Course Description:
The second half of the twentieth century was marked by a proliferation of social movements in the United States. The goals of these movements varied. Some sought to extend civil rights to people of color, others protested U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War, and others strove to promote a more equitable distribution of wealth. One of these movements – the movement for women’s rights (women’s liberation, feminisms), continues to incite passionate responses from the public – both positive and negative – whether discussed as an historical entity or as an ongoing effort. This class is designed to explore the rhetoric surrounding the second wave of U.S. feminisms (1960s – 1982). Our goal will be to understand the changes feminists sought, the persuasive means they utilized, the opposition they engendered, and the implications of their efforts. Additionally, we will seek to understand why feminisms continue to elicit such passionate responses from both advocates and opponents. Undergraduate students will be required to participate actively in classroom discussions and to complete four writing assignments. Graduate students will be expected to meet the same requirements as undergraduates and to write one additional, independent paper. I will meet separately with graduate students a few times during the semester to discuss the paper assignment.

Required Readings:

Readings available via Moodle.

Suggested Reading:

Academic Misconduct:
Academic misconduct includes cheating, plagiarizing, and deliberately interfering with the work of others. Plagiarizing means representing the work of someone else (such as another student or an author of a book or an article) as your own. If you use the ideas or words of someone else, you must cite the source of the original information. Following university regulations, cheating and plagiarism will be penalized with a failing grade in this course.
Grades:
Grades will be based on evaluation of student performance on the following assignments:

Undergraduates:
Writing Assignment #1  100 points
Writing Assignment #2  100 points
Writing Assignment #3  100 points
Written Analysis of Artifact  100 points
Class participation   50 points
Total  450 points

Graduate students – All of the above plus:
Graduate Paper   100 points
Total   550 points

Grades will be assigned on the following scale: 92% and above A; 90-91% A-; 88-89% B+; 82-87% B; 80-81% B-; 78-79% C+; 72-77% C; 70-71% C-; 68-69% D+; 62-67% D; 60-61% D-; 59% and below, F.

Attendance:
There is no specific attendance policy. However, this class is largely discussion oriented and so regular attendance is expected. Also, please note that part of your grade is based on participation. If you foresee having difficulty attending class, come speak with me as soon as possible.

Writing Assignments:
I will provide you with two or three questions related to readings and class discussions. You will have one week to write an essay in response to one of those questions. The questions will guide you to formulate an argument about the texts under study. Your grade will be based on the quality of your argument and the quality of your writing.

Written Analysis of Artifact:
Each student will write a descriptive analysis of one of the major artifacts we discuss in class. Appropriate artifacts are marked with an asterisk (*) in the schedule. Students may choose to analyze any of the marked artifacts. The assignment is due the day the artifact is scheduled to be discussed. Written analysis of artifacts already discussed by the class will not be accepted.

Participation:
Your participation grade will be based partly on your willingness and ability to discuss assigned daily readings in a thoughtful manner. Please note – to participate in discussions you will need to study the primary artifacts carefully. To ensure that you keep up on your readings and to provide me with additional data upon which to assign your participation grade, most days will include a short assessment of some sort – perhaps a quiz; perhaps a thought question based on the day’s readings.

Graduate student Paper:
Graduate students will write a paper that explores an issue, rhetor, artifact, movement, or idea related to the class but not covered specifically through class discussions or materials. Your grade will be based on your critical insight as well as your writing skills.

Additional Notes:
The 45th instructional day is the last day to drop classes or change your grading option. After that date, you may drop this class only if you meet the criteria set out by The University – see your university catalog or come speak with me. Incompletes will be given only in emergencies and only with my prior consent. If you foresee having difficulty finishing the course, come speak with me immediately.

Students with disabilities may request reasonable modifications by contacting me. The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students (DSS). “Reasonable” means the University permits no fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive modifications. For more information, please consult http://www.umt.edu/disability <http://www.umt.edu/disability>.

This course is registered with the Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Program. Undergraduate students taking this course may count it toward a WGSS major or a WGSS minor in conjunction with any major. Graduate students may count it toward the WGSS graduate certificate. If you enjoy learning about women, gender, and/or sexuality and would like to know more about the Women’s Studies Program, please drop by our office (LA 138A), visit our website http://hs.umt.edu/wgss/ or give us a call (243-4100).
