FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18

The 1958 Tax School sponsored by the Montana State University Law School is scheduled for November 13, 14, and 15, at the Rainbow Hotel in Great Falls, Dean Robert E. Sullivan announced Tuesday.

Lester R. Rusoff, associate professor of law and director of the Tax School, met recently in Helena with members of the advisory committee for the Tax School to discuss the 1958 program. The committee decided to continue the group discussions, which were a successful feature of the 1957 school, Rusoff reported.

Plans call for the 1958 school to get under way with several related speeches on a topic that can be discussed at group meetings on Thursday, November 13, and close with an estate planning problem on Saturday, November 15, Rusoff said. The problem will be presented by a panel of experts drawn from the various professions concerned with estate planning. It will then be discussed in seminars. The leaders of the seminars will report the conclusions of their groups. The experts will comment on these conclusions and present their own.

The intermediate part of the program will consist of speeches on various aspects of income and estate taxation, Rusoff said. He and the committee have begun inviting speakers for the program and will announce them when the slate is completed, he said.

Members of the advisory committee, chosen as representatives of Montana lawyers, accountants, insurance underwriters, and trust officers, play an important part in the planning of the school, Rusoff said. They help select topics for the program, suggest or procure speakers, and frequently participate in the program themselves.

Committee members are Hugh D. Galusha, Jr., Helena; Henry L. Zahn, Missoula; Harold E. Longmaid, Jr., Helena; James H. Kilbourne, Billings; J. Rodney Renman, Great Falls; James R. Felt, Billings; Tom P. Patterson, Helena; Daniel Dykstra,
