MISSOULA, OCT. "This is the most eager group I've ever worked with, and I feel they will do a real good job," said freshman coach Hal Sherbeck as he prepared the Montana Cubs for their opening tussle of the season Saturday night against Wenatchee Valley Junior College at Wenatchee, Wash. Sherbeck and assistant coach Charles Stack will travel with 37 players.

Sherbeck said that he would use three platoons to give "all the boys a chance to play and prove themselves." It will be the first test for the Cubs, who have shown well in early practices. The Wenatchee team has already won two games, tied one, and lost one.

"It will be hard to say what the team will do, since they are untried," said Sherbeck. "In scrimmage the boys have looked real willing."

The Cub starting lineup will list six Montana boys. Starters will be Jim Harris and Mike Edwards, ends; tackles Rod Goodell and Floyd Bethke; guards Jack Robinson and Jack Rudio; center Gary Schwerfeger, quarterback Bobby O'Billovich, halfbacks Paul Gustafson and Tony Ramos, and fullback Gary Smith.

The second team has Al Sandahl and Ken Miller at ends; Mike Thomson and Richard Baker at tackles; guards are Jerome Golembiewski and Stan Baker; center Tim Jerhoff, quarterback Tom Sullivan, fullback Al Rosera, and halfbacks Jim Grasky and Brian Mooney.

The third team has Ron Gludt and Gordon Hart at ends; Ed Healy and Don Norris at tackles; Dick Adamski and Bob Zadick at guards, center Stan Hunton, quarterback Larry Kosoff, fullback Clyde Gossert, and halfbacks Gary Homme and Jack Cooper.

Sherbeck also will have an extra backfield of Marco Stanisich, Gary Ekegren and Rich Birgenheier.

End Glenn Sorenson is a doubtful starter because of a shoulder injury.
