The Social Science Club came into existence in response to a demand for group thinking and discussion on economic and social problems. The club was organized in November, 1920, with twelve charter members, and thereafter progressed rapidly. The program this year embraced addresses upon such subjects as the Non-partisan league, taxation, radicalism, banking and finance. The meetings were conducted bi-weekly and were open to the public.

The Student Council, made up of nine students, the president of the University and one other faculty member, and one alumni member, was organized in 1918 for the purpose of bringing about a better co-operation and understanding between faculty and students. A committee system takes care of every phase of student life which the Student Council handles.

The following student officers are members of the Student Council: President and vice-president of the A. S. U. M., yell king, Kaimin editor, the four class presidents, and the president of the Women's league.

The corporation known by the name "Associated Students of the University of Montana" is made up of the entire student body. This body has charge, through the manager, of all student funds and activities. All athletic schedules are passed on by the executive board, through which the business of the body is transacted.

The executive board is composed of six students elected annually, a president, vice-president, manager, secretary and two delegates-at-large. A faculty adviser, appointed by the president of the University, also serves on the board.

Pan-Hellenic Council is made up of two members from each of the five women's fraternities on the campus. The council draws up all rushing rules, sets the date for pledge day and attends to all matters pertaining to fraternity life among the women of the University.

Each year a banquet or some such social affair is given to give the girls from different groups a chance to become acquainted.

The Inter-fraternity council, composed of two representatives from each of the six social fraternities on the campus, has as its function, the supervision of the relationships between the various men's social organizations, and between the faculty and the fraternities on the campus. It has charge also of the annual inter-fraternity basketball, baseball and tennis tournaments, the relay race, and the interfraternity ball which is one of the main social functions of the year.

The council meets regularly every two weeks at the respective fraternity houses. Their deliberations and actions are governed by a carefully drawn up constitution.

The Woman's Self Government Association with a membership comprising every woman enrolled in the University, was organized in 1914. Since then the women of the University have been self governing. The executive board, which is elected annually in mass meeting, makes the rules with the approval of the entire body. It is composed of: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, athletic chairman and representatives from Craig hall, Town Girls' league, women's fraternity houses and other houses where girls reside.

The Co-ed Prom, Co-ed Formal and the May Fete are given under the auspices of this organization each year.

All American Club

The All American club with a membership of over one hundred men is one of the largest organizations on the campus. It is made up of all the men who are receiving vocational training at the State University. Because the Silver Star, which was formed of wounded veterans of the World War, was open only to men wounded in France, a need was felt among the ex-service men on the campus for an organization which would include men disabled in any way or at any place while in the service. So in view of this need the All American club was formed.

American Legion Club

The American Legion club at the University is composed of all ex-service men who are in attendance. The club co-operates with the Missoula American Legion Post at all times and is organized for the purpose of closer relations between men who served during the World War. The University American Legion club took an active part in the Armistice day service and parade. A dance was given by the club during the fall quarter and an effort is made to make the University men feel an active interest in the national organization.

The University Young Women's Christian association aims to institute higher Christian ideals and to exert truly Christian influence on the campus. Any woman in the University is eligible for membership when she signs the association pledge.

The association holds a general meeting and a cabinet meeting each week in the women's rest room. Programs of general meetings during the past year have included musical numbers, reports by standing committees and by delegates to the summer conference of students of the northwest field, talks by secretaries from field and national association headquarters and by other out-of-town and local people and the national student association membership recognition service. Religious, industrial and educational topics have furnished material for the talks and general discussions.

To raise money for Y. W. C. A. work in Kioto, Japan, and in the northwest field, and for social service, the salary of a trained general secretary for half of next year and other expenses of the University association, the members held candy sales and sold tickets to six moving picture performances and the advisory board gave a silver tea.

The membership of the association during the past year has been one hundred and ten, including ten denominations, both Protestant and Catholic.
