FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Montana State University has been selected to participate in a U. S. Office of Education program directed at producing better language teachers for America's children, according to Dr. Robert M. Burgess, chairman of the MSU Department of Foreign Languages.

Dr. Burgess will direct the MSU Summer Institute for High School Teachers of French and Spanish, one of 55 language institutes authorized for the summer of 1961 under the National Defense Education Act.

Fifty-two teachers will be accepted in the institute at MSU, Dr. Burgess said. Nationwide, nearly 3,200 teachers will attend the 55 NDEA summer institutes and the five regular-session institutes scheduled for the 1961-62 school year. The $6 million program provides for both elementary and secondary teachers. Languages covered are French, German, Russian, Spanish, Italian and Modern Hebrew.

The majority of participants in the MSU institute will be drawn from the Northwest and Great Plains areas, according to Dr. Burgess, but teachers from anywhere in the country may apply. Likewise, he explained, Montana teachers may apply for admission to any of the summer or regular-session NDEA institutes. Applicants should write directly to the director of the institute, he added.

Dr. Burgess supplied the following list of institutes and their directors for high school:
