FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Montana State University will meet Johns Hopkins University in the General Electric College Bowl Sunday, according to Dr. Melvin C. Wren, chairman of the MSU History Department and team coach.

The CBS television program will be telecast over KXLY-TV, channel 4, Spokane, and will be seen in Missoula at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Dr. Wren said. Residents of other parts of Montana should check local TV schedules for the time of the program, he added.

Members of the MSU team are Zena Beth McGlashan, Butte; Terry Stephenson, Butte; James Polk, Miles City, and Donald Hubbard, Missoula.

The MSU scholars will be competing for individual awards and for grants for the University, Dr. Wren said. General Electric presents $1,500 to the winning school and $500 to the runnerup school each week.

G.E. College Bowl was honored in April with a Peabody Award as "the outstanding television program for youth in the nation," Dr. Wren noted. The program pits two teams of four members each against each other in a rapid-fire test of knowledge and quick recall of facts, he explained. The show is moderated by Allen Ludden.

The MSU team, accompanied by their coach, will fly to New York to appear on the "live" telecast Sunday.
