COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course introduces students to the field of human resource management. It focuses on the substantive knowledge and work-related skills required by both personnel officers and those who manage personnel on a daily basis.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. To acquire substantive knowledge of each major area of human resource management.
2. To develop problem-solving skills relevant to situations faced by managers and personnel officers.
3. To develop technical skills relevant to the effective administration of personnel systems and the effective management of human resources.

REQUIRED TEXTS

Jonathan Tompkins, Human Resource Management in Government (HarperCollins, 1995).

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Students are required to read all assigned readings, be prepared to discuss them in class, take four exams, and submit four written assignments. Each exam is worth 100 points and the written assignments 25 points each.

A = 450 points
B = 400 points
C = 350 points
D = 300 points

Tues., Feb. 24 Read Chapter 5 and prepare answers to the following study questions:

1. What does job analysis entail?
2. What five kinds of information are typically sought?
3. How does the information derived from job analysis contribute to other personnel activities?
4. What are the problems or limitations associated with analyzing and describing positions?
5. What techniques are used to obtain job information?
6. What is the "inference problem"?
7. What are the three types of formal job analysis and what distinguishes each from the others?
8. When are formal methods of job analysis used, i.e., for what purposes?

Assignment #1 is due Tuesday Feb. 24 and Assignment #2 is due Thursday, Feb. 26

Thurs., Feb. 26 Job Evaluation and Pay Systems

Tues., March 3 Read Chapter 6, prepare answers to the following study questions, and be prepared to discuss Case 6.1 in class.:

1. What does job evaluation entail and what is its primary purpose?
2. What are the limitations of job evaluation?
3. How would you describe the position classification method of job evaluation?
4. How would you describe the point factor method of job evaluation?
5. What is external pay equity and how is it typically achieved?
6. Why is it difficult to maintain internal and external pay equity simultaneously?
7. What does the term "comparable worth" refer to?
8. What is a pay equity study and how is one conducted?
9. Why is comparable worth so controversial?

Thurs., March 5 Review for Exam #2

Tues., March 10 Exam #2

Thurs., March 12 Nondiscrimination Approach to Equal Employment Opportunity
Read Chapter 7 and prepare answers to the following study questions.

1. How would you define the concept of EEO?
2. What does the nondiscrimination approach to EEO involve?
3. Title VII of the Civil Rights Act protects individuals on the basis of what five categories?
4. How do job applicants and employees pursue Title VII complaints?
5. How would you define the disparate treatment theory of discrimination? What are some examples of disparate treatment?
6. What is the one legitimate defense for job qualifications that require the successful applicant to be of a particular gender, religion, or ethnic background?
7. How would you define the disparate (or adverse) impact theory of discrimination? What are some examples of disparate impact?
8. What are the facts of the Griggs case and what legal standard(s) did it produce?
9. What is the purpose of the Four-fifths Rule and how is it applied?
10. What should an employer do if analysis reveals that the Four-fifths Rule has been violated?
11. What distinguishes "quid pro quo" sexual harassment from "hostile work environment" sexual harassment?
12. Why is sexual harassment so pervasive, and why is it so important to address it in the workplace?

Human Resource Training and Development

Read Chapter 10, prepare answers to the following study questions, and be prepared to discuss Case 10.1 in class (Who Failed Whom?).

1. If there is a useful distinction between training activities and development activities, what is it?
2. What individual and organizational goals does training and development serve?
3. Why is more time and money now being allocated to training and development?
4. What kinds of information do workers need during the orientation phase?
5. What is the goal of job and person analysis in the context of training?
6. Why are training programs so seldom evaluated systematically to determine their return on investment?
7. What do career development programs entail, and what are the arguments for/against them?

Thurs., April 16

Performance Appraisal and Counseling

Tues., April 21

Read Chapter 11, prepare answers to the following study questions, and be prepared to discuss Case 11.1 (Managing from Afar) in class.

1. What are the four purposes that performance appraisal systems may be designed to serve?
2. Is it possible, or desirable, to design an appraisal system to achieve all four purposes?
3. What factors tend to undermine the effectiveness of performance appraisal systems?
4. What are the pros and cons of using trait-based, behavior-based, and results-based performance criteria?
5. What are the two primary approaches to developing performance criteria?
6. Which performance appraisal method would you use for white collar professionals, and why?
7. What takes place at the appraisal interview?
8. How is the Problem-solving approach different from the Tell and Sell and Tell and Listen approaches, and what are its advantages?

Assignment #4 is due Thursday, April 22

Thurs., April 23

Personnel Policies and Employee Relations

Read Chapter 13, prepare answers to the following study questions, and be prepared to discuss Case 13.2 (Troubled Employee) in class.

1. What does it mean to take a "strategic approach to policy development"?
2. What roles do policy manuals and employee handbooks perform?
3. What is the advantage and disadvantage of Employee Conduct policies of the kind shown in Exhibit 13.2?
4. What is the philosophy behind progressive discipline, and what steps are typically involved?
5. Disciplinary action is taken in what two kinds of situations, and how are these situations handled differently?
6. Generally speaking, what are an employee's due process rights in a disciplinary situation?
7. What does "just cause" mean?
8. Why is it important to document all rule violations and performance problems?
9. What is an employee assistance program and what is its primary purpose?
10. What policies and programs may be adopted to help today's workers balance their personal and work responsibilities?

Tues., April 28

Collective Bargaining and Labor Relations

Thurs., April 30

Read Chapter 14, prepare answers to the following study questions, and be prepared to discuss Case 14.1 and Exercise 14.1 in class.

1. What is the basic model of labor relations established by the NLRA of 1935?
2. What arguments were made against applying the NLRA model to the public sector?
3. How was the NLRA model later modified for use in the public sector?
4. Who typically sits around the bargaining table?

5. What is involved at each of the five stages of collective bargaining?
6. What do grievance procedures typically entail?
7. How would you assess the appropriateness of collective bargaining for public agencies?

Tues., May 5 Review for Exam #4

Thurs., May 7 Exam #4

WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS

Assignment #1, An ADA Job Analysis, Due Tuesday, Feb. 24

Complete Exercise 5.1 (two or three pages, double-spaced).

Assignment #2, Position Description, Due Thursday, Feb 26

Complete Exercise 5.2. Note that the last sentence in Exhibit 5.8 should read as follows: "IV. Job Requirements and Qualifications (list all minimum KSAOs and the means by which they are typically acquired." Note also the advice provided on p. 95.

Assignment #3, Supplemental Application Form and T&E Scoring Form, Due Tuesday, April 7

You are a department personnel officer. Using the interview technique for conducting job analysis, you recently wrote a position description. You also evaluated the job's worth and assigned it to an appropriate pay grade. You have now received authorization to fill the vacant position. The line manager has asked you to recruit applicants and design a system for evaluating their training and experience. Your assignment is to write a Supplemental Application Form and a T&E Scoring Form similar to those shown in Exhibits 9.4 and 9.5. Keep in mind that years of experience is not always the best indicator that KSAOs are possessed; education and specialized training may be pertinent as well. (To facilitate grading, please attach a copy of the relevant PD).

Suggestion: Proceed sequentially 1) required KSAOs, 2) supplemental questions, 3) Evaluative criteria.

Assignment #4, Performance Appraisal Form, Due Thursday, April 22

You are a department personnel officer. You recently helped recruit and select a new employee. The line manager has now asked you to develop a performance appraisal form that will help her assess the performance of the new employee (no applicable appraisal method is currently in place). You decide to use the critical incident technique of job analysis and to construct appropriate BOS's. Working as a group, and using the critical incident technique (pp. 89-90), identify six behaviors that "define a superior employee" in this position. Next, construct and submit an appraisal form comprised of at least six behavioral observation scales.

This is much harder than it first seems. Avoid listing traits, KSAOs, or tasks. The idea is to identify discrete behaviors, behaviors that managers associate with superior employees. Take a look at Exhibit 11.7, p. 258, but don't use it as a model. Identify behaviors relevant to your job.

EXAM QUESTIONS

Exam #1 -- Tuesday, Feb. 17 (You will write on all three of the following)

1. Demonstrate your understanding of HRM by defining it as a) a field of study and b) as a theoretical perspective. In doing the former, be sure to distinguish HRM from traditional personnel administration.
2. Write an essay explaining what a merit system is, identifying four traditional merit principles, and explaining from an HRM perspective the deficiencies of traditional merit systems (i.e., commission-based systems with centralized testing, rule of three, etc.)
3. Civil service reforms do not happen by accident; they are products of shifting societal values. Write an essay identifying the key reforms contained in the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978, explaining the values each was intended to achieve, and assessing whether a proper balance of values has been achieved.

Exam #2 -- Tuesday, March 10 (You will write on all three of the following)

1. Define job analysis, explain how a job description is developed, and identify some of the purposes of more formal methods of job analysis.
2. The logic of scientific management states that jobs should be defined scientifically through careful job analysis, that their worth should be determined scientifically by evaluating job content, and that the job incumbent should be paid according to the demands the job places on him or her. Discuss some of the problems with each of the three legs of this job-centered logic.
3. Define internal pay equity and external pay equity, identify the tools by which governments try to maintain each type of equity, and explain why it is next to impossible for compensation managers to maintain both at once. Provide examples as appropriate.

Exam #3 -- Thursday, April 9 (Three of these will be randomly selected on test day)

1. Define equal employment opportunity and draw out the conceptual and practical distinctions between the nondiscrimination approach and the affirmative action approach to EEO. Finally, offer an assessment of both approaches as public policy.
2. Define the disparate treatment theory of discrimination as articulated by the courts and explain what things a manager should do or not do to reduce the risk of a disparate treatment law suit.
3. Define the adverse impact theory of discrimination as articulated in the Griggs decision and explain how to conduct adverse impact analysis, including use of the 80% rule. Also explain your responsibilities as a manager if the 80% rule is violated.

4. Explain the purpose of utilization analysis and how it is conducted in the context of a voluntary affirmative action program.
5. Selection is essentially a matter of predicting from limited information who will prove to be a highly successful job incumbent. Assuming you are not subject to a centralized merit system, what selection strategies would you adopt and why?

Exam #4 -- Thursday, May 7 (Three of these will be randomly selected)

1. You have just been hired as the training director for a major state agency. Explain your task, assuming that you wish to take "a systematic approach to training." Also explain the task of the line supervisor under this approach.
2. Although everyone seems to think that appraising work performance is necessary, rarely do workers or managers feel it is done well. Describe the "perfect" appraisal system for your social services agency. Discuss a) which purposes you will emphasize, b) what types of criteria you will use; c) how the appraising will be done; and d) how you will handle the feedback/counseling stage. (Be sure to explain why in each instance).
3. An employee has reportedly taken a punch at his boss. Define due process and just cause and explain how you, as office manager, will guarantee them in considering disciplinary action against this employee.
4. Define the NLRA model of collective bargaining and explain how it has been modified for use in the public sector. Also, discuss some of the challenges that labor relations pose for managers.
