help others make the most of these resources. As a Peace Corps volunteer, you can help make a difference.

Apply now for best assignments. See recruiters in the Student Union, 9-4.

news briefs—

By The Associated Press

Cost cutting causes tax check pileup

Many income tax payments checks sent to the state of Montana are not processed quickly and have started piling up. Ellen Feaver, director of the state Revenue Department, said the check processing is going slowly because the department cannot afford to hire extra help for the work. "Checks can be in the bank drawing interest," she said. Not hiring extra help is part of a series of cost-cutting steps Feaver has implemented so the agency can finish the fiscal year, June 30, without overspending its budget. When she took over as director in January, Feaver said the agency faced the fiscal year $750,000 in debt. Other cutbacks include reduced travel throughout the agency, cutbacks in contracted services and not filling numerous job vacancies.

High Court expands privacy ruling

The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday expanded the privacy Americans enjoy in their own homes by ruling that police cannot search a home when armed with a warrant for the arrest of someone other than the homeowner. By a 7-2 vote, the justices said police need a search warrant to enter a house—to conduct a search under such circumstances. The decision overturned the cocaine-possession conviction and five-year sentence of Gary Steagald, who was arrested in his Steagald's, a home on Jan. 19, 1978. Federal drug agents had entered Steagald's house looking for a fugitive named Ricky Lyons, for whom they had an arrest warrant. While in Steagald's house, the agents found 41 pounds of cocaine.

Allen...

Cont. from p. 1

Allen said he would have a remedy against illegal searches of his own home and would like to see a remedy against illegal searches of his own home and would like to see a remedy against illegal searches...

[Weather or Not]

Eddie wiped the tobacco ash off his lips and tossed his Lucky Strike butt on the bar floor. The smoke drifted around and could be seen hunched over the pool table. "Here, Eddie," McMillan said. Henry helped the man hunched over the pool table. "Hope it helped him," he said. Eddie said he was going down another round. "Hope it helped him," he said. Eddie said he was going down another round.

Eddie lit another cigarette, smoked it down, put it in his mouth and watched the red light of a wall payphone. "Yeah?"

"My victory speech," Eddie said. "I like to roll one down here, the smoke bag."

Eddie lit another cigarette, sniffed it, sucked it back to the top of his nose and watched the red light of a wall payphone. "Yeah?"

"Eddie, it's me. Things are starting to heat up."

"Cool it, baby. It's only a high school dance."

Further, the court ruled, "We will not have fun with the faculty today at noon in the UC student union.

A woman arrested for drunk driving in Arlington, Va., was taken to the county jail, strip searched and searched again. So was a woman arrested for playing her stereo too loudly. And a woman ate a turkey sandwich on a subway.

A woman arrested for playing her stereo too loudly. And a woman ate a turkey sandwich on a subway.

A woman arrested for playing her stereo too loudly. And a woman ate a turkey sandwich on a subway.

A woman arrested for playing her stereo too loudly. And a woman ate a turkey sandwich on a subway.