Know Montana . . .

Origin of Some Montana Names

Helena—According to the Helena Historical directory of 1879 the city of Helena was named by John Somerville for his former home of St. Helena, Minn. It was voted by the early citizens to drop the prefix, Saint.

Wibaux—The town was named for Pierre Wibaux, son of a wealthy Parisian silk manufacturer who settled in this area in the 80's. In his heyday Pierre was the largest cattle operator in the world, owning as many as 65,000 head.

Bannack—This pioneer community was named after the Bannock Indian tribe and became Montana's first city, a boom camp roaring with a population of thousands.

Missoula—The Garden City was named for the broad river that flows through the center of town. The river was named by the Indians, "Missoula" meaning sparkling water.

Three Forks—This town, steeped in historic lore and legend, gets its name from the convergence of the "three forks," the Gallatin, Madison and Jefferson rivers.

Wolf Point—How it was named—great numbers of wolf pelts were stacked along the Missouri banks awaiting shipment on early-day steamboats to the St. Louis market.

Fort Benton—The name honors an early-day champion of fur interests, Sen. Thomas Benton of Missouri, and was so named in 1846 by the American Fur Company.

When the Pacific Northwest Indian chief wished to preserve a record, family or tribal, he went to a skilled craftsman and had him build a totem pole. This magnificently engraved pole symbolically told the history, folk lore, or literature of the tribe. The chief was justly proud to have it stand in front of his lodge. Today, yearbook editors choose quality photo-engravings to record the events of the school year. To get the best possible results, they likewise turn to skilled craftsmen to help them build the yearbook. ARTCRAFT, with its "know-how," has been helping editors build better yearbooks for nearly half a century.

I wish to thank the following persons, groups and firms for their assistance in helping produce the 1954 Sentinel:

The members of my family for their interest, help and encouragement.

Pat Koob for all the Haffinch drawings and poetry appearing in the book, for the cover drawing, end sheet, color drawings and poetry in the opening section, opening section design, and the color scheme and blocks for the body of the book.

The copy for the whole book was written by Pat Koob in poetry form in trochaic verse as is found in Longfellow's "Song of Hiawatha."

All Haffinch drawings and verses are original with Pat Koob who developed his likeness and personality in art and verse form as it appears in this book. The preliminary pen and ink portrayal of Haffinch was developed by Pat Koob and Wallace Norley.

Prose stories of Haffinch, recently reprinted in the Montana Kaimin from issues dating from the 1930's, are attributed to the late G. M. Crutchfield of Missoula, Harold Stearns of Harlowton, and other university students.

Wallace Norley for the preliminary cover design and opening section planning.

Dick Hosking and Chuck Bloom for their great effort and time spent on photography and darkroom work.

*p*at and Deacon thank Wise Haffinch
For his vision and wise teachings.
Now he journeys up the mountain
To await a future calling.
