Relationship to Program: Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to correlate the knowledge and understanding of pertinent information on surgical procedures with a review of anatomy and discussion of perioperative surgical needs of the patient. This information will assist students to complete surgical case studies and is a cornerstone to more complex procedures in AHST 202.
Course Description: A study of minor surgical procedures following the patient through the preoperative, intraoperative and postoperative stages in surgery.

Attendance Policy: Attendance and participation are valued in this course. Therefore, class attendance will be taken. Students are required to notify the instructor (by phone or by e-mail linda.strelnik@mso.umt.edu) prior to the class if unable to attend or if the student will be tardy.

- Students may be asked to furnish a physician’s statement regarding an absence. The student is responsible for gathering any information or course materials he or she may have missed due to absence or tardiness.
- Repeated absences will result in completion of a “Student Contract”. A student’s final grade will be decreased by one percentage point for each absence after the first one.
- Unit tests will be proctored by your instructor. If a student misses an exam, the make-up test will have to be arranged. The exam will need to be completed by the next day or as arranged. No make-up exams may be taken after five days.
- Chronic car problems, finances, jobs or job interviews are not valid excuses for missing class.
- Tardiness will not be tolerated. It is disruptive to fellow students and a Student Contract may be initiated. Students may not be admitted to class on the day that they are late, and will be responsible for all information from that class, and for making up a test or quiz. The student’s final grade will be reduced by one percentage point for each tardy occurrence.
- Each case is considered by the instructor on an individual basis. It is up to the discretion of the instructor whether or not a student is meeting course objectives.
- Your course of instruction should be your highest priority.
- Students are expected to conduct themselves in a professional and mature manner at all times.
- Class begins promptly at 8:10 am on Monday and Tuesday
- Students are expected to be prepared for class discussion by having completed assigned reading materials.
- A Professionalism Grade will be included in the overall grade average for this course.
Other Policies:

Instructional Notes

Students will engage in class discussions, small group cooperative learning activities and student presentations. Other teaching techniques to be utilized include, use of computer and video applications, and guest presentations. Assigned readings are to be read prior to scheduled class time. There will be surgical procedure videos on the internet assigned to watch. Failure to watch these & report on them by the assigned time will result in a lowered grade.

All exams are to be taken on a scantron form with a #2 pencil. The scantrons are available in the MC Bookstore for a nominal fee. Please come to each exam with the scantron forms and pencil, or you will not be allowed to take the exam. Some exams will require two scantrons.

Take home assignments for each unit are due on the exam dates for that unit at 8:10am. Students are responsible for the material in the assigned Work Book assignment and may be tested on that material.

Research paper presentations will be conducted on selected Tuesdays at SPH, and are to be very thorough. Your instructor will do the first one so that you can understand the format. Each of you will be assigned a specific procedure on which to do your research paper and presentation. The presentations are to last approximately 30 minutes. The presentations will be done in the OR suites so that there will be an instrument set-up for each case. For your presentation, you will need to come at 7:30 am to set up your instrument tables. The group will also be practicing instrument handling and draping during this time.

If you have special needs as an individual or as a group and require some accommodation, I encourage you to discuss it with me. Open communication will assist all of us in making this a successful venture for you. If you have questions regarding the course content or assignments please contact me.
