FOR RELEASE THURSDAY, AUGUST 3

A scholarship covering all fees plus an additional cash grant for a student in the Montana State University Law School has been endowed by the Title Insurance Co. Foundation, Dean Robert E. Sullivan announced.

John B. Bell, president of the Title Insurance Co., Boise, Idaho, stipulated that the scholarship be awarded on the basis of need and scholarship. The award is given to help a student who, without financial aid, would be unable to continue in school, Bell said. The first recipient will be selected this fall.

"This generous gift is a significant contribution in an area in which the Law School has the greatest need," Dean Sullivan commented. "If there are more scholarships available, we can insure that more qualified applicants attend law school."

"It is fitting," the dean continued, "that this outstanding addition to our scholarship program should come at a time when the Law School is preparing to celebrate its 50th anniversary and to dedicate, on Sept. 6, a fine new building."
