Course Overview

The purpose of this course is to provide an introduction to the role and workings of the judicial branch of government in the American political system. Students will be expected to read approximately 10 pages in the text for each class meeting. The class format will be lecture and discussion, with the instructor acting as discussion leader. The learning goals are student understanding of the judiciary’s procedural, structural, and political features, accurate analysis of course readings, and effective oral and written expression.

Optional PSCI 400 Term Paper (ONLY for students enrolled in PSC 400)

The PSCI 400 term paper will be no more than twelve double-spaced pages of text, not counting the bibliography. Possible term paper topics are listed below. In a preliminary meeting, the instructor will approve each student’s topic and provide guidance on the paper’s organization, sources, method of analysis, and documentation. On February 22, a preliminary submission of at least five pages is due, which will contain the paper’s introductory section, a topical outline of the paper, and an annotated list of sources to be used. The introductory section should include the paper’s topic, the paper’s thesis statement, a summary of the paper’s contents, and the paper’s likely conclusion. The instructor will correct these materials, meet with the student, and return the introductory section for revision and inclusion in the final paper, which is due on April 26. Citation to sources can be included in parenthetical text notes tied to the bibliography (consult the instructor about this format), or footnotes and a bibliography, or end notes and a bibliography (see The Chicago Manual of Style for footnote, endnote, and bibliography guidelines). Grading criteria will be accuracy of content, coherence of argument, and correctness of writing (that is, grammar, syntax, diction, transitions).

Examinations

There will be three examinations. The final examination will cover course material from the second examination to the end of the semester. Each examination will use definition and short-essay questions. The first two examinations will be held on March 1 and March 29. The final examination is scheduled for Monday, May 13, at 10:10 a.m.

Grading

The first two exams can earn 30 points each; the final exam can earn 45 points. Course grades will be assigned using the following 100-point grading system: A = 94-100; A- = 90-93; B+ = 87-89; B = 83-86; B- = 80-82; C+ = 77-79; C = 73-76; C- = 70-72; D+ = 67-69; D = 63-66; D- = 60-62; F = 59 and lower. Thus, students will have the opportunity to earn five extra-credit points (30 + 30 + 45 = 105). For the credit/no-credit grading option, a grade of D- and above will count as “credit.”

Holidays

February 18 and April 1-5
