to you,
the students
It’s a sign of the times
There are few earthly things more beautiful than a University. It is a place where those who hate ignorance may strive to know, where those who perceive truth may strive to make others see; where seekers and learners alike, banded together in the search for knowledge, will honor thought in all its finer ways, will welcome thinkers in distress or in exile, will uphold ever the dignity of thought and learning and will exact standards in these things. They give to the young in their impressionable years the bond of a lofty purpose shared, of a great corporate life whose links will not be loosed until they die. They give young people that close companionship for which youth longs, and that chance of the endless discussion of themes which are endless—without which youth would seem a waste of time. There are few earthly things more splendid than a University. In these days of broken frontiers and collapsing values—when every future looks somewhat grim, and every ancient foothold has become something of a quagmire, wherever a University stands, it stands and shines; wherever it exists, the free minds of men, urged on to full and fair inquiry, may still bring wisdom into human affairs.

University Center '68

The new Student University Center will occupy a site northeast of Main Hall at the base of Mt. Sentinel. Upon its completion in fall, 1968, it will have 184,450 square feet of floor space. The total cost of the University Center, which will occupy 5.5 acres of state land for the structure, parking lot and service area, will be more than four and a third million dollars. No state funds will be expended on its construction, maintenance or operation. Student fees and proceeds from the Center's operation will produce income sufficient to meet cost of interest, etc.

The center was conceived with the belief that a student's leisure should complement his education. It will provide optimum circumstances for co-curricular activities, social acumen and constructive recreation.

The University of Montana began the 1967 football season with an all new coaching staff, many new transfers, and a new winning spirit. Under the direction of Coach Swarthout the Grizzlies' season was the best in the last thirty years. Conference standing also improved—the Grizzlies tied with University of Idaho for second place.

In the first game of the new season the Grizzlies opposed the University of North Dakota Sioux in Grand Forks. The Sioux quickly established a 14-0 lead in the game. The Grizzlies rallied and raised the score to 14-13 by halftime. The score remained unchanged for the rest of the game until, in the last seven minutes, Steiner completed Grizzlies' 21-7 victory over the University of Pacific. Grizzlies, Howard (70), White (60), and Sparks (52) applaud the touchdown.

The crowd cheers as halfback Rick Strauss (34) plants the pigskin for six points in the Grizzlies' 21-7 victory over the University of Pacific. Grizzlies, Howard (70), White (60), and Sparks (52) applaud the touchdown.
The following weekend the Grizzlies exhibited their obstinate defense against the University of South Dakota Coyotes. The Coyotes scored first with a field goal. Late in the half the Grizzlies responded and scored 7 points at the end of a long drive. Each team played a strong defense in the second half. The Coyotes, threatening to score again at the close of the game, were stopped by the Grizzlies and the game ended 7-3.

The Grizzlies met Weber State at Ogden on September 30 to begin conference play. Montana scored 6 points in the first quarter and held the Wildcats scoreless. In the second quarter the situation was reversed—Weber scored 6 points and held the Grizzlies. In the third period, Montana completed a drive from their own 20 yard line to score 7 points. Late in the game Weber scored a touchdown but failed to get the extra point. The game ended with a 13-12 victory for the Silvertips.

The Grizzlies made their home field debut against the University of Pacific Tigers October 7. The only score in the first half was by Ron Baines—an 83 yard punt return for the touchdown and the extra point. The Tigers scored 7 points in the third quarter. Montana scored twice in the fourth quarter to clinch the game for the Silvertips 21-7 and establish a four-game winning streak, unequalled since 1937.

The Grizzlies and the Vandals of University of Idaho rattled before the ABC cameras at Dornblaser Field, October 14. The Vandals scored a touchdown and two field goals in the first half and left the Grizzlies scoreless. The Silvertips responded with two touchdowns and the extra points to raise the score to 14-12. Montana was unable to maintain the lead as Idaho struck back with another touchdown, winning the game 19-14.

The "Year of the Grizzly" is well recorded by movie and television cameras, including those of the ABC Network.

Homecoming weekend, October 21-23, the Grizzlies trampled the Bengals of Idaho State 20-0. Montana scored 6 points in the first quarter and 14 in the third quarter. The victory provided a fine display for the alumni and visiting dignitaries.

Still on the home field October 28, the Grizzlies met Northern Arizona State, ranked 8th in small colleges. After a scoreless first quarter both teams made all of their points in the second quarter. Montana scored 3 points for a field goal and 7 points for a touchdown and the kick. The Grizzlies held the Lumberjacks to 7 points and won the game 10-7.

November 4 the Grizzlies traveled to Bozeman to meet traditional rivals Montana State. The first quarter ended scoreless but with the Bobcats in scoring position. The Bobcats immediately scored 7 points in the second quarter and then scored another 7. In the third quarter the Grizzlies scored a touchdown for 6 points and converted for 2. The end of the fourth quarter left the Grizzlies threatening to score, however, after several attempts the Grizzlies failed to add the extra points. The Bobcats did not score again, but won the fray 14-8.
Montana met Utah State, November 11, on the Aggies' home field. Both teams scored in the first quarter and Utah scored again in the second quarter to end the half 14-7. Both teams scored in the third quarter, concluding the scoring in that game, and giving the win to Utah State 20-14.

For the final game of the season Montana traveled to Portland to meet Portland State. The Grizzlies scored twice in the first quarter for a total of 14 points. In the next quarter the Silvertips accumulated 21 additional points to complete the half 35-0. Montana scored again in the third quarter as did Portland, raising the score to 42-7. They scored an additional 15 points in the fourth quarter to win the game 55-7. A fine finish—Congratulations, Grizzlies.
Willie Jones was selected as the 1967 male athlete of the year by the U of M Alumni Association. He was chosen for his performance in track last spring. A versatile athlete, Jones has been equally outstanding in football.

Jack Swarthout, U of M's new head football coach, was named Big Sky Conference College Football Coach of the Year by the AP sports writers. Rejuvenating the old Grizzly spirit in Missoula, Swarthout raised the Grizzlies from a 1-8 season in 1966 to a 7-3 record in 1967.

Bob Beers, one of U of M's junior college transfers, earned honors as the Associated Press All-Conference Defensive Player of the Year and also made AP Little All-America. Beers has been a valuable addition to the Grizzly team this year.

Fall Activities

Freshman Camp

Ninety freshmen men and women managed to finish their last minute packing a few days early in order to attend Freshman Camp, September 14 to September 16. George Cross, advisor, Karol Kramer, camp chairman, and John Gilbert, counselor, made the arrangements for Freshman Camp which was held at Camp Paxson on Seeley Lake. At Freshman Camp, new students have the opportunity to learn about campus politics, activities, and organizations. They also have a chance to meet and get acquainted with their future classmates and associates.

Sentinel Editor, Carol Nelson, admires the early morning beauty of Seeley Lake.

Terry Krebs experiences one of the rewards of a counselor as he takes an early morning plunge into the icy waters of Seeley Lake.

Registration

For the first time this year students had to pay to register their cars. Tony Turner, Ed Russ, security chief, and Kenneth McDonald assist students with their registration.

Registration is not only hard on students, but also exhausting for faculty members. Dr. Richard M. Boehmler and Dr. Charles D. Parker rest after their day of work.

Campus patrolman, Lester J. Gilfillan, watches as U of M students quickly deplete their checking accounts during registration.

"Their Eminence," an exciting new duo featuring Ben Short and Dave Rene, performed in concert with "The 5th Dimension" on September 23 in the Field House.

"The 5th Dimension" offer a modernistic approach to pop music. Their repertoire of songs runs from soul to pop, all of which are done in their unique "five dimension" style.

"The New Lost City Ramblers," a folk singing group, performed on October 1 as part of "The Now People" program.
"The Now People" program was brought to U of M to inform students of what is happening now! Presented in this program were "The New Lost City Ramblers", William H. Grand, Andy Warhol, Dick Gregory, Colin Wilson, Howard McCord, Earl Ganz, and Sister Madeline DeFrees.

"The New Lost City Ramblers", a folk singing group have sparked a new interest in traditional southern mountain music. They featured old time string band music of the 1920's and 30's but also included music from earlier periods. Members of the group are John Cohen and Tracy Schwartz, who play banjo and guitar and Mike Seeger who plays mandolin, autoharp, banjo, fiddle, and guitar.

William H. Grand is a professional photographer who also uses his camera for personal visualization. In his show entitled "Inner Space" projected images are accompanied by music or other sound. The viewer sees and feels at the same time. His show may be considered a combination of audio-electronic and chemico-electronic artistry which is relatively new in the creative process.

The biggest put-on on campus this year was the Andy Warhol hoax. Allen Midget, an imposter, presented Mr. Warhol's program and was not detected until 3 months later. Andy Warhol himself has become a legend in Pop Art. He paints the gaudy glamour of mass society that characterizes the "cool-it" generation. He lives in a three-story house that is crammed with such "eccentrically elegant artifacts" as old carousel horses, a carnival punching bag machine, a giant wooden coke bottle, and a crushed car sculpture.

Dick Gregory, comedian, author, lecturer, and actor, is a man with a message—a message of freedom and equality not only for the Negro, but for the entire human race. In his fight against hate, Gregory uses his complete personal dedication and his sharp sense of humor as his only weapons. In addition to being a leader in the Negro's fight for equality, Dick Gregory is a top television star and also a star of stage and motion pictures.

Colin Wilson, a British innovator, philosopher, critic, and novelist has recently made his home in America where he continues to write voluminously. The publication of his first book, The Outside, a sharp criticism of modern civilization, created a literary sensation. He has been called the 'Elder Statesman of the Angry Young Men' and the "British Dostoyevsky".

Poet, Howard McCord, is an assistant professor of English at Washington State University and teaches courses in poetry, mythology, and Eastern civilizations. He spent the summer of 1965 in India and Nepal on a Fulbright Grant and has since edited an anthology called New Indian Poets, soon to be published.

Earl Ganz, fiction writer, has published stories and articles in "New World Writing", "Activist", "Escapade", "Nugget", and "Arena". He is currently an assistant professor of English and director of creative writing at U of M. Sister Madeline DeFrees has published short stories, reviews, and articles in such magazines as "Saturday Review", "Saturday Evening Post", "New York Times", and others. She is currently a visiting associate professor of English at U of M.

Central Board is the head of our student government and carries out its responsibilities through a set-up of boards and committees. Currently there are 21 boards and committees, but others may be added at any time. Last Spring, the student body voted to amend the constitution and add 14 commissioners as members of Central Board. These Commissioners are heads of boards and act as liaisons between Central Board, the University departments, and the various areas of interest they represent.

Each class is represented on Central Board by three delegates, chosen in an election by members of that class.

Missoula Affairs

The Missoula Affairs Commission acts as a liaison between the University of Montana and the City of Missoula. This commission meets with The Chamber of Commerce, The City Council, Mayor Shoup, and The Chief of Police, to hear their ideas and suggestions for the betterment of relations between Missoula and the University.

Field House and Physical Plant

The purpose of the Physical Plant Commission is, like all other commissions, to act as a liaison between the students and the administration. In promoting understanding among all parties, this board of student representatives works directly with Mr. Parker, the head of the Physical Plant, and studies various problems which might arise throughout the year in building and ground maintenance. During the nine-month period the members and the administrative personnel get acquainted, and the students begin to understand the difficulties and complexities of maintenance.

The commissioner is a voting delegate to Central Board and tries to establish a rapport with the Plant specialists so that problems, when they arise, can be handled quickly, efficiently, and with a minimum of difficulty.

Associated Women
Students

AWS has a three fold purpose: to provide democratic representation, to provide activities and service for the university coed, and to enable university women to govern themselves. On the basis of democratic representation, each women's living group elects one representative for every fifty girls living there. These representatives, the AWS officers, and the committee chairmen comprise the AWS Senate. The Senate is concerned with the service and activity functions of AWS. These functions are carried out through a committee system which presents the AWS image to the campus. At present twelve committees form the foundation of AWS: Big-Little Sister, Job Opportunities, Lantern Parade, Miss U of M, Snow Weekend, Public Relations and Publicity, Special Activities, Fund Raising, Transfer Program, Rules and Regulations, Women's Week and The Mature Student. AWS is also the governing body for rules concerning women students at U of M. The rules are made by the coeds themselves in cooperation with the Rules and Regulations Committee of the Senate and are passed only by a majority vote.

The Alumni Board works closely with the Alumni Association. One of its main functions is to attract outstanding students and faculty to the University.

Traffic Board

The Traffic Security Board consists of Faculty, Students and Physical Plant representatives who act as a court solely for appeals concerning campus traffic violations. Any student who feels that he has been unjustly fined may receive a fair hearing. The most important aspect of this body is that the alleged violator is judged by his peers.

Budget and Finance serves as the treasury branch of Central Board. It reviews the fiscal policies of ASUM committees, allots necessary funds as approved by Central Board, and hears budget requests from more than twenty-five organizations. This committee controls over $225,000 in student activity fees.

Planning Board

The Planning Board is a major part of the University’s student government. The board is responsible for administrative work and long-range structural and constitutional plans for the coordination of ASUM activities.
The Board of Directors of the Associated Student Store consists of five students elected by the Student Body, five faculty members appointed by the University Administration and one ex-officio member appointed by the University President, who acts as secretary, business manager, and controller. The Board works closely with the management of the Store in adopting policies and solving problems which may arise. General policies are always made by agreement of the Board. Some of the functions of the Board include selection of the manager and assistant managers and a yearly check on price schedules of books and other merchandise to assure that the customers will purchase their supplies at the going rate or below. The Board also meets with individuals or groups who have questions or suggestions to be considered.
Elections Committee

Elections Committee is responsible for running all ASUM affiliated elections and also handles other campus elections if the campus organization in charge so desires. Most of the committee's work is during fall quarter when freshmen delegates to Central Board are elected, and during spring quarter when the ASUM officers, commissioners and eight class delegates are elected. It is the duty of Elections Committee to make sure that you, the student, receive legal and appropriate representation in student government.
Traditions Board

Traditions Board works with a variety of campus organizations and committees to maintain U of M traditions. Some of these traditions include: Homecoming, SOS, Lantern Parade, Hello Walk, and Painting the "M". Traditions Board is also responsible for the selection of cheerleaders and pompon girls. The members of the Board represent a wide spectrum of student opinion.

One of the traditions: Following the Bobcat-Grizzly game, the President of the losing school's student body must relinquish his pants to the winner. Loren Haarr, ASUM President, is no exception.

The Fine Arts Board functions as an advisory group within the Fine Arts School. Students can air their feelings, contribute ideas, and register complaints directly to the Dean. The Board also oversees tours made by departmental groups. At present, the Board, in cooperation with Program Council, is crystallizing a program to present the arts to the general University student in a meaningful manner.

Judicial Board of Review

The Judicial Board of Review, upon receipt and approval of a proper petition, reviews disciplinary cases of suspension or expulsion of students. The Board is composed of four full-time faculty members, selected by the Faculty Senate, and three full-time students, selected by Central Board from applicants who have been at the University for six quarters and who have an academic average of at least 3.00. Board meetings are closed to the public, but the petitioning student has the right to appear, confront, and present witnesses. The decision of the Board is made by majority vote and communicated to the Dean of Students. While his appeal is pending, the individual maintains his status as a student.

Administrative Relations Board

The Administrative Relations Board operates in the "twilight zone" between the student body and the administration. The Board consists of the Commissioner, student members, the University Financial Vice-President, the Director of Student Aids, and the Dean of Students. This group relays student opinion to the sometimes seemingly detached world of the University officials.
The Freshman Camp Committee plans the three days of fun that welcome ninety freshmen to the ways of the University. At Camp Paxson on Seeley Lake, the counselors, twenty-five upperclassmen chosen by the committee, introduce the new students to ASUM—the faculty and the campus leaders. As a result, the freshmen gain insight into the details of the campus life and the curriculum.

Counselors: Penny Hayes, Karen Peck, Jay Malcan, and Sentinel representative Mareen Jacobs take advantage of the break between sessions at Freshman Camp.

James Watt helps George Cowan load the luggage onto the truck to begin the trip back to Missoula.
The Student Services Board, created last spring, acts as a liaison for student opinion in such areas as the Food Service, Library, Residence Halls, Student Union, and Health Service.

The function of the Athletics Board is to serve as a liaison for student opinion to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. The board does whatever possible to improve athletics, an important function of a school curricula.
Leadership Camp

Every year new issues come to light which are of vital concern to the students at U of M. Naturally, students want to know why these issues have arisen and whether or not they can do anything about them. Leadership Camp provides an insight into the workings of the University. Administrators from the campus are brought in to explain the channels through which problems arise and decisions are made. Known personalities from Missoula, the state, and other campuses also discuss problems concerning them and the students of U of M.

At Leadership Camp the active students on the U of M campus learn the proper way to challenge major decisions, enabling them to work for a better university in years to come.

Auxiliary Sports

The intramural sports program is administered by students from various areas who are interested in sports. The board appropriates a sum of money, granted by ASUM to such activities as the bowling team, women's intercollegiate sports, WRA, Rodeo Club, Soccer, Parachute Club, and Judo.

Publications Board

Publications Board oversees the five ASUM publications; Montana Kaimin, Sentinel, The Book, Garret, and M Book. It appoints their staffs and hears any complaints and problems that may arise in gathering material.

Jeri Schaeffer sorts evaluation forms for The Book as other workers stuff envelopes.

Claudia Stahl and Ken Piippo helped to distribute the newly arrived 1967 Sentinels.
Program Council

Program Council is in charge of contracting all entertainers, lecturers, concerts, art shows and foreign films which are financed by ASUM funds. The Council attempts to bring in a balanced program which will satisfy all interests on campus. Program Council will have a special opportunity to utilize the new University Center next year. The new facilities include a ballroom, which converts to an auditorium, and will accommodate many of the programs.

The chief function of Program Council is to provide education and entertainment for the students of the University of Montana. This includes everything from concerts by "The Fifth Dimension" and Ramsey Lewis to speeches by Dick Gregory and Harrison Salisbury.

A new feature of Program Council is a Symposium, a week-long program of events coordinated around a central theme. "Project America '67," using the theme "The Now People," was a program about what is "happening" in America today.
Sentinel is the yearbook publication of the University of Montana. Entirely a university publication, it is staffed solely by students and is printed on the University grounds. No academic credit is given to the members of the staff, but valuable experience in the field of publications can be gained. Lay-out, photography, and editing are a few of the principal concerns of each member and all contribute to accurately recording all events of interest to the students in a particular school year.
CAROL NELSON
Editor
Carol, as editor of Sentinel, was concerned with the planning and organization of the publication. Directly responsible to the University Press for all submitted pages, the opening section, and the publications section, it is at times a most perplexing job.

LEON PINSKI
Managing Editor
Leon was responsible for the scheduling of all pictures as well as darkroom procedures and facilities. In addition, he assumed the task of completing the military science section.

LYNN FINDON
Business Manager
Lynn, involved in the financial proceedings of Sentinel, was in charge of all business transactions. A second major job, the correlating of the index, was also a concern of no minor importance.

Also deserving acknowledgement for a job well begun is Barbara Bailey, the Sentinel business manager for fall quarter. Her help was well appreciated in mailing books to graduated seniors and in the distribution of 1966-67 Sentinels.
ANN FELLOWS
Associate Editor
Ann spent many long hours working on Sentinel as she had quite a job to complete. She was responsible for student government, winter activities and fine arts, the class sections, and all sports. Ann will assume the position of editor next year.

LYNNE HOGUE
Associate Editor
Lynne was responsible for spring activities and fine arts, organizations and honoraries, greeks, and living groups. Many trying moments were spent in gathering activity shots and identifications, and as she can well say, no job is as easy as it looks.

KAREN BEALE
Associate Editor
Karen assumed the task of correlating the administration-faculty-senior section as well as completing the section of fall activities and fine arts. Now becoming more involved with the business aspect of Sentinel, she has been chosen business manager for the coming year.

Chris Jovin, an honorary staff member, assisted in writing and layout. It was help well appreciated.
ARNOLD SWANBERG
Photographer
Arnold, a late addition to the Sentinel staff, provided help in taking those extra pictures which you just can't seem to do without.

CLAUDIA STAHL
Head Photographer
Claudia spent many long hours in the darkroom printing specified contacts to specific proportions and dimensions. As head photographer, the associate editors kept her more than busy.

JIM NOON
Photographer
Jim was kept quite busy all year contacting pictures in the darkroom as well as keeping scheduled appointments on campus.
The Ka'imin, U of M student newspaper, is one of the few student daily publications under the supervision of such a small staff. Many long hours are devoted to the meeting of deadlines and no special compensations are made for the members of the staff in academic curricula. In this publication, students are given a chance to voice their opinions on current political or academic issues as well as read the opinions of professors and campus leaders on prominent controversial issues.
MR. E. B. DUGAN
Advisor

Mr. Dugan has served in the capacity of faculty advisor to the Kaimin for approximately thirty years. Having his office located next to the Kaimin has been beneficial to all students who frequently consult him on particular problems.

BEN HANSEN
Editor

Ben assumed the dubious position of Kaimin editor spring quarter, 1967, and completed his term of office winter quarter, 1968. He was honored at the Dean Stone Night Banquet and was presented a citation by Sigma Delta Chi as an outstanding graduate in the School of Journalism.
JUDY BROEDER
Business Manager
Judy, serving in the position of business manager, was in charge of all advertising and circulation. In addition, she directed all ad salesmen. Also honored at the Dean Stone Night Banquet, she received the Theta Sigma Phi Outstanding Senior Woman Journalism Award.

RICK FOOTE
Managing Editor
Rick spent many long hours at the J-school press and was in charge of all shop procedures. This year he was presented with the Sigma Delta Chi Kaimin Service Award which had previously never been given to a paid staff member.

BARB RICHEY
Assistant Business Manager
Barb, as assistant business manager, will assume the position of business manager on the new staff. Previously, she handled all classified ads and was presented the Billings Advertising and Sales Association Award for her interest, ability, and performance in the field of advertising.
RON PIERRE
Sports Editor
Ron, previously an associate editor on the staff, became sports editor on the 67-68 Kaimin. In this position, he was in complete charge of all sports coverage and sports columns.

MARY PAT MURPHY
News Editor
Mary Pat, a new addition to the staff this year, assigns news beats and stories to the numerous reporters which the Kaimin manages to keep quite busy.

ART LINDSTROM
Photographer
Art is responsible for the pictorial presentations in the Kaimin and is also in charge of darkroom facilities.
As associate editors on the staff each of these individuals are in charge one night a week of the front and back page of the Kalinin.

In addition, Troy Holter has also assumed the job of feature editor, a position created this spring, which puts him in charge of the Montana Review Section.
The Book

The Book is a recently established campus publication. Sold to students in the fall, it evaluates the U of M faculty as to classroom presentations, tests, and grading policies. During the year, students themselves evaluate their respective professors and the judgments of the staff are made on the basis of the evaluative statements.

Garret

Garret is the literary and creative arts publication of the Associated Students of the University of Montana. The magazine is printed by C. W. Hill Printers of Spokane and sold on the University of Montana campus. Positions on the Garret staff are filled by application to Publications Board and material for publication is submitted by students to the editor.

A new addition to the curriculum? No, but the University does offer courses in everything else from Anthropology to Zoology.
Mail from home helps to keep Rosella Voles and Sue Velde in touch with family and friends while away from home. 12 of 34 coeds live in one of four women's dorms—Jesse, Turner, Knowles, or Brantly. Men students may live in Craig-Duniway, Elrod, Miller, or Aher.

The high enrollment Fall Quarter indicated that every day 6,302 students attended classes. This year on campus there were 2,111 women and 4,191 men. The class breakdown was 2,094 Freshmen, 1,314 Sophomores, 1,116 Juniors, 1,096 Seniors, and 780 Graduate Students.

The library almost becomes a second home to U of M students. Juniors study even longer hours and classes become more interesting to them as they progress in their respective majors.
"Groan; Why do they keep making sit ups more difficult?"

The annual fall whitewashing of the "M" is one of the glories of being a freshman. Two beauties model their new white-washed attire.

One of the hardest things for a freshman to realize is where his money goes. Quarterly money is paid for that very necessary part of education—books.

RICK JOHNSTON, Grizzly guard who comes from Albuquerque, New Mexico, received the Eaheart Memorial Award for the most outstanding defensive player. Last year as a junior transfer from New Mexico Military Institute, Rick was the fourth leading scorer for the Grizzlies. Even though Rick was the shortest man on this year's team his quick drives and accurate outside shots made him the second leading scorer.

DON PARSONS, a senior from Richland, Washington, received the Dragstedt Award for the most valuable player. Don transferred to the U of M as a junior from Columbia Basin Junior College where he was leading scorer in the league, made the Northwest JC first team, was the Most Valuable Player and was named to the first team All-Conference and first team All-State. This year, as a forward, Don was the leading rebounder and the third leading scorer.

GREG HANSON was named an alternate for the National Collegiate Athletic Association Post Graduate Scholarship. This award is given to top national athlete-scholars. Greg, a senior from Missoula, has played varsity ball for three years. Both as a junior and sophomore he received the Eaheart Memorial Award and as a junior he received the KGVO Grizzly Den Leadership Award and the U of M Grizzly Award. This year in the position of forward he was the third leading rebounder and fourth leading scorer.

James A. McCain, U of M president 1945-50 and currently president of Kansas State University, addressed those at the Charter Day Convocation, February 16.

President McCain shakes hands with Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Merriam in the receiving line after his address. Dr. Merriam was head of the English Department when President McCain was president of the University of Montana.

Standing to sing the Alma Mater at the Charter Day Convocation are Butler Eitel, U of M Band Director; President McCain, Mr. Alex Stepanoff and Mrs. Robert Haugen, members of the local advisory board.
Robert Pierpoint, CBS News White House Correspondent since 1957, spoke to U of M students and faculty concerning the 1968 elections. His lecture, "America Looks to '68" provided an "inside" look at the men and the issues that are of concern to the nation's voters.

During winter quarter U of M students were treated with a glimpse of the South Sea. Polynesian men and women, in authentic costumes, danced to the rhythmic beat of their drums.
SAE’s Win
Brain Bowl

U of M’s Brain Bowl, which is similar to television’s College Bowl, tests the intelligence and alertness of campus groups. A preliminary test narrows the field to the four teams that appear in the final contest.

Students
Compete in Olympics

This year seven U of M students trained with the U.S. Olympic Luge team. Jim Murray, Sheila Johansen, and Ellen Williams (all members of the U of M Luge Club) qualified as members of the Olympic team. Chris Roholt, John Gray, and Lana Richards (all U of M Luge Club) and Jim Bailey (Air Force Luge Club) were alternates. Captain Bruce Medley (Air Force) served as the team’s coach.

The team began its training in Canada and then raced in Koenigssee, Germany, and Innsbruck, Austria, before going to the games in Grenoble. In Grenoble Jim Murray placed 28th in the men’s division; Sheila Johansen placed 17th and Ellen Williams placed 16th in the women’s division.
This year Snow Weekend, sponsored by AWS, was a part of the Charter Month festivities. Living groups built snow sculptures and women students elected an "Old Man Winter." A panel of judges selected four finalists in the Snow Queen competition, and the students made the final decision.

ANDREEN HUBBLE
1st Runner-up
Montana's Float Wins Queen's Trophy

Montana's float in the 1968 Tournament of Roses Parade at Pasadena, Calif., won the Queen's Trophy which is awarded for the best use of roses. In the past Montana has won the Sweepstakes Trophy (1966) and the Queen's Trophy (1967).

Riding the float are two University of Montana coeds. In front is Miss Linda Rhein, Miss Montana, and in back is Miss Stevi Lahti, Miss Montana USA and Montana Rodeo Queen.
Nancy Irle — Miss University of Montana
Debbie Bryant, Miss America 1966 and Mistress of Ceremonies, prepares to announce the evening's winners at the close of the swimsuit, evening gown, and talent competition.

Nancy Irle was chosen Miss U of M from a field of ten candidates. Nancy, a twenty-one year old junior from Glasgow, is a music education major, member of Mu Phi Epsilon music honorary, and Delta Gamma social sorority.

Dora Lee Morgenstern, first runner-up, presents her talent, "My Boyfriend Bartholomeu," a medley of tunes.
Effie Forsyth earned perhaps the most coveted award, Miss Congeniality.

Kathy Duggins takes time to catch her breath during rehearsals. She was named one of the five finalists and also received the talent award.

The final announcement: Nancy Irle is crowned Miss U of M 1968 by last year's winner, Linda Rhein, also Miss Montana. Patti Swoboda applauds the choice.

Second runner-up Patti Swoboda portrays Joan of Arc in her dramatic presentation of a cutting from "The Lark."
Outstanding Students

Every year the faculties of each U of M department are asked by the Sentinel editor to select an outstanding student on the basis of scholarship and service to the university community. The following students were selected as this year's representatives.

MELVIN L. THORNTON
Ph.D. Candidate in Botany

Mr. Thornton has maintained a 3.95 GPA for 100 credits of graduate work plus being a leader and active in many other areas. His thesis is concerned with the mode of dispersal of aquatic fungi. Eventually, he plans to seek a teaching and research position.
Cadet Colonel Wilson has distinguished himself by displaying exceptional leadership during the period from September, 1967 to May, 1968 while a cadet at AFROTC Detachment 455, University of Montana. Academically he is in the upper one-third of his university classes and is top man in his AFROTC class. In September of 1967 he was appointed to the position of Wing Commander, the highest leadership position in the Cadet Staff. In the Spring of 1968 he was designated a Distinguished Military Student. Dean is a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology honorary, and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary. Graduating with high honors in anthropology, he plans to work for his masters at U of M and eventually receive a doctorate.

ROBERT GROVER FRANKS
ARMY

Bob was a member of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary; head resident of Aber Hall, and was Cadet Colonel and Brigade Commander of Army ROTC. Cited as a Distinguished Military Student, he was winner of the Superior Cadet Award as a junior. Graduated from U of M in June of 1968 with a B.A. in history and political science, he plans to enter U of M law school this fall.
JOHN VAN HEUVELEN
DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

In many activities, John is a member of Silent Sentinel, Phi Delta Theta, and Central Board. Also serving in a leadership capacity, he was business manager of the Associated Students and chairman of the Budget and Finance Committee. In the future, John hopes to work in marketing for a year and then work toward an MBA in business administration.

KENNETH A. SMITH
ACCOUNTING

Ken has maintained a 3.8 GPA at the University in addition to working as an accountant-auditor for a local CPA. He will attend graduate school (doctoral program) at the University of Texas in Austin this fall where he has received a fellowship. He has previously received the Montana Society CPA’s Award, the Union Bank and Trust Company Award, and the Northwest Life Insurance Company Award.

LINDA POTTER
BUSINESS EDUCATION AND OFFICE ADMINISTRATION

Linda is not only outstanding in academics, but also in her activities. She was a junior sponsor in Brantly Hall, a member of Spurs, a member of Mortar Board and was selected as one of five outstanding seniors by A.W.S. Previously, she received the Delta Delta Delta Scholarship, the Fox Scholarship, and the University Honor Scholarship. For future plans, Linda wishes to teach in the Seattle area and then return for an M.S. degree within three years.

DIANNE POPHAM
BOTANY

Dianne, a member of Phi Sigma, national biological honorary; and Mortar Board, national senior women’s honorary; was also active on campus as a junior sponsor and senior resident. She has received an NDEA fellowship to Oregon State at Corvallis and regards college teaching as her major goal.
KENNETH M. KEM
CHEMISTRY

Ken, a recipient of the MacClay Award in Physical Sciences for 1967, has received an NDEA graduate fellowship to Arizona State University for three years of graduate work leading to a Ph.D. in chemistry. Working for the past two years as a research assistant, his desire is to become an industrial research chemist.

JOHN T. ALLISON
EDUCATION

John, not only active in the Student Education Association, was also a member of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary; and Phi Delta Kappa, education honorary for men. Future plans include the teaching of social studies, government, economics, and geography. A Ph.D. in history for college teaching is his final goal.

JAMES W. FOX ENGLISH

Jim, an outstanding graduate in English, was a nominee from the U of M for a Rhodes Scholarship. A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and president of Phi Delta Phi French honorary, he plans to attend graduate school at either Indiana University or the University of Toronto. Specializing in Renaissance Literature, college teaching is his goal.
GORDON R. SIMARD
FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Gordon will not have to move any of his books since this next year he has been accepted as a teaching assistant at U of M where he will enter graduate school in the hope of becoming a professor of French Literature, a novelist, and a poet. He reads and speaks French, Spanish, Italian, and German. Gordon is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; Pi Delta Phi, French scholastic society; and the U of M Tennis Club.

RICHARD S. CLAUNCH
FORESTRY

Richard Claunch, right, discusses with Ray Stewart, U of M Forestry School Publicist, why he came to the Forestry School at U of M. Dick's love of fishing brought him to western Montana on a vacation from his foreman's job in a San Francisco chrome-plating shop and he visited the School of Forestry. Today, he ranks in the top five percent of his class of 90 seniors and has served in several forestry clubs and honorary offices. He is currently associate forester of Xi Sigma Phi, national forestry honorary; a member of Montana Druids; and the forestry honor council.

MARVIN BRITTENHAM
GEOLOGY

Marvin Brittenham transferred from MSU at Bozeman where he was majoring in mechanical engineering. He is a member of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national geology honorary; and Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity. This fall he will enter graduate school at the U of M with the ultimate goal of teaching geology at the university level or entering petroleum engineering.
ELTON B. BENTLEY
GEOGRAPHY

Elton Bentley will enter the University of Oregon at Eugene this fall for graduate study and eventually wants to teach on the college level. For the past four years he has worked his way through the University at Eddy's Bakery. Elton is a six year veteran of the Air Force where he was a First Class Flight mechanic. He served in Germany, Spain, England, and North Africa where he was stationed at Morocco.

DON PARSONS
HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Don Parsons, above, discusses the uses of diathermy treatments with Naseby Rhinehart, U of M trainer. Don is the varsity basketball starting center and has had honorable mention for two years—'67 and '68—in the Big Sky Conference. He has been the second leading scorer both years and the leading rebounder for '68. He was also voted the most valuable player this year. Don has been contacted by the American Basketball League for tryouts, but will enter Baylor University to study physiotherapy this fall.

CHARLENE O'NEIL
HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Charlene indulges in her favorite sport, volleyball, which she played as an intercollegiate sport for three years. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; president of Delta Psi Kappa, national women's physical education honorary; and won the Margo Vogt Scholarship at MSU and the Dunway Book Award at U of M. She is graduating with honors and hopes to teach in either Oregon or Washington.

JANIS KEY
HOME ECONOMICS

Janis, right, caught studying fabrics in the laboratory, will be teaching in the senior high school in Helena this coming year. This past year she has been secretary of the Home Economics Club, president of Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics honorary; and a member of the Student Education Association. She has an honor scholarship and minor in library science.
BEN HANSEN
JOURNALISM
Ben (above) '67-'68 Kaimin editor, checks galleys in the University Print Shop. Ben is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; and secretary to Silent Sentinel, men's senior honorary. He hopes to work for A.P. in California this coming year and then go on to graduate school.

JANE BALLARD
MICROBIOLOGY
Jane, working with a culture in the lab, will spend the summer of '68 along with 28 other students from U of M in New York City under the urban corps program for Mayor Lindsay. From a list of choices she chose (1) medical assistant, (2) biology assistant, (3) physical therapist and will be placed in one of these jobs. She is a member of Phi Sigma, science honorary; and K-Dettes, army auxiliary, where she was chosen outstanding K-Dette. She was Military Ball Queen of '68 and by her senior year will decide on either graduate school or internship as a medical technologist.

LAWRENCE F. DALY
LAW
Lawrence Daly (below) studies the Montana Law Review of which he has been Editor-in-Chief this year. He holds a B.S. degree in electrical engineering from Seattle University. This past year, Mr. Daly has been a graduate assistant, working with Professors Waldron, Elison, and Cromwell, on moot court brief counseling. In 1966 he won the Burton K. Wheeler Memorial Scholarship and in 1965 the Silver Bow County Scholarship.

RUTH SILVIUS
MUSIC - VOICE
Ruth was a member of the Jubileers who made the USO tour of the Orient in the fall of '67. She has been an active member of Montana Masquers, the Opera Workshop, and the U of M Choir and Band. She is affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi, social sorority; and Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary. Ruth was also voted the outstanding senior woman for the Matrix Honor Table this year.
SHADFORD CULVERWELL
MUSIC - EDUCATION
Miss Culverwell (above) is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, women’s music honorary; Kappa Lambda, music school honorary; and Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary. She hopes to become an elementary school music teacher and eventually do graduate work in theory. She is an applied piano major, studying with Professor Wendt, and also plays bassoon.

JOHN GERMAN
MUSIC - WIND INSTRUMENT
John German is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, music scholastic honorary; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, music fraternity. He has a 3.69 grade average and plays both French horn and piano. He has been accepted by the U.S. Army Band and hopes to get a Masters in applied music.

LINDA LEE THOMAS
MUSIC - PIANO
Miss Thomas (below) is president of Mu Phi Epsilon, music honorary; and Delta Delta Delta, social sorority. She will be a graduate assistant in the department of music for 1968-69 at the U of M. She hopes to teach on the college level and perform on the concert stage. She has many honors, among them are: 1965 most promising musician in Lethbridge Festival; guest artist with Spokane Symphony, winner of Young Artist Competition and grand award winner of Most Promising Musician Award at Spokane Music Festival.

WILLIAM F. WARREN
PHARMACY
Mr. Warren was senior class president at the School of Pharmacy this past year. He earned his B.E. degree from Gonzaga University in 1959 and has maintained a 3.45 grade average at U of M. For six years he was with the Abbott Laboratories as pharmaceutical sales representative before entering the U of M. While here at the pharmacy school he has worked for the Anaconda Forest Products Company at Bonner and the University Family Housing Service.
JOHN K. RANDALL
PHYSICS

Mr. Randall will enter the University of Michigan to start work toward a Ph.D. degree this fall. While at the U of M he was a member of Bear Paws, sophomore men’s service honorary; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary; and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman’s scholastic honorary.

DONNA SCHMIDT
SPEECH COMMUNICATION

Mrs. Schmidt has been a member of the U of M Varsity Debate Team for the past two years. She has taken second in the Treasure State Tournament in oratory (1966); third in the Western Speech Association Tournament (1965); and was a member of the 1966 Montana State Debate Championship Team. She plans to become a high school teacher after completing a M.A. degree in speech at U of M this coming year.

DIXIE REVELL
POLITICAL SCIENCE

Dixie Revell talks over her plans with Dr. Lott. She will be working in Washington, D.C. in government service, but hopes to go on to advanced degrees in foreign affairs after a few year’s work. While at the University, Miss Revell was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and was named a University Worthy Scholar. She was nominated for a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship, but was unable to accept.

ROBERT E. TRERISE
PSYCHOLOGY

Bob earned two degrees at the U of M—economics and psychology. He hopes to combine the two when he enters the University of Minnesota this fall with the aim of getting a Ph.D. in industrial psychology. While at the U of M he was in numerous organizations, involved in many activities, and the recipient of awards among which was the American Legion Scholastic Award which he won twice.
ARLENE WARNER
SOCIAL WELFARE

Mrs. Warner, the mother of four children, visits the kindergarten at Elliott Village and gets acquainted with Marvina Standing Rock while Johnny Keenan, in the play pen, hopes his turn is next. Mrs. Warner is working toward a B.A. in social work and hopes to counsel parents of children with perceptual motor problems.

JANE LITTLE
SPEECH PATHOLOGY

Jane was awarded the Eloise Knowles award by Mortar Board for outstanding scholarship, leadership, and service to the U of M for the past four years. She was vice president of Spurs and a junior sponsor in her junior year. She was president of Delta Gamma, social sorority; and was voted the outstanding senior in her house. She will enter graduate school at U of M this fall to work in language development for the mentally retarded.

CHARLES R. JEPPESEN
SOCIOLOGY

Charles will enter Michigan State University, East Lansing, this fall to start work toward a Ph.D. in sociology. He is particularly interested in demography, or population research. He hopes to teach on the college level and to do research.

NADA BRELJE ZOOLOGY

Miss Brelje will attend the University of Wisconsin on a research assistantship this coming year where she hopes to do research on the sawfly larvae in the Department of Entomology. She hopes to return to Montana after earning her M.A. degree to work with the Forest Service of the Department of Interior.
Administration

Robert T. Pantzer
President of the University of Montana
Although the Field House is 12 years old, it wasn’t officially named until this year. It was a happy moment for former Grizzly track coach Harry Adams when the University bestowed its thanks upon him by dedicating the Field House in his honor and name.

Joining in the festivities, which included Tip football awards, were, from left: Bryan Magnuson, Grizzly fullback and winner of the Terry Dillon Memorial Award; Larry Huggins, end and winner of the first Paul Weshamp Memorial Award as outstanding lineman; Harry Adams; U of M President Robert Pantzer, who handled the dedication ceremony; and Bob Beers, first team All-America linebacker and winner of the Golden Helmet Award as the hardest Grizzly hitter.

Board of Regents

Signs of Interests
Organizations

and Honoraries

In September, 1966, the Jubileers made their initial application to tour as USO entertainment and the announcement of acceptance was received in March, 1967. The following months were filled with completing forms and by September the group was preparing to spend ten weeks in the PACOM (Pacific Command).

Their departure from Missoula on November 6, 1967, began the tour of Marine, Air Force, and Army stations in the Orient and Hawaii. The first stop was Korea for ten days where they performed at missile sites, recreation centers, and military bases. Next Japan, and, after being snowed in at Wakkani, the Jubs spent five of their fifteen days seeing Japan's night life and examples of ancient dances and drama.

Okinawa offered more missile sites and another chance to see the cultural and historical aspects of the ancient castles and memorial battlefields. The group was at Clark Air Base in the Philippines for their Christmas holiday where they saw the traditional lantern parade of the Islands. Both islands were visited for ten days and then the tour went to Guam where the Jubileers boarded the nuclear submarine Takumsa.

New Year's celebration was at Hickam Air Base in Hawaii. This was the last stop on the tour. The six days before their return were occupied with their final concerts and their last opportunity to appreciate warm weather before returning to Missoula on January 6, 1968.

The Jubileers received loud and long applause at every military base where they performed and many letters of appreciation have come back to them from enlisted men in PACOM. They have been highly recommended for another tour—although no application has been made.

The Jubileers represented Montana and the U of M in the best manner possible. It was surely a rewarding experience for every Jubilee and every audience. Montana, and the University especially, can smile with utmost pride at the talent and image of all these people and boast of the dedication of Dr. Joseph Mussulman.

Advancing pharmacy as a profession, introducing new concepts in the field, and exchanging ideas about the profession are the main purposes of the American Pharmaceutical Association. Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Psi, the honorary counterparts of APhA, strive to continue to promote these purposes and to maintain academic excellence among their members.
Phi Chi Theta

Phi Chi Theta, the women’s business honorary, promotes the cause of higher business training through the education of its members. In order to qualify for membership, the students must have a major in business administration or economics and have a 2.5 GPA in these fields by the second quarter of their sophomore year. The honorary was founded on campus in 1946 and has since been one of the top women’s business education fraternities in the northwest region.

Nationally, Phi Chi Theta awards two scholarships of $150 and $200 yearly. Their activities and projects include the planning of the annual business banquet, a fall welcome for the new faculty and the attendance of professional speakers at monthly meetings.

Theta Sigma Phi

Theta Sigma Phi is a fraternity of women journalists working for a free and responsible press, stressing high professional standards. It unites women in every field of communication. The main purpose of the organization is to encourage members to greater individual effort in the field of journalism.

Sigma Delta Chi

Members of Sigma Delta Chi must be sophomore men with above average grades and professional ability in the journalism field. The purpose of this organization is to promote professionalism in the School of Journalism and help in press coverage and projects connected with the Montana news media.
Mu Phi Epsilon

Mu Phi Epsilon, a women's honorary of the Music Department, was installed at the U of M in 1952. Among their many activities, the girls give scholarships to those deserving acknowledgement for outstanding accomplishment in the field of music; hold music therapy projects; and send aid to music schools in various universities abroad.

Phi Kappa Phi

The University of Montana Chapter of the national scholastic honorary of Phi Kappa Phi was installed on October 18, 1954. Since that time it has become one of the most recognized honoraries on the U of M campus because of the high caliber of its members. The honorary has grown in number since the time of its installation and now has a total membership of 500.

The motto of Phi Kappa Phi is: Philosophia Kratei Photon—"The love of learning (or wisdom) rules mankind." The purpose of the honorary is to promote: (1) high scholarship, (2) good moral character, and (3) inter-disciplinary concerns. Except for Alpha Chi and the earlier stages of Phi Beta Kappa, this is the only national scholastic honorary which promotes all three concerns. Indeed, it is the only honor society that grants membership across all academic disciplines. Only Juniors, Seniors and Graduate students are eligible for membership. In order to be selected for Phi Kappa Phi the students must meet the scholarship requirements of: a 3.5 over-all grade point average and in the upper 5% of the class for Juniors; a 3.3 over-all grade point average and in the upper 10% of the class for Seniors. Of the faculty, as a rule, only 2 or 3 are elected each year. The assessment of the Faculty Selection Committee depends upon the individual's graduate and undergraduate records, character, teaching ability and classroom requirements, their publications and writings, and their concern for disciplines other than their own.

Phi Kappa Phi also sponsors an Initiation Banquet for the newly elected members. The speaker for this year's banquet was Dr. John Van de Wetering who spoke on "The Impact of the Puritan Ethics in America." The honor society elected the Outstanding Faculty member of the Year—Dr. Richard E. Shannon, Economics; the Outstanding Scholar of the Year—Robert E. Malouf, Missoula; and the Outstanding Sophomore of the Year—Kathy L. Hughart, Troy, in order to promote interest in achievement.

The 1968-69 officers are: President, John Van de Wetering; Vice-President, John Helms; Secretary-Treasurer, Earle C. Thompson, and Corresponding Secretary, Emma Lommasson. The 1967-68 officers were: President, Tosh Tatsuyama; Vice-President, Bjarne Johnson; Secretary-Treasurer, Emma Briscoe; and Corresponding Secretary, Emma Lommasson.
Forestry Club

Forestry Club, whose main purpose is to foster the interests of the Forestry School, has one of the oldest and largest memberships of any U of M club. The members are from all academic years of the Forestry School and anyone who is interested in forestry is welcomed as a prospective member. The club helps with the plans and construction of the Foresters' Ball, coordinates field trips and classes on Forestry Skills, and sponsors the Spring Hike and Conservation Week activities.

Freshmen

Each class is asked to participate according to their knowledge of the field and their enthusiasm toward the project. Separated only by their academic years, each class is strengthened by the others and all receive many benefits from their associations in Forestry Club.

Sophomores

The Executive Board is the governing body of the organization. This group, under the leadership of Joe Wagner, is composed of the club's officers and class representatives. It encourages membership and attendance in addition to planning and directing all functions sponsored by the Forestry Club.
Fostering the Forestry Club and aiding the Forestry School are the main purposes of the Montana Druids. Members are involved in many activities dealing with the forestry profession; the initiation of new members during Spring Quarter and the supervising of the Forester’s Ball are two of the activities that highlight their academic year.

Xi Sigma Phi members are upper-classmen who have proven their ability in the field of Forestry. Maintaining the high standards of scholarship in forestry education, and seeking to establish lasting relations among those interested in the Forestry activities, are the main objectives of this Forestry honorary.
A jumper receives assistance with his parachute after his leap from the sky.

Silvertip Skydivers

Silvertip Skydivers, the oldest Collegiate Sport Parachuting Club in the nation, promotes interest in sport parachuting in Montana and at collegiate conferences. Members parachute year round, sponsor a Montana Invitational meet each spring, and also send a parachuting team to the National Championships.

Anyone interested in a new thrill that demands much skill and talent, plus a great amount of courage, is encouraged to join.
In 1964, the Hellgate Flying Club was organized to foster the spread of aviation education in its practical application. The membership includes students and faculty members who are licensed pilots. Aviation has grown tremendously in the past ten years as more and more people are discovering a new world awaiting them “just a few thousand feet up.” As part of this flying fraternity, the members are able to broaden their outlook on the field of aviation in relation to education, recreation, and business. New experiences and friendships also help to strengthen self-confidence and mental alertness.

Christian Science Organization

The Christian Science Organization seeks to unite their members and those who share their beliefs, by sponsoring lectures, weekly meetings, and various activities such as sledding, hiking, suppers, skiing, and picnics. The purpose of this organization is to welcome college students who are interested in Christian Science and discuss questions and answers concerning God and man. The weekly meetings include study of the Bible and its spiritual interpretation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.
The L.D.S. Institute of Religion supplies both religious education and worship activities by holding college-level classes in religion for the Latter-Day Saint students and their friends. The Institute program is designed to help the organized wards and branches of the church and an excellent student ward is located here due to the active leadership of the Missoula Stake. A tremendous opportunity for growth and leadership is available for the L.D.S. students because of the student ward. Like other college students, these young people appreciate the opportunity to talk to those sharing the same interests, discussing their plans and finding answers to their questions and concerns. The major purpose of the Institute of Religion program is that of counseling which provides instruction in religious character and educational matters. Tutoring can be arranged in most situations by the Director of the Institute or members of the student ward. The social involvement of the college student with others possessing similar high ideals is another major objective of the Institute. The Institute provides an atmosphere in which friendships are developed and lasting relationships with those who are capable of higher blessings of the Church are established. The student-planned activities include: Institute conventions, dinners, dances, snow parties, picnics, and a very active sports program.
Model United Nations

Model United Nations is a group of university students organized under the direction of Barclay Kuhn, instructor of political science, and Lynn Baker, chairman. These people attended the Model UN meeting in Tucson, Arizona, and represented Cyprus. After the trip, the organization conducted a Montana Model United Nations in which 38 Montana high schools and one Canadian school participated. This program was held on May 9-11 with 350 high school students involved in the sessions. Chan Hartilius acted as Secretary General for the Montana session. This group has a special function in the University because of its contribution to the academic society and its actual participation in current affairs.
Synadelphic is a women's co-operative living group which has a membership of students anxious to promote academic success. Moderate expenditures as well as high ideals are significant aspects of the Synadelphic House. This last summer the house was incorporated which makes it no longer affiliated with the University, although one of the stipulations for joining the house is that of being a student. Individual activity is stressed as well as group participation.

Panhellenic

Panhellenic is the sororities' counterpart to the Interfraternity Council and promotes and unifies the sororities of the Greek system. Under the guidance of Miss Maureen Clow, Dean of Women, the council formulates living rules for the sororities and helps the houses with floats for various parades. Sponsoring girls for the Miss U of M and Miss Wool Pageants, honoring the faculty and alumni with teas, and helping promote good will among the sororities and other organizations on campus, are examples of the varied duties of this organization.

Sorority rush is a complicated time for both the rushees and the members of a particular house. Above, the Kappa Kappa Gamma house entertains their guests with look-alike costumes and attractive decorations. Many of the houses follow a certain theme or dress in certain colors representing a mood or theme that is displayed in the decorations. The days of the rush parties seem very long to all involved but the results are favorable to all those who are selected for a pledge class of a particular sorority.
Two representatives are chosen from each fraternity to compose the unifying force behind the fraternities in the Greek system. This council promotes goodwill among the different houses and makes and enforces rules under which the fraternal system operates. Rush, scholastic averages for each house, social functions, elections, and promotion of the Greek image are just a few of the areas for which IFC is responsible.
Women’s Recreational Association

The Women’s Recreational Association creates an interest in all sports activities for the women students at U of M. WRA provides the equipment and instruction necessary for playing various games as a University sponsored team and also as individual teams competing against each other for various WRA team trophies. The members of WRA have a great interest in the importance of physical fitness and use their time and energy in constructive participation in team and individual sports events.

Officers

One of the biggest events sponsored by WRA is the annual Steak Fry each Spring Quarter. Representatives from all sororities and living groups attended the feast which is also the awards and changing of officers ceremony. This year the Steak Fry was held in the Field House because of rain. The WRA members ate barbecued steaks and then elected Karen Frick to the office of president for the second year.
Tanan-of-Spur is a sophomore women's honorary, choosing its members on the basis of dependability, scholarship, participation, and interest in college activities. The organization supports student body activities, promotes school spirit, and upholds University traditions.

Bear Paws is the Spurs' counterpart, the sophomore men's honorary, also choosing members on dependability, scholarship, and participation in college activities. Both organizations combine forces during many activities such as the building of the Queen's Float for Homecoming, working during Orientation Week, and sponsoring every Singing On the Steps of Main Hall.
Founded by Eloise Knowles and once called “Penetralia” at the U of M, Mortar Board is the reward given to senior women for four years of outstanding leadership, scholarship, and service. Each year their activities include the “Honor Night,” sponsoring Alpha Lambda Delta, and selling Mortar Board Calendars.

Mortar Board

Maintaining its policy of secrecy, members of Silent Sentinel are senior men chosen for outstanding scholarship, leadership, and service. The annual Brain Bowl is their only publicly acknowledged project, and membership in this organization is considered one of the highest honors bestowed on a University senior at U of M.
Through the promotion of professional business activities, Alpha Kappa Psi seeks to insure the welfare of its members by furthering the interests of business students in and out of school and by emphasizing the need for scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounting, and finance. The honorary co-hosts a spring Business Awards Banquet for the outstanding business students, faculty and visiting lecturers. Under the leadership of Advisor Mr. Jack Doty and President Bob Vandesegnachte, Alpha Kappa Psi participates in various projects such as Career Day, Initiation Banquets, fund raising events and other activities associated with business administration.
The Student Education Association is a pre-professional affiliate of the National Education Association and the Montana Education Association. It functions as a medium through which prospective teachers can learn more about the opportunities of their chosen profession. The membership, which exceeds 125 persons, is united and student members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of their professional counterparts.

Much of the work of the SEA is done through committees. Some of the activities include a tutorial service at all levels of education; a committee, functioning in close relationship with the faculty of the education department, airs student needs and complaints; and a program committee which is responsible for bringing guest speakers to their meetings. A new project undertaken this year was a Christmas Party given for the underprivileged children of Missoula.

The officers of SEA for the 1967-68 year are: John Allison, President; Merle Johnston, Vice-President; Judy Swenson, Secretary; and Lana Christopher, Treasurer.
The Fine Arts in Winter Quarter

Recitals...

Mr. Lucien Hut, assistant professor in music, plays the piano in one of the numerous school recitals. Music students participate in weekly recitals and seniors periodically present Senior Recitals.

Plays...

This year saw the birth of the Montana Repertory Company. Pictured in this scene from "She Stoops to Conquer" are Eileen Gallagher and Glenn Gauer. The company also produced "The Devil's Disciple" and "Julius Caesar."
Pottery Sales...

At the end of the quarter ceramic students sold pottery that they had made. John Barsness displayed some of his wares for prospective customers.

Special Concerts...

Paul Winter and his Jazz Group provided one of the special concerts for U of M students during the winter months.
The peasant smugglers, Nancy Johnson, Gary Fank, Nicholas Alex and Heidi Syroid, try to convince Carmen, portrayed by JoAnne Menello, that she should come with them. She refuses, however, because she is in love. This quintet is from the opera Carmen by Bizet.

JoAnne Menello and Kathy Wruick swing in a dance routine at Nancy Senechal sings "Blow Gabriel, Blow" from Cole Porter's Anything Goes. Gloria Phillips sang the lead of Reno.

Maria, portrayed by Susie Volkel, tells her co-workers "I Feel Pretty." The selection is from Bernstein's West Side Story.

Nancy Senechal and Doug Dunnell portray the two uglies from Rodgers and Hammerstein's Cabaret who sing about the pineapple which they pretend is their beautiful child.

The Music Theater portion of the program, featuring songs from Broadway musicals and classical operas, was co-directed by John L. Lester and George Lewis. Featured in the second half of the program was the new 15-member Jazz Workshop, directed by Frank Diliberto, and the Jubileers, directed by Joseph Mussulman.

Won 7    Lost 3

Soccer is a sport that has taken on new dimensions at the U of M. This game, U of M vs. Carroll College resulted in a Grizzly win.
Although the trees were late in budding, Pete Graf saw no reason to wear a coat as temperatures continued to rise despite the constant threat of rain.

Professors Paul Warwick and Denault Blouin of the English department took advantage of the sunshine as they held classes on the lawns near the Oval.
SPRING!!! The squirrels play hide and seek with the warming sun as Spring Quarter draws everyone and everything outside.

The tennis courts are dwarfed as the new buildings are constructed around the once secluded area of the campus. Aber Hall and the new Student Center are now where only the pine trees and Mount Sentinel used to be.
The Mansfield Endowment established educational projects and a continuing series of lectures on the campus called the "Mike and Maureen Mansfield Lectures in International Relations." This living and permanent tribute to the Mansfields originated and will remain at the U of M where he is a professor on leave. The lectures will continue to bring eminent foreign affairs authorities to the campus for public lectures and student seminars and discussions will provide U of M students with a close association with international leaders.

In January, 1968, the Senate Majority Leader spoke in the University Theater to an overflow crowd of students and faculty. He then spoke at a reservation luncheon in the Lodge and listened to student views during a question and answer session.
This was election year for both the U of M campus and the United States. "Choice '68" was presented on campus as a poll of the student choice for U.S. President in the coming election.

The ASUM elections, held in April, were emphasized by campaign posters and platform explanations. The elections followed a debate at Central Board concerning the eligibility of Sam Kitzenburg for ASUM president. After the decision to reject his nomination because of a low grade point average, Ed Leary was the sole candidate for the ASUM president position. Steve Brown was elected ASUM vice president, Gail Aaberge, ASUM secretary, and John Barsness, ASUM business manager.

The polling places were set up in the Lodge and the Liberal Arts Building. Despite the availability of the desks, only thirty per cent of the student body turned out to vote. A concerned student is helped by Jael Marchi in the picture at the bottom. At left Betty Grmoljez works in the LA building as the Spurs assisted in the validation of the student cards.
Spring Concerts

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra

The diversity of entertainment sponsored by Program Council can be seen here. The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the excellent direction of Mr. Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, provided a rare type of musical experience as did the Ramsey Lewis Trio (pictured below). Both performed in the University Theatre and gave the building a new atmosphere with each performance.

Amid the excitement of bulldogging (top of page) and all the other events of the U of M Rodeo, this horse decided to refresh himself before he was called upon to perform. Miss Carol Howell was elected Miss Rodeo 1968. Mary Kitchingman and Penny Hayes were runner-ups.

Below, the clown displays his skills of attracting the attention of a Brahma bull. This bull was responsible for many broken fences during the three nights of the rodeo and his determination to throw any rider and escape from the arena made a definite impression on the expectant audience.
After selection by the members of Spurs and Bear Paws, the hopeful candidates gathered for an SOS at Main Hall to hear the decisions of who would be honored by being chosen as a Spur or Bear Paw for 1968-69. Left, Marsha McElwain announces the new Spur members.

Linda Overcast and John Meyers took part in the ceremonies as they accepted trophies and read the list of those who had been selected.

The Bear Paw aspirants are asked to do some work such as painting Hello Walk. These Bear Paw hopefuls work hard to make the sidewalk look as freshly painted as possible. This helps to continue the tradition of Hello Walk where all who pass each other must greet the other person be that person an acquaintance or a stranger.
Margaret Don Tigny (left) works hard for the KKG as she stacks cans of all brands in a double stack. Above, the AOIIIs, led by Jindy Stratton and Anita Schroeder, won the Canathon with a 28-foot stack. This was all accomplished in an hour and 45 minutes.

Theta Chi Canathon

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity sponsors an annual SAE Olympics at which sororities compete for various trophies. The occasion requires skills in everything from pie-eating to rope-climbing. All the sororities turn out for the competition with signs and coaches to help them score a victory.

The sorority girl (below) learns that the way to the top is by strength and endurance, while the member, left, tries to eat her way to victory. Both are cheered on by their houses who use signs and songs to boost their spirits.

Many U of M students and faculty members assembled on the Oval for a Silent Vigil in respect for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. after his assassination in April.

Dr. Martin Luther King Silent Vigil

Tent City, erected in the Oval and sponsored by interested students and faculty members, was a movement in sympathy for the Poor Peoples' March on Washington, D.C. Participation was encouraged through a teach-in, a discussion on involvement of women in the meetings, and a two-day fast. About 50 people camped on the Oval despite Missoula's unpredictable Spring weather.

Cementing the "M."

Two Spring activities which indirectly involved the U of M student body were the cementing of the "M" on Mount Sentinel and the River Boat Races. The "M" was changed from a rock structure to a huge cement structure. This involved many students and construction workers as they dug out the soil to anchor the cement and then poured the cement from trucks that were driven to the fireline on Mount Sentinel.

The river boat races were part of the Missoula May Street Spectacular Days. Canoes, row boats and rubber rafts were just a few of the classifications under which any interested contestant could enter. The races were held on Saturday and many who participated found the Clark Fork River very chilly.
The Matrix Table selects one woman from each class who they feel has contributed the most to the University during the past year. The 1967-68 women honored at the annual Matrix Table dinner were (from left) — Trudy Nottingham, Ann Akin, Kathy Mariana, and Ruth Silvius. Each of these women prove that the University system combined with extra interest, talent, and vigor produces a quality of character that is admired by many.

Denault Blouin is only one of the U of M instructors who take advantage of the oval and hold class outside. In the Spring, this is a familiar sight.
One of the most unique money raising projects at U of M was the Kappa Psi "Car Bash." The pharmaceutical honorary used a car as a target for a sledge hammer swung by any frustrated student who wanted to eliminate his "end-of-the-quarter tensions."

The car was totally demolished in an hour and although it was driven into the Baby Oval, it had to be towed away.
Eddie Templeton, an Independent, studies in his dorm room while Carol Frankovich and Ed Hall, members of Greek houses show the Homecoming spirit by riding on the float sponsored by their houses.
The student life of the Greeks, and the Living Groups (composed primarily of Independents) is basically the same. Both set their goals toward high scholastic achievements, sponsor quarterly functions to include all their members, and strive to promote and strengthen the academic standards of the University.

Bruce Bugbee and Dick Everett participate in the revelry of a football game while Eddie Templeton seems to be caught in a villainous magical trance as he tries to contemplate the thoughts of Plato.
Greek Activities

Miss Linda Rhein, a Delta Gamma, brought recognition and praise to herself and her sorority. Here Linda is placed in the spotlight once again as she appears in the Homecoming Parade.

The projects...

Miss Rosalie Munzenrider was crowned Esquire Queen of Alpha Tau Omega at their Winter Formal. She is only one of the many co-eds chosen by fraternities each year to preside over the functions sponsored by the houses.

The Phi Delt-Theta float showed that Greek spirit was high during the Homecoming activities. The float with band, car, and costumes, brought a smile to the viewers on the street as well as to those who rode—or danced—on the float.
The Delta Gamma sorority presents a skit featuring Connie Graham as "Luella Lots-a-Poise"; Cheryl Kovak, Social Chairman, demonstrating the best social manners; and Sally Huestis, Scholarship Chairman, showing the proper attitudes for "Quiet Hours."

The Delta Delta Delta sorority. Each house has their own form of entertainment to amuse the rushees.

The highlight of the Sigma Phi Epsilon social calendar is their Queen of Hearts Ball. Putting their best foot forward (or backward), David Davies and Mikal Morgan enjoy the formal atmosphere.

During the traditional painting of sorority pledges, unwillingness soon turns to submission as the brothers use the technique of subtle persuasion.

The Miller Hall Dance was organized by Ben Hurwitz, Social Chairman of the Men's Dorms. The dance was held in the Lodge and free food and music were available to anyone who was interested.

Sandwiches were served to some while others danced to the music or watched the band and their light show.

The Gingerbread Band performed for the Men's Spring Social Function. Chuck Vick, the lead singer, added to the band's performance with his expressions and his musical talent.
As the name "independent" implies, most of those living in a dorm have ideas which do not necessarily agree with others living in the same building. Here, two ambitious campaigners for Ed Leary designed large signs that were hung from the Knowles Hall balcony and in Craig Hall windows. It is debatable whether this type of campaigning produces any definite results but the effort that goes into any project in order to support a certain belief is well worth the time spent.

Diana Talcott (left) from Knowles Hall pauses on her way to class to inspect the work done by those who participated in the "International Chalk Day" draw-in during Spring Quarter. The sidewalks were used as the paper and the students created their pictures and sayings on the concrete.
The eleven stories of Jesse Hall became the home of the freshmen girls last Fall Quarter. Combining modern furnishings and personal knick-knacks, Jesse Hall soon became the center of activity as the year progressed. The elevators, which quickly speed to the upper floors were an improvement over the slower elevators in the other dorms.

As the seasons changed, the women living in the upper floors of the dorm were given a clear long-distance view of Missoula and the surrounding area. From their vantage point, they can see all the activity on campus and now can find a good reason to day-dream between study hours.

One of the ceremonies which included a living group was the SAE pinning ceremony. Here, Mark Eicholtz and Kathy Toffley, John Moran and Diane Taylor, Rod Young and Cathy Brown, and Scott Wink and Holly Holmes stand as they are serenaded in front of Jesse Hall during Spring Quarter.
Eating in the Food Service offers a variety in menus and atmosphere. Here, the Food Service treated the students to an old-fashioned Steak Fry in the Oval, where members of the women’s living groups enjoyed one of their last meals before going home to “home-cooked” food.

Turner Hall, the smallest of the women's dorms, had four senior residents this year. These women provided a good reference for all the underclass students living in the dorm.

All students at one time or another are involved with the student dispensary at the Health Service. Here, Becky Deschamps, Mrs. Carol Mesnard, and Roger Gorton help with the pharmaceutical needs.
The Sadie Hawkins Day Dance is a big event for the living groups because it is an all school function which is widely advertised and very popular. Here, Rita Donahue and Gary Thogersen pose for a picture in their costumes. The costumes provide an extra amount of revelry to the function.
The Resident Assistants of Aber Hall have a demanding job. Aber, the freshmen men's dormitory, is new this year and the RA's have the tedious chore of keeping all the inhabitants from destroying the new furnishings. Although the RA's are expected to maintain their high grade point and good class standing, they have the additional challenge of the incoming freshmen and their problems.

Music was provided for the Food Service Steak Fry on the Oval.

As the various residents of the living groups pursue their individual interests, many make a name for themselves in many fields. Jim Noon, the Sentinel photographer can be credited with quite a few of the outstanding pictures in this book.
By Spring Quarter the members of the living groups find it hard to stay inside.

The Oval provides a place to study, to hold classes, or merely to carry on a casual conversation.

With the shift to Aber Hall in January, many of the Resident Assistants of Craig Hall found their job considerably easier. Craig Hall had many empty rooms during Spring Quarter and these RA's did not seem to mind at all.

Craig Hall
Duniway-Elrod Halls

The bulletin boards of the various dorms also seem to be quite interesting.

Spring Quarter and a $5.00 parking fee for 1967-68 brought pavement to the Elrod parking lot.

The old and the semi-new combine in the Duniway-Elrod complex. The complex houses many men and requires much additional work from the Resident Assistants. Possibly the most lively group of RA's, these men handle any problem that may arise with ease.

Ah, the times at Miller Hall. The Resident Assistants of Miller are required to handle any "practical jokes" that the men in the dorm may try. As the majority of residents in Miller are seniors, by the end of four years, many jokes have been tried and the best are usually perfected so that no one takes the blame. These RA’s have a tough job but they seem able to carry the burden well.

Counter Guerrillas

Counter guerrillas is one of the many training plans available through Army ROTC and the organization is open to all men with two or more quarters of Army ROTC. The counter guerrilla program emphasizes physical fitness and weekly training sessions that deal with small unit tactics. "Follow Me" is their motto.

The Air Force Military Ball, a highlight in the Department of Military Science, is attended by ROTC cadets, members of Angel Flight, and invited guests. Being a very formal occasion, everyone puts their best foot forward and enjoys the sophisticated military atmosphere.

Arnold Air Society

The two service organizations of the AFROTC, Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society work together to promote the ideals of the U.S. Air Force and the AFROTC program on campus. Both groups sponsor service projects such as the AFROTC-Red Cross Blood Drive. Angel Flight, supported by Arnold Air Society, presents a precision drill at various high schools and competitions. This year Angel Flight won three first place trophies at the Lilac Festival Invitational Drill Competition for their excellence in regulation and exhibition drill. At an area conclave in Moscow, Idaho, Darlene Young, Angel Flight Commander, was selected Outstanding Area Commander, and Debbie Nord was voted Area H-2 Little General Candidate. They represented U of M at New York City in April at the National AAS-AnF Conclave. Through the cooperation of these organizations, Missoula and U of M benefit from their efforts.

The Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps is now in the third year of its voluntary program. This program, consisting of campus leaders and scholars, stresses the importance of these qualities and has produced Army pilots and career men for the U.S. Air Force.

Edd Blackler acted as host for the Jazz Workshop Friday at 4:00.

Gary Herbig (above left) is aided by Frank Diliberto as he proves that his talent was not acquired from textbooks but through many hours of actual practice.

The Jazz Workshop performed once in concert with the Jubileers and then for a Friday at 4:00 in the Grill. Both appearances provided the audience with a contemporary insight on the progression of the style of music.

The brass section (left), directed by Frank Diliberto, produced some arousing sounds that echoed through the Lodge halls.
An Italian Straw Hat

Finding a Straw Hat created much excitement and happiness for the Parisian wedding party as they pursued the bridesroom, Fadinard, in and out of the shops and homes of Paris.

An Italian Straw Hat, written in 1851, is one of those curious French concoctions, a vaudeville—a play with short songs that circumvented the old law that limited the number of legitimate theaters in Paris.

The set, composed of brilliant colors and masterful design, supported the gaiety of the songs and dancing as the characters were directed through the play by Lester Harvey Hankinson. The play was produced completely by students and exhibits the skills in the different areas of theater production.

Left: Tariveau (Bill Shryock), Clara (Linda Atkinson), and Fadinard (Teddy Ulmer), discuss the description and location of the Straw Hat.

As the final scene closes (below), the hat has been found, all conflicts are resolved, the wedding party continues on their way to the church, and Helene (Sharon Strobel) and Fadinard are married.
The School of Fine Arts houses an extremely experienced Art Department where students have the opportunity to learn the basics of all fields of art. Here, a student in a drawing class takes advantage of the Spring sunshine to capture a mood of the campus in charcoal, ink, or pencil.

Many potters from the ceramics section of the Art Department held sales in front of the Lodge. The sales gave the students a chance to earn a bit of extra money. The competition was subtle but those with the most experience and the best creative ideas were the ones that sold most of their wares.
John Murphy presented a showing of his art during the final weeks of Spring Quarter. The ceramic pieces were the work he had done for his master's degree in Art. As it is with many others in the School of Fine Arts, John spent many hours throughout the year creating these pieces and the amount of time is only recognized when one looks at the skill and excellence with which the work is done.
Graduation

Dr. Richard E. Shannon
Professor of Economics
Outstanding Teacher 1967-68

As the University's Outstanding Teacher for the 1967-68 academic year, Dr. Shannon received a check for $500 and an engraved plaque from the U of M Alumni Association.

Prizes and Awards Convocation
Gregory Hanson, Missoula, receives the U.S. Air Force financial assistance grants from Dr. Shannon.

Greg was also the recipient of the Silver Tray and $200 as the advanced ROTC student who lettered in athletics. The award is based on leadership, scholarship, military aptitude, sportsmanship, and character.

90 U of M Students Receive Scholarships and Prizes

At the annual Prizes and Awards Convocation, the Outstanding Teacher of the Year was named and more than 90 students received scholarships and other awards. Einar A. Lund, Jr., President of the Alumni Association, presented the "Outstanding Teacher" award, and Dr. Robert W. Coonrod, Dean of the U of M College of Arts and Sciences, presented scholarships and other awards valued at thousands of dollars to students during the convocation.
The U of A Field House was filled to capacity with parents, relatives, and friends. Banners from previous classes lined the building, announcing this as the 71st commencement exercise.

A hand grasps a diploma and receives congratulations.

This is one of the 617 graduates who received a diploma in the 1968 commencement ceremonies.

Ninety-eight were graduated with honors and 25 with high honors. Fifty-nine Master's Degrees and 12 Doctorate Degrees were also presented. Thirty-four students received the degree of Doctor of Law.

Following the presentation of colors, Father Ferguson delivered the Invocation and President Pantzer, in his Charge to the Class, stressed the changing attitudes of the time and our responsibility to maintain high objectives.
Prior to the beginning of the ceremonies, graduates find their place in line on the north side of the Oval and march to the Field House preceded by the marshals. With every name checked off and everyone accounted for, the ceremony begins.

Commissioning

Commissioning, for senior Army and Air Force cadets, is also an important part of graduation. This past year, 80 Army cadets and 46 Air Force cadets received their commissions as second lieutenants. Sixteen Army cadets and nine Air Force cadets were cited as Distinguished ROTC Military Graduates.
Miss Van Duser arrived on the University of Montana campus June 10, 1941 and has not experienced a dull moment in 27 years of service.

Twenty-three Sentinel yearbooks on the library shelves will list Cyrile as staff advisor. Hundreds of alumni have scrapbooks of clippings from their hometown newspapers telling of their activities and accomplishments at the U of M which Cyrile wrote. University files are also filled with photographs that she has taken and it would be difficult to recall attending a University function where Cyrile was not present with her camera.

When Cyrile retires in July, she will leave behind her a wealth of records to attest to many years of busy service.

The present Sentinel staff, being her last, wish her the best in her retirement with the hope that she may be able to take some of those pictures that she just never had time for before.
