UM ELDERHOSTEL OFFERS CLASSES IN ART, HISTORY, FORESTRY

MISSOULA--

An Elderhostel program at the University of Montana Aug. 5-11 will include classes in forest sciences, art and history.

The international program offers study and recreation on college campuses to people at least 60 years old and their spouses or companions. Hostellers do not receive academic credit or grades and do not take tests. They are expected to attend at least one course, but schedules are arranged so they can take all the offerings.

The UM Elderhostel classes are "What's New in Forest Science," led by Benjamin Stout, dean of the UM School of Forestry; "Fantasy in Watercolor," taught by Missoula artist Rene Newman; and "Abraham Lincoln: One Man's Mark," taught by David Emmons, UM history professor.

The forestry class will explore the history of the forest industry in the northern Montana Rockies and will include a field trip to UM's Lubrecht Experimental Forest near Greenough.

The cost of the Elderhostel week is $35 for participants who live in the area and commute to campus. The cost for hostellers who live on campus is $190, which includes board and room.

Information about the Elderhostel program is available from the Center for Continuing Education, 125 Main Hall, University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812; 243-4623.
