10-11-1960

Law School Admission Test to be given at Montana State University in November

University of Montana–Missoula. Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases/783

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the University Relations at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Montana News Releases, 1928, 1956-present by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Law School Admission Test, which is required of applicants for admission to the Montana State University Law School, will be given at the University on Saturday, Nov. 12, Dean Robert E. Sullivan announced.

Sample questions and information about registration for the test are contained in a bulletin that can be obtained from the MSU Law School, Missoula, or from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N. J., the dean said. The bulletin contains an application form which must be completed and sent to Educational Testing Service before Oct. 29.

The test consists of objective questions that measure verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired knowledge, the dean said. Test results give a student an indication of whether he is suited to the study of law.

Most American law schools require applicants to take the test, according to Dean Sullivan. The test is prepared and scored by Educational Testing Service and given periodically at test centers throughout the country, he said.

###