UM SPONSORS LECTURES ON ADVANCES IN CLINICAL MEDICINE

Missoula physicians will talk about recent advances in clinical medicine in a series of weekly lectures sponsored by the University of Montana School of Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences. The lectures are scheduled on Thursdays at 11 a.m. in Room 109 of the Pharmacy-Chemistry Building on campus.

Persons who attend the one-hour lectures may earn academic credit by signing up through regular university-course registration. Information about this option is available from the Registrar's Office, 243-2995. Professional-continuing-education credit is also offered, and information about this option is available from Judy Jones, Center for Continuing Education, 243-6486.

There is no charge for auditors who do not take the course for academic or continuing professional-continuing-education credit.

Speakers and their topics include Dr. John J. Kupko II, "Advances in Ophthalmology, Jan. 12; Dr. Douglas L. Woolley, "Operative Orthopedics and Fracture Healing," Jan. 19; Dr. Eric Hughson, "Heart Burn and Ulcers," Jan. 26; Dr. Anne W. Murphy, "Screening for Cancer--New Thinking on Colon, Breast and Cervical Cancer, Feb. 2; Dr. Gary F. Walter, "Alzheimer's Disease," Feb. 9.

Dr. Lenny Spellman, "Reye's Syndrome and the Aspirin Controversy," Feb. 16; Dr. Dan W. Thompson, "Recent Advances in Diagnosis and Treatment of Genital Herpes," Feb. 23; Dr. Edward J. Trontel, "Dementing Illnesses," March 1; Dr. Ethan B. Russo, "Various Aspects of Anti-convulsant Treatment," March 8.

Dr. William C. Nichols opened the series Jan. 5 with a lecture on chemotherapy.
