POLITICAL THEORY POLSC 150E-2

150

Fall 1998

Rankin 202 10:10-11 Mon Wed Fri

Instructor: Bill Chaloupka (office Rankin Hall 101A) 243-6111. I check my voice-mail regularly. Also, I welcome E-mail: billc@selway.umn.edu

Office Hours: 10-11 am Tues., 9-10 am Weds and Thurs., or by appointment. If these office hours are not convenient, please call for an appointment, or just stop by. I am usually in my office, especially during morning hours.

Teaching Assistant: (to be announced)

Catalog description: 3 credits. Analysis of the various attempts (from Plato to Marx) to explain, instruct, and justify the distribution of political power in society. Emphasis is placed upon those theories whose primary concern is to define the nature of the "good" society.

Additional description: Politics differs from other fields of human knowledge and action. As opposed to many other human realms, many of the most important political questions remain essentially contested, even after 2500 years of posing those questions in surprisingly consistent ways. This course is an introduction to the outlines of that long discussion. In addition to the "good society" emphasis mentioned above, we will also emphasize ethical questions: that is, how people think about their decisions to act ethically, in view of their values and aspirations.

Texts:

Portis, Reconstructing the Classics: Political Theory from Plato to Marx (Chatham House)

Machiavelli, The Prince (Penguin)

Locke, Second Treatise on Government (Hackett)

Marx, The Communist Manifesto, introduced by Vladimir Posner (Bantam)

Williams, Patricia, The Alchemy of Race and Rights (Harvard)

photocopy packet at UC Bookstore, as explained in class; includes Plato's "Crito," an excerpt from Plato's The Republic, a selection from Hobbes's "Leviathan," the Declaration of the Rights of Man, and a Burke excerpt.

Requirements: Students are expected to attend all classes, and to take three exams. The first exam counts 20%, the second exam counts 30%, and the final (a comprehensive exam) counts 50%. No "extra credit" is available, but consideration will be given to those who improve their exam scores during the semester, and who actively contribute questions and discussion.

Like other ways of understanding politics, political theory is constantly concerned with contemporary political questions. Therefore, as in all Political Science classes, students are expected to read a daily newspaper, or an equivalent. (Suggestions: the Missoulian, Spokesman Review, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, or Washington Post National Weekly Edition.

Newspapers are available to read without charge in the library and in several other locations around campus.)

FINAL
EXAM*No blue books needed. If you know you are going to miss the exam, you must notify the instructor or TA before the exam.

This is the official time for the PSc 150 final. If you have a conflicting final, consult the teacher of that class—they are in violation of the schedule. University rules permit finals make-ups only if you have three finals on one day. Please plan your travel accordingly.

By University policy, grades can no longer be posted. We will gladly notify you of your grade by mail or e-mail. Bring a self-addressed envelope (to class, or to the instructor's mailbox in EVST) to receive your test and grade by mail. Grades and exam scores can also be sent by e-mail (send your address to billc@selway.umt.edu). Grades will be ready at noon, Monday Dec. 21. Please don't try to inquire before then. Exams will be available at the beginning of spring term in the instructor's office.
