FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gov. Donald G. Nutter has reappointed Dr. Gordon B. Castle, Montana State University zoology professor and director of the MSU Biological Station, to a four-year term as a commissioner of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

WICHE is an organization of 11 western states, created by interstate compact to promote cooperative programs in higher education among member states, the governor explained. It administers a university student exchange program in the health sciences, studies western educational needs and resources, and sponsors regional councils in several professional fields.

Three commissioners from each state direct a permanent commission staff headquartered at the University of Colorado. Montana's other two WICHE commissioners are Dr. Frank L. McPhail of Great Falls and Paul Working of Livingston.
