Montana State University Law School starts classes in new building

University of Montana--Missoula. Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases
Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
FOR RELEASE THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21

OUTLINE

The Montana State University Law School's second half century will get off to an auspicious start when classes open today (Sept. 21) in a brand-new building.

Dignitaries assembled to salute the school at the dedication of the building this month were: Seated, from left, the Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling, Episcopal Bishop of Montana; U. S. District Judge George H. Boldt, Tacoma, Wash.; Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the Supreme Court of the United States; John C. Satterfield, Yazoo City, Miss., president of the American Bar Association; U. S. District Judge W. D. Murray, Butte, and the Most Rev. Joseph M. Gilmore, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Helena.

Standing, from left, MSU Law Dean Robert E. Sullivan; Walter L. Pope, retired chief judge of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, San Francisco, Calif.; Dean Orlando J. Hollis of the University of Oregon Law School; MSU President H. K. Newburn; William T. Boone, Missoula, president of the Law School Alumni; Prof. Samuel D. Thurman of the Stanford Law School, president-elect of the Association of American Law Schools; Chief Justice James T. Harrison of the Montana Supreme Court and Ben E. Berg Jr., Bozeman, president of the Montana Bar Association.

###