A visitor to a university asked: "... where is the University? I have seen where the members of the Colleges live, where the Registrar works, where the scientists experiment and the rest. But I have not yet seen the University in which reside and work the members of your University." It has then to be explained to him that the University is not another collateral institution, some ulterior counterpart to the colleges, laboratories and offices which he has seen. The University is just the way in which all that he has already seen is organized."

A university is not just buildings, for these would be purposeless without the students. The students, in fact, give the University, the outer shell, its life. In pursuit of the University, we follow the students, remembering that without the outer structure—buildings, faculty, administration—there would be no students as they now exist. The combination, working in harmony, complements each part and makes for "the University" as we know it.

"Gilbert Ryle, The Concept of Mind"
Group leaders, Kathy Cougill and Bruce Tate, introduced new students to the campus and its traditions.
Even with expanded facilities, the Food Service found it impossible to eliminate long dinner lines.

So here
is the University
It's people, purpose, pleasures

Mass placement tests were previews of things to come.

The pains of registration were forgotten in the Lodge Grill.
As fall quarter began, former students, like Mike Emerson and Neal Wedum got reacquainted.

Mike Naegele takes advantage of the recreation facilities in the Women's Center.
Suddenly the Field House became Hell's Half Acre.

It's frustrations

Registration resulted in tired feet but steadfast determination.

The long lines at the check-out tables were thinned this year by the new pre-registration system.
If you want to dance, the piper must be paid.

Registration week saves the worst till last — buying books.
Working together creates spirit

Even though the M looked good after being renovated by the freshmen, most of the whitewash came back down the mountain.
Some enthusiastic painters threw themselves into their work.

Most of the work was done by girls; most of the whitewashing was done by boys, as Nicki Nichol's clothes prove.
A rush of handshakes

The long hours spent memorizing long lists of names paid off as rush began and the names became attached to faces. After a week of costume and preference parties, 153 women pledged seven sororities.
Meeting, remembering, evaluating, eliminating were all parts of that long week known as Rush.

The Greek system, as well as the enrollment, increased fall quarter with the colonization of a new fraternity, Alpha Kappa Lambda. AKL representatives are, from left: Howard McCracken, Lowell Culley, and Richard Lindburg.
An increased enrollment brought about many large lecture sections.

Return to normalcy
As fall quarter began, even the availability of additional parking lots did not eliminate the large number of tickets for illegal parking.

Libby Saxe and Jerry McGahan give in to the temptation not to study on a sunny fall afternoon.
A Sigma Chi derby doesn't stand a chance against a gang of sorority pledges.

A-Phi crowned Derby Queen

In order to retain his derby, a Sigma Chi perches it in a tree.

Kappas capture Derby Days

A pledge goes out on a limb for a Sigma Chi derby.

Cigars were smoked, greased pigs were chased, and raw eggs were thrown during the annual Derby Day contests.
Cleanliness is not a virtue required by Sigma Chi men.

One of the favorite contests among the spectators was the limbo event.

For every derby captured, the victorious pledge wins a point for her sorority.
Even aided by good weather, construction on the new high rise dormitory could not keep pace with the demand for additional University housing.

Construction can’t keep up

During fall quarter, historic lampposts were removed to make way for newer, brighter mercury vapor lights.
Students fill out detailed information forms before giving blood in the Treasure State rooms.

Blood Drive falls short of quota
A large corp of registered nurses volunteered their services for the two-day drive.

John Alexander waits as his blood pressure is taken in preparation for his donating blood.
A large number of willing workers, a flatbed truck, chickenwire and plenty of paper napkins are the beginning of a homecoming float.

Week-end in Las Vegas

Queen Patty O'Loughlin smiles at her subjects.
Among the nearly 60 entries in the homecoming parade was a "Silvertip Casino" built by members of Army ROTC.

After the crowning of the homecoming queen, The Wailers provided music for a dance in the Lodge.

Independents take advantage of the warm weather and the volleyball court behind Turner Hall.
Informal moments

Blazing torches and a glowing candle illuminate the face of Linda Landers during her pinning serenade.
Mayo Loiseau and Richard Gray paid tribute to George Bernard Shaw and Oscar Wilde in "A Wilde Evening With Shaw," a production which included selections from the best known works of the two authors mixed with lesser known aspects of their lives. The actors were brought to UM by the Department of Drama, School of Fine Arts and Montana Masquers.
Curtain rises on “Mary Sunshine”

Barbara Trott portrayed the title role of the proprietress of a Colorado inn.

Firman Brown and Glenn Gower portrayed Indians in the Colorado territory in the musical, “Little Mary Sunshine.”

Physical plant crews pile rubble on a blaze after the ROTC Building, one of the last wooden structures on campus, was destroyed.

Long range development: Part I
While football was still being played, crews began to demolish Dombler Field's east bleachers. After the 1966 gridiron season, the field will be torn up to make way for a new library.

The roar of heavy machinery became a common sound as the stepped-up long range development plan entered its second year.
A helicopter landing on the Oval was just one of the many events planned to draw attention to the Foresters' Ball.

Foresters take over campus
The Knowles Hall Can-Can Girls, (from left) Vicki Felden, Marlen Jacobs, Lynn Hogue, Sarah Vhay, entertained crowds on Boondockers’ Day.

Foresters matched woodsman skills with members of living groups and fraternities on the Baby Oval.
The Field House was converted into a lumber town, complete with its own saloon. From the left; Nancy Williams, Jim Little, Ed Wettach and his date, Gus Dusak and his date.

A colorful group, Ray Thraikill's Orchestra, added lively music to the gaiety.

49th Ball was a ball to end all balls
Addressing a capacity University Theater audience, Secretary of the Interior, Stewart Udall, discussed the policies of the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. Seated behind Udall are Dean Arnold Bolle and Dr. Earl Lory.

Udall, Newsom, Gilbert top list of speakers

Phil Newsom, foreign news analyst for United Press International, who recently returned from Viet Nam spoke at a University convocation of “Viet Nam — A Bigger War.” Dean Rea presided.
Later, at an informal press conference, Udall discussed Forest Service programs, western water rights, development of resources and education of the Indian people.

Sister Mary Gilbert, Seattle University, read selections from her poetry in an appearance sponsored by the English Department.

New dance crazes reach UM

The pace was slower at the formal Peppermint Prince dance.

Carlene Hill dances to the music of the Ray Thraikill at the Fintel-Turner Ski Party.

Roger Boggio and Raenelle Maxwell wore matching costumes to the Knowles Hall Pajama Party.
Students took a break and enjoyed the Christmas Friday at Four before boning up for finals.

Studies never entered these minds as they watched student performers.

The quiet crisis

The silence of the Lodge is conducive to sleep as well as study.
The stress of finals brings campus activities to a halt.

Nearly every library seat is occupied during Dead Week.
Contestant Gray Mannakee applies a last minute touch of eye makeup. Backstage, Edd Blackler helped keep the show going.

Paulette Forsyth’s fire baton act captured the attention of a near capacity crowd.

15 coeds vie for Miss UM

Nancy Senechal helps a fellow contestant in the tense moments backstage.
The coeds let their hair down (or put it up) as is the case with Paulette Forsyth.

Dean Clow received recognition and roses for her many years of service to the Miss UM Pageant. From left: Polly Everett, past UM pageant director; Miss Clow; Les Hankinson, former pageant director.

Dana Smith was among the eight finalists to exhibit their talents during the pageant.

Frank White waits nervously backstage before singing at the Miss UM Pageant.
Miss Stowe (below), a tall, hazel-eyed blonde sophomore from Great Falls, sang "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy," from the musical South Pacific in the talent competition.

Joe Kerkvliet led the student march on Main Hall which brought state-wide attention.

"A comedy of errors"

On the steps of Main Hall, Dean of Students Andrew Cogswell discussed his disciplinary actions which resulted from the two-night disturbance.
Marchers wound their way around the Oval toward Main Hall to protest the expulsion of six students who took part in snowball fights and disturbances which were finally quelled by Missoula police. A student-faculty committee later brought about the reinstatement of the expelled men.
Georgia Tree was the perfect hard-boiled wife while S. Joseph Nassif portrayed a young biology professor. Nassif also directed the production.

“Woolf” combines top-notch cast

A stagehand is shown working on the set of the three-and-a-half hour play.

Mrs. Tree was magnificent in her merciless, obnoxious attacks.
Besides Mrs. Tree and Nassif, Kathleen Cody and Firman Brown completed the outstanding cast of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"
Barbara Trott played the witch with Linus Carleton portraying Rapunzel's father in the Children's Theater production, "Rapunzel and the Witch."

Kathy Rechard portrayed Rapunzel in the production which toured Montana.

Having cast a spell which glued Rapunzel's father to the ground, the witch demanded his first-born for his freedom.
Plays attract all ages

Ester England portrays Cybel and Joe Ferrell is the insensitive businessman, the Great God Brown.

After the death of Dion (Austin Gray) Brown takes on his identity in "Great God Brown," directed by Firman Brown.
NMC wins rodeo

The eighth annual UM Intercollegiate Rodeo drew entrants from 19 colleges and universities.

The action in the Field House was plagued by injuries, although none were serious.

MSU women took top honors for the fourth straight year.

Big Bend Rodeo Company provided tough stock, including Trail’s End, the 1959 world champion saddle bronc.
George Siem and Rex Huntsman get a charge out of the rodeo competition.

Three nights of action pack Field House

Gary Smith, one of the rodeo amateurs, competed in the Living Group Cow Riding Race.
Helen Zimmerman -- Rodeo Queen
Glenn Yarbrough, popular ballad singer, visited UN along with the Stanyan Street Quartet and comedian Murray Roman for a two-night performance.

Popular musicians perform

Giovanni Costigan, a professor of history at the University of Washington, spoke on the importance of Freud upon history.

Freud, the Technical Age,
Viet Nam Discussed

Gabriel Marcel, French philosopher, drama critic and man of letters, addressed an audience on "Wisdom in the Technical Age." Speaking with a heavy French accent, he said man must adjust himself to living in a technological world and still retain his human qualities.
Dr. L. Rowman introduces Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. Salinger discussed the Vietnam war, the possibility of a Thailand crisis, and his political future during his address in the University Theater.
Bill Dobson (left), Jim Baker and Georgia Tree appeared in Ruth Ford's "Requiem for a Nun," which is based on a novel of the same name by William Faulkner.

Mrs. Tree and Barbara Trott played key roles in the Masquer production.
Doug James did an outstanding job in his performance as Pagegano in "The Magic Flute." The stage set and the costumes for the musical were attractive and imaginative.

UM hosts Fine Arts Festival

Nicola Moscona, a leading basso with the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang the lead role in "The Magic Flute." It was the first time in recent years that a professional opera singer took part in a UM production.
Spring arrives
with speakers, banquets, and baseball

Shana Alexander, columnist for Life magazine and 10th annual Dean Stone Night speaker, was one of the numerous speakers to address senior awards banquets.

UM students gave a record 903 pints of blood in the Phi Delta Theta-Army ROTC blood-for-Viet Nam campaign; some students waited in line as long as five hours to donate blood.

John Edwards, Andy Grauman and Sally Smith tabulate the results of ASUM election. In an election in which only 19 percent of the students voted, Tom Behan was elected president.
Emmanuel Ogbje joined in the action of a soccer game during warm weather when few students could resist the temptation to relax.
Intramural action was lively on the Cloverbowl.

One of the many awards of recognition for achievement which was given during spring quarter was the Dean Stone Award being presented to Kenneth Conrad by Dean Rea of the Journalism School.

Springtime, wintertime, anytime, campus policeman Wallace French always can find a car where it shouldn't be.
What these girls lack in proficiency, they make up for in spirit.

While the minds of everyone else were on baseball, these boys were already hard at work getting ready for next fall's gridiron competition.

Warm weather encourages outdoor activity

Summer weather came early to UM, much to the delight of sun-worshipping coeds.
"Rights, Riots or Oblivion" discussed

Dr. Darrell Institut, UM Executive Dean, told students that they are apprentices in the academic community and are not on an equal status with faculty and administration.

Tom Behan, new AMUM president, made a big splash at Leadership Camp.
Basil Brown, Visiting Lecturer in Economics, drove his remarks home with a soft humor and quiet manner.

Linda Hannah, Lynn Morrow and Janet Evans sing to the guitar of Les Griffin during a lull at Leadership Camp.
The food at Flathead Lake was excellent as usual.

Robert Scalapino, political science professor at the University of California at Berkeley, discussed "Academic Freedom and Responsibility."

"Was this really a Leadership Camp?"
The warm spring nights encouraged living groups to move their dances outside.

Dr. Walter King, UM English professor, accepts a plaque and a check for $500 from Col. Tom Davis on behalf of the Alumni Association during the Awards Convocation.

Following his selection, Dr. King assisted in the presentation of the 106 awards given at the convocation. Here, Sally Jo Stephenson of Synadelphic House accepts the Faculty Women's scholastic achievement award for the University living group having the highest scholastic average.

Teacher of the Year chosen

King's "overwhelming choice" followed preliminary balloting by upperclass students and final selection by Phi Kappa Phi scholastic honorary. Sue Marquart, student vice president of the honorary, said professors whose names were considered were judged on several points: "How clearly and effectively material was presented, ability to arouse student interest, willingness to teach in diverse areas, intellectual honesty, adequacy of testing and the general contribution to the students."
Dr. King received his B.A. and M.A. degrees at the University of Montana. He taught at Yale where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1952. He returned to UM in 1955 and has been teaching literature in the English department since that time.
Dr. Robert Jones congratulates Bob Liffring after he receives his commission.

Students lined up on the Oval for final instructions and the march to the Field House where nearly 1,100 students were granted degrees.

Largest class in history graduates

“What do you mean, I'm a row leader?”
Friends and families filled the Field House to witness the conferring of degrees on June 5th.

Marshal Dr. Laurence E. Gale, academic vice president, led the processional for the 69th Annual Commencement.
"But where is the University?"

Four years ago, they entered the Field House for the first time as bewildered freshmen. Now, they enter it for the last time as bewildered seniors.
"The grizzly bear has long been identified with the University of Montana as a traditional mascot and emblem of strength and courage.

It is therefore fitting that when President Robert Johns sought a means of bringing special honor to those who had been of signal service to the University or the State of Montana, the grizzly should be the token of that honor. Hence the Order of the Grizzly, whose members will include an honored few, and whose badge of membership will be a bronze replica of the University's mascot.

This bronze sculpture is symbolic of Montana in its own way. Created by Rudy Autio of the University staff, it was molded and cast on the University campus. Each one of these symbolic bears is an individual work, presented to a worthy individual."

Interfraternity Council

Interfraternity Council is the unifying force behind collective fraternity activities. Composed of two representatives from each fraternity, the Council makes and enforces the rules under which the fraternities operate, organizes Greek Week and sponsors the annual Red Cross blood drive.

Dan Meehan, past IFC president, presents an Aden Arnold printing to UM. Accepting the gift from IFC is Dr. D. Inabinet.
Under the guidance of Miss Maurine Clow, Dean of women, Panhellenic Council provides the sororities' counter-part for Interfraternity Council. The Council promotes the Greek system among incoming freshmen women and aids in formulating living rules for the sororities.

Panhellenic Council

Theta Sigma Phi

Working for a free and responsible press, Theta Sigma Phi helps to unite women in the field of communications. The organization of Matrix Table, honoring an outstanding woman from each class, is one of the sorority's major projects each year.
APhA

The American Pharmaceutical Association provides a broader field of education for its members through exchange of ideas and introduction to new concepts in the field of pharmacy.

Kappa Epsilon

Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Psi provide recognition for outstanding men and women scholars in the field of pharmacy. Through their efforts the pharmaceutical profession is promoted in high schools and on campus.

Kappa Psi
The women's business honorary, Phi Chi Theta, promotes high scholastic achievement and the maintenance of business integrity among its members. Each year Phi Chi Theta awards a $25 scholarship to an outstanding junior woman. This year the recipient was Lynn Morrow.

Bearpaws

Bearpaws, a sophomore men's service honorary, provides recognition for leadership and scholastic achievement. As an organization Bearpaws serve as aides during orientation week, organize the painting of Hello Walk, and sponsor SOS in cooperation with the Spurs.

Spurs Jane Little, Sharon Browning and Nan Comeaux ponder the problems of decorating for the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Tanan of Spur

Tanan of Spur selects its members from the scholastic leaders and active workers at the end of their freshman year. The Spurs help usher at school functions, work at Interscholastic and co-sponsor the Sadie Hawkins Dance with the Bearpaws.

Mortar Board

Membership in Mortar Board, the senior women’s honorary, is the reward given for four years of outstanding leadership, scholarship and service.

Silent Sentinel

Originally organized as a secret society, Silent Sentinel has maintained its policy of secrecy throughout years of service to the University. Membership in Silent Sentinel is the highest honor awarded to senior men by the University for outstanding leadership, scholarship, and service.

Soccer Club

Organized to promote the international game of soccer, Soccer Club draws a large percentage of its membership from the ranks of the foreign students.
Luge Club

The newest winter sport in Missoula, luge sledding has quickly gained a following on campus. Traveling at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, the club members compete in national races held at the Lolo Luge Run.
Recognition for above average scholastic achievement by the forestry student is given by Xi Sigma Phi, the national forestry honorary.

Promotion of professional standards through the recognition of those outstanding in leadership, scholarship and integrity is the role the Druids play in the School of Forestry.
Started three years ago, the Pistol Club has grown till it now competes with school teams throughout the northwest. It is open to both men and women interested in rapid fire competition.

The first year of voluntary ROTC has been a successful one for the Army. With troops somewhat smaller, the corps is more interested in their subject matter. The Army Department has diversified its program and lent more support behind student activities throughout the year.
Many awards were received by representatives of this year's Army Department.

The ROTC color guard was a frequent performer throughout the school year.

Spring break saw some of the advanced cadets travel to Fort Lewis, where they had the chance to tour the base, run some of the field courses and operate some of the Army vehicles, such as the 90mm combat tank M48A3, seen below.
Counter Guerrillas

Counter Guerrillas, open to all men with two or more quarters of Army ROTC emphasizes physical fitness and prepares its cadets for later active duty through field exercises, scuba diving, and weekly training sessions.

Training in the field as well as the classroom is typical of the unusual program offered through the Counter Guerrillas.

Drill Team

New this year, the Drill Team is building a precision marching unit. It has performed throughout the state and with the regular troops spring quarter.

Pete Mohan waits for an aggressor to appear during maneuvers.

Two more points go toward the basket as Army defeated the Air Force team this year.

Jane Brandon and Verona Lenard review applications of new girls interested in joining K-Dettes.

K-Dettes

The K-Dette precision marching team, open to girls of the university, performs during winter quarter at basketball games throughout the state and marches with the men during spring quarter.

Air Force

Captain Jones instructs cadets in the ways to read weather charts.

The Air Force Flight program combines classroom instruction with actual flying time and grants those who successfully complete the course a private flying license.

John Sandrock registers his flight plan before taking off.
As recognition of outstanding leadership and scholarship, the Arnold Air Society taps its members from the junior and senior cadets. Before recognizing new members, Major Brazzell spoke on membership requirements.
John Sandrock checks the weather patterns as flight time approaches.

Drill Team

After many years on campus, the Air Force Drill Team has established a name for itself when it comes to well executed drills. Their constant moving rifles are a popular attraction at basketball games throughout the state.

Angel Flight

This large group of beauties, selected from the freshman class are the Air Force queens. Their smart drills provide half-time entertainment throughout the state.

One of two luge clubs on campus, the Air Force team had good showings at this year's national meets.

President—John Ross

Vice President—Brett Asselstine

Secretary—Lynne Morrow

Business Manager—Dave Wendle
Central Board serves as the student governing body of the non-academic University community. Separate committees handle specific phases of student government but they remain responsible to Central Board for their activities.

This year, Central Board, through Budget and Finance, allotted money to send John Ross and Brett Asselstine to the ASG Convention in Lafayette, Indiana.

Second row: Mr. Ellis Waldron (Advisor), Whitey Fairley, Jim Maxon, Ray Cosman, Susan Lanman, Tom Behan, and Mr. Gardner Cronwell (Advisor).

Third row: Torval Stockamp, Rick Baird, Sam Kitzenberg, Loren Haar and Bob Anderson.
PLANNING BOARD

Planning Board, headed by Tom Behan, plans for the structure of the ASUM student government and the by-laws of its constitution.

Most of the work this year has been based on the re-organization plan for ASUM. In addition, they studied reapportionment and campaign rules and introduced the Commissioner System of student government.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

Debbie Archibald headed Pub Board this year. This committee appoints the staff of the four UM publications: "M"-Book, introductory guide for freshmen; "Garret," literary magazine; "Sentinel," UM’s yearbook; and the "Kaimin," the daily newspaper.

Pub Board establishes rules and policies for these publications, and sees to it that these are carried out.

Traditions Board is charged with maintaining the traditions of the University of Montana. Working in cooperation with Spurs and Bearpaws, its duties included the upkeep of "Hello Walk," the painting of the "M" fall and spring quarters, and the perpetuation of the "Singing on the Steps."

The Board also chooses cheerleaders, (which this year included election of freshmen cheerleaders), pom pom girls, and organizes pep rallies.

As head of this widely diversified committee, John Berguson has a demanding position to fill.

BUDGET AND FINANCE

In controlling the monetary resources of the Student Government, Budget and Finance serves as both friend and enemy of ASUM committees. As the treasury branch of Central Board, this committee reviews the fiscal policies of the committees, slashes budgets and allotts funds as approved by Central Board. Dave Wendte heads this industrious committee which controls over $200,000 in student activity fees this year.

AUXILIARY SPORTS BOARD

This committee, headed by Torvall Stockamp, sets up budgets and allotts funds to the minor sports as designated by Central Board. Through this committee's efforts, it has been possible for the foreign students to meet other people and participate in sports.

Elections committee bears the responsibility for conducting student elections.

Fall, Spring, and all other elections authorized by the student government are handled by this committee.

Occasionally, Central Board is faced with the resignation of one of its members.

Executive Committee conducts interviews for replacements before a final candidate to fill the vacancy is presented.

This year John Ross, as President of ASUM, headed this committee.

To orientate incoming freshmen, student government supports an annual camp at Seeley Lake to enable some of the new university students to get acquainted with others and become familiar with the campus situation. This committee organizes the activities at the camp, works out budget, then acts as director of the camp in the fall.

FRESHMAN CAMP

WORLD UNIVERSITY

World University Service committee organizes each year to sponsor a fund raising dance to raise money for a needy area of the world, decided upon by the national headquarters.
HOMECOMING

Each year this committee strives to make Homecoming weekend a special event for both students and alums. Their duties entail selection of a queen, organizing the parade, and the honoring of outstanding alums.

This year the Back Porch Majority and the Whalers were the spotlight entertainment. The highlight of the whole weekend was the Grizzlies' victory of 13-7 over Pacific with a capacity crowd of 8,000.

From the top: Buddy Starret, Kathy Ryffel, Dallas Viall, Mary Ann Wolstad, Dave Davies, Mary Lou Koppang, Steve Knight.

LEADERSHIP COMMITTEE

Leadership Camp Committee plans the spring quarter retreat on Flathead Lake for campus leaders.

Representatives from each living group and heads of student government gather to discuss campus problems, to hear speakers from administration and faculty, and attempt to resolve some of the problems faced by students.

In this informal atmosphere, student leaders and faculty find it easier to communicate.

PARENT'S DAY

One Saturday during fall quarter is reserved for the parents of the students. After invitations are sent, a program is established whereby the parents get a chance to attend a football game, tour the various living groups, and in the evening attend a dinner with representatives from faculty and administration.

Mark Crosbie—Chairman

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

Part of the student governing body, the Associated Women's Students are the group responsible for the women's regulations. Last spring, after extending hours, a poll was conducted to find the women's opinions concerning the establishment of a key-watchman system on campus. It was defeated.

Aside from the governing function, AWS each year sponsors the Miss Wool contest. This year a UM coed won the contest and represented the state in the national contest in June.
Scotta Herrin -- Miss Wool of Montana
Distributed twice a year, Garret is the literary magazine of the campus. Often racked with editorial and contextual disruptions, the magazine presents a format of poetry, short stories, photographs and occasional prints and reproductions of paintings.

“M” BOOK

Billed as a handbook for freshmen, “M” Book contains a history of the university and acquaints the incoming students with the organizations and activities on campus. It also provides a summary of the rules under which the students shall live.
The newest committee, Program Council replaces Visiting Lecturers Committee and Special Events. They will attempt to bring outstanding speakers in various fields as well as entertainment such as Glenn Yarbrough and Paul Revere and the Raiders, whom they sponsored this year.

For two nights the University Theater was filled with the sounds of Glenn Yarbrough.
The campus newspaper, a free daily, has long been reknown for providing information. This year it added a second dimension—controversy. Taking the role of the devil's advocate on many issues, the Kaiman editorial staff drew statewide attention.
Rorvick and staff wait for their picture to be taken during their first reunion.

Cheryl Hutchinson—Associate Editor
Reporting the year in its entirety, recording tomorrow’s “good old days” today, at times can be nothing but frustrating. Rising above these frustrations, the working staff tried to accurately and completely picture the events of the year.
Co-captains, Wayne Harrington and Paul Connelly, led the Grizzly team through its 1965-1966 season.

Harrington climaxed his college football career by making the Little-All-American team, and was also elected All-Conference for 1965.

Outstanding UM Male Athlete for 1965 was Paul Connelly. He led in rushing, racking up the third highest one-season total in UM history, (1965—753 yards, career total—1348). He also won the Grizzly Den Award as outstanding offensive player for 1965.

The Grizzly opener against Utah’s Redskins proved too much for the unexperienced Montana team with the Utes taking a 28-13 victory. Trailing 21-0 at halftime, the Grizzlies came back to outplay and outscore the home team in the second half.

With 90 seconds to play, a 36-yard scoring pass paved the way to South Dakota’s 15-14 triumph over the Grizzlies. Sophomore Willie Jones accounted for both Montana scores, one on a 40-yard pass from Jim Searles and the other on a 49-yard scamper around right end.

In the opening game of the Big Sky Conference, Montana with an impressive 16-0, defeated the Idaho State University. Tailback Paul Connelly and fullback Larry Petty provided the offensive punch for the Grizzlies.

The Grizzlies, defeating Weber State, put the ’Tips in undisputed first place in the league with a 2-0 record. With Weber State leading 14-7 in the final quarter, sophomore Willie Jones sprinted 57 yards to lift Montana to a 15-14 victory.

Utah State smashed the Grizzlies with a 54-21 victory in the Aggies Homecoming game. The brightest spot on the Grizzlies side was Ed Steiner’s passing and scored runs by Roger Clemens, Ed Steiner, and Willie Jones.

The Idaho Vandals scored a 35-7 victory over the Grizzlies in their Big Sky Conference debut in Missoula. The Silvertips only score came early in the second half when sophomore defensive back Doug McDonald recovered Ray McDonald’s fumble in the end zone. Idaho captured the Little Brown Stein trophy that Montana had possessed since a 22-16 win in 1962.

The Grizzlies delighted a Homecoming crowd by stopping Pacific with a 13-7 victory. Paul Connelly’s touchdown tied the game and then the ’Tips went ahead late in the game on a 14-yard end sprint by Willie Jones.

Halfback Paul Connelly rushes for yardage against the Montana State Bobcats.
The Montana State University Bobcats handed the Grizzlies their fourth defeat as they dropped a 24-7 decision to the arch-rival Bobcats. The Bobcats moved ahead 10-0 before the Grizzlies scored on Ed Steiner’s 25-yard pass to wingback Roger Seeley.

Treated to the caliber of Mid-American conference ball for the first time, the Grizzlies dropped a 17-14 hard-fought contest to Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Montana threatened to upset in the final moments but too much time had elapsed.
Hugh Davidson, head coach, and assistant coaches “Whitey” Campbell, Dave Kragthorpe, and Tom Kingsford.

Jim Neilson, 190-pound junior from Shelby, Montana, was awarded the Grizzly Den Award for Outstanding Defensive Player of 1965. He finished his season with an Honorable Mention All-Conference 1965.
Willie Jones, "Fastest Grizzly," finished his first season leading the Big Sky Conference in kickoff returns for 1965 (returned 20 for 367 yards for an 18.4 average). He led Montana in scoring with 42 points and was elected All-Conference for 1965.

Terry Bergren, junior end, was Leading Receiver in the Big Sky Conference for the 1965 season with 24 catches. He maintained his Big Sky single game receiving record of 7 catches. Bergren was also named All-Conference for 1965.

In his fourth season as head basketball coach, Nord has brought the Grizzlies back on to their feet. One key to success was his constant emphasis on conditioning.

Recruiting has been another important part of Nord's coaching career. He has done an outstanding job as can be seen by the present U.M. team. He led the Grizzlies through a season of 14 victories and 10 losses with a 6-4 in Big Sky Conference play. At one time during the season, his team had the fourth longest winning streak in the nation with eight consecutive wins.

Despite the Grizzlies early win over Arizona State College and Chico State College, the Grizzlies were to have their troubles throughout the season. After defeating Chico State, the Grizzlies went on the road and lost five consecutive games, losing to Washington State by 30 points, to Wyoming by 6 points, to Wisconsin by 4 points, Washington State again by 5 points, and to Bradley by 10 points.

The Grizzlies finally broke this streak by defeating San Diego State 88-74. But again in the next four games, the Grizzlies began losing their lead by a loss to British Columbia 69-74, but defeated them the next evening by 27 points. The following week they lost to Gonzaga by 31 points and to Idaho by 17 points.

However, this streak was not to last for the Grizzlies. They came back to win the next eight consecutive games. This came to a close by a loss to the Big Sky Conference Champions, Gonzaga University.

The remainder of the season followed with victories over Idaho and Idaho State and a final loss to Weber State College. This defeat was Montana's 10th loss contrasted to 14 victories.

Although it was a rather mediocre season, the Grizzlies tied for third position in the Big Sky Conference. Four of Montana's cagers were selected for Big Sky Conference honors. John "Doc" Holiday, Montana's toughest 6'0" guard, and John Quist, veteran 6'7" center, were named to Second Team. Both Gary Peck and Greg Hanson were placed on The Honorable Mention team.

Gary Peck received the C. R. Dragstedt award as the most valuable Grizzly Basketball player during the 1965-66 season. Norman Clark and Greg Hanson were tapped jointly as the best defensive players on the squad. Left to right, are: Carl Dragstedt, Norm Clark, Bob Cope, Grizzly assistant coach; Greg Hanson and Gary Peck.

The University of Montana faced one of the toughest schedules in the four years the Grizzlies have had the sport and despite injuries and inexperience, they salvaged a 5-8 season in the Big Sky Conference. In the annual College Division NCAA Wrestling Tournament at Mankato, Minnesota, they finished in 11th place.

In their first competition, the Grizzlies faced the Bobcats. Tony Costello, 191-lb. Jr., was the only Grizzly to win against the strong Bobcat team. The two following meets were lost to Utah 31-8, and to Eastern Oregon 22-8.

Undisturbed by three losses, the Grizzly matmen took Gonzaga 44-0, and Idaho University 29-5. The following weekend, the Grizzlies' competition were Western Washington, Eastern Washington, and Whitworth College, losing to Western 19-11, to Eastern 23-17, but defeating Whitworth 28-12. The Grizzlies came back to beat Weber 25-8 and Eastern Washington 25-6, but found themselves dropping their final meets to the Bobcats 27-8, Idaho State 22-10, and to the Air Force Academy 31-10.
SWIMMING

1966 Big Sky Champions

Under the guidance and strict training of Coach Fred Stetson, the 1966 Swimming Team made outstanding showings. Not only being named Coach of the Year, Stetson led his team through a season of no losses and first in the Big Sky Conference Meet.

Team members Fred Bischoff and Tim Powers performed well during the Big Sky Conference. Bischoff made records in the 100 and 200 back stroke and also in the 200 freestyle scoring 26½ points alone. Powers set the record in the 50 yard freestyle and scored 19½ points in the Big Sky Conference.

Denny Stemple—broad jump and pole vault.

Tom Gopp—mile relay, 440 yard relay; 440, 220, and 100 yard dashes.

Bob Keitner inside handing off to Carl Thompson. Keitner—mile relay, high hurdles; Thompson—mile relay, 440 yard dash.

TRACK

Left: Tim Stark—intermediate hurdles, high hurdles, and mile relay. Right: Jon Krutar—high hurdles, and 440 yard relay.

Denny Stemple—pole vault, 1st in Big Sky Conference Meet.

They say that practice makes perfect.

Willie Jones—100 and 220 yard dash, broad jump, and 440 yard relay.
On this day, Brown was presented a certificate by the Chamber of Commerce and the University of Montana for his outstanding achievement in Track and Field. He was the first recipient of the Governor's Cup which heretofore will be presented on the state-wide basis.

A leader in the nation, Doug Brown surely deserves recognition. Brown, the 1965 NCAA champion holds the records in the three mile and six mile. His six mile time was the third fastest ever run by an American. His picture appears on the cover of the NCAA Track & Field Guide for 1966, the first Montanan ever so honored.

Doug's college career was climax ed at the graduation SOS when he was honored with the Sibley Award as outstanding senior man.

Under the head of Coach Whitie Campbell and through individual hard work and desire to win, the Grizzlies compiled an outstanding season record of 17 wins and 10 losses. This was the best season for a Montana baseball squad since 1950. The Grizzlies placed second in the Big Sky Conference with 7 wins and 3 losses.

First baseman Frank Spear was selected to All Conference first team. Gary Peck, senior shortstop; Rex Bankhead, left fielder; pitcher Larry Oddy, and center field Bob Vick all received honorable mentions.

The University of Montana's tennis team showed remarkable improvement over last year's last-place finish in the Big Sky Conference by capturing the title of champions this year. The Grizzlies finished with a seasonal record of 8 wins and 4 losses.

Left to right: Brian Sharkey (Coach), John Alexander, Rich Curry, Eric LaPoint, Brett Asselstine, Mike Emerson, Steve Meley, Bob Andriozzi, Ken Louren, and Jim Cronin.
Intramurals at the University of Montana offers a wide variety of sports, giving almost every individual on the campus an opportunity to participate. Football, basketball, and softball are high on the list of competitive sports, but many other activities such as track, wrestling, swimming, golfing, skiing, bowling, and tennis are included in the long list of sports events.

Many hours of practice are put in by teams and individuals, giving them a break away from campus life and showing them teamwork and sportsmanship.
The fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, won the 1965-66 Intramural Championship. The Phi Delts won titles in skiing, basketball, wrestling, track, and golf and were runners up in table tennis.

Second place Sigma Nu took titles in volleyball, horse shoe, tennis singles, and were runners up in pool, wrestling, tennis doubles, and golf.

Sigma Phi Epsilon placed third.
UM lost two great athletes spring quarter: distance star Doug Brown graduated while track coach Harry Adams retired after 35 years.
In 1916, Harry Adams first played on the UM football team. In the half a century since, Adams has earned the respect of all Montanans for his coaching endeavors.

Harry F. Adams will retire this spring, but he will leave many things behind. There will be a proud history of fine athletes like Gary Wojtowick and Doug Brown. And he will leave an inspiration to excel, whether on the field or on the campus, which he has instilled in this University for the past 35 years.

Adams has coached three National Collegiate All-Americans—Jack Emigh (220), Dick Doyle (Discus) and Doug Brown (three- and six-mile runs). He served as a member of the NCAA Track and Field Rules Committee, and in 1961 he was named to the Helms Athletic Foundation Track and Field Hall of Fame.

In honor of the service and the ideals that Harry Adams left behind, the Montana Board of Regents saw fit to name the UM Field House after this dedicated man. It was a fitting gesture, that Adams' friends are going to climax his coaching career with a trip to the 1968 Olympics where, hopefully, one of his boys, Doug Brown, will compete.

Paul Anderson, like so many upperclassmen, prefers a bachelor apartment and his own cooking to dormitory or fraternity house life.

Youngsters of married students find a world of pint-sized friends right next door.
In June, strip housing units were destroyed to make way for 100 more new apartments. New married student apartments just south of the X's, still will not meet the demand for housing. Over 60 percent of UM students live off campus in married student housing, apartments, or private homes.

In Dedication

For over twenty years, Cyrile Van Duser has been the Sentinel yearbook advisor and a friend to each staff. It is fitting to dedicate one more book to her. This comes only natural when we realize the long hours, hard work and constant devotion that she has put into each book. A thank you doesn’t seem enough for all that she has done, yet this is all she asks.

Hence, to you Cyrile and to the ideals for which you stand, we of the 1966 Sentinel staff dedicate this book.
