why is it that we come here to the university of montana?
primarily we come to learn . . .

our quest for knowledge is constant and is satisfied in many ways . . .
we may learn
by observation...
by participation . . .
by comradeship . . .

by private reverie
and study . . .
by activity ...
by following . . .

by leading . . .
student life is different from all others.

we learn only by reacting to all the aspects of our environment.
the learning that we begin here marks the start of a lifetime commitment.

our education is a life long tool and our most valuable resource.
we own it; no one can take it away from us.
we will remember our college years as an important part of our lives—apart from all else but the fun of the years that we spend here will soon become only a happy reminiscence.

time it was,
and what a
time it was,
it was . . .
a time of innocence
a time of confidence

Students Become Involved in Various Fall Activities

Students arrived early for fall quarter to attend Freshman Camp, go through sorority and fraternity rush, and to register for classes. Various tests were given for placement purposes and special activities such as painting the "M" and the Beanie Bounce completed the week's activities.

For the last time, students bought their books in the student store located in the Lodge.

Spurs and Bear Paws supervise freshmen as they paint the "M."

1968 Homecoming Festivities Began With a Noise Parade

A noise parade around the U of M campus started Homecoming activities on October 2. Friday night at the SOS the Homecoming Queen was crowned and various awards were presented. Best athletes of the year went to John Mischa Petkevich and Colleen Campbell. The SOS ended with the men from Sigma Phi Epsilon lighting the "M" with flares. The Homecoming parade on Saturday morning featured Chinese floats and carried out the theme "The Year of the Grizzly." However, the Homecoming game was lost to Utah State.
The Grizzlies were defeated by Utah State, 50-3, in the Homecoming game.

Alums were also a part of the Homecoming Parade.
The Grizzlies Play Their First Homecoming Football Game on The New Dornblaser Field

The Harpers Bizarre presented two concerts Saturday night in the University Theatre.

The first place float featured the Chinese proverb, 'Confucius say only a silly Aggie would chase a flying Grizzly.'
Silo Tech once again defeated the Grizzlies 29-24.
The Bobcat-Grizzly Game Was Lost in the Final Seconds

The victory bell was rung in vain at the Friday night noise parade.

As is the tradition, ASUM President Ed Leary forfeited his pants to the victor.

A pep rally and bonfire preceded the noise parade Friday night.
A Sell-Out Crowd Attended the Annual Forester's Ball

Festivities for the 52nd annual Foresters' Ball got under way on November 12 with the colorful Foresters' Convo. The Queen Kathy Wilson was crowned. Jim Sweaney won the beard contest and Roger Eddy captured the moustache contest.

Boondockers Day was celebrated the following afternoon in the Baby Oval where the Foresters challenged the students in pole climbing, log sawing, and chainsaw competition. The well attended Ball featured costume contests, fire displays, video-presentations, and the Delta Gamma Can-Can girls.

A University student takes five from stomping at the Ball.

A smokejumper gave several demonstrations.

Forestry teams defeated challengers in woodsmanship contests held on Boondockers Day in the Baby Oval.
Miss Kathy Wilson was crowned Foresters' Ball queen at the Foresters' Convocation held in the University Theatre.

Construction began days before the actual Ball.
In a Gubernatorial Election Year, the University Hosted a Political Symposium

Forrest Anderson said the major issue of the campaign was that recent state administrations have not done anything "for the young people except education."
Candidates for governor spoke and then answered questions from a three member questioning panel.

Governor Tim Babcock emphasized that property taxes should be reduced to attract new industries.
The New University Center Was Opened in January To Serve the Students

Although the new building had been completed some time before, January 6 was the day that the Center opened its doors to the campus community with formal dedication February 7 and 8. There were tours, the Jubileers sang, there was a banquet, Senator Mark Hatfield, of Oregon, was an evening speaker, followed the next day by Montana's Governor Forrest Anderson.

The University Center is being financed from student fees at a cost of more than four-and-one-third million dollars. It houses recreational facilities, an extensive food service, the bookstore, student government offices, and supplements the University's academic program.
Guided tours of the new Center were conducted by the Spur, sophomore women's honorary.
The University Center is officially dedicated after the banquet.

Other Winter Activities Were Snow Week End, the Brain Bowl, and the Mardi Gras

Barbara Pile and Bob Jorgenson reigned at the Mardi Gras.

More than 400 students attended the Mardi Gras held at the Florence Hotel.
Teams of living groups built sculptures from the snow in conjunction with Snow Weekend. The Weekend's activities had begun with the crowning of Queen Mary Lou Scott and Old Man Winter Greg Devlin at an SOS.

The SAE team again won the Brain Bowl competition, sponsored by Silent Sentinel.
Karol Dea Kramer won the 1969 Miss University of Montana Pageant.
Theme of Miss UM Pageant Was "Thoroughly Modern Millie"

Contestants in the pageant were Doreen Maban, Carolyn Powell, Mary Glynn George, Marcia Wise, Karol Kramer, Mardi Milligan, Jane Ballard, Sharon Marshall, and Diane Snortland.

1968 Miss U of M Nancy Irle crowns Miss Kramer as Master of Ceremonies Tod Briggs looks on.

Mardi Milligan received the second runner-up trophy and tied with Doreen Maban for Miss Congeniality.
The rodeo was well attended and spectators saw both inter-collegiate competition and fraternity and dormitory cow riding competition. Pictured on both pages are U of M students in the cow riding competition.

Janie Blakely rode her way to the title of Rodeo Queen.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, world famous pediatrician and U. S. foreign policy protestor, told students that "the war in Vietnam is illegal and immoral."

A capacity crowd at the University Center Ballroom heard Dr. Spock speak.
Spock Called the War in Vietnam Illegal and Immoral

Dr. Spock stated, "Young people have the reality to realize that something is wrong, the idealism to want to change it, and the courage to do something about it."

Rick Applegate read a statement pledging passive resistance of the draft during the question and answer period following Dr. Spock's speech.

Twenty-four University students and faculty members signed a statement pledging passive draft resistance.

Concerts Featured
The First Edition and
Al Hirt

The First Edition performed for University of Montana students.
Al Hirt presented two concerts in April in the University Center ballroom.
The Nationally Known Canned Heat Performed in a Concert and Dance

As a side, black body paint was available.

Shadowfax, a Missoula light show company, was also featured with the dance and concert.
The Canned Heat, performing in the field house, started as a jug band in 1965.

Performances were open to high school students in Missoula for the Montana High School Track, Tennis, and Golf Championships.
This year's dance concert included a variety of numbers. "La Primavera" was performed to show primitive man's religious rites and his joy of life (right). The pre-classical ballet was done in the Elizabethan tradition and a classical ballet was performed by two guest artists. "Just Jazz" featured a sequence of four dances. "Of Men and Stars" was presented by Dana J. Bunnell as partial fulfillment for her master's in dance. At left is the death scene, after war has conquered the planet, portrayed by Rich Kees and Karen Griffin. The final scene in the modern dance (below) shows the planet of possibilities with different factions in an orderly environment.
A Buffoon and a Stutterer Were Integrated in “The Good Woman of Setzuan”

The play combined the diverse ingredients of Chinese theatre traditions, live music, bamboo, Vietnam, farce, tragedy and Saigonized prostitutes.

The set featured revolving bamboo towers, coca-cola posters and a dragon airplane.
Costumes, by costuming instructor Abigail Arnt, included grand and ragmuffin oriental creations worn with sneakers and combat boots.
Lois Tantarri, playing the icy harbinger of death from the British Broadcasting Corporation, talks with "Childie" McNaught.
"The Killing of Sister George" Began the 64th Drama Season

June Buckridge watches as her child-woman flat-mate Alice McNaught, played by Pati Swoboda, prepares for a day's outing.

Dianna Bachmann plays June Buckridge, a tough, aging soap opera star who learns of the impending demise of her radio character, Sister George.

Madame Xenia, left, played by Billie Marhenke, visits June and Childie.
Program Council Sponsored Shakespeare Company's Performance of "Othello"

Iago gets the guards drunk so that they cannot stand watch.

Cassius has just killed Roderigo. Desdemona and Othello are awakened by the ruckus and Othello tells Cassius that he cannot forgive him and that he is no longer in the military force.

Iago plans to subvert the drunken guards.

Desdemona is welcomed upon her arrival on Cyprus.
Prior to leaving for Cyprus, Othello bids goodbye to Desdemona and then leaves with Iago (left). Desdemona later follows with Cassius (upper right).
Glenn Gauer, in the lead role as John Worthing, is on bended knee to Billie Marbenke as Miss Prism, in the Oscar Wilde farce.
The Montana Repertory Theatre Opened with "The Importance of Being Ernest"

At top: Gwendolyn Fairfax, played by Linda Atkinson, and Nancy Senechal, as Cecily Cardew, have tea. At bottom: Firman H. Brown, director, adjusts Jimmy Baker's make-up.
Cavaradossi and Tosca meet for the first time in the chapel where Cavaradossi works on his paintings. The two fall in love.

The lead tenor, Mario Cavaradossi, laments in his aria. Tosca has just killed Scorpio, the magistrate.
The sets in Tosca were very elaborate and detailed. To add to the cast, the company included several U of M music students as extras.

Tosca had helped to arrange the false execution of Mario. The execution actually takes place and Mario dies. In her grief Tosca jumps from the prison wall.
Throughout the year the Art Department sponsored various student art shows and exhibits. All aspects of art were shown and many students were given the opportunity to sell their works.
The Drama and Music Departments
Presented "The Most Happy Fella"

Tony, portrayed by Don Collins, confers with his foreman, Joe, played by Nick Alex.

Rosabella consoles the unfortunate Tony who was injured in an auto accident.

The cooks prepare for a gala welcoming party for Rosabella.
Rosabella, played by Kathy Wruck, finds a message from her secret lover on a menu. She shares her joy with co-worker, Cleo, played by Nancy Senechal.
The Jubileers gave a USO preview show March 4 in the Music Recital Hall. This concert also marked the appearance of new costumes for the Jubs.

A music faculty band gave the group a noisy send-off.

The Jubs left from the Missoula airport for their tour of the Northeast Command.
Program Council Engaged Many Guest Speakers During the Year

Julian Bond, Georgia state representative, spoke on "World Conflict and the Black Revolution."

The director of the Chicago Urban Development and Training Center, C. T. Vivian, spoke and met with various classes.

Sidney Lens, antiwar author, attacked the armaments race in his speech to about eighty persons in the UC.
Criticism Could Produce Change in Election of Officers

Officers do criticize the system under which they work. John Barsness, ASUM business manager, attacked the Central Board for its ineffectiveness. He further criticized the executive board for its poor leadership because members were unable to meet. Ed Leary, ASUM president, reminded Central Board members that they ran for office on particular platforms, but after being elected, they had done nothing. This internal strife could produce change. There is a proposed plan calling for the election of the president, vice-president, and business manager by the students. The secretary would be a non-voting member appointed by the president. So there could be change and not only in regard to the officers.
Central Board Was Subject to Repeated Attacks Condemning the Alleged Inefficiency of the Board

Model United Nations members attended a Central Board meeting to protest their cut of all funds from the budget.

Central Board threatened to cut off funds for the Masquers; they did not lower the price of tickets for students.
After long discussion, Central Board passed a resolution to grant money to the Environmental Defense Fund to defray court costs against the Hoerner-Waldorf pulp mill.

Ed Leary, ASUM president, announced at a Central Board meeting that letters would be sent to parents of all Montana students of UM urging them to vote for Referendum 65.

This spring the much improved rodeo team traveled to a total of eleven rodeos in Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon. This is the first year that U of M has had a full traveling team. The women's team represented Missoula quite well, sending both Ronnie Hughes and Janie Blakely to the National Finals. Ed Kyler also represented U of M in the National Bulldogging finals. Pictured on this page are Ronnie Hughes (right) and Ed Kyler (below) competing in the Eastern Montana College rodeo.
It Was a Rugged Year for Sentinel
—Book Sales Problems Bulked Large

ANN FELLOWS, Editor
No longer on the activities ticket, the yearbook had a struggle for life. The tradition of the Sentinel was started in 1904 and had continued since as an annual record of the history, the greatness and frailties of student life at the University. 1969 (although greeted with horrified astonishment by the staff) proved to be a year full of stumbling blocks.

A motion was brought to a February 12th Central Board meeting by Gail Aaberge on behalf of ASUM President Ed Leary. Leary charged that "An unworkable relationship existed between the Kaimin and ASUM," and asked that Vichorek be fired. However, in the deciding roll call ballot, only one vote was in favor of firing the Kaimin editor.

Non-Conference Games Include
Starting the season off with four non-conference games, the Grizzlies met with the Universities of North and South Dakota on consecutive weekends, defeating the University of North Dakota Sioux in the first game, 37-10, and dropping the second game to the University of South Dakota Coyotes, 21-0. Coach Jack Swarthout brought his team home the third game, handing Portland State College a 58-0 loss. The Grizzlies scored more points in this game than had ever been scored in a University of Montana football game, not considering the fact that they also held Portland scoreless. With a record of two wins and one loss, the Grizzlies met with Utah State University the following weekend, but finding it hard to stop the running of the Aggie backfield, a second Grizzly loss resulted, 50-3. The last non-conference game to be played was also the last game of the season against the University of Northern Arizona Lumberjacks, the Grizzlies losing this game by a score of 8-0.
In conference action this year, the Grizzlies battled their way through a tough season, but ended up empty-handed with a record of 0-4. Offense proved to be the important factor in the first and second games, each totaling 101 points. Beginning with the University of Idaho, the Grizzlies fought desperately, scoring 45 points only to lose the game to the higher Vandal score of 56 points. The following weekend the Bengals of Idaho State University dealt the Grizzlies their second loss in conference play by a score of 64-37. Skipping to the last game of the conference season, again the result was not in the Grizzlies’ favor, with Weber State College edging by with a final score of 29-24.
Meeting their arch-rival Montana State University on home ground this year, the Grizzlies played a hard fought game. They led their opponents through most of the game, but found the Bobcat last quarter rally too much to handle, losing in the last minute of play by a score of 29-24.

Washington State University proved to be a trying team for the Grizzlies, with the score pushed to 100-96. Mike Heroux, far left corner, took a well deserved rest from his difficult task of hustling illustrated at far left. It was an offensive game consisting mainly of shooting and rebounding. Ron Moore again displayed his skill and determination, playing with a wrapped right leg, below left and below right. To keep the final margin at four points, Coach Bob Cope ran over some final tactics with the Grizzlies, directly above.
Scholarships Or Just Plain Glory

Always controversial elements in the game of basketball, referees figure strongly in the outcome of the game (left). One of the well known numbers on the court for the Grizzlies, number 22, Harold Ross, is seen below left, attempting to score against the Cats. Ross scored 479 points during the season to become the University of Montana's third best all-time single season scorer. Below, Ron Moore, receiver of the Dragstedt Award for the most valuable senior, fights for a rebound. Left, Mike Heroux displays his agility at ball handling against a Montana State defensive player.

U of M placed first in the tournament
In spring soccer action against Eastern Montana College, Bela Balogh (far upper left) goes in for a header as Dana McMurray readies himself for the loose ball. Again, in the far lower left, Balogh goes for a header with Tom Archer and McMurray anticipating the flight of the ball. Balogh was the high scorer for the season with ten goals. At left, as Archer watches the goal, McMurray drives in for a high header. Bruce Bugbee (above), even though surrounded by Eastern players, manages to head the ball out. Below, Vince Celtneiks shows his kicking form in his follow through.

Though soccer is not a regular varsity sport, the team this year enjoyed increased competition because of allocations from the ASUM. The team is looking for even more action next season.

Players for the U of M soccer team are Tim Fredrickson, Fred Watson, Tom Hayes, Jan Wessel, Bela Balogh, John Gray, Dana McMurray, Fred Strohl, Bruce Bugbee, Vince Celtneiks, Roger McCulland, Steve Medvec, Pat Hayes, Tom Archer, Scotty Allen, Bill Keyser, Steve Pitkin, Steve Eastman, and Walt Schoen. Vince Celtneiks also coaches the team.

The U of M golf squad once again captured the Big Sky Championship title. U of M has held the title since 1965. Following the championships, Rick Carpenter, Spike Daugherty, and Skip Koprivica were named to the all-conference first team. Glen Wysel, Steve Sullivan and Dick Kuhl were named to the second team.

At left, Carpenter, who again was medalist for the competition, practices his stance for teeing off. At far upper left, Tom Manning takes a few practice swings. Glen Wysel (above) prepares to tee off at the Country Club in the Big Sky Championships. Skip Koprivica (below) practices his chipping as Larry Stewart watches.
Winter Intramurals Enjoy Heavy Participation

Winter intramural sports enthusiasm reached a high level this year as both Greek and Independent teams fought for titles in the various sports of pool, wrestling, basketball, volleyball, skiing and bowling. Brantly Hall

Brantly Hall began the year as the only women's residence that had the "no-hours" privilege. The women living in this upperclass dorm experienced new freedom and a different type of dorm atmosphere. Instead of sponsoring social functions, the women used the money to purchase items for their dorm. One of these was a color television set. They also purchased four new bicycles (above) that were available for the women to check out. At right is part of the famed "Brantly Beach" which is always well populated following the first rays of spring.

Junior Sponsors
Only three years old, Jesse Hall is the freshman women's high rise dormitory. The women took advantage of these new facilities and sponsored their winter function in the eleventh-story lounge (top). In the spring the women had an open house and men were allowed on the upper floors (above and right).

Knowles Hall
Knowles Hall is the newest of the upperclass women’s dormitories. The big innovation this year was the transfer to "no hours." The dorm, under the leadership of President Sue Larson, also sponsored a Christmas party, a formal (right and lower right), a spring function with a Mexican theme, and an open house (below). The women placed second in the Sig Alph Olympics, with Linda Ambrose earning the title of Lady Jock.

Some of the outstanding women at Knowles are pictured at upper left. They are (from left), Patti Zieski, Homecoming Queen and cheerleader; Judy Strauss, past Sigma Chi Sweetheart; Carol Howell, past Rodeo Queen; Mary Lou Scott, Snow Queen; Liz Curtis and Cyndi Still, cheerleaders. Holding dorm offices this year were: Margaret Gerhardt, Secretary; Rita Donahue, Treasurer; and Judy Cook, Standards Chairman.
This year, due to the growth of the University, Turner Hall became the second Freshman women's dorm. Vicki Marshall was elected president of the dorm and the girls had some activities with Jesse Hall plus those of their own. As pictured above, the women and their dates enjoyed a spring picnic in Greenough Park. A facility that has popular appeal is the volleyball court behind Turner (below).

Married Student Housing
The University of Montana has available to married students and their families, apartments and town house type buildings. This housing is made available at a rental fee which has the student's income in mind. Within the area are playground facilities for children, laundromats, and a recreation center for adults. Also included in the area are several large concrete sculptures.

Council Worked for Greater Greek Unity

The Greek community, realizing that it cannot retain its old ways if it is to survive, began this year to make some changes. The fraternities introduced a new form of rush last fall. In the spring, Panhellenic, under the guidance of its new president, Marilyn Lund, made several significant changes in its constitution—in particular to relax and eliminate old rulings. Both groups are devising better rush programs. Through the efforts of both organizations Greek Week, a new tradition at U of M, was accomplished. Also new this year was the Junior Greek Council, composed of freshman representatives from all sororities and fraternities. This group began to work on service projects.

Interfraternity Council

Being a Greek is Many Things . . .

Greeks begin each year with rush in order to pledge new members. Sorority rush is complete with costumes, theme parties, and entertainment. At left are the Thetas at their Grecian party and the A Phis (middle left) entertain with their “Alice in Wonderland” skit. Sorority pledges immediately become involved in Sigma Chi Derby Days. At lower right is a “derby dog-pile” and two victorious misses (far right). Mary Sheehy received the Derby Day Queen trophy from last year’s winner, Ileen O’Leary (right). At Homecoming time the Greek community joins with other campus groups and alumni for the traditional weekend. Below left, the Phi Sigs work to make chicken wire and napkins turn into a float for the parade. The Thetas and Delta Sigs (below) simulated a football game and cheering section on a flatbed.
Within any particular Greek House there develops a closeness that makes possible effective working together, whether it be for snow weekend (middle right) at the Sigma Kappa house, a tea (left) such as the Delta Gamma International Tea, a social function (below) at the Delta Sig Barn Dance or (upper right) DG Hidden Desire, a winning team at the SAE Olympics (below middle and right) as the Thetas, or to capture that intermural trophy (far right shows Sigma Chi softball team in action).

This year the Greek women worked together to establish "no hours" within their houses.

Saturday night was the All-Greek barbecue (above) at the Kappa house followed by the Greek Convocation (right). Outstanding Greeks, Loween Peterson and John Meyers, were also named at the Convocation.

President Robert T. Pantzer

University of Montana
The Administration . . .

By careful estimate, the "quiet hero" of the University scene during the past year was its president, Robert T. Pantzer. While other campuses were racked with dissension, we enjoyed a relatively peaceful year, due in large part to the quiet actions of the sensitive and sensible man who occupies the corner office in Main Hall. When we had a state-wide uproar about teaching in the English department, he faced up to the problem by standing in defense of academic freedom. Any possibility that we might have had a racial issue to handle was largely headed off by instituting program changes in the curriculum. Students were given a chance to be heard on policy and academic matters before these subjects really became campus issues.
Serving in loco parentis, the Dean and his aides frequently act as a bulwark between the student and the vicissitudes of life on the campus—and at other times lower the boom when there are infractions of proper scholastic decorum. Andy Cogswell, Dean of Students, is greatly concerned with being effectively in charge, and he has spent more than forty years trying to help people understand one another.

His chief aide, Dr. Maurine Clow, Associate Dean of Students, serves in much the same capacity. She also acts as an advisor to AWS and Panhellenic Council.

The Assistant Dean of Students, George Cross, also has this same interest in the students. He is Inter-fraternity Council advisor and one of the chief pushes behind Freshman Camp.
"There will be time, there will be time
To prepare a face to meet the faces that you meet;
There will be time to murder and create,
And time for all the works and days of hands
That lift and drop a question on your plate;
Time for you and time for me,
And time yet for a hundred indecisions,
And for a hundred visions and revisions . . ."

"Time present and time past
Are both perhaps present in time future,
And time future contained in time past.
If all time is eternally present
All time is unredeemable."

T. S. ELIOT
“And indeed there will be time
To wonder, ‘Do I dare?’ and, ‘Do I dare?’
Do I dare disturb the universe?”

T. S. Eliot
"... soul stretched tight across the skies
That fade behind a city block,
Or trampled by insistent feet
At four and five and six o'clock;
And short square fingers stuffing pipes,
And evening newspapers, and eyes
Assured of certain certainties,
The conscience of a blackened street
Impatient to assume the world."

T. S. Eliot
"What might have been is an abstraction
Remaining a perpetual possibility
Only in a world of speculation
What might have been and what has been
Point to one end, which is always present.
Footfalls echo in the memory
Down the passage which we did not take Towards the door we never opened . . ."

"There is, it seems to us,
At best, only a limited value
In the knowledge derived from experience.
The knowledge imposes a pattern, and falsifies,
For the pattern is new in every moment
And every moment is a new and shocking
Valuation of all we have been."

Forestry Club

Consisting of members from all academic years of the Forestry School, the Forestry Club's main purpose is to foster the interests of the Forestry School. The club helps with the plans for and construction of the Foresters' Ball, schedules field trips, sets up Forestry Skills classes, and sponsors the Spring Hike and Conservation Week activities.
The club is divided into classes and each class participates according to knowledge in the field and enthusiasm. Working separately, but together, gives the Forestry Club its strength.

The Executive Board, which is the governing body of the club, is composed of the club’s officers and class representatives. It encourages membership and attendance in addition to planning and directing all functions sponsored by the Forestry Club.

In Memoriam and Tribute . . .

. . . Andrea Grauman

Andi, a senior in English and political science, died this spring following a brief illness. But her time here at the University of Montana was outstanding and filled with contributions to the University.

In the spring of 1967 she was elected Program Council chairman to serve during her junior year. She also served as Junior Class delegate to Central Board, as a member of the Women's Rights Advisory Board, Mortar Board, and as a former Army ROTC K-Dette. In her sophomore year she directed the Miss University of Montana Pageant. She had taught in the Upward Bound program in Missoula.

Following graduation this June she had planned to enter active service in the Air Force officer training program.
Grants and other awards valued at more than $19,000 were awarded to U of M faculty and students at the annual prizes and awards convocation June 3rd, with Dean Coonrod (left) as Master of Ceremonies.

Dr. John J. Taylor, associate professor of microbiology was named Outstanding Teacher of the Year and received $500 Outstanding Teacher award and plaque through Phi Kappa Phi from the UM Alumni Association. President Pantzer also presented him with one of three $1,000 Outstanding Teacher Awards from Standard Oil (Indiana) Foundation, Inc. (lower right).
Receiving other awards were Michael Harrington (middle left), the Grizzly Award for good scholastic record of a University athlete; Rick Hosler (lower left), Army ROTC scholarship; Lynn Carey and Joy Nicholls (below), books from the French government through Robert Luc, Consul General of France at Denver, Colo., and Suzanne Judah and Kathy Wruck representing Alpha Omicron Pi social sorority (right), the Air Force ROTC Citizenship Award.
Seven hundred forty men and women received degrees in June commencement activities. Nine schools on the University of Montana campus graduated students. Ninety-one graduated with honors, thirty-three with high honors.

Among those graduating was Pershing M. McClean (far upper right). Blinded four years ago, he decided to return to school in the fall of 1967. He received a B.A. degree in business administration and obtained a graduate assistantship to continue toward a master's degree at U of M. Lining up began at Main Hall and pictured below right is one of the graduates reflecting on her accomplishment. The graduates then took the traditional walk around the Oval (right) and then down to the Field House for the ceremony. Pictured at left is University President Robert Pantzer giving the charge to the graduating class.
Degrees in June
As a part of commencement activities thirty-four Army and twelve Air Force cadets received their commissions. All of the men will report for active duty sometime in the future—some immediately while some will still attend school.

Pictured below, at the Army commissioning, are the thirty-four cadets being sworn in. Brigadier General Richard L. Irby (right) hands commission to David E. Barney, who is now Second Lieutenant. At the conclusion the new officers receive their bars. Richard Alexander (above) has his bars pinned on by his girl.
