MISSOULA---Three sophomores and one veteran have been elevated to starting positions for Montana's Skyline clash with Brigham Young in Provo Saturday night, Grizzly coach Ray Jenkins announced this week.

Newcomers to the first unit are sophomore end Jim Harris, yearling tackle Mike Thomson, soph halfback Jim Grasky, and junior end Dale Berry. Other starters will be tackle John Gregor, guards John Matte and Mike Emerson, center Jim Johnson, quarterback Bob O'Billobich, halfback Hank Greminger and fullback Gary Smith.

"Films of the Wyoming game and performances in last week's scrimmages showed us that we must revamp our starting lineup, and the newcomers to the first squad will see more and more action this season," Jenkins commented. "They'll be starters as long as they 'put out'."

Aside from demoting several veterans, Jenkins was more than pleased with Grizzly performances early this week. "We had our best four practice sessions of the season last week, and our spirit is still good," the coach commented. An open date last weekend helped bring the squad to full strength for the first time since fall workouts began.

Still slightly stiff from ankle injuries are fullback Gary Ekegren, center Stan Hunton and quarterbacks John Schulz and Tom Sullivan. All will be ready for action Saturday. Fullback Russ Grant suffered a nasty cut on his leg last week, but also will be ready by game time.

The Grizzlies will leave Friday noon for Provo and will have a short workout that afternoon in the BYU Stadium. They will return to Missoula Sunday afternoon.
